Murtaugh Students Honor Veterans

MURTAUGH • Students at Murtaugh High School were treated to a slice of history Thursday morning as the school hosted a breakfast and ceremony honoring veterans.

About a dozen veterans whose time in service ranged from World War II to Operation Iraqi Freedom sat at a long table decorated in red, white and blue. They listened as students recited the Pledge of Allegiance, read Walt Whitman's "I Hear American Singing" thanked them for coming.

Each veteran introduced themselves and told the students, grades six to 12, where they grew up and when and where they served in the military.

"They've given so much to our country and this is a small token of appreciation," said Angelica Gonzalez, a senior Business Professionals of America student who helped organize the event.

Rebecca Arismendiz, a junior, also helped organize the event. She said the students put up posters advertising the event in stores around town and sent invitations to veterans they personally knew.

"I would love to do this next year," she said.

Ron Andersen, a Vietnam War veteran, said his family has a long history in Murtaugh and in the school.

"The kids looked really sharp," he said of the students who hosted the ceremony. "I appreciate what they're learning?

Andersen graduated from Utah State University's ROTC program and served in the U.S. Air Force from 1971 to 1975. During his active-duty service, Andersen said he was based at a missile silo in Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Getting to know people of different generations and learning how to host events are both important for students to learn, he said.

Workman to Be Honored Sunday

All military service personnel and veterans are invited to a memorial dedication ceremony for U.S. Army Sgt. Chris Workman Sunday at 11:30 a.m. in honor of Veterans Day at Sts. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church, 2618 W. Bannock St., Boise.

Workman, 33, grew up in Rupert and lived in Boise. He was assigned to the 25th Infantry Division's 25th Combat Aviation Brigade at Wheeler Army Airfield in Hawaii.

Workman was killed in a helicopter crash April 19 in southern Afghanistan.

Jerome Man Sentenced in Applebee's Robbery

BY ALISON GENE SMITH

alismith@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • A Jerome man accused of multiple crimes in Twin Falls and Jerome was sentenced Monday to spend at least two years in prison for a Twin Falls burglary.

Branden Alexander Galbreath, 21, pleaded guilty to felony aiding and abetting in a robbery in August in connection to the January robbery of the Twin Falls Applebee's restaurant. Jorge Banuelos was sentenced to two to 12 years for the robbery in September. Galbreath was sentenced to a maximum of eight years in prison, with two years mandatory. He and Banuelos must pay restitution of $1,255.65 together to Applebee's.

A charge of conspiracy to commit robbery in the same case and a separate burglary charge were both dropped against Galbreath.

On Jan. 8, Twin Falls police responded to Applebee's at about 3 a.m. for a call of an armed robbery. An officer met with the manager, who said a person pointed a gun at him and told him to give over all his money as he left the store with a night deposit. The robber wore a dark-colored hoodie sweatshirt with a red bandana over his face, the manager said.

The manager told police he gave the masked robber all the money from the cash registers, totaling $1,255.65.

Galbreath's sentence is to be served at the same time as sentences for his role in a string of Jerome burglaries and the January robbery of the Jerome Wendy's restaurant.

Post-election, Federal Health Reform Here to Stay

TWIN FALLS • Idaho lawmakers have run out of options. There are no more potential delays, no more pending court rulings and no more candidates.

The health care reform law will remain in Idaho.

The law has been resisted by several states across the country - including Idaho — ever since President Obama signed it into action in 2010. Controversial requirements like individual mandates for health insurance led Idaho and many other states to

Stocks Slide on Wall Street, Extending Sell-off

NEW YORK (AP) • Stocks slid on Wall Street Thursday, a day after the Dow Jones industrial average logged its biggest one-day drop of the year, as investors fretted about the potential for gridlock in Washington.

The Dow was down 73 points to 12,859 as of 2:40 p.m. Eastern. The Standard and Poor's 500 index fell 11 points to 1,383 and the Nasdaq composite slipped

The Dow plunged 313 points Wednesday, its fifth worst one-day drop following a U.S. presidential election. The biggest, in 2008, came in the midst of the financial crisis on the day after President Barack Obama won his first term.

Garage Catches Fire While Man Works on Car

TIMES-NEWS

TWIN FALLS • The Twin Falls Fire Department responded to a fire in a garage Wednesday night in the 400 block of Fifth Avenue North. Battalion Chief Jack Barnes said fire was venting from the roof of the detached garage when crews arrived at 10 p.m. The fire was under control by 10:12 p.m., he Aman was working on his car in the garage before the fire started, Barnes said. The man attempted to start the car and it caught on fire, he Barnes said while the cause is unknown he would guess there was a fuel leak somewhere. "Backyard mechanic stuff can be fun but it can also be scary," Barnes said. Barnes said people should be aware any time raw fuel is around and take necessary precautions.

An estimated $23,000 in damage was caused by the fire, Barnes said.

Three engines and 12 firefighters responded to the blaze.

Jerome Schools Save $1.3M in Bond Refinance

TIMES-NEWS

JEROME • Jerome taxpayers will see $1.3 million in savings after the school district refinanced one of its bond series.

Dale Layne, superintendent of the Jerome School District, said it will be a savings in interest over 10 years.

Two bond series were used to build Jerome Middle School and Summit Elementary School. One of them — Series

Layne wrote in a statement that the other bond series - Series 2006 - has a different call date and interest rate, so the district isn't refinancing it at this point.

"However, if interest rates stay low it may be feasible to refinance the second series bonds in the next few years," he said.

The bond for Horizon Elementary School has been paid in full.

Winter Chill Settles Into the Magic Valley

hat a difference a day makes. Much colder, winter-like air has settled in across the Magic Valley and will stay with us through the weekend and into early next week.

An upper-level storm system will bring scattered snow and rain showers across the region today and into Saturday. Accumulating snow doesn't look to be in the cards for most valley locations like Twin Falls and Jerome, but the South Hills and toward Jackpot, Nev., could pick up 2 to 6 inches of snow by Saturday morning.

The biggest story for the Magic Valley today will be the colder temperatures. Highs today will be in the upper 30s to low 40s. There will be scattered snow showers that could put down a coating on grassy surfaces, but our ground temperatures are too warm for most of the snow to accumulate. Tonight most of the showers will become snow, but I still don't anticipate more than just a coating in spots across the Magic Valley.

This weekend, temperatures will remain very cold with highs in the mid- to upper 30s and a chance of scattered to isolated snow showers on Saturday. Most of the time this weekend will be dry and we will see more sunshine. By Sunday, we will have partly to mostly sunny skies, but with a high temperature in the mid-30s.

According to a plea agreement, prosecutors are leaving the recommendation for Valenciano's jail time and fines up to a judge.

In September, Valenciano's bond was lowered $250,000 from $500,000. He's scheduled to be sentenced on Jan. 2.

None of his co-defendants have pleaded guilty. Contreras is scheduled for a jury trial in the case on Dec. 4 with an alternate date of Dec. 18. Sotelo has a trial scheduled for Dec. 18 with alternate dates on Dec. 26 and Jan. 8. The 16-year-old is scheduled for a trial on Jan. 9.

The group was accused of tying up the couple in their home while they stole electronics, jewelry, guns and other valuables after knocking on the front door early Aug. 7.

Twin Falls Council, Staff Plan City's Future

BY MELISSA DAVLIN mdavlin@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • You asked the city for community gardens, better infrastructure, bike paths, sidewalks and community rec cen-

So what's it going to take to get there?

On Thursday, the Twin Falls City Council and city senior staff met to discuss priorities and philosophies for the city's strategic plan, which maps out how the city will grow. The meeting was one in a series of strategic planning sessions for Twin Falls.

The discussion covered a wide range of topics, including parks, infrastructure, environmental issues, education, law enforcement and emergency services.

Some parts of the draft, such as the possibility of a bus service from the Twin Falls airport to Sun Valley, focused on future hypotheticals and didn't commit the city to any plans.

Other topics — like expanding emergency services to keep up with population growth — are a must, but the city needs to decide if it will provide those services or work with other entities, such as Twin Falls County or the private sector.

Staff members and the council were careful about wording the draft plan's goals. Some council members were concerned about setting the city up for promises that might be too difficult — or expensive — to fulfill. But other council members wanted to give the plan more teeth to make it more decisive.

"It's not a goal or an objective if you don't have a little edge on it," said Councilman Chris Talkington.

Councilman Jim Munn, who sat through past years' strategic planning sessions as police chief, said this year's meetings have been more productive.

"We're thinking about things. We're not doing it because we have to do it," Munn said. The process has also been more focused, he added.

Vice Mayor Don Hall agreed.

"I think we can all agree that change is occurring fairly rapidly."

> Travis Rothweiler, city manager

"Every time we do this, we do it a little bit differently, a little bit better, learning from the last process," he said.

The council and staff made no decisions on future actions on Thursday. The strategic planning sessions help make long-term plans and form priorities.

The strategic plan is still in draft form and is subject to changes, said City Manager Travis Rothweiler. After the council agrees on a final draft, they will adopt it as a resolution.

But even that doesn't set the plan in stone. Rothweiler said the council must revisit the strategic plan regularly to adapt it.

"I think we can all agree that change is occurring fairly rapidly," he said.

Dworshak Elementary Receives National Award

BY JULIE WOOTTON jwootton@magicvalley.com

BURLEY • Based on high student test scores, Dworshak Elementary School in Burley has been named a National Title I Distinguished School.

Just two Idaho schools will receive the award this Gaylen Smyer, superintendent of the Cassia County School District, said he found out last week that the school was selected by the Idaho State Department of Education.

"That's an incredible honor," he said.

Dworshak Elementary exceeded "adequate yearly progress" benchmarks for at least two years under the federal No Child Left Behind Act.

In order to qualify for an award, a school must also have at least a 35 percent poverty rate among its students.

Principal Irma Bushman said she heard cheering from classrooms when she made the announcement about the award over the intercom.

"The kids will tell you I cried and I did," she said.

As part of the Distinguished School Award, Dworshak Elementary will receive $20,000.

Bushman said a decision hasn't been made yet about how to spend the money. The school's building leadership team will hear input from school employees and then make a decision.

An additional $5,000 is available to pay for a delegation from Dworshak Elementary to attend the National Title I Conference in January in Nashville, Tenn.

Smyer said to his knowledge, no Cassia County schools have received a Distinguished School award in the past.

Bushman said the whole staff at Dworshak works hard to "pull together to do what we need to do for these kids."

About 70 percent of the students qualify for free or reduced-price school meals. And more than 20 percent of the students are "Limited English Proficient."

Bushman said the key piece to the school's success is collaboration among employees, parents and students.

"I think our biggest thing is support," she said.

sue the federal government, arguing that the law was unconstitutional.

But earlier this year, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act. And on Wednesday morning, the nation woke up to essentially the same Congress and the same president, leaving very little room to overturn the law, said U.S. Rep. Mike Simpson.

Simpson, R-Idaho, was one of several lawmakers to encourage Congress to double its efforts to overturn the law right after the court announced its decision. But on the day after the election, Simpson encouraged Idaho lawmakers to remain in control as they begin to implement sections of the law.

"Everything is essentially the same," Simpson said.
"It looks like it (the law) is moving forward."

Others placed their hope in Republican presidential candidate Mitt Romney. The Obama challenger promised to repeal the law if elected.

Overturning the law is no longer an option with Obama's re-election, said David Pate, chief executive officer of St. Luke's Health System.

"The approach in Idaho has been wait and hope that the Supreme Court would strike it down. And then wait and hope that the presidential election would be in their favor," Pate said. "That didn't work. The most that could happen is that portions of the law could be whittled down."

Now Idaho leaders must decide what to do with some of the law's most critical elements. This includes choosing how Idaho will set up a health insurance exchange and whether to expand its Medicaid eligibility requirements.

Under the health reform law, Gov. C.L. "Butch" Otter has until Nov. 16 to announce how Idaho would set up an online market-place that would allow consumers to shop and compare health insurance poli-

Already, a governor-ap-

Wood is a member of the governor's other advisory group that is charged with analyzing the impacts of expanding Idaho Medicaid's eligibility to adults without children.

"We've gone over every piece except the costs," Wood said. "That will be a major influence on what I choose to recommend."

Unlike the health insurance exchange, there's no deadline on when Idaho can change its eligibility requirements. However, the federal government is only offering to pay for the full cost of expansion until 2020.

That means Idaho should expand its eligibility requirements sooner rather than later, Wood said.

"There is going to be a surge of people when you expand. Why would you wait and not have someone else pay for the full cost?" he said.

The workgroup is expected to complete its recommendations for the governor at the end of today.

Americans Forget Disaster of Big Government 1970s

o Americans suddenly like tax increases and bigger government? Or did they simply forget what happens when you raise taxes and make government larger?

These are questions to ask as we analyze Tuesday's election results to discern the fiscal consequences. Advocates of higher taxes prevailed in the presidential and legislative races, and resoundingly. Yet the outcomes for the many propositions and initiatives on ballots across the country also require review. These votes suggest Americans are indeed looking at government and taxation differently.

The conventional wisdom before election night was that ballot initiatives were separate. Voters may not mind voting for a man or woman who might permit higher taxes down the road. But the same citizens, we told ourselves, would hesitate to vote yes when confronted directly with the prospect of a precise rate increase on the page before them.

