Senate Committee Votes Not to Recommend Hurlock's Appointment

BY MELISSA DAVLIN
mdavlin@magicvalley.com

BOISE • The Senate Resources & Environment Committee voted not to support the governor's appointment of Joan Hurlock to the Idaho Fish and Game Commission.

Hurlock, who lives in Buhl, was appointed to the commission last summer, pending Senate confirmation. On Monday, the committee heard testimony both in support of and against her appointment, with some arguing she wasn't qualified and didn't have enough hunting experience to serve on the commission.

On Wednesday, Sens. Dean Cameron, R-Rupert, Lee Heider, R-Twin Falls, Jeff Siddoway, R-Terreton, Steve Bair, R-Blackfoot, and Monty Pearce, R-New Plymouth, voted not to recommend her for the appointment.

Cameron was the last to vote no on the recommendation, pausing before saying "No" quietly. "I really struggled," Cameron said after the meeting. "I really had a hard time with it." He decided not to vote for her when, during Monday's question and answer period, she couldn't give a clear answer on salmon and dam breaching, he said.

Before the vote, committee members discussed their opinions. Sen. Bert Brackett, R-Rogerson, pointed out that Hurlock had

Feces-filled Home in T.F. Prompts Child Injury Charge

BY ALISON GENE SMITH
alismith@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • After finding a home allegedly full of drug paraphernalia and animal feces, Twin Falls County sheriff's deputies decided a child was in imminent danger and charged a woman with injury to a child.

According to a police report, on Jan. 15 Twin Falls County deputies, SWAT members and investigators along with other law enforcement agencies all responded to a home in the 1500 block of Maple Street to serve a search warrant.

Tina Louise Deane, 49, was charged with injury to a child. After a court appearance Feb. 4, Deane was released and a pretrial hearing was scheduled for March 19.

The police report describes a large residence where many people lived with four dogs and a cat.

"I observed animal feces throughout the entire house," a deputy wrote in the report.

Deputies also allegedly found drugs, drug residue and drug paraphernalia throughout the house.

Police found one room with a sign that stated the room belonged to Deane and no one else should enter.

"Inside the bedroom I observed garbage and clothing all over the floor and bed," the deputy wrote in the report. "The bed had so much stuff on it that it could not be slept in."

According to the report, plastic baggies in the room had a white residue in them that deputies recognized as methamphetamine.

Motion to Repeal Insanity Ban Denied

BY ALISON GENE SMITH
alismith@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • A Twin Falls judge has denied a request to repeal Idaho's ban on insanity pleas.

Twin Falls County Chief Public Defender Marilyn Paul filed the motion on behalf of her client, Damon Azure, on Sept. 27, 2012. Azure is accused of murdering his brother in February 2012.

Twin Falls County sheriff's deputies were called to 3500 E. 4070 N. at about 11:20 a.m. Feb. 12, to check on a report of a possible vehicle-pedestrian accident. When they arrived, they reportedly found Seanachan Azure lying in a pool of blood. Damon Azure was allegedly in a nearby car, where deputies reported finding a handgun and ammunition.

According to 5th District Judge Randy Stoker's Jan. 30 order denying the motion, prosecutors and Paul agreed to postpone a hearing on the motion until the U.S. Supreme Court made a decision on whether to grant a hearing on another Idaho case involving a murder.

In that case, Joseph Delling killed two people and attempted to murder a third, saying he was guided to kill by internal voices. He pleaded guilty to two counts of second-degree murder on the condition that he could appeal the matter to the Idaho Supreme Court. The five Idaho justices unanimously upheld the ban on the insanity defense, and in December 2012, the U.S. Supreme Court denied Delling's request for a further appeal.

After that denial, Paul requested more time to file additional information. In court documents, Paul

COVERING THE COSTS OF FOSTER CARE

DREW NASH • TIMES-NEWS

Marvin Gartner talks about the costs of being a foster parent Wednesday at his home in Twin Falls.

As lawmakers weigh additional financial help for foster parents, two Magic Valley families share their own experiences.