Tax rebellions tend to start at the state level — think of Proposition 13 in California a generation ago. Evidence of this aversion to taxes was provided recently by the National Taxpayers Union. Looking at a sample year, 2011, the NTU found that voters favored 60 percent of state initiatives that would reduce the burden of government, while backing only 44 percent of measures that would expand government. The NTU also found that of 648 measures to raise taxes or expand budgets, 330 passed, slightly more than the number that failed – not a decisive outcome. But interestingly, 37 out of 46 local measures to limit government or reduce taxes passed.

This "hesitation theory" suggested that voters this year might reject big tax initiatives and endorse initiatives that rejected taxes, such as the effort to amend the state constitution of New Hampshire to ban an income tax in perpetuity

That's not what happened. In New Hampshire, for example, voters not only chose Democrats in the congressional and governor's races but also failed to muster the two-thirds majority necessary to support the income tax ban. In California, two siblings from the powerful Munger clan were testing the contention that voters tend to vote no on tax increases. Philanthropist Molly Munger, daughter of billionaire Charles Munger, bet tens of millions on a tax-increase initiative, Proposition 38, that would have raised rates to finance K-12 education. Her brother, Charles Munger Jr., for his part, poured millions into defeating another version of a tax increase, Gov. Jerry Brown's Proposition 30.

Molly Munger's Proposition 38 was indeed defeated and soundly. Yet voters backed Brown's increase, which raises the already high top marginal rate on the income tax three percentage points.

My own analysis is that this is a sea change, though not quite the kind Democrats will advertise. It has been a long time since Californians exploded with rage over property taxes and since the economy struggled under the egregious interventions of the Nixon, Ford and Carter administrations. Voters don't really recall the 1970s, or what a mess price controls and strange tax regimes yielded.

So they aren't really aware of the strong possibility that the new mandate for tax increases and bigger government is likely to yield similar economic challenges. It looks as if we have to repeat history if we are going to remember it.

Amity Shlaes, author of the forthcoming "Coolidge," is director of the Four Percent Growth Project at the Bush Institute.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

What Happens Now That the Election is Over?

Well, there you have it. The people have spoken. Barack Obama is still president; Tom Carter is still sheriff and Tom Luna's education scam, I mean reform, didn't fly. Is this a great country or what?

Now our teachers can resume teaching, our students can resume learning and Tom Luna can go online and find a website that will help him prepare his resume. He might want to take care of that before HP repossesses all those computers.

Do you think do-nothing Republicans in Washington will now set politics aside and help with the economic recovery? Probably not. Look at all the help they've offered so far. Yes, that was a joke

Oh, stop whining! Myth

Romney, I mean Mitt Romney, will run again in 2016 and every four years thereafter until he wins or dies.

So will Newt Gingrich.
Before, during and after Hurricane Sandy made landfall, President Obama took the reins and responded like the leader he is.

Mitt Romney looked like a scared deer in the headlights. He couldn't get away from the East Coast fast enough. It reminded me of Blunderbush and his memorable reactions to 9/11 and Hurricane Katrina. Do all rich guys start shaking in their boots and run away when disaster strikes?

Romney missed his best chance to show concern for those in the hurricane's path. He could have called the president and said, "This is Mitt. How can I help?" But he was too busy running for cover to consider helping people who aren't rich or the 47 percent that he thinks aren't worth worrying about.

While waiting for the next election cycle, Mitt can probably save some more Olympic events, you know, when he isn't in the Cayman Islands counting his money.

VIEWPOINT

Fox's 5 Stages Of Grief

BY WILL OREMUS

NEW YORK • In Fox News' election coverage Tuesday night, there was little pretense of fairness or balance. What there was, from the start, was a glum tone that turned downright funeral by the time Mitt Romney finally conceded, near 1 a.m. To watch the network's anchors and guests work through the dawning realization that their candidate was doomed was to witness a textbook case of Elisabeth Kubler-Ross' five stages of turns breaking badly for Romney, Karl Rove points to an exit poll suggesting that Democratic turnout was low in Ohio's Cuyahoga County. Everyone basks in the critical importance of Ohio's Cuyahoga County. Anchor Megyn Kelly asks, "Is this just math you do as a Republican to make yourself feel better?" Rove assures her it's real.

Mike Huckabee, meanwhile, is counting on rural voters to turn things around: "I still think Mitt Romney wins when it is all over."

Anger: Shortly before the race is called, Sarah Palin says an Obama victory would be a "catastrophic setback to our economy" and lashes out at the public: "I just cannot believe, though, that the majority of Americans would believe that incurring more debt is good for our economy....I cannot believe the majority of Americans would believe it's OK not to follow the Constitution and not have a budget."

As midnight nears and reality sinks in, Megyn Kelly takes out her frustration on liberal colleague Susan Estrich: "You, having managed the Michael Dukakis campaign, are familiar with the losing feeling."

Bargaining: With all of the networks calling the race for Obama, including Fox News, Karl Rove pleads for his fellow hosts to uncall Ohio, promising that forthcoming returns in the state will be favorable to Romney.

Kelly, followed by the cameras, heads back through the bowels of the building to grill Fox News' decision desk and see if the network's analysts will change their minds. They won't.

Depression: Ed Henry, reporting stone-faced from Obama headquarters as it erupts in jubiliation: "The crowd is near pandemonium now, despite the fact that employment is hovering near 8 percent."

Charles Krauthammer: "As a psychiatrist, I will offer to write prescriptions for anyone who needs them right now."

Acceptance: Still waiting on this one.

ONLINE COMMENTS

The conversation continues 24/7 on Magicvalley.com.

Online readers responded to the article, "Luna Calls for Revisiting Ed Reforms:"

KPC: I'd say the public has decided. You lost in all 44 counties. Your arrogance is amazing.

Raven: KPC Right on! If you truly want good quality reform try going to the experts, the teachers (what a concept) this time instead of a computer company and get their opinions and use their expertise! I can't stand unions, but in this case it was better than to allow a Dictator full reign who thinks he knows more than those in the business!

You work for us, remember? How embarrassing it must be for your family that you aren't getting that fact! If the vote for the props don't make it clear maybe you need to find the door!

horrybuckin: As a parent, I couldn't be happier with our schools. It is starting to seem as if Luna is a bully with something against teachers. It seems that Luna doesn't respect my vote, or get the picture. 57 and 58 percent votes are a pretty strong majority. I guess he just really needs that "feather in his cap." Unfortunately, if he is ever successful in silencing teachers (yeah the ones who really understand education), It will be the students who pay.

Idaho Jury Finds Man Guilty in Triple Murder

BOISE (AP) • A jury on Thursday found a man guilty of first-degree murder in the tripleslaying of his girlfriend and her two young sons a decade ago in the southern Idaho desert.

Jurors returned guilty verdicts against Jorge Alberto Lopez-Orozco just afternoon Thursday after a three-week trial.

Sentencing is set for Jan. 14. He faces life in Elmore County Prosecutor Kristina Schindele told jurors during the trial that began Oct. 22 that Lopez-Orozco shot and killed Rebecca Ramirez and her 2-year-old and 4-year-old boys between July 30 and Aug. 1 in 2002 because she planned to leave him.

About 10 days later, a pair of fishermen found the burned-out remains of Lopez-Orozco's car and the bodies just off Idaho Highway 51 between Mountain Home and Bruneau.

Lopez-Orozco spent seven years on the run before he was captured in Mexico in 2009, then another two years in prison in his home country before he was finally extradited to Idaho to stand

Schindele agreed not to pursue the death penalty, to persuade Mexican authorities to turn Lopez-Orozco over to face

During his trial, Lopez-Orozco's attorney Terry Ratliff suggested to jurors that the story was very different from the one painted by prosecutors: His client had been driving with Ramirez and the boys in rural Elmore County when someone began shooting at them.

Ratliff said the 36year-old Lopez-Orozco fled the car in the vain hope of leading the shooter away so Ramirez and her kids might es-

October 2009. Deputies brought Orozco back to Idaho more than 12 months later, and he has been in custody in the Elmore County Jail ever Prosecutors said Lopez-Orozco killed Ramirez and her young sons at the conclusion of a murderous affair gone awry: She'd learned that he had a wife and planned to leave him for someone else.

During the three-week trial, Elmore County Deputy Prosecutor Lee Fisher also told the jury there was evidence that Orozco suspected Ramirez of stealing methamphetamine and cash from him.

Lopez-Orozco's family members have also been sentenced in connection to the case.

Maria Lopez-Orozco and Jose Leobardo Lopez-Orozco, his sister and brother, each served jail terms starting in 2002 after they were convicted of helping their brother get away, according to Idaho court records.

Montana Considers Elk Reductions to Curb Disease

BY MATTHEW BROWN

Associated Press

BILLINGS, Mont. • A broad plan to protect against animal disease around Yellowstone National Park by targeting infected elk herds gained initial approval Thursday from Montana wildlife commissioners.

The plan includes measures to reduce the size of some elk herds, haze the animals away from livestock and even erect elk-proof fending. It was drafted by a state-appointed citizens working group.

The hope is to curb elkto-livestock transmissions of the disease brucellosis, which can cause pregnant animals to miscarry their young and brings significant costs for the cattle industry.

Thursday's adoption of the citizens group's recommendations by the Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks Commission opens the plan to public comment.

Details not yet settled include which elk herds could be targeted and whether that would be done through normal hunting seasons.

Members of the citizens group said they offered only those proposals they thought could be effective and widely accepted.

Disagreements among landowners, hunters and the livestock industry have complicated past efforts to resolve the problem.

Some landowners raise worries about government workers coming onto private property to haze elk. Hunters, meanwhile, want to guard against killing off too many of the animals in the name of protecting livestock.

Brucellosis has been eliminated elsewhere in the country but persists in elk and bison in parts of Wyoming, Idaho and Montana adjacent to Yellowstone.

This January photo provided by the Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks department shows agency workers testing a captured elk for the animal disease brucellosis south of Bannack, Mont. State wildlife officials are considering a plan to curb the disease around Yellowstone National Park by reducing the size of some elk herds, hazing them away from livestock and building elk-proof fences.

"The key thing is that we maintain spatial separation between (brucellosis) positive elk and breeding livestock," said Rick Gibson, a member of the citizens group and a rancher from the Livingston area. Gibson has faced significant costs from disease testing and vaccinations now required of livestock producers in the Yellowstone area.

Other steps called for in the plan adopted Thursday include increased monitoring of infected elk, public funding to put up fences around cattle feed areas and reduced wolf pack numbers to keep the predators from driving elk onto ranchland.

For years, some of the most aggressive brucellosis control actions have centered on Yellowstone's bison, which are periodically slaughtered by the hundreds during their winter migrations to prevent infections in cattle.

But the region's approximately 100,000 elk are more loosely managed. Researchers say brucellosis has been spreading within elk herds and showing up in new areas in recent decades.

"Not only has the geographic range expanded, but in some areas the (rate of infections) has increased," State Veterinarian Marty Zaluski told commissioners.

Officials have shied away from the capture and slaughter of diseased elk — a controversial approach that has been used in Wyoming with some success but at great cost.

Members of the Gallatin Wildlife Association, a sporting group, had urged the commission not to adopt the plan, saying the proposal needed more public input and could prove too costly.

In the last decade alone at least 14 brucellosis infections in livestock were reported in Montana, Idaho and Wyoming. Elk were named as the likely source of the disease in most cases.

Some of the infections triggered harsh sanctions against the region's lucrative livestock industries by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The federal government and livestock officials in other states have more recently softened their stance, largely due to more aggressive testing and vaccine programs for Yellowstone area livestock.

'AK-47 Bandit' Hits Rexburg Credit Union

REXBURG (AP) • The FBI Bandit" and is suspected in says a robber who held up an eastern Idaho credit union with an AK-47 rifle Wednesday likely has hit other banks elsewhere in the country.

The federal law enforcement agency released photos Thursday from the heist at the East Idaho Credit Union in Rexburg showing the man brandishing an assault rifle.

Officials say the man is also known as the "AK-47 robberies including a holdup in California in February in which he wounded a police officer.

The subject entered the Rexburg bank at approximately 4:30 p.m. wearing a mask, black gloves, a black coat with a hood, and baggy Levi jeans during the robbery.

After ordering employees into a vault, he was seen driving in a dark blue sedan on South Yellowstone Highway.

Man Napping in Field Run Over By Combine, Survives

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) • A man napping in a Montana cornfield was startled out of his snooze when he was run over by a large harvesting machine - and Yellowstone County deputies say he's lucky to Sheriff's Lt. Kent O'-Donnell says the 57-yearold man had been traveling the country by bus and decided to take a rest three rows deep in a field on the outskirts of Billings, the state's largest city.

A farmer harvesting Wednesday felt his combine hit something. When he turned the machine off, he heard screaming.

Emergency responders found the man's clothing had been sucked into the cutter, ensnaring him in the blades.

O'Donnell says the man, whose name was not released, suffered cuts requiring stitches and may need skin grafts, but given the circumstances is "incredibly lucky."

Brush Fire South of Reno 50 Percent Contained

RENO, Nev. (AP) • Fire crews say they have about 50 percent containment of a brush fire in the Washoe Valley that put a scare into some neighborhoods and forced evacuations south of Reno.

The fire that broke out about 12:30 p.m. Thursday northeast of Washoe Lake burned between five and 10 acres and destroyed at least two outbuildings, but no homes.

Idaho High Court Considers Death Penalty Reviews

BY REBECCA BOONE Associated Press

BOISE • The Idaho Supreme Court is deciding just how much of each death penalty case they must consider under Idaho's mandatory review law, and the ruling could dramatically change the landscape of capital punishment in Idaho.

The issues arose in the case of Timothy Dunlap, who is sentenced to death in both Idaho and Ohio for two murders committed during a 10-day span in 1991.

Dunlap was arrested in Idaho after prosecutors said he used a sawed-off shotgun to kill 25-year-old bank teller Tonya Crane during a robbery in Soda Springs. After his arrest, police said he confessed to murdering girlfriend, Belinda Bolanos, with a crossbow and dumping her body along the Ohio River 10 days before Crane's murder.

Dunlap was convicted in Ohio and sentenced to death there for Bolanos' murder; but because he was convicted in Idaho first, Idaho is first in line for his execution.

It's not uncommon for death row inmates to appeal multiple issues before multiple courts, all at the same time. Now 44, Dunlap is no exception, and his appeal before the Idaho Supreme Court includes more than 50 different issues.

The decision from the Idaho Supreme Court on what must be reviewed could dramatically limit the types of appeals that death row defendants can bring.

The Idaho Legislature created the mandatory review law in 1977, requiring the Idaho Supreme Court to review every death sentence whether the defendant wants them to or not.

The law was designed to do two things: First, meet federal requirements that the death penalty be imposed only on a narrow group of criminals whose crimes were worthy of such a severe sanction; and second, speed up the appeals process by ensuring there were no problems with the way the death penalty was imposed.

But Idaho Deputy Attorney General LaMont Anderson says the law has actually slowed death row cases because the Idaho Supreme Court has never defined the scope of the mandatory re-

Grid Locks: State Semifinals

BY DAVID BASHORE AND RYAN HOWE

dbashore@magicvalley.comrhowe@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • The semifinals are upon us and we still have five teams hanging around long enough to earn a state trophy.

Now they play for colors, with wins keeping the dreams of the blue trophy

All five face difficult challenges - these teams aren't in the state semifinals for no reason — but a few have a really good chance at making the championship round. The two that play today, well, suffice it to say they're decidedly underdogs. But that's what makes sports great, the fact that anything can happen.

The picks:

Today SHELLEY (10-0) AT GOODING (10-0)

Gooding proved last week that it belongs among the final four in the 3A ranks. Whether the Senators belong on the level of Shelley and Fruitland, the prohibitive favorites to make next week's championship game, is another matter. Things are on the up in Gooding, but Shelley is a perennial power with an explosive offense that can beat you two different ways. Chad Leckington and McKay Cannon have forged arguably the most dynamic combination in the state and the Russets are always tough defensively. Simply, they know how to win, while the Senators have more recently learned how. A forecast for wintry weather could give Gooding an advantage but the Senators will have to be perfect, and that still may not be enough.

Shelley 35, Gooding 17

RAFT RIVER (5-5) VS. BUTTE COUNTY (8-2), HOLT ARENA

Most noticeable in this matchup is the size disparity. Butte County is a big, physical football team, as defending state champ Hagerman observed last week. Raft River doesn't have a lineman over 180 pounds, while Butte's two running backs tip the scales over 200. You'd think Raft River could counter with its quickness. The problem, however, is "Butte County's big kids are pretty fast," as Trojans coach Brian Poole points out. Butte has allowed one touchdown or fewer in six of its 10 games, including its 44-8 win against Raft River on Oct. 4 in Malta. But the Trojans haven't come this far to lie down. We predict Raft River will put up a good fight, but ultimately its season will end with a thirdplace trophy - not a bad prize for a team that many expected wouldn't even make the playoffs.

Butte County 48, Raft River 24

Saturday DECLO (10-0) VS. MARSING (9-1), HOLT ARENA

Declo is looking to make its third state championship game appearance in school history, but standing in the way is an under-the-radar Marsing team that is ranked fifth in the state and won the school's first conference title since 1997. The No. 2ranked Hornets will have their hands full with Marsing's three-year starter at

FIVE TEAMS GEAR UP FOR SEMIFINALS

BY DAVID BASHORE, NICK RULAND AND RYAN HOWE

dbashore@magicvalley.com nruland@magicvalley.com rhowe@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • Of the 27 District IV prep football teams that started practice in early August, only five remain.

Those five are guaranteed state trophies by reaching this weekend's semifinal rounds, but none wants the ride to end with a loss and the green Idaho trophy after the next game.

Dreams of the big stage and the championship game are dancing in all five teams' collective heads, but there's one more hurdle in front of each. Some of those hurdles are larger than others but none is taking it for granted. "It's not too hard to get focused this week. First and foremost we have a long bus trip there and it's always a concern of mine," said Dietrich coach Doug Astle, whose Blue Devils travel to Salmon River for a Saturday 1A-II semifinal. "If we execute on both sides of the football like we did last Friday we will be in good shape, but that is why they play the game."

Salmon River is best remembered in District IV circles for two reasons: stunning Carey for the 2007 title and being the first victim along Lighthouse Christian's rampage to the 2011 championship. The Savages haven't changed too much from last season, spreading the ball around through quarterback Leighton Vander Esch — who accounted for almost 275 yards and all three of the team's touchdowns with his arm and legs in last week's quarterfinal win over Deary.

"They aren't much of a running team but they like to spread you out and throw the football on you a little," Astle said. "It will be a challenge to stay with them on the outside and stay to our assignments."

Lighthouse Christian has to be feeling similarly confident after last week's shellacking of traditional division power Carey. The Lions visit Garden Valley, also on Saturday, hoping to keep up their half of the bargain along the way to what many believe will be an all-District IV final against Dietrich.

The Wolverines will pose a unique challenge in that they use a lot of misdirection but not in a typical sense.

"They run some misdirection where the running backs will throw passes, they will turn around like a double wing except out of shotgun, might throw it back to the running back or tight end ... they are hard to explain until you see it," said Lighthouse Christian coach John van Vliet. "We are really going into this game looking at a team that is 9-1, so they must do a good job executing whatever they are doing. We have to respect them."

Declo coach Kelly Kidd: "They're a different team in quickness than we've played the last two weeks. The challenge this team brings is not overrunning our blocks. ... We will have to change our speed in a couple situations in this game."

Golden Eagle Men Open Home Schedule Tonight

BY NICK RULAND nruland@magicvallev.com

TWIN FALLS • Players on the College of Southern Idaho men's basketball team were on message this week, echoing what sounded like all but hollow talking points after an unconvincing start to the season. CSI prepares for its first set of home games this weekend in the Hilex Poly Invitational, starting with the Impact Academy today at 7:30

The Golden Eagles are on notice, and if the unified message is any indication, whatever was imprinted in the backs of their minds will soon be demonstrated on the hardwood.

"In Arizona we struggled a lot with playing hard all the time and playing together," sophomore guard Jon Pulsifer said. "After the first week, the whole team re-evaluated each other. We need to make sure we get everybody involved. So right now we are just working on the basics like making hustle plays, making the extra pass and keeping our feet going on defense."

While a 2-1 start to the season, which included a 23-point loss to Central Arizona College and inconsistent effort in its two wins, did not set off panic, head coach Steve Gosar and his men hopes it elicits a fight response.

because it's about playing hard, not executing? Given the annually high expectations of the Golden Eagles, a drop-off in effort is a relative term compared to other teams. But that's how such expectations get met, and players like Trevor Ritchie want to prove to the home fans that they're capable of living up to standards.

"As a team, we were satisfied with how we played our first game, even though it was sloppy," Ritchie said. "Then Friday we came out with no energy and played one of the worst games we could have played and missed a lot of shots. We are going to turn it

Through much of October, Gosar said his team was reacting instead of moving aggressively, pointing out that his players were still trying to absorb its motion sets and turn them into habitualized, muscle-memory movements.

But such an explanation has a short shelf-life, especially as the Golden Eagles move closer to conference games, which are almost a month away.

"Learning the offense is still up to us," Ritchie said. "We are smart enough to get this stuff down."

CSI is shooting less than 42 percent on the season, led in scoring by Jaysean Paige with 11.7 points per game.

Whitt Davis (43) and the Declo Hornets survived a mud bog of a football field at Grangeville last week and will face Marsing in the Class 2A state semifinals Saturday at Holt Arena in Pocatello.

Class 1A-I semifinal NO. 4 BUTTE COUNTY (8-2) VS. RAFT RIVER (5-5)

Site: Holt Arena Time: 3 p.m. Internet: IdahoSports.com Players to watch

Butte County - RB/LB Tyler Andreason. The four-year starter has paced the Pirates yet again, racking up 1,179 yards and 17 touchdowns and leading Butte County to its first ever semifinal appearance.

Raft River - LB/WR Wil Holtman. A 6-foot, 160pound sophomore, Holtman has been instrumental to the Trojans' success this season, including last week's win over Challis in the quarterfinals. He had numerous tackles for loss from his linebacker spot, then caught three passes for 59 yards and a touchdown on offense.

Butte County coach Sam Thorngren: "We definitely do have the size advantage. We know the speed is about the same. But we know we're bigger and more physical. And if we have to wear them down, we can physically and pound the ball."

Raft River coach Brian Poole: "Butte County got on us last time because they surprised our kids how physical and how big they were. I think that surprise is gone. We're being honest with them with what we've got to do to compete."

Class 1A-II semitinal

NO. 1 DIETRICH (9-0) AT NO. 5 SALMON RIVER (8-2) Site: Salmon River HS, Riggins Time: 2 p.m. Saturday

Players to watch

Dietrich – RB Hazen Weber. With 274 yards on just 23 carries in the quarterfinals against Castleford, Weber upped his rushing total on the year to over 1,700 yards, though he'd likely be well over 2,000 had he not been blowouts pulled in throughout the season.

Salmon River - QB Leighton Vander Esch. The dual-threat gunslinger threw for 142 yards and ran for 122 against Deary in the quarterfinals.

Dietrich coach Doug Astle: "We think right now we can beat them up front, but that will be a game-time thing and we will see how it progresses. The key will be how we put pressure on them with our front."

Class 1A-II semifinal NO. 2 LIGHTHOUSE CHRISTIAN (8-2) AT

Site: Garden Valley HS Time: 1 p.m. Saturday Players to watch

GARDEN VALLEY (9-1)

Lighthouse Christian -QB Logan Bosma. The game manager threw for four touchdowns and ran for another against Carey last week, providing complement to running back Adam Taylor. Garden Valley may be hard pressed to stop the Bosma-to-Eli Berndt connection on the outside, so it could end up forcing the ball out of Bosma's hands quickly, which could open up the Lions' screen game.

Garden Valley - QB Kavik Fairburn. Fairburn has taken the lion's share of pass attempts for the Wolverines and is part of their three-headed rushing monster. He accounts for 154 yards per game with his arm and legs.

Lighthouse Christian coach John van Vliet: "Schematically, (Garden Valley) seems to be real aggressive with blitzing linebackers, so we have to be focused on assignments and making sure kids are picked up."

College Hoops Season Starts with a Military Flair

The college basketball season gets under way Friday with a game at a Europe military base, two more aboard Navy ships and another featuring a reshaped national champion playing in a brand new building.

No. 14 Michigan State plays Connecticut, in its first game since the retirement of coach Jim Calhoun, at Ramstein Air Base in Kaiserslautern, Germany. It's the first game between Division I teams held in Europe.

Then it's on to the decks for No. 4 Ohio State against Marquette on the USS Yorktown in Charleston, S.C., and Georgetown facing No. 10 Florida on the USS Bataan in Jacksonville, Fla.

No. 3 Kentucky, the defending national champion with a heralded freshman class, plays Maryland in the first college doubleheader at the new Barclays Center in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Also, one of the sport's shrines reopens. Pauley Pavilion, boosted by a $132 million renovation, will be the site when No. 13 UCLA hosts Indiana State, the alma mater of John Wooden.

A statue of Wooden stands outside the north entrance and the corridor on the east side of the 47-yearold arena has been named Wooden Way. Three large

The big opening weekend - 21 teams from the preseason Top 25 will have played by Sunday night — will be followed by a month full of early season tournaments. Several special matchups before Christmas will dot the 2012-13 schedule leading into the start of

There will be a third game played on a ship this weekend when No. 9 Syracuse faces No. 20 San Diego State on the USS Midway in San Diego on Sunday. The game will be the first telecast of more than 100 for MSG Network.

ESPN will continue its coverage of almost 1,500 games with its annual 24hour college basketball marathon on Tuesday. Those 12 games, including a 6 a.m. start for Stony Brook at Rider, an 8 a.m. tip for Northern Illinois at Valparaiso and a 10 a.m. start for Harvard at Massachusetts, are part of the 54 the network will show during a six-day stretch.

Early matchups between ranked teams include Michigan State against No. 7 Kansas and then No. 8 Duke facing Kentucky in the doubleheader in Atlanta that caps the 24-hour marathon; No. 23 Wisconsin at No. 10 Florida; and the Battle 4 Atlantis that involves No. 2 Louisville, Duke, No. 15 Missouri and No. 17 Memphis.