BY KIMBERLEE KRUESI
kkruesi@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • When Mary Jo and Marvin Gartner decided to take in a foster child 15 years ago, they knew expenses would be tight.

The child would need clothes, shoes and plenty of other supplies. While they received a stipend from the state, some months became tighter than usual. Yet, the couple says the rewards of being foster care parents outweigh the challenges of staying in the system.

"People don't do foster care for the money," Mary Jo Gartner said. "The money covers the base costs."

State lawmakers are currently discussing those costs, mulling a budget request to raise Idaho's foster care reimbursements.

In January, the Legislature's Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee listened to a proposal from the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare to grant $500,000 in extra foster care reimbursement funds. The committee hasn't set a specific date this session to finalize its decision on that budget. The budget then will be considered by the full House and Senate.

Money shouldn't be the reason to take in a foster care child, but increasing reimbursements could help attract more families who have an interest, said Susan Baca, a resource parent training consultant for Magic Valley Youth and Adult Services.

"It can be a challenge," she said.

In Idaho, foster families are paid $300 a month for children ages 0-5 years old, $339 for ages 6-12, and $453 for ages 13-18. The proposed budget would increase the reimbursements to $329, $366 and $487, respectively.

Raising the monthly stipend would help cover the hidden costs of taking care of a foster child, said Breana Arnell of Oakley, a foster parent of two.

Multiple trips to counselors, doctors and, sometimes, probation officers can quickly add up, she said.

Hidden History ‘Owyhee’ Means Hawaii

BY MYCHEL MATTHEWS

Twin Falls County Historic Preservation Commission

TWIN FALLS • Say “Hawaii” out loud. Now say it again, this time without pronouncing the “H.”

The Hawaiian Islands were discovered by British Capt. James Cook in 1777. Cook named Hawaii “Sandwich Islands” after the Earl of Sandwich, but the name did not stick for long.

After Cook left Hawaii, he explored and mapped the northern Pacific coastline to the Bering Strait, looking for the famed “Northwest Passage” that would connect the Pacific and Atlantic oceans in the Arctic. Failing to find the Northwest Passage, Cook returned to Hawaii, where he was killed by natives in 1779.

From then until the Panama Canal was completed in 1914, Hawaii was a regular stop for trade ships that sailed around Cape Horn. In the years after Cook’s death, many Hawaiians boarded ships as crew members or fur traders.

The fur trade with China was huge at the turn of the 19th century. John Jacob Astor — the richest man in America at the time — wanted to capitalize on the fur industry in the Pacific Northwest, but there were no ports along its coast. Astor thought that he could gain control over the fur trade by establishing a fort at the mouth of the Columbia River. In 1810, Astor hired Wilson Price Hunt to lead an expedition over uncharted territory west of St. Louis to Ft. Astoria.

In 1811, Hunt and his group were the first Euro-Americans to travel through what would become southern Idaho. Astor’s ownership of Ft. Astoria was short-lived. During the War of 1812, Astor sold the fort to the British-owned North West Co., and Ft. Astoria then became Ft. George.

Donald Mackenzie, one of the explorers in the Hunt party, returned to Idaho in 1818 with a group of fur trappers that included three natives from Hawaii — or Owyhee, which was the early, phonetic spelling of Hawaii. The three Hawaiians left Mackenzie’s group during the winter of 1819-1820, and disappeared into the mountains, never to be seen again.

The fate of the men is not known, but most historians assume they were killed by Indians.

In honor of the men, the area where the men disappeared was became known as “Owyhee.”

Snow Returns to the Magic Valley

I hope you have enjoyed our little taste of spring we have had over the past few weeks. I know it felt nice and may have gotten many of you thinking, “Winter may actually be over.” All I have to say to that is, “Not so fast my friends.” I would keep that snow shovel and snow blower handy as we head into Friday and the weekend as a winter storm is very possible.