Four months of conference, nonconference and in-season tournament games all point to Selection Sunday on March 17. The NCAA tournament ends three weeks later with the Final Four in Atlanta's Geor-

No. 8 Seminoles Rally to Beat Hokies 28-22

BLACKSBURG, Va. E.J. Manuel hit Rashad Greene with a slant pass that Greene took 39 yards for a touchdown with 40 seconds to play and No. 8 Florida State survived a scare to beat Virginia Tech 28-22 on Thursday night.

The Seminoles (9-1, 6-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) won their fourth straight and moved within a victory against Maryland on Nov. 17 of securing a spot in the ACC championship game Dec. 1.

The Hokies (4-6, 2-4) lost for the fifth time in six games and will have to beat Boston College and Virginia in their final regular season games to qualify for a bowl game for the 20th straight year.

The Hokies had gone ahead 22-20 on Cody Journell's 21yard field goal with 2:19 remaining. The kick capped a 52-yard drive that stalled when Logan Thomas ran for 2 yards on third-and-3 from the 6.

The Hokies limited the Seminoles to 311 yards, more than 200 below their average for the season, and gained possession leading to the go-defensive series.

After the Seminoles took over at their 20, Manuel threw incomplete on first down and James Gayle sacked him for a 10-yard loss on second down. A delay of game penalty moved the ball back to the 5 and, when the Seminoles tried running Devonta Freeman to the left, Jack Tyler caught him from behind in the end zone.

ahead field goal with a stellar Freeman tried to throw it, an illegal forward pass, and the safety pulled the Hokies to

It also gave them the ball, but when they only managed a field goal, the Seminoles made them pay.

Limited to minus-15 rushing yards for the game, they got 7 from James Wilder Jr. on a fourth-and-1 play from their 41, and Manuel hit Greg Dent for 13 yards two plays later. After Manuel threw a pass away under pressure, he hit Greene on a short slant against a zone defense and Greene took it all

The Seminoles opened a 20-10 lead with a 49-yard touchdown drive after recovering a fumble by Hokies wide receiver Marcus Davis. Manuel completed three passes on the six-play drive, including a 10-yard bullet to Greg Dent in the back of the end zone with 6:53 left in the third quarter.

Virginia Tech replied quickly, driving 80 yards in eight plays. Thomas hit Corev Fuller for 44 and 14 yards on the drive, and ran it in himself from the 5, bulling over several defenders.

The game was delayed for about 10 minutes in the third quarter when Virginia Tech safety Michael Coles was hurt and lay face-down and motionless on the field. As the crowd stood in silence, Coles was taken away by ambulance. The school said he had a neck sprain, but had feeling and movement in his extremities.

Durant Helps Thunder Edge Bulls 97-91

ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO • Kevin Durant scored eight of his 24 points in the fourth quarter and the Oklahoma City Thunder beat the Chicago Bulls 97-91 on Thursday night.

Durant iced the game with an off-balance jumper off one foot with 35.1 seconds to play.

Serge Ibaka scored 15 of his 21 points in the first half, and had a team-high nine rebounds for the Thunder, who beat the Bulls for the third time in their last four games at Chicago. Russell Westbrook chipped in with 16 points and 12

Luol Deng led the Bulls with 27 points, and Richard Hamilton added 20 points and eight rebounds. Joakim Noah had nine points, 13 rebounds and a teamhigh six assists.

Hamilton made a tying jumper with 2:52 to play, but then Durant took over, making a floater from the top of the key over Deng to keep the Bulls at bay.

Durant was passive for much of the game and didn't attempt a free throw until the closing seconds. He has had just one game without a free-throw attempt since the start of the 2010-11 season.

The Thunder put together a 7-0 to grab the lead with 8:34 to play. Nick Collison capped the surge with a layup off a pass from Eric Maynor.

Deng snapped the run with his third 3-pointer of the game. Deng entered the contest 1 for 11 from behind the arc. Chicago ranked last in the league in 3-point makes, attempts and percentage, but hit a season-high five 3s in the game.

The Thunder responded a sixpoint run, taking a five-point lead after Ibaka blocked a Deng shot from behind, igniting a fast break and Thabo Sefolosha's layup.

Kirk Hinrich scored seven points to lead a third-quarter Bulls charge, hitting his second 3pointer of the game and reaching double figures in scoring for the first time this season. Chicago led 72-66 entering the final period.

NOT JUST FOOTBALLS ARE DEFLATED AT USC

ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOS ANGELES • It's not just the game balls that are deflated at Southern California this

An unimpressive season reached a new, weird low late Wednesday night when No. 21 USC announced a student manager had been dismissed for underinflating several game balls before the Trojans' loss to No. 2 Oregon last weekend, earning a fine and a reprimand for the school from the Pac-12.

Coach Lane Kiffin then spent a soggy Thursday morning on campus explaining why the Trojans' latest brush with questionable tactics was an isolated misdeed by an overeager student, not an indication of a somewhat sleazy culture building around a program still attempting to emerge from the clouds of heavy NCAA sanctions in "I was just disappointed, because it was just a distraction," Kiffin said. "It was a distraction that nobody knew about here, that had no effect on the game. If anything, it had a negative effect to be throwing two different types of balls for a quarterback. I was just disappointed, because it was a distraction that we didn't need."

Kiffin is telling the truth: With two straight losses, the preseason No. 1 team can't afford to waste much thought for anything other than the salvage of its season. USC (6-3, 4-3 Pac-12) hosts Arizona State (5-4, 3-3) on Saturday before finishing against No. 17 UCLA and No. 4 Notre Dame, hoping to earn a probable rematch with Oregon in the Pac-12 title game.

Kiffin insists his coaching staff and quarterback Matt Barkley knew nothing about the manager's actions on the Oregon sideline, where officials apparently discovered three underinflated balls before the game and two more at halftime. Kiffin offered no thoughts about the possible motivation of the unidentified manager, saying he hadn't spoken to the student.

USC athletic director Pat Haden, who took over the department after Kiffin was hired nearly three years ago, was obviously unhappy about the embarrassment.

"We acknowledge the Pac-12's reprimand and fine," Haden said in a statement released through Twitter. "We regret this incident occurred. It was unacceptable and we apologize for it. I can assure you this will not happen again." Deflating footballs is an uncommon - but not unfamiliar — bit of gamesmanship on many levels of football. Softer balls are thought to be a bit easier to throw and catch and that's exactly what the Ducks did while racking up 730 yards during a 62-51 win over USC, which had the worst defensive game ever at a school that began playing football in the 19th century. Kiffin said he realizes "conspiracy theories ... will think we were behind this," but thinks the lack of an obvious advantage to be gained from the tactic — and the sloppy manner in which it happened - should prove the innocence of his coaches and players

"I don't think if we were trying to deflate balls, we would be directing a student manager on the Oregon sideline, right in front of them, to be deflating balls, and then playing with some deflated and some nondeflated balls," Kiffin said. "I'm sure if we knew that, our kickers wouldn't have been happy with that, either. No kicker is ever going to be happy with a deflated ball."

While Kiffin claimed he didn't hear about the officials' discovery until Sunday, Oregon coach Chip Kelly told SiriusXM's College Sports Nation channel Thursday he heard about it after the game.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. • Inspiration one week, domination the next.

The Indianapolis Colts became the latest team to hammer the Jacksonville Jaguars at home, winning 27-10 on Thursday night behind two rushing touchdowns from rookie quarterback Andrew Luck.

Darius Butler returned an interception for a score as the Colts (6-3) won their fourth consecutive game and snapped a three-game losing streak in the series. The Jaguars (1-8) have lost six straight.

The Colts had cause for concern following an emotional victory four days earlier, one in which cancerstricken coach Chuck Pagano delivered a passionate, postgame speech in the locker room. Interim coach Bruce Arians was worried the team might crash from the emotional high.

Not even close.

Indianapolis scored on three consecutive possessions in the first half, opening a 17-0 lead that started emptying the stands at EverBank Field.

Luck, coming off an NFL rookie record 433 yards passing against Miami, wasn't quite as sharp. He didn't need to be, either.

Luck completed 18 of 26 passes for 227 yards, with an interception and a fumble. But he was unstoppable near the end zone, deking defenders with two pump fakes and scrambling for a 5-yard score on one drive and then plunging across the goal line on fourth down on the next possession.

That was plenty against the Jaguars, who have the league's worst offense and played a third game without star running back Maurice Jones-Drew.

Jacksonville has lost every game since a come-frombehind victory at Indianapolis. Blaine Gabbert hit Cecil Shorts III for an 80-yard touchdown in the final minute, stunning the Colts. There was no drama in the rematch. The Colts essentially sealed the victory when Butler stepped in front of Gabbert's pass in the flat and went untouched for an 11yard score early in the third quarter. Indianapolis became just the third road team to win on Thursday night this season, and just the fifth in the last two seasons. NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell said before the game that the league is analyzing whether home teams on short weeks have a distinct advantage. It certainly would help any road team to play in Jack-

The Jaguars have been outscored 153-44 at home this season, on the wrong end of lopsided losses to Houston, Cincinnati, Chicago and Detroit.

Against Indy, nothing seemed to go Jacksonville's

Marcedes Lewis, Rashad Jennings and Shorts dropped passes early. Josh Scobee missed a 44-yard field goal attempt, snapping a streak of 20 consecutive makes.

The Jaguars had an interception overturned by a roughing the passer penalty on Terrance Knighton, keeping alive a drive that ended in a touchdown. They also were on the losing end of two re-

Laurent Robinson fumbled at the end of a 9-yard gain, getting the ball stripped by Moise Fokou. Officials initially ruled Robinson was down, but the call was overturned on review. That turnover led to Indy's second touchdown and led to Jaguars coach Mike Mularkey's meltdown on the side-

Mularkey lost his cool when officials refused to acknowledge his pleas for a review on Luck's fourth-down TD plunge. Luck appeared to fumble the ball as he crossed the goal line.

All scoring plays are reviewed, so Mularkey couldn't challenge, but he seemingly wanted officials to take a longer look at the scoring play. He whipped his play sheet and headset onto the field, drawing a flag for unsportsmanlike conduct. Players followed his lead, getting flagged for five more 15-yard penalties.

Williams, a small, yet shifty and fearless guy who is also a bareback bronc rider. The Huskies also have dangerous speed in the backfield with Jesus Lino and Tristan Jacobi. Marsing only averages 27.8 points per game (Declo scores 50), but the Hornets shouldn't overlook the Huskies. Marsing's underrated defense is the reason it's in the state semifinals and has lost only one game all year – by one point to Cole Valley.

DIETRICH (9-0) AT SALMON RIVER (8-2)

The Blue Devils haven't been to this point since 2007, when they were blown out by a rampant Carey team in a mercyrule laugher. But this is a different team. That one was build on speed and playmaking, while this one is content to just smash its opponent into submission. Salmon River is a team that likes to throw the ball around, especially on quick-hitters and intermediate passes. That should be right up Dietrich's alley, defensively, though the Savages could stretch that defense and give it a different kind of test. Early pressure on Salmon River quarterback Leighton Vander Esch will go a long way to setting the tempo. But in any case, we believe Dietrich played a better team last week in Castleford. Whether it'll be a mercy-rule job like last week is another question, but that's about the only one we have.

> Dietrich 60, Salmon River 20

LIGHTHOUSE CHRISTIAN (8-2) AT GARDEN VALLEY (9-1)

Garden Valley did well to travel and beat a decent Kootenai team on the road last Saturday, but Lighthouse Christian is an entirely different animal. The defending champion Lions are healthy, playing well, and playing better than when they won it all last season. When they were firing in the early part of the season, Lighthouse Christian mercy-ruled District III 1A-I outfit Idaho City, the same squad Garden Valley beat 36-20. We see Lighthouse Christian as having too many offensive weapons for the Wolverines to shut them all down, and any one of them is a game-breaker on his own. Defensively, pressure is going to build early and often. I know it's in Garden Valley but we don't see anything to stop an all-District IV 1A-II final.

Gooding will have no trouble respecting its opponent tonight, as perennial power Shelley comes to town for a matchup of two of the seven remaining unbeatens in all of Idaho football. The Russets will be huge favorites in tonight's game, having flirted with titles in almost every recent year. They also have one of the best quarterback-receiver tandems around in Chad Leckington and McKay Cannon.

The last time Gooding won a state trophy in football, the entirety of the Times-News sports staff was in diapers. "They are so diverse, they have many special players and two phenomenal competitors (in Leckington and Cannon). Cannon will catch short balls and turn them into touchdowns and he has the fire to not want to lose," Gooding coach Cameron Andersen said. "Anytime you play a team full of competitors who don't want to lose it makes that much more difficult.

"We have to play a perfect game. We have to control the clock and keep them from making big plays. It's a tall task but we are ready for it," Anderson added. "The bully walks around the playground because he knows that he can. The only way you can test the bully is punch him in the mouth and see how he reacts."

While Gooding is trying to recapture old glory, Declo is looking to make its third state championship game appearance in school history, all in the last five seasons (2008 and 2009).

To do that the Hornets will have to beat Marsing, which survived a stern test from Salmon last week. But Declo held its own in a game at 2011 champion Grangeville, where the Hornets survived a litany of bad circumstances - bus troubles, delayed start, injuries, illness and an almost unplayably muddy field, for starters - to dethrone the Bulldogs 18-17.

Nobody needs to dial Declo up for Saturday's game at Holt Arena.

"(Marsing's) kids are just like (our kids) and they want to play in a state championship game. Anybody can win at this stage, it doesn't matter what level NFL teams get surprised in the playoffs, and sometimes the better team doesn't win. We have to be focused," said Declo coach Kelly Kidd. "We'll do our best. I think our kids are phenomenal athletes, they're smart, they under-kids." In the other 8-man division, Raft River walks into a tough group of kids in Butte County, which just routed Hagerman to dethrone the Pirates and end their 21game win streak. Butte stand football. This is a pretty special group of County had lost to Hagerman earlier in the season, and Raft River will hope lightning strikes twice after the Trojans' 44-8 loss to Butte County in the regular season.

But the odds aren't in Raft River's favor, as Butte County will have a significant size advantage at almost every position, which should result in downhill, smashmouth football from the squad from Arco.

"Hopefully we'll make a few plays on special teams. When you play a team that is physically as good as Butte County is, you have to try to win some places different than just offense and defense," said Raft River coach Brian Poole. "We're going to have to change things up and keep them guessing."

Ora George Prewitt March 16, 1921-Nov. 6, 2012

TWIN FALLS • Ora George Prewitt, 91, of Twin Falls, Idaho, passed away Tuesday evening, Nov. 6, 2012, at Bridgeview Estates surrounded by his loving family. He lived a long and full life and was more than ready to continue his life journey in heaven and be reunited with his beloved wife.

George was born March 16, 1921, in Long Beach, Calif., the first child of Rolly Taylor Prewitt and Margaret Iliff Prewitt. He grew up in Riverside, Calif., and graduated from Riverside Poly High School in 1940. George joined the Army Air Force and was proud to serve his country in World War II. From his base at Polebrook, Northamptonshire, England, he flew 34 successful bombing raids over Germany as a top turret gunner in a B-17, the greatest plane ever made, in his opinion. He never talked a great deal about his involvement in the War, but the experience had a profound impact on his life and he stayed in contact with several of his comrades for the rest of their lives. We have lost another valued World War II veteran, to whom we all owe a huge debt of gratitude for the freedoms we enjoy today. George would want all of us to remember one thing: "Freedom is not free; many have paid the price."

At the end of the war, George married his best friend, life partner and soulmate, Elizabeth (Betty) Jean Harris, at the Presbyterian Church in Riverside where they had met on Aug. 3, 1945. They lived a good life together for nearly 67 years until Betty passed away in June of this year. George and Betty were blessed with a daughter, Margaret (Peggy) Seigworth Schroeder, and a son, George Thomas (Tom) Prewitt.

George went to work for the city of Riverside soon after the war in the Light Department as a cable splicer. He was extremely talented and could draw, plan and make almost anything. He loved welding and, after years of working weekends and evenings in his own business, he left the city for a few years and ran his business full time, Multi-Industries and Mfg. in Riverside, Calif. He built custom horse trailers, boat trailers and just about anything anyone needed. He eventually returned to the City Light Department, where he worked until his retirement. During these years, George was very active in Victoria United Presbyterian Church, where he taught Sunday school and served on many boards and in many capacities. When his children were in high school, he was involved in the local FFA and helped start an FFA Booster Club of parents and supporters of the ag program. Other interests included hunting and fishing, and he was involved in shooting ranges and gun clubs in the Riverside-San Bernardino area.

George and Betty retired to Rimforest in the San Bernardino Mountains. They enjoyed living in the mountains, and George soon began a new career at Rim Lumber. He loved working with his fellow employees there and helping contractors and customers for 10 years before retiring again. He became very involved with the Arrowhead Fish and Game Gun Club, serving as president and as range master and developing his skill as an excellent trap shooter. George and Betty also spent many winters volunteering at the Salton Sea State Park, which they enjoyed very much.

In 1990, George and Betty moved to Twin Falls, Idaho, to be closer to their daughter. They enjoyed camping and exploring Idaho, and George spent many happy hours in his shop, always creative, making many woodworking projects that have now become family heirlooms for his children and grandchildren. In his last years, his greatest pleasure was his family. He was extremely proud of the success and accomplishments of his children and grandchildren and adored his great-grandchildren. He was a good man. He was a great American soldier. He was our mentor and taught us the importance of honesty, hard work and helping others. He will be greatly missed but will live on in our hearts and memories forever.

George was preceded in death by his parents; and his precious wife, Betty. He is survived by his daughter, Peggy (Mike) Schroeder of Twin Falls, Idaho; and his son, Tom (Geri) Prewitt of Riverside, Calif. His grandchildren are Scott (Robyn) Seigworth and Matt Seigworth of Twin Falls, and Raleigh (Amy) Prewitt, Michael (Rebekah) Prewitt and Mackenzie Prewitt of Riverside, Calif. His greatgrandchildren are Bayley Seigworth, Ali Moore and Kylar Moore of Twin Falls, and triplets Michael, Haleigh and Rhiannon Prewitt of Riverside, Calif. He is also survived by one brother, Homer Prewitt of Riverside, Calif., as well as many nieces and nephews. A memorial service for George will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 13, at Parke's Magic Valley Funeral Home, 2551 Kimberly Road in Twin Falls.

"If you don't believe in heroes, then you haven't met my Dad ...'

Lawrence 'Larry' Cecil Tiffany July 16, 1958-Nov. 6, 2012

JACKPOT, Nev. • It is with heavy hearts and deep sorrow that we announce the sudden death Tuesday, Nov. 6, 2012, of our dear son, brother, father, uncle, husband and friend.

Lawrence 'Larry' Cecil Tiffany was born July 16, 1958, in Weiser, Idaho, to Ted and Edna Tiffany. He is the second of four children. His siblings are Rodger Tiffany, Theresa Taylor and Tina Turnipseed. He attended Hollister and Filer High School and worked for the Y3 Ranch.Larry had many passions in life and loved being surrounded by his family and friends. He was an avid hunter and fisherman and loved the outdoors. These passions took root when he was a young child, and he and his brother, Rodger, would take off for days at a time on some new adventure. They were inseparable and were the best of buddies.

In 1982, he met Gail Cann, and they spent 21 years together. As a result of this union, he acquired a daughter, Jennifer, who he loved with his whole heart and took on as his own when she was just 3 years old. Later in 2004, he married the love if his life, Charlene (Charlie), who he spent the rest of his life devoted to. They made lifelong memories together that Charlie will cherish forever.

He is survived by parents,

Ted and Edna; wife, Charlie; children, Jennifer, Amber and Brandon; stepchildren, Ashley, Shantal and Michael; brother, Rodger and wife, Debbie; sister, Theresa and husband, Steve; and sister, Tina and husband, Russ; three nieces, Tiffany, Danielle and Brianna; and nine grandchildren, Kylee, Brayden, Talen, Ja-Christian, Jaxon, cob, Cameron, Zachary and Gabriel. He is preceded in death by a niece, Stephanie.

He was an influential father figure to many of the young men growing up in Jackpot, Nev., and we will forever hold a spot for him in our hearts.

A private family viewing will be held from 3:30 until 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 9. A celebration of his life will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 10, at the Hollister LDS Church.

Family and friends are encouraged to share their memories at www.rosenaufuneralhome.com.

Gail Ann Malberg Nov. 8, 1924-Nov. 5, 2012

TWIN FALLS • After suffering a long illness, Gail passed quietly Monday, Nov. 5, 2012, with her faithful husband and partner, Gene, at her side. She will be missed by all her family and friends.

Born Nov. 8, 1924, to Grace T. Zutz and Crawford E. Ott in Hillsboro, Ore., she moved to Twin Falls in the 1930s and graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1942. She married Ralph Taylor in 1942, Orville Lange in 1955 and Gene Malberg in 1959. Gail and Gene celebrated their 53rd wedding anniversary in October.

She was a great cook and loved to entertain family and friends. She loved backpacking through the back trails of Idaho with her family and friends. She enjoyed creating beautiful handwork. She retired from the University of Idaho Cooperative Extension Service in 1991 and has enjoyed many comforting years with family and friends.

She is survived by Michael Taylor, Larry Malberg and Janet Heisen; five grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren. A memorial service for Gail will be held at 2 p.m. Monday, Nov. 12, at the Immanuel Lutheran Church, 2055 Filer Ave. E. in Twin Falls, with Pastor Roger Sedlmayr officiating. A graveside service will follow at the Reflection of History Mausoleum at Sunset Memorial Park. A viewing will take place one hour prior to the service at the church. A cordial for friends and family will be held immediately after the graveside service at the church.

Services are under the direction of Trent Stimpson and staff at Reynolds Funeral Chapel in Twin Falls. Condolences may be left for the family by visiting

Two Syrian boys who fled with their families from the violence in their village look on as one holds a gun toy at a displaced camp, in the Syrian village of Atmeh, near the Turkish border with Syria on Thursday.

Syrian Children the Most Common Sight at Refugee Camp

ATMEH, Syria (AP) • Most of the displaced people in the tent camp rising near this village on the Syrian-Turkish border are children.

All have fled the violence of Syria's civil war farther south. Many have seen violence themselves. Some have lost relatives, and most have trouble sleeping and panic when they hear loud noises or airplanes, their parents

Fighting between the forces of President Bashar Assad and rebels seeking to topple him has sent hundreds of thousands Syrians streaming into neighboring countries.

Rebel organizers say the Atmeh camp was born of necessity some three months ago when Turkey began drastically reducing the number of Syrians allowed to enter that country, leaving tens of thousands stranded in the bordars area.

Turkey says that more than 112,000 Syrian refugees are sheltering in Turkish camps, and that the crossing process has slowed because of stringent security checks.

The camp, which is run by local rebels who distribute tents and food provided by a smattering of aid organizations, is home to more than 5,000 people, mainly families with multiple children who were among those blocked from entering Turkey.

Children are the most common sight among the tents: foraging for wood for camp fires, carrying jugs of water from the tankers brought in by the rebels, and, at times, playing.

Their faces give hints of how they've been affected by the collision of childhood and a civil war that anti-regime activists say has killed more than 36,000 people since March 2011. One girl stares straight ahead, her expression dark. Another places one hand on her hip while raising the other above her head, flashing a V-for-victory sign. Yet another defiantly holds out a fist while clutching a teddy

The organizers' woes are many: New arrivals come every day, there aren't enough tents, and families often get half as many of the modest meals as they should.

"You can watch the news and know where they are coming from," said a camp organizer who goes by the name Abu Jaafar for reasons of personal safety. "The areas that are being bombed."

All expect the situation to get worse when winter hits, lowering temperatures and sending rains that could turn the camp into a muddy bog.

Nor'Easter Intensifies Sandy Misery

BY TINA SUSMAN AND MOLLY HENNESSY-FISKE

Los Angeles Times

NEW YORK • They stood like refugees, clutching jerry cans in an icy wind and waiting behind a gas truck to fill their 5-gallon containers. Across the street, others lined up to ask for help, with wish lists reflecting the enormity of their needs: a car to replace one washed away; money for a family of five in a hotel.

Any sense that New York City was returning to normal 11 days after Superstorm Sandy was swept away Thursday after a nor'easter made a terrible situation nearly unbearable in areas still struggling to recover from Sandy. The greatest problem was the freezing rain, sleet and snow (9 to 12 inches fell in some areas) for those who are running out of patience. "I'm fed up. I'm fed up," Wale Kiladejo said as he waited with his wife, Eunice, to speak to use one of the mobile centers set up by the Federal Emergency Management Agency on the devastated Rockaway Peninsula in Queens. "Around this area, nothing is back to normal. But you go to Manhattan where all the rich people live, they have power."

New York Gov. Andrew Cuomo makes a point during a news conference over the storm damage in New York on Thursday.

Frustration Mounts Over Lingering Power Outages

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (AP) • Vincent Pina finally saw a couple of utility trucks coming down his street Thursday and started to wave in anticipation. But they just cruised past his house and least on going.

kept on going. He hung his head in resignation.

"The thing that gets me the most is that there is no flood damage. I don't have any branches down. I have no wires down," said the Long Islander, who put a hand-painted sign out front that read: "Still No Power."

Why, he wondered, was it taking so long to get electricity? A week and a half after Superstorm Sandy slammed the coast and inflicted tens of billions of dollars in damage, hundreds of thousands of customers in New York and New Jersey are still waiting for the electricity to come back on, and lots of cold and tired people are losing patience. Some are demanding investigations of utilities they say aren't working quickly enough.

An angry New York Gov. Andrew Cuomo joined the calls for an investigation Thursday, ripping the utilities as unprepared and badly managed. "It's unacceptable the longer it goes on because the longer it goes on, people's suffering is worse."

The power companies have said they are dealing with damage unprecedented in its scope and doing the best they can. And there is no denying the magnitude of what they have done: At the peak, more than 8.5 million homes and businesses across 21 states lost power. As of Thursday, that was down to about 750,000, almost entirely in New York and New Jersey. And that's after a nor'easter overnight knocked out power to more than 200,000 customers in New York and New Jersey, erasing some of the progress made by utility Sandy killed more than 100 people in 10 states, with most of the dead in New York and New Jersey.