Today will be the calm before

Brian Neudorff
Meteorologist

fore the storm, as we wait for an upper-level storm system to arrive tonight into Friday. Clouds will be on the increase today, especially during the afternoon as the storm system approaches from the west and south. In the Magic Valley, the snow appears likely to fall after midnight into the early morning hours of Friday. Snow showers will continue for most of the day Friday. The higher elevations across southern Twin Falls and Cassia counties could see almost a foot or more of snow, with Twin Falls to Burley getting 3 to 6 inches of snow. As you go north of the Snake River, places like Jerome, Shoshone, Rupert and Fairfield could see from 1 to 3 inches of snow. This storm has a more southerly track across Nevada and Utah. Historically these storms can bring several inches of snow across the southern Magic Valley. Be aware of all weather advisories and warnings.

Chickens Tabled at Burley Meeting

BY LAURIE WELCH
lwelch@magicvalley.com

BURLEY • The Burley City Council tabled a decision Tuesday on whether to allow a limited number of rabbits and chickens in city limits.

The discussion was tabled to allow a company representative from Hy-Line North America to come to a meeting and speak with council members.

The council discussed adding a chicken-free quarter-mile or half-mile buffer zone around Hy-Line to prevent the spread of any diseases among the birds.

The council received a petition signed by 80 city residents saying they did not object to people having rabbits and chickens within city boundaries.

Heyburn resident Jim Bryant, who owns rental property in Burley, said the ordinance could make it more difficult to rent his property if neighbors start housing chickens.

City Administrator Mark Mitton said he spoke with city officials from several cities with ordinances allowing the animals, including Oakley, Ammon and Moscow. Most questioned why Burley would even consider the ordinance.

“They said if they could get rid of them, they’d do it,” Mitton said.

If the council moves forward with an ordinance, Mitton said, members should consider putting a registration process in place “because we will get complaints.”

The council also discussed putting a clause into the ordinance requiring a person to remove his or her animals if there are two or more complaints.

No definitive terms were decided on by the council.

The city currently prohibits keeping horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, goats, rabbits, chicken or poultry, except baby chickens less than 4 weeks of age.

“Signing day is well under way, as the three in-state football programs announced their signing hauls on Wednesday.

“Of local interest was Minico lineman Brett Thompson, who signed with Idaho first thing in the morning. Vandal coach Paul Petrino said this about Thompson in the school’s news release: ‘He might not have played at the level of some of these other players but he has the size and strength to play at this level. We just have to keep improving him.’

“You can see the list of signees for Idaho, Idaho State and Boise State by clicking on the adjacent links. ...

STUART FREEBORN, MAKEUP ARTIST BEHIND YODA, DIES

LONDON (AP) • Stuart Freeborn, a pioneering movie makeup artist behind creatures such as Yoda and Chewbacca in the 'Star Wars' films, has died. He was 98.

LucasFilm confirmed Wednesday that Freeborn had passed away, "leaving a legacy of unforgettable contributions." 'Star Wars' director George Lucas said in a statement that Freeborn was "already a makeup legend" when he started working on 'Star Wars.'

"He brought with him not only decades of experience, but boundless creative energy," Lucas said. "His artistry and craftsmanship will live on forever in the characters he created. His 'Star Wars' creatures may be reinterpreted in new forms by new generations, but at their heart, they continue to be what Stuart created for the original films."

Freeborn's granddaughter, Michelle Freeborn, said he died Tuesday in London from a combination of ailments due to his age. Michelle Freeborn, who lives in Wellington, New Zealand, said her grandfather was "like a hero" to her and inspired her and her late father to get into the movie business, too.

Freeborn's six-decade career led him to work on many classics, including Stanley Kubrick's '2001: A Space Odyssey.' Born in London in 1914, Freeborn was the son of a Lloyds of London insurance broker. He told a BBC documentary last year that he resisted pressure to follow in his father's footsteps, because "I felt I was different."

He began his film career in the 1930s, working for Hungarian-born director Alexander Korda, and honing his makeup skills on stars including Marlene Dietrich and Vivien Leigh. After air force service during World War II, he worked on British cinema classics including 'The Life and Death of Colonel Blimp' and David Lean's 1948 version of 'Oliver Twist.'

Darlene Helen Vawser

Oct. 15, 1932-Jan. 30, 2013

AMERICAN FALLS • Darlene Helen Vawser was born Oct. 15, 1932, in Colome, S.D., greeted by her loving parents, Raymond and Helen Eckstaine.

On Jan. 30, 2013, after touching so many people's lives with her positive attitude and love for all those around her, she gave her last warming smile and left us to begin the next great journey.

Darlene was the second of two children and spoke so often about the fond memories of her happy childhood with her parents and older brother, Lloyd. She always made it sound like she lived a fairy tale life, even though they grew up in very tough economic times. She remembered fondly her early childhood on the family farm, adopting chickens and sheep as pets, getting lost in cornfields, snows that would cover the house, tornados that forced them to the fruit cellar, and always going barefoot in the South Dakota clay after rainstorms.

She attended school in Colome, making lifelong friends and graduating as salutatorian. In a journal she kept, she spoke often of a red-headed boy that started walking her home at the age of 14. After high school, she attended cosmetology school in Sioux Falls, S.D. While there, she received a letter from that red-headed boy asking for her hand in marriage. Mom and Dad (Robert Vawser) were married May 12, 1951, at Fort Carson, Colo. They shared a love beyond time, truly cherishing each other through good times and bad.

Once Dad completed his military service, they moved to Dallas, S.D. It was here that they began a family with Judy (Jeff) Braegger, Ron (Sarah) Vawser, Linda (Russ) Farnworth and Tim (Debbie) Vawser. They farmed for many years until 1967, when they moved to Kimberly, Idaho. Mom and Dad followed their dreams while in Idaho, expanding their family with James (Jessie) Vawser, moving to new places and jobs, and always being there for their kids and each other. They eventually settled in American Falls, and that's where they enjoyed retirement together: gardening, baking bread and hosting countless family get-togethers. Through 54 years of marriage, they met together everything life threw at them until Dad passed away in 2005. Mom continued to concentrate on her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She loved being with family and friends, and we all loved being with her.

Mom loved to sew; making her own clothes when young, mending what they had when raising their children, and finally making blankets and pajamas for her grandchildren. She had a passion for piano and tried at several times in her life to learn to play. She dedicated her life to her family, always maintaining her home, canning fruit and vegetables and creating wonderful meals. She was diagnosed with rheumatoid arthritis at 45 and battled its crippling effects for nearly 40 years. Mom taught each of us the meaning of true strength, courage and faith. She never complained; when we knew she was feeling her worst, she would smile and say, "Oh, I'm OK, how are you kids doing?" She always put her family first and gave us all everything she could of herself.

Mom is survived by her children, 12 grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren and countless others who were a part of her life.

There is no greater love than to sacrifice yourself for another; Mom did this for each of us, always more concerned with us rather than herself. That was even more apparent the past few weeks with her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, friends and adopted family at the Spring Creek Manor stopping in to convey how much they loved her. We had no idea how many lives she had touched, and our family wants you all to know how much we appreciate the love and care you showed her.

In respect of Mom's wishes, a public service will not be held. Her family will gather together at a later date to honor her memory as she wished. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that anyone wishing to do so forward donations to Spring Creek Manor, 605 Hillcrest, American Falls, ID 83211, designated for residents in need of comfort care.

We love you, Mom, and will always hold a place for you in our hearts. We hope you're dancing with Dad, running barefoot through the grass, and smiling with joy from your beautiful soul.

"Be strong and of a good courage, fear not, nor be afraid of them: for the Lord thy God, he it is that doth go with thee; he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee" (Deuteronomy 31:6).

BRENNAN’S CIA BID CHANCE TO STRIKE BACK AT CRITICS

WASHINGTON (AP) • A Senate hearing on John Brennan’s nomination to head the CIA could lay bare some parts of the secret war against al-Qaida: lethal drone strikes from covert bases against even American terror suspects, harsh interrogation methods and long detention of suspects without due process.

Some of the practices produced revulsion among some in Congress and the public, but the outcry has been muted because Brennan and others say that these harsh and secretive methods have saved American lives.