The power industry's defenders have pointed out that Sandy was huge and hit the nation's most densely populated corridor. By the Energy Department's reckoning, it left more people in the dark than any other storm in U.S. history. It did more than knock down power lines; it flooded switching stations and substations, forcing workers to take apart hundreds of intricate components, clean them, replace some of them, rewire others and put it all back together. Only after these stations are re-energized can workers go out and repair lines.

"The management has failed the consumers. It is just that simple," said Cuomo, whose power at his own home in the suburbs has been on and off.

Cuomo appears to be all by himself among the New York area's big three politicians. New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg defended Con Ed and said it has done a good job in recent years. And New Jersey Gov. Chris Christie praised the utilities, saying he expects all of the state to have power back by early Sunday. New Jersey had about 400,000 outages on Thursday.

"The villain in this case is Hurricane Sandy," Christie said.

Life Sentence in Ariz. Attack that Wounded Giffords

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) • Former Congresswoman Gabrielle Giffords, partially blind, her right arm paralyzed and limp, came face to face Thursday with the man who tried to kill her last year, standing beside her husband as he spoke of her struggles to recover from being shot in the head.

"Her life has been forever changed. Plans she had for our family and her career have been immeasurably altered," said astronaut Mark Kelly, both he and his wife staring at the shooter inside a packed courtroom. "Every day is a continuous struggle to do those things she once was so good at."

Lared Lee Loughner, 24, was then

Jared Lee Loughner, 24, was then ordered to serve seven consecutive life sentences, plus 140 years in federal prison for the January 2011 shooting rampage that killed six people and wounded 13 others, including Giffords, outside a grocery storain Tueson Ariz store in Tucson, Ariz. Loughner pleaded guilty under an agreement that guarantees he will spend the rest of his life in prison without the possibility of parole. He avoids a federal death sentence, and local prosecutors said Thursday they would not seek state charges.

One by one, survivors of the attack at a Giffords political event approached the courtroom podium to address Loughner, each turning toward him where he sat stoic and emotionless at a table with his attorneys. "You took away my life, my love and my reason for living," said Mavanell Stoddard, who was shot three times and cradled her dying husband in her arms as he lay bleeding on the sidewalk after shielding her from the spray of bullets.

Susan Hileman spoke to him, at times visibly shaking. "Your parents, your schools, your community, they all failed you. You pointed a weapon and shot me three times," she said, staring directly at Loughner. He looked back at her. "And now I will walk out of this courtroom and into the rest of my life and I won't think of you again."

Loughner's parents sat nearby, his mother sobbing. Some victims, including Giffords, welcomed the plea deal as a way to move on. It spared them and their families from having to go through a potentially lengthy and traumatic trial and locks up the defendant for life. Giffords didn't speak, but stood by Kelly and kissed her husband when he was done. He grabbed her hand and they walked away, her limping.

Earlier, Loughner told Burns that he would not speak at the hearing.

Both sides reached the deal after a judge declared that Loughner was able to understand the charges against him. After the shooting, he was diagnosed with schizophrenia and underwent forcible psychotropic drug treatments.

It's unclear where Loughner will be sent to serve his federal sentence. He could return to a prison medical facility like the one in Springfield, Mo., where he's been

NEW YORK (AP) • We've got dolls that wet, crawl and talk. We've got dolls with perfect hourglass figures. We've got dolls with swagger. And we've got plenty that come with itty bitty baby bottles.

But it's a breastfeeding doll whose suckling sounds are prompted by sensors sewn into a halter top at the nipples of little girls that caught some flak after hitting the U.S. market.

"I just want the kids to be kids," Bill O'Reilly said on his Fox News show when he learned of the Breast Milk Baby. "We don't need this."

What, exactly, people don't need is unclear to Dennis Lewis, the U.S. representative for Berjuan Toys, a familyowned, 40-year-old doll maker in Spain that can't get the dolls onto mainstream shelves more than a year after introducing the line in this

"We've had a lot of support from lots of breastfeeding organizations, lots of mothers, lots of educators," said Lewis, in Orlando, Fla. "There also has been a lot of blowback from people who maybe haven't thought to think about really why the doll is there and what its purpose is. Usually they are people who either have problems with breastfeeding in general, or they see it as something sexual."

The dolls, eight in all with a variety of skin tones and facial features, look like many others, until children don the little top with petal appliques at the nipples. That's where the sensors are located, setting off the suckling noise when the doll's mouth makes contact. It also burps and cries, but those sounds don't require contact at the breast.

Aging Drivers Present New Transportation

BY JOAN LOWY

Associated Press

The latest installment in the joint AP-APME project examining the aging of the baby boomers and the impact that this so-called silver tsunami will have on society.

WASHINGTON (AP) • Baby boomers started driving at a young age and became more mobile than any generation before or since. They practically invented the two-car family and escalated traffic congestion when women began commuting to work. Now, 8,000 of them are turning 65 every day, and those retirements could once again reshape the nation's transportation.

How long those 74 million people born between 1946 and 1964 continue to work, whether they choose to live in their suburban houses after their children leave home or whether they flock to city neighborhoods where they are less likely to need a car will have important ramifications for all Americans.

If boomers stop commuting in large numbers, will rush hours ease? As age erodes their driving skills, will there be a greater demand for more public transportation, new business models that cater to the home-bound or automated cars that drive themselves?

It was the boomers who made "his" and "hers" cars the norm when they started building families and helped spread a housing explosion to the fringes of the nation's suburbs. Traffic grew when boomer women started driving to work like their husbands and fathers. With dualearner families came an outsourcing of the traditional style of life at home, leading to the emergence of daycare, the habit of eating out more often and the appearance of more and more cars and SUVs.

This generation "has been the major driver of overall growth in travel in the United States and that has had a tremendous impact over the past 40 years in how we have approached transportation planning," said Iana Lynott, co-author of a new report by the AARP Public Policy Institute, an advocacy group for older Americans, on boomers have affected travel in the U.S.

The report is an analysis of national surveys by the Federal Highway Administration of Americans' travel patterns since 1977. The most recent survey, conducted in 2009, included over 300,000 people in 150,000 households.

As a result of changes over the past four decades, driven in part by baby boomers, the number of vehicles in the U.S. has nearly tripled, the report said, and total miles traveled has grown at more than twice the rate of population growth.

Since 1977, travel for household maintenance trips - a category that includes doctors' appointments, grocery shopping, dry cleaning and the like – has grown fivefold. The average household ate out once a week in 1977. By 2009, the average household was eating out or getting meals to take home four times a week.

Touring Production Gives Children the Stage

BY TETONA DUNLAP tdunlap@magicvalley.com

"What's your name?" asked the lady seated at the table.

"Payton Seib," he said in a small voice almost drowned out by other children chattering in the line behind

On Nov. 5, Missoula Children's Theatre held an open audition at the Twin Falls Center for the Arts, and 86 children and their parents showed up.

The children ranged from kindergartners to 12th-graders, but everyone was vying to land a role in an original adaptation of "The Secret Garden."

The woman wrote Payton's name on a nametag, handing it to him. Then Payton and his mother, Erin Taylor, took a seat next to other waiting parents and children.

Last year, Payton, 5, of Jerome attended MCT's "Sleeping Beauty" and instantly decided to audition the following year.

Payton said he recognized one boy who was also auditioning, but no one else. Was he nervous? Payton simply said, "No? "At home he is always doing songs and dances," Taylor said. "He's not nervous; it's a group audition and it will

On the opposite side of the room, Kara Whitehead, 16, of Twin Falls sat with a friend. Whitehead has been in eight Missoula Children's Theatre productions. This was her ninth audition.

"It's a really fun experience to be in different plays and have different parts," Whitehead said.

Before Whitehead could elaborate on her experiences, one of the two directors started to clap rhythmically and all the children did the same, the sound of their palms thundering in the room.

There are three main things that directors Britt S. Hensley and Kirsten Paisley look for in potential cast members: loud and clear voices, expressive bodies and faces and the ability to listen and follow directions.

Cowboy Poets, Musicians Flock to Rupert Three

BY BLAIR KOCH For the Times-News

RUPERT • Ask Sam Mattise which poem he can't seem to leave a venue without performing. Without missing a beat, he'll dig into "Heaven." The Boise-based performer -Cowboy Poets of Idaho's 2009 Singer of the Year and 2010 Hall of Fame inductee – takes the listener on a journey of Idaho, from the desert to the majestic waterways to the mountaintops. "One place that God did his best work in. And that's the state of Idaho," Mattise said, ending his poem. "There's a little something."

Mattise is one of about 30 Cowboy Poets of Idaho members performing at the Diamondfield Jack Cowboy Gathering today and Saturday at Rupert's Historic Wilson Theatre.

With decades of experience as a performer and songwriter, Mattise quickly became involved

In Oakley's ornate and oft-remodeled opera house, the Oakley Valley Arts Council is performing Irving Berlin's "White Christmas" musical this month. Before the show starts at

Bright-eyed Beginners

It's a feat that never fails to impress me: In just five evenings of rehearsals, a traveling team from Missoula Children's Theatre teaches 60-some youngsters the lines, songs and choreography for an original adaptation of a familiar tale. This year it's "The Secret Garden," on stage in Twin Falls on Saturday, and you're likely to recognize some of the local children in that huge cast.

Stage Pros

I'm a fan of community theater productions — and relish spotting their gems of unusual talent - but professional theater is a treat. So I already have my tickets for The Acting Company, a highly credentialed touring repertory troupe that will perform John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men" on Wednesday for Arts on Tour. Steinbeck's story was disturbing in high school literature class, but this should be a good way to come back to a powerful classic.

BASSOON CLAIMS CENTER STAGE AT SYMPHONY CONCERT

BY AUTUMN AGAR aagar@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • The bassoon is one of the most expressive instruments in the orchestra, but it's usually relegated to painting the backdrop for the rest of the musical landscape.

But next Tuesday, the instrument will take center stage as the Magic Valley Symphony is joined by virtuoso bassoonist Susan Music lovers might recognize the nasal staccato of the bassoon from its most famous incarnation as the grandfather in "Peter and the Wolf."

"You've heard it before," said Conductor Ted Hadley. But you've never heard it like this.

Hess will open Tuesday's concert with a chamber piece by Mendelssohn, played with her husband, Tom Hess, on clarinet.

Having Susan Hess join the Magic Valley Symphony on stage is something "rare and wonderful," Hadley said. "The way she plays ... she's amazing."

Susan Hess teaches bassoon at the University of Idaho and is principal bassoonist of the Walla

Walla Symphony. Please see SYMPHONY, E2

The last part is the most important, according to the directors, because they have to stage a full production in five days.

"I would rather have a quiet, well-mannered kid," Paisley said.

This also means all cast members have only a few days to memorize their lines and songs and know their cues and marks on the stage.

"The Secret Garden" is

"The Secret Garden" is adapted so every character is on the stage twice and everyone has at least a line — except for the youngest cast members, who have a song that is their own.

From tallest to shortest, the children lined up around the room to form a circle. Whether they knew it or not, the audition had already begun. One by one they sounded off their names and ages. The older children had no problem belting out their names, and some added a little flair.

"Madison Fitzgerald, age 12," Fitzgerald said, her head turned to the side, hand on her hip.

But Macee Cook, 9, covered her face with her hands after squeaking out her name and age.

One boy had an unusual way of telling the directors his age: "I'm one half of a three and nine," he said, which meant he was 6.

The little girl next to him had to count on her fingers to remember her age.

Payton, the last to introduce himself, had a moment of stage fright but quickly recovered.

"Payton ... Payton ...," he said. "Payton Seib, 5."

After more than two hours of auditions, the 86 children were cut down to 64.

Hailey Sandison, 16, of Twin Falls was cast as one of the lead parts, Mary Lennox, a girl who leaves India to visit her uncle's home in England.

Missoula Children's Theater directors Britt S. Hensley, right, and Kirsten Paisley lead Monday's auditions.

This is the fifth MCT show Sandison has been cast in.

"I like it because it's fast paced and the directors make it a lot of fun," Sandison said. She also loves working with children of all ages, especially the youngest ones in the cast.

"That's my favorite part is the kids," Sandison said.

Twins Milam and Morgan Crane, 10, also received roles in the play. This is Milam's third role and Morgan's second.

Melissa Crane, the twins' mother, said the whole process is mindblowing to her: how the directors can take a large group of children and stage a play five days lat-

Melissa said the entire experience has brought out sides of her children that she didn't know existed. Milam, the twin Melissa considered the shyest of the two, told her after his first MCT play that when he's on stage he feels like his true self

"It was very darling that such a young person could verbalize that. I didn't know that to be his true nature," Melissa said.

The next year, after watching his brother on stage, Morgan decided to audition.

This weekend, Milam will play a Moor Folk and Morgan is an assistant director.

Tuesday's concert will feature Mussorgsky's and Ravel's "Pictures from an Exhibition — A Remembrance of Viktor Hartmann."

The piece was originally written for the piano by Russian composer Modest Mussorgsky as a tribute to an artist friend who died unexpectedly. It's orchestrated by Maurice Ravel.

"(Mussorgsky) imagined a gallery," Hadley said. Each piece of "Exhibition" is about a different Hartmann painting. Hadley said some of the paintings described in the composition have been found, but he would prefer for audience members to let the music carry their imaginations instead.