Those issues will be front and center in the Senate Intelligence Committee hearing Thursday for Brennan — a chance for him to answer criticism that he backed the detention and interrogation policy while he served at the CIA under President George W. Bush, charges that stymied his first attempt to head the intelligence agency in 2008.

In answers to questions from the Senate Intelligence Committee before the hearing, Brennan said he was “aware of the program but did not play a role in its creation, execution, or oversight,” and added that he “had significant concerns and personal objections” to the interrogation techniques. He wrote that he voiced those objections to colleagues at the agency privately.

Brennan also described how individuals are targeted for drone strikes, saying whether a suspect is deemed an imminent threat — and therefore appropriate for targeting — is made “on a case-by-case basis through a coordinated interagency process” involving intelligence, military, diplomatic and other agencies.

He defended the missile strikes by Predator or Reaper drones as a more humane form of war. Aides have portrayed him as cautious in their use, restraining others at the CIA or military who would use them more often, even though as the White House’s counterterror czar he has presided over an explosion of drone strikes in Pakistan, Yemen and Somalia. Less than 50 strikes took place during the Bush administration while more than 360 strikes have been launched under President Barack Obama, according to the website The Long War Journal, which tracks the casualties.

Administration officials say Brennan would further limit the use of drones by the CIA and leave the majority of strikes to the military. The CIA’s drone strikes primarily focus on al-Qaida and Taliban targets in the tribal regions of Pakistan, while the military has launched strikes against al-Qaida targets in Yemen and Somalia. The CIA also carries out strikes in Yemen from a base in Saudi Arabia, including one that killed three American citizens: Anwar al-Awlaki, his 16-year-old son and Samir Khan.

Small Tsunami Hits Solomons, Other Warnings Ended

A powerful earthquake off the Solomon Islands on Wednesday generated a tsunami of up to about 5 feet that damaged dozens of homes and left at least four people missing and presumed dead in the South Pacific island chain. Authorities canceled tsunami warnings on more distant coasts.

Local officials reported that two 4 foot, 11-inch waves hit the western side of Santa Cruz Island, damaging between 70 and 80 homes and properties, said George Herming, a spokesman for the prime minister. Many villagers had headed to higher ground as a precaution, he said. Dozens of aftershocks stronger than magnitude 5 followed the quake. -AP

Rare 1865 Baseball Card to be Auctioned in Maine

Six-figure bids are expected when a rare 148-year-old baseball card discovered at a rural Maine yard sale is auctioned. Saco River Auction Co. in Biddeford is holding an auction Wednesday evening that includes a card depicting the Brooklyn Atlantics amateur baseball club.

The card isn’t the same as a modern-day baseball card, which became common in the 1880s. Rather, it’s an original photograph from 1865 mounted on a card, showing nine players and a manager.

The Library of Congress said last month it was aware of only two copies of the photo. The other is in the institution’s collection. -AP

Goodbye Saturday Mail? Postal Service Plans Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) • Saturday mail may soon go the way of the Pony Express and penny postcards. The Postal Service said Wednesday that it plans to cut back to five-day-a-week deliveries for everything except packages to stem its financial losses in a world radically re-ordered by the Internet.

“Our financial condition is urgent,” declared Postmaster General Patrick R. Donahoe. But Congress has voted in the past to bar the idea of eliminating Saturday delivery, and his announcement immediately drew protests from some lawmakers. The plan, which is to take effect in August, also brought vigorous objections from farmers, the letter carriers’ union and others.

The Postal Service, which suffered a $15.9 billion loss in the past budget year, said it expected to save $2 billion annually with the Saturday cutback. Mail such as letters and magazines would be affected. Delivery of packages of all sizes would continue six days a week.

The plan accentuates one of the agency’s strong points: Package delivery has increased by 14 percent since 2010, officials say, while the delivery of letters and other mail has plummeted. Email has decreased the mailing of paper letters, but online purchases have increased package shipping, forcing the Postal Service to adjust to customers’ new habits.