"It's more fun that way," Hadley said. "The music is very imaginative, very evocative."

Former CSI Student Brings his Comedy, Improv Act to Twin Falls

TIMES-NEWS

TWIN FALLS • Not long after he enrolled in the College of Southern Idaho's nursing program in 2002, Heath Harmison discovered he was better with funny bones than with the rest of the human anatomy. He did his first standup routine during a CSI open mic night and never looked back.

Nursing wasn't for him, he decided, and he started living his dream of making people laugh.

Harmison will bring his Live Funny or Die Laughing tour to CSI at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 19 in the Fine Arts Auditorium. Now based in Boise, he has performed throughout the U.S. and Canada including Seattle, San Francisco, Las Vegas, New York and Los Angeles. He has performed in Spain and at Scotland's Fringe Festival, which calls itself the largest performing arts festival in the world. His act includes celebrity impressions and accents.

very energetic and explosive. I am a very high-energy comedian," Harmison wrote in an email to the Times-News. "I give myself a soft PG-13 rating. I don't swear on stage; only some of the content is a little more adult but not bad at all."

Harmison has appeared several times at CSI since taking his act public, once with comedian, actor and MTV host Jeff Dye. Harmison is also part of an improv duo Recycled Minds.

That improv group will open the first half-hour of the Twin Falls show, followed by Harmison's one-hour set of standup comedy.

"We do a two-man show that we have taken all over the world," Harmison wrote. "We will be using audience participation during the improv portion. It is very fun, energetic and clean for the whole family."

Will the World End Next Month?

TWIN FALLS • Chances are good, a Herrett Forum speaker says, that everyone who climbs into bed Dec. 21 will wake up the next morning to find that the world didn't end in spite of what the Mayan calendar seems to predict.

Chris Anderson, who works at the Herrett Center's Faulkner Planetarium and Centennial Observatory and teaches physics at the College of Southern Idaho, will be the forum's featured speaker at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 14. His topic: "Pole Shift, Nibiru and Planetary Alignments: Why the World Won't End on Dec. 21, 2012."

With science and humor, he'll explore what's real, what's hype and how we can tell which is which when confronted with claims of an impending catastrophe that supposedly coincides with the end of the current 400year cycle of the Mayan calendar, a CSI announcement said.

Anderson earned his bachelor's degree physics from the Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology and his master's in astrophysics from Iowa State University.

No tickets are required for the Herrett Forum's free public lectures. Doors open at 7 p.m. The Herrett Center for Arts and Science is on the north side of the CSI campus at the North College Road en-

Novel Combines Paranormal and Mexican Ghost Story

TWIN FALLS • A new novel by a Twin Falls writer combines horror, the paranormal and an old Mexican ghost story.

"The Weeping Woman" (Sunbury Press of Camp Hill, Pa., $16.95) was written by Patricia Santos Marcantonio of Twin Falls. She'll do a book signing 1-5 p.m. Nov. 17 at Barnes & Noble Booksellers, 1239 A Pole Line Road East in Twin Falls.

The story, set in San Antonio, focuses on a Latina detective who discovers that a series of child kidnappings echo the old Mexican tale of La Llorona, or the weeping woman. The detective is troubled by her past and visions of the dying and must come to terms with them to find the lost chil-

Marcantonio said her parents told her the story of La Llorona when she was young. The folk tale is about a selfish woman who drowns her children but is doomed to wander the night crying and calling, "Where are my babies?"

"The Llorona story was told to keep us away from strangers, but it has always fascinated me. It is a sad tale, one of punishment and longing," Marcantonio

Marcantonio also wrote the children's book "Red

WHEREAS, Resolution No. 1895 (the "Resolution") declaring the intention of the City Council (the "Council") of the City of Twin Falls, Idaho (the "City") to create Local Improvement District No. 2012-1 (the "District"), pursuant to a petition (the "Petition") filed by Chobani Idaho, Inc. (the "Owner") as owner of all real property in the District, for the purpose of acquiring, constructing and installing various sewer systèm, pre-treatment system, water system, related utility extensions, road and other facilities and related improvements (collectively, the "Improvements") was duly adopted by the Council at its meeting on October 22, 2012 and thereafter approved by the Council on said date, and by which Resolution the Council established a protest hearing to be held before it on November 5, 2012, at 6:00 o'clock p.m. at the Council Chambers, Twin Falls City Hall, Twin Falls, Idaho, at which time the Council would proceed to publicly hear and determine protests filed and made by property owners against the proposed Improvements or the creation of said District; and

WHEREAS, on November 5, 2012, the Council held the public hearing established by the Resolution, notice (both publication and mailing to property owners) of said hearing as given by the City Clerk having been approved, ratified and confirmed as being in the manner and form required by Section 50-1708, Idaho Code, to hear protests against the proposed Improvements and the creation of said District; and no protests having been received against the proposed Improvements and creation of said District, the Council has now heard and passed upon any protests made against the proposed Improvements and the creation of said District, said protests numbering 0% of all property owners within the District, and thereupon by motion duly made, seconded and carried specifically has now ratified and confirmed said Resolution, with certain warranted revisions to the method of assessment as set forth in its revised form in subparagraph (f) below, and in support of such ratification, confirmation and revision has now made the following findings of fact and conclusions of law:

(a) that notice of the public hearing upon the said Resolution of intent to create said District (by publication of notice in the Times News and by mailing notice to each property owner) as given by the City Clerk was given in the manner required by law and is therefore ratified and confirmed:

(b) that the creation of the District will be for the best interests of the property affected and the City;

(c) that there is reasonable probability that the obligations of the District will be paid considering that the value of the property, exclusive of the Improvements herein ordered to be made, is not less than the sum of $75,000,000 based on cost information supplied by the Owner and that the estimated cost of the Improvements and related fees and costs is $32,509,000 of which the sum of $-0- is estimated to be paid from federal and state grants and/or City or other funds and the remaining $32,509,000 which shall be levied upon and assessed against the property owners benefited by the method or manner provided in subparagraph (f) below;

(d) that the market value of the property, as determined by the comparison with costs of the land and improvements as more fully described in a letter dated October 22, 2012 from the Owner to the City, in the amount of at least $75,000,000 is hereby deemed, fixed and established as the minimum value of the property (real property and improvements thereon) situated within the boundaries of said proposed District not counting the value of any Improvements, and that said actual value is determined to be in compliance with, and therefore sufficient to sustain the security for payment of the proposed Improvements, the value of limitations described in Section 50-1711, Idaho Code; (e) that the special benefits resulting from the proposed Improvements extend beyond the boundaries of the property directly adjacent to and abutting said Improvements requiring the creation of a "modified local improvement district" as provided in Section 50-1705, Idaho Code; and

(f) that the method or manner of assessing each owner of real property in the proposed District is on a uniform square foot cost basis under the formula of subparagraph (g) below.

(g) that all property within such District shall be assessed for a portion of the cost and expenses of such Improvements in accordance with the uniform square foot method with the total of all said costs of the Project to be divided by the total number of square feet of real property in the District and then multiplied by the number of square feet held by each owner within the District. Currently there is only the Owner within the District and all payments on assessments, if any, would be paid by said Owner. THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, DOES HEREBY ORDAIN as follows:

Section 1. There is hereby established and created Local Improvement District No. 2012-1 for the City of Twin Falls, Idaho as a "modified district" in accordance with Section 50-1705, Idaho Code, for the purpose of acquiring, constructing and installing the following described public improvements (the "Improvements") in the City, within and adjacent to the boundaries of the proposed District, all of which are more specifically described below:

(a) BOUNDARIES: See the description attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.

(b) IMPROVEMENTS: The acquisition, construction and installation of various sewer system, pre-treatment system, water system, related utility extensions, road and other facilities and related improvements.

(c) ESTIMATED COST: The total estimated cost of said Improvements is $32,509,000.00, including all estimates of acquisition, construction, equipment, installation, engineering, consulting, inspection, legal, collection of assessments, interim loan interest, clerical, advertising, printing and financing costs, reserves, publication of notice and related items and a reasonable contingency deemed necessary by the Council, of which the sum of $0.00 will be paid by state and/or federal grants, and the balance of all $32,509,000.00 shall be paid by assessments levied upon the property within the District to be benefited by the Improvements in accordance with the uniform square foot method of assessment

(d) VALUE OF PROPERTY: The Council finds and declares that the value of the property within the District is not less than $75,000,000.00.

Section 2. The total costs and expenses of the Improvements of said District hereby ordered and authorized for the acquisition, construction and installation of the Improvements and related expenses, and contingencies deemed and considered necessary by the Council, are hereby estimated to be the sum of $32,509,000 of which the sum of $-0- is estimated to be paid from state, federal, City or other sources and the remaining amount, estimated at $32,509,000, which, together with the interest thereon at the rate provided in the bonds to be issued, shall be paid by each person or entity who is an owner of real property within the boundaries of said District by levying upon and assessing against each owner of such real property within the District on the uniform square foot cost basis and formula as outlined in paragraph (a) below in a shared amount of the aforesaid amount of said costs and expenses, incurred for acquiring, constructing and installing the aforesaid Improvements, with interest on the unpaid principal balance at the rate to be established upon the sale and issuance of bonds as aforesaid, such method of assessment being deemed to be the benefit that each such owner of real property will be assessed based on the cost of said Improvements, provided that the total cost (contract price, engineering, clerical, advertising, printing, inspection, collecting assessments, interim loan interest, legal services, reserves and contingencies) of acquiring, constructing, equipping and installing the Improvements shall be assessed and charged directly to the property based on the uniform cost method. The uniform cost method formula shall be:

Assessment shall be by a uniform square foot cost method with the total of all said costs of the Project to be divided by the total number of square feet of real property in the District and then multiplied by the number of square feet held by each owner within the District. Currently there is only the Owner within the District and all payments on assessments, if any, would be paid by said Owner.

Section 3. The Council hereby appoints the Twin Falls City Engineer as the Engineer for said District, and further declares that said Engineer is responsible for: (a) preparing or approving the necessary plans and specifications for the acquisition, construction and installation of the Improvements and to call for bids and, upon receipt of bids, thereby award one or more contracts to the lowest responsible bidder for the acquisition or construction of said public improvements in the manner and form to the extent required by the Idaho Code; and (b) after all Improvements have been bid to the extent required by Idaho Code as provided in subparagraph (a) above, prepare and submit a report to the Council (i) showing in detail the total costs and expenses of the Improvements and the dollar amounts payable from assessments and from any other sources, and (ii) containing a form of an assessment roll which shall contain, among other things, the number of each assessment, the name of the owner, if known, a description of each parcel of real property assessed, the amount chargeable to each parcel of real property within the boundaries of said District or its owner according to the method of assessment herein provided, and the total amount of all assessments with the provision that the assessment is to be conditional, anticipating that the costs of the Improvements shall be first paid by the contribution of the proceeds of tax increment financing by the Urban Renewal Agency of the City of Twin Falls, Idaho, which will issue bonds (the "URA Bonds") to pay the full cost of the Improvements to be repaid by periodic payments from the proceeds of the tax increment. If the tax increment is insufficient, in whole or in part to make such payments, the District assessment installment payment will be in the amount necessary, to maintain the periodic payments current;

and the Council upon receipt of the Engineer's report, shall (i) cause the Assessment Roll to be filed in the office of the City Clerk for public inspection, (ii) fix a time and place when and where the Council will meet in open session to consider the report and the Assessment Roll and hear all objections to the Assessment Roll, and (iii) direct the City Clerk to give notice of the hearing on said Assessment Roll in the time and manner required by Section 50 1713, Idaho Code.

Section 4. At the time and place appointed for a hearing of objections to said Assessment Roll, or a reasonable time thereafter, the Council shall consider the Engineer's report and the Assessment Roll and hear and determine all objections which have been filed by any party interested (i) to the regularity of the proceedings in making such assessment, (ii) to the correctness of such assessment, and (iii) to the amount levied on any particular parcel of real property or its owner including the benefits accruing thereon, the proportionate share of the total cost of the Improvements to be borne thereby, and the inclusion of any parcel of real property within the boundaries of the said District; and after said hearing the Council shall pass an ordinance confirming said Assessment Roll submitted to it by the Engineer, or as revised and corrected by the Council as a result of hearing objections to said Assessment Roll, in relationship to the benefits accruing thereon as a result of the Improvements ordered to be made.

Section 5. It is expected that local improvement bonds (the "LID Bonds") will be issued to finance the Improvements, payable from installments of assessments, subject to a credit for payments of the URA Bonds described in Section 3(b) above, and that the Owner will elect to pay its assessment by installment in the event such payment of assessment becomes due. The LID Bonds will be authorized by separate ordinance adopted after the assessments have been levied.

Section 6. All proceedings heretofore had in connection with the creation of the aforesaid District, the hearings held thereon and the giving of notice of said hearings are hereby, in all respects, ratified, approved and confirmed, and this Ordinance is the final determination of the regularity, validity and correctness of such prior proceedings.