“Things change,” Donahoe said. In fact, the Postal Service has had to adapt to changing times ever since Benjamin Franklin was in 1775. The Pony Express began in 1860, six-day delivery started in 1863, and air-mail became the mode in 1918. Twice-a-day delivery was cut to one in 1950 to save money. But change is not the biggest factor in the agency’s predicament — Congress is. The majority of the service’s red ink comes from a 2006 law forcing it to pay about $5.5 billion a year into future retiree health benefits, something no other agency does. Without that payment — $11.1 billion in a two-year installment last year — and related labor expenses, the mail agency sustained an operating loss of $2.4 billion for the past fiscal year, lower than the previous year.

Congress also has stymied the service’s efforts to close some post offices in small towns.

Under the new plan, mail would be delivered to homes and businesses only from Monday through Friday but would still be delivered to post office boxes on Saturdays. Post offices now open on Saturdays would remain open.

Over the past several years, the Postal Service has advocated shifting to a five-day delivery schedule for mail and packages — and it repeatedly but unsuccessfully has appealed to Congress to approve the move. An independent agency, the service gets no tax dollars for its day-to-day operations but is subject to congressional control.

Mexico Seeks Culprits in Rape of 6 Spaniards

Armed, masked men who raped six Spanish tourists in the Mexican resort of Acapulco spared the lone Mexican woman in the group because of her nationality, adding yet another macabre twist to the case that has further hurt the resort’s already battered reputation.

It was unclear whether the group of 12 Spaniards who fell prey to the attack had been targeted because of their nationality in the three-hour ordeal at a rented house on a tranquil beach dotted with restaurants, small hotels and rental homes. Most of the six men and six women live in Mexico City and were vacationing in Acapulco. The five attackers burst into the house and held the group at gunpoint, said Acapulco Mayor Luis Walton. They tied up the six men with phone cords and bathing suit straps and then raped the six women.

Walton said the Spaniards had been “escorted,” apparently under police protection, out of Acapulco on Tuesday. -AP

OPINION

“It has to be in the agenda of this Congress to reconsider the scope of action of drones and use of deadly force by the United States around the world because the original authorization of use of force, I think, is being strained to its limits.”

Sen. Chris Coons, D-Del. in a recent interview as a growing number in Congress grow uncomfortable with the Obama administration’s use of deadly drones.

A Case to Bind the Spenders

The arguments against a constitutional amendment to require balanced budgets are various and, cumulatively, almost conclusive. Almost. The main arguments are:

The Constitution should be amended rarely and reluctantly. Constitutionalizing fiscal policy is a dubious undertaking. Unless carefully crafted, such an amendment might instead be a constant driver of tax increases. A carefully crafted amendment that minimizes this risk could not pass until Republicans have two-thirds majorities in both houses of Congress, which they have not had since 1871.

Furthermore, requiring a balanced budget would incite creative bookkeeping that would make a mockery of the amendment and the Constitution. For example, New York, which like 48 other states (all but Vermont) has some sort of requirement for a balanced budget, once balanced its by selling Attica Prison to itself: A state agency established to fund urban redevelopment borrowed $200 million in the bond market, gave the money to the state, and took title to the prison. The state recorded as income the $200 million its agency had borrowed, declared the budget balanced, then rented the prison from the agency for a sum adequate to service the $200 million debt.

There is, however, one sufficient argument for a balanced-budget amendment. It is: George Mason University’s James Buchanan.

This Nobel laureate economist, who died last month at 93, pioneered the “public choice” school of analysis, the premise of which is in the title of his 1979 essay “Politics Without Romance.” Public choice theory applies economic analysis — essentially, the study of how incentives influence behavior — to politics.

Public choice analysis began in the 1960s, when Washington’s social engineers were busy as beavers building a Great Society, and confidence in government reached an apogee that prudent people hope will never be matched. Public choice theory demystified politics by puncturing the grand illusion that nourishes government growth. It is the fiction that elected politicians and government administrators are more nobly motivated, unselfish and disinterested than are persons acting in the private sector.

Buchanan extended the idea of the profit motive to the behavior of politicians and bureaucrats, two groups seeking to maximize power the way many people in the private sector maximize monetary profits. Public-sector actors often do this by transactions with rent-seekers — private factions trying to maximize their welfare by getting government to give them benefits, such as appropriations, tax preferences and other subsidies.

Critics have dismissed as mere anti-government ideology the injection by public choice theory of realism into the analysis of collective action through politics. Such critics cling to a comforting — and, for advocates of ever-bigger government, a convenient — theory. It is that in politics and government, people, acting as voters or legislators or administrators, do not behave as people do in markets — they supposedly are not responsive to incentives for personal aggrandizement. Actually, Buchanan’s theory supplanted an ideology — the faith in government as omniscient and benevolent. It replaced it with realism about the sociology of government and the logic of collective action. The theory’s explanatory and predictive power, Buchanan wrote, derives from its “presumption that persons do not readily become economic eunuchs as they shift from market to political participation.”

Concerning the cold logic of power maximization, Buchanan was as unsentimental as Machiavelli, whose “The Prince,” the primer on realism that announced political modernity, appeared exactly half a millennium ago, in 1513. Concerning the naturalness of self-interested behavior — its foundation in unchanging human nature — Buchanan stood in a line of thinkers that includes James Madison, the foremost realist among the cohort of realists we call the Founders.

Six days after Buchanan died, House Republicans provided dismal (and redundant) validation of public choice theory. Rep. Mick Mulvaney, R-S.C., supported by Majority Leader Eric Cantor and Budget Committee Chairman Paul Ryan, proposed offsetting just $17 billion of the $60 billion aid for victims of Superstorm Sandy, and doing so by cutting just 1.63 percent from discretionary government spending. Rep. Hal Rogers, R-Ky., chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said this would “slash and burn” important programs, and the measure failed because 71 Republicans opposed it.

The political class is incorrigible because it is composed of — let us say the worst — human beings. They respond to incentives of self-interest. Their acquisitiveness is not for money but for the currency of power, which they act to retain and enlarge. This class can be constrained, if at all, not by exhorting them to become disinterested but by binding them with a constitutional amendment.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Simple Beauty of the Second Amendment

The Second Amendment to the Constitution of the United States reads, in its entirety, “A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.”

Read that again. Let the simple beauty of its wording soak in to your thoughts. The Bill of Rights — the first 10 Amendments to the Constitution — is brilliant in its simplicity. According to this amendment, the government will not infringe — that is, it will not encroach upon — this right. That means that, in regard to Arms, every law, every regulation, every executive order, every background check and every piece of paperwork forced upon us by the government is an affront to both the plain reading and clear intent of this amendment. They are also an offense to the honor and peaceful dignity of the citizens of our great state. Free citizens are under no obligation to obey unconstitutional laws, guidelines, rules or regulations.

Rights are God-given. They proceed from natural law; that is, they are obvious to all. The Constitution acknowledges several rights: free speech and bearing arms among them. While a privilege may be amended, modified or rescinded, a right cannot. Rights, however, must be guarded carefully. This is the purpose of the Bill of Rights (the first 10 Amendments to the Constitution): to make it easier to guard essential rights.

Recent public statements by Sheriff Tom Carter that he would enforce whatever laws Washington passes on the issue of arms are deeply concerning. Our rights are clearly in jeopardy, but the sheriff says his hands are tied and he must do whatever he’s told. Do you agree with this? Please let him know what you think.

Carter Needs to Join Other Sheriffs Who Have Taken a Stand

A sheriff needs a backbone.

As with others that have voiced their frustration, I, too, am disappointed in the lack of backbone of our elected officials. We the people elected a local sheriff that we believed would stand up for our rights and uphold the oath made when sworn in to uphold the Constitution and serve the people.

“Courageous” men in charge of enforcing the law (as long as it’s the little man); for example, if it was the sheriff’s neighbor attempting to take away some of his guns, I’ll bet he would take a “hard stand.”

Like Edith wrote in Thursday’s paper, I read about sheriffs across the nation that have the courage to take a hard stand for the rights of the people they represent. Evidently, Sheriff Carter isn’t so worried about the rights of the residents of Twin falls County. What is it? Enforce the law as long as you don’t have to make any tough decisions that could affect your wallet? “Take a hard stand” unless it’s someone that intimidates you?