Section 7. The officers of the City are hereby authorized and directed to take all action necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of this Ordinance Section 8. The provisions of this Ordinance are hereby declared separable, and if any section, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase or portion of this Ordinance is for any reason held invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction, such portion shall be deemed a separate, distinct and independent provision, and such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions hereof. Section 9. This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication hereof

PASSED by the Council of the City of Twin Falls, Idaho, this 5th day of November, 2012. /s/ Mayor Greg Lanting, November 5, 2012

/s/ Deputy City Clerk Leila Sanchez PUBLISH: Wednesday, November, 2012

Adam Zmudzinski and Cezary Balicki (commonly known as B and Z) have been one of the strongest Polish pairs for many years. Balicki was a master chess player before he turned to bridge and is acknowledged to be one of the world's best declarers.

Today's deal sees Balicki time the play perfectly to make his three no-trump, reached after North had shown real extras by his second double. Start by covering up the East-West hands and have a try yourself.

West led the spade 10 to the queen and ace. Declarer then played a club to dummy's ace and was not so happy to see East show out. Plan the play from Realizing that if West had five spades and four clubs, he was going to be short in the red suits, Balicki cashed the heart ace and played a heart to his king before playing another club. When West split his honors, Balicki ducked.

What could West do? His best shot is to play the diamond ace and queen, but declarer simply won in dummy and conceded another club, losing just one spade, one diamond and two clubs.

Had West cashed the spade king, South would have pitched a club from dummy. Now, on a spade continuation he would have won in hand, pitching a diamond from North, and run the clubs. On the defense of ace and another diamond, he would have ducked a club and converted to the same winning position as above.

ANSWER: You may have a decent hand for the auction so far, but you should almost never compete to the three-level with only three trumps. These auctions are always about competing with shape, not high cards, since if partner has a balanced hand, your best shot to go plus is to defend. If partner has shape, he can bid on for himself.

DEAR ABBY: My brother lost his wife, the love of his life, three years ago. He has three children. His oldest, a 25-year-old daughter, "Jenny," told him that "when you marry, it is for life." She has threatened that if he dates someone or sees anyone, she will be out of his life and he won't be able to see his future grandchildren. (Jenny is getting married next summer.)

My brother is very upset. He wants to settle this argument before she is married. He hasn't dated anyone, but feels she shouldn't be trying to control his life. Please help, Abby. I'll show Jenny your answer and hope it helps them.

SISTER KATY IN MAINE

DEAR SISTER KATY: I'm very sorry Jenny lost her mother, but her attitude is off base. At 25, it's time for her to grow up and stop making selfish, childish threats she will regret.

While I agree that marriage should be "for life," her parents' marriage DID last for life – the life of her mother. That she would begrudge her father continuing to live his life is cruel and wrong. If she cuts him out of her life, she will deprive her future children of a relationship with a loving grandparent, and that would be a shame.

DEAR ABBY: I have a manners dilemma. I was raised in a home where "Yes, ma'am" and, "No, sir" were expected, and I have used that respectful form of address throughout my life. Yes, I grew up in the South.

Six months ago, my husband and I moved north with our two children for job relocation. My co-workers are giving me a hard time about my constant use of "ma'am" and "sir." They feel offended! I have tried to respect their request not to say it to them. Some are my age, younger or older, but I'm used to saying it to EVERYONE, all the time. It simply rolls off my tongue.

I sense that upper management and my supervisor like being addressed that way. But what do you suggest I do with the rest of my

co-workers? - OL'-FASHIONED

INOHIO

DEAR OL'-FASHIONED: I suggest you explain to your co-workers, as you have to me, that using this respectful form of address is a custom you were raised with. And because old habits are hard to break, that they please cut you some slack because you are trying to offend no one. P.S. They appear to be chieless.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 15. A few nights ago a guy friend of mine asked me to "sext." I was furious, but played along with him and said "yes." Than I sent him a picture of an elderly woman in a bikini. After that, I went off on him. I told him how wrong it was for him to ask me for that. No girl deserves to be treated that way. I haven't spoken to him since.

He texted a close friend of mine, telling her what happened and saying how much he regretted it and loved me. He said he cares for me, but that now there's no chance because I hate him.

He has sent me texts apologizing for what he did, but I have ignored them. Should I accept his apology? Or save my heart from being broken again?

- DISAPPOINTED TEEN IN CALIFORNIA DEAR DISAPPOINTED TEEN: Your guy friend made

a mistake and has apologized. If you still have feelings for him, accept the apology and give him another chance. However, if he continues to ask you to do something that you feel is wrong, THAT will be the time to end the relationship.

Today is Friday, Nov. 9, the 314th day of 2012. There are 52 days left in the year. Today's Highlight:

On Nov. 9, 1938, Nazis looted and burned synagogues as well as Jewishowned stores and houses in Germany and Austria in a pogrom that became known as "Kristallnacht."

${f T}{f O}{f D}{f A}{f Y}$ IN HISTORY

On this date:

In 1620, the passengers and crew of the Mayflower sighted Cape Cod.

In 1872, fire destroyed nearly 800 buildings in Boston.

In 1918, it was announced that Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm II would abdicate. He then fled to the Netherlands.

In 1952, Chaim Weizmann, the first president of Israel, died.

In 1953, Welsh authorpoet Dylan Thomas died in New York at age 39.

In 1961, U.S. Air Force Maj. Robert M. White became the first pilot to fly an X-15 rocket plane at six times the speed of sound. The Beatles' future manager, Brian Epstein, first saw the group perform at The Cavern Club in Liverpool, England.

In 1963, twin disasters struck Japan as some 450 miners were killed in a coaldust explosion, and about 160 people died in a train

In 1965, the great Northeast blackout occurred as a series of power failures lasting up to 131/2 hours left 30 million people in seven states and part of Canada without electricity.

In 1967, a Saturn V rocket unmanned carrying an Apollo spacecraft blasted off from Cape Kennedy on a successful test flight.

In 1970, former French President Charles de Gaulle died at age 79.

In 1976, the U.N. General Assembly approved resolutions condemning apartheid in South Africa, including one characterizing the white-ruled government as "illegitimate."

In 1989, communist East Germany threw open its borders, allowing citizens to travel freely to the West; joyous Germans danced atop the Berlin Wall.

Ten years ago: President George W. Bush said in his Saturday radio address that Saddam Hussein faced a final test to surrender weapons of mass destruction. Five years ago: President Gen. Pervez Musharraf of Pakistan placed opposition leader Benazir Bhutto under house arrest for a day, and rounded up thousands of her supporters to block a mass rally against his emergency rule. Chadian authorities released three Spanish flight crew members and a Belgian pilot detained in an alleged kidnapping plot of African children by a French charity. One year ago: After 46 seasons as Penn State's head football coach and a record 409 victories, Joe Paterno was fired along with the university president, Graham Spanier, over their handling of child sex abuse allegations against former assistant coach Jerry Sandusky. Republican presidential rivals, debating in Rochester, Minn., warned the United States could be doomed to the same sort of financial crisis that was afflicting Europe unless federal deficits were drastically cut and the economy somehow revived.

IF NOVEMBER 9 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: Loads of energy make you a dynamic figure on the job or in your community during the next few weeks. This is a good time to begin an exercise regimen or to show off executive skills in the workplace. Shift into low gear in late December and January, however, as your aggressiveness can turn into brashness and cause conflicts. In April and May, life can take a turn for the better if you look for opportunities to improve some facet of your existence. People are more likely to grant your wishes and give you the benefit of the doubt. Cash in on those favors and use your business savvy to make wise financial and career decisions.

HOROSCOPE Jeraldine Saunders

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Heart and mind can exercise prerogatives together. It is important to be on the same wavelength as a colleague over shared resources or joint financial endeavors. Be passionate about partnerships.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Popeye said eat your spinach to be good to the finish. Exert energy to win the heart of an Olive Ovl or to ace a business deal. You can be a success because you won't give up until you succeed.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Get out and about to display your outgoing per-Enthusiasm, sonality. warmth and vitality can be contagious. You are a bit wiser than usual with money and love. Count on receiving cooperation when needed.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Create a soothing atmosphere at the workplace or home for best results. Enthusiastically accept the worship of adoring playmate. It is a good time to buy clothing or personal items of good taste.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Party animals will be on the prowl tonight. Go ahead and have a fabulous time in all the most popular hot spots. Iust make sure that you don't give a significant other reason to compete for your favors VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Act like the Energizer Bunny; beat your own drum. You can outlast the competition when a job needs attention. Be the last one out the door at closing time. The evening is perfect for holding hands.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): An upbeat mood means that the atmosphere is perfect for completing deadlines before heading off to Friday night social gatherings. Remain impeccably polite and generous for the best results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A business partner or loved one can set a fast, dynamic pace. Follow your intuitions where money or love is concerned. Items of exquisitely taste and enduring value should be on the shopping list.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Go along for the ride. Good manners and sympathetic ears are always popular. If romance is the subject, you may be swept along on a wave of desire that will leave you completely satisfied.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be surprised by a good time. Someone close might be in the mood for social events and drag you to the center of the action. Singles should avoid pursuing "friends with benefits" situations tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You might seem hard as nails, but beneath the surface lurks kindheartedness. People will appreciate an unexpected offer of help when the chips are down. Think romance with a capital "R" tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Cast a glamorous spell on those within reach. It is a perfect evening for pleasant dinners for two or quality time with an admirer. Old friends and old flames might enter the picture again.

Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Conceptis Sudoku increases from Monday to Sunday.

the breakfast. The WWII veteran told the students how he was taken as a prisoner of war in Germany in 1944. When the B-24 Liberator he was in was shot down, three of his fellow airmen died, including the pilot and the tail gunner who was Kelly's best friend. The rest were taken prison-

"I spent my 19th year in a German prison camp," Kelly

Kelly said he was liberated on May 2, 1945.

"It was almost 70 years ago but the memories are still fresh," he said.

Kelly and his wife Peggy met at Idaho State University and later moved to Murtaugh, where Peggy taught school.

"I thought it was fabulous," he said of Thursday's ceremony.

Donna Scheer served in the U.S. Air Force from 1975 to 2002 with a break. She said she hopes more schools will hold Veterans Day events in the future.

"It gives kids an idea of what the military does," she Standley, the Tom school's principal, said the ceremony exceeded his expectations.

"It's wonderful to have this many veterans," he said, adding many of them were Murtaugh High School graduates.

Business Professionals of America teacher Kamie Nuthak said she feels many young students are detached from what's going on in the world. She hoped the event and its attendees like Iraq War veteran Andrew Pike, who was paralyzed while serving in 2007 would help the students appreciate their freedom, she

"I want them to realize the sacrifice that servicemen and women give," she said.

Gooding Seeks Veterans' Names

GOODING • Gooding High School is seeking names for a new Wall of Honor, recognizing its graduates who went on to serve in the armed forces.

The wall will include the name, graduation year and service branch of each graduate and will be dedicated as part of the high school's centennial in 2013. It will occupy the high school's main corridor wall.

Organizers are starting their search for names this Veterans Day, Nov. 11. If you know of a graduate who served in the military, contact Dene Miller, 208-934-4831 ext. 321, dene.miller@goodingschools.org, or 1050 7th Ave., Gooding, ID 83330.

at the federal government's past history, why would you ever want them in charge of your exchange?"

Wood is a member of the governor's other advisory group that is charged with analyzing the impacts of expanding Idaho Medicaid's eligibility to adults without chil-

"We've gone over every piece except the costs," Wood said. "That will be a major influence on what I choose to recommend."

Unlike the health insurance exchange, there's no deadline on when Idaho can change its eligibility requirements. However, the federal government is only offering to pay for the full cost of expansion until 2020.

That means Idaho should expand its eligibility requirements sooner rather than later, Wood

"There is going to be a surge of people when you expand. Why would you wait and not have someone else pay for the full cost?" he said.

The workgroup is expected to complete its recommendations for the governor at the end of to-

What's Next? After the election and defeat of Propositions 1, 2 and 3, legislators have a busy session ahead.

BY MELISSA DAVLIN

mdavlin@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • After the celebrations and disappointments of Tuesday night election results, newly elected legislators in Magic Valley are looking to the 2013 legislative session.

They have a lot on the to-do list. In the next several months, elected officials have to make big decisions on education, Affordable Care Act options, the state budget and personal property tax.

Though voters defeated Propositions 1, 2 and 3, the Legislature can pass parts of the education reform package in different forms.

Rep. Donna Pence, D-Gooding, said she hopes stakeholders – such as teachers, school boards and government officials - can sit down before the session begins and discuss common ground.

Pence said she can see Proposition 3 - which dealt with technology, laptops and online courses coming back with more local control. Instead of giving every school district the same laptops or money for technology, for example, Pence suggested turning that money into technology grants and awarding money to districts that need it.

"It's targeted for what the specific school needed,"Pence said.

Senator-elect Jim Patrick, R-Twin Falls, said he could see open negotiations for teacher contracts making a comeback.

But Rep. Maxine Bell, R-Jerome, said legislators should have a cooling-off period before discussing re-implementation.

Bell did say she thinks teachers should receive their earned merit pay - which hasn't yet been doled out.

Sen. Dean Cameron, R-Rupert, said the Legislature also has to consider issues related to the Affordable Care Act, including whether to expand Medicaid eligibility and implement a statebased insurance exchange.

And then, there's "the 2,000-pound gorilla in the room,"Bell said: whether to repeal Idaho's personal property tax on businesses.