The people of Twin Falls are waiting for you to join the list of truly courageous sheriffs and take a hard stand! Make us proud we elected you. On behalf of the people of Twin Falls County, please take a hard stand!

Recent Edition of The Bruin News Raised Concerns, Frustrations

When did threatening the safety of teachers and minimizing women’s rights become good news stories?

According to Oler and other writers from Twin Falls High School, destroying homes of teachers is humorous. Oler, who is the humor section editor for the high school’s newspaper, also thinks women’s rights are a joke, the Fifth Amendment should be abolished and that school is stupid. When did putting down people of different economical standing make newsworthy writing, especially humorous?

Following teachers home, putting potatoes in their tailpipes to putting feces in a bag on a teacher’s desk are behaviors that are threatening in nature but also disrespectful to people who would lay down their lives to protect our students.

Oler and other writers in the humor section go on to tell his audience that “If you really want to mess with your teacher, pursue a romantic relationship with them. That’s always the best way to ruin their life.”

Inappropriate articles are just that — inappropriate — and should never make it to print.

Is this really what is considered quality writing today? Where has the respect, compassion and tolerance gone when teenagers are allowed to bash people and it’s considered “humor?”

Doesn’t Anyone Care City Park is Covered in Dog Poop?

I have just returned from the City Park where I walk my dog. When my dog poops, I pick up after it immediately. It takes about 30 seconds. I cannot walk through that park anymore without stepping into someone else’s dog poop. The sidewalks, the walking paths, the entire park, the children’s area — doesn’t anyone one notice or care?

I would not let my children play in that filthy, disgusting park. I know it’s not the dogs’ fault; it’s the people who walk their dogs there and refuse to pick up after them. I have handed people with dogs bags to pick up after their dogs, and they have just stared back at me refusing to accept the bag or pick up after their dog.

I know there is a fine if you allow your dog to poop in the park and not clean up after them, but I have never seen a ticket handed out. I bet if one or two tickets were issued, the thoughtless dog owners would start to clean up after their dogs.

Personally, I am way tired of this kind of behavior on the part of these lazy, thoughtless people who think the park is an open toilet for their dog. Please hand out some tickets and end this problem.

I like to see children in the park playing. As a taxpayer, I demand a clean park for the children of this town; nothing less is acceptable.

Report: Idaho Should Take Lead in Nuclear Research

BY MELISSA DAVLIN
mdavlin@magicvalley.com

BOISE • After statewide meetings and months of research, a committee tasked with studying Idaho’s nuclear industry has finalized its report.

On Wednesday, the Leadership in Nuclear Energy Commission presented its findings and recommendations to House and Senate environment committees. The message: Idaho should take a leadership role in nuclear research and energy development.

Gov. C.L. “Butch” Otter put together the commission last year to study Idaho’s nuclear future and make recommendations on Idaho’s path forward on nuclear research

Jeff Sayer, director of the Idaho Department of Commerce, introduced the commission’s report, which includes the history of Idaho’s nuclear industry, the commission’s findings, and recommendations.

The biggest priority is protecting the environment, Sayer said. With that in mind, Idaho needs to realize that Idaho Falls isn’t the only area affected by INL’s activities.

“It’s not just about eastern Idaho. It’s about Magic Valley. It’s about tribal lands,” Sayer said. Those protections are non-negotiable, the report says.

The committee pointed to once-common waste disposal practices, such as injecting waste solids into the ground — a disposal method that contaminated the aquifer.

Vice Admiral John Grossenbacher, director of the Idaho National Lab, pointed out that practices have changed, and that the problems caused by harmful practices are almost solved.

So how do we know what we’re doing today is right?

“We have to trust, but verify,” he said. That means further research and continuing study on the best practices for handling nuclear waste.

Here are the six general recommendations:

- Continue to work cooperatively with the U.S. Department of Energy and other impacted states to address remaining environmental risks and continue cleanup at the INL site.

- Exercise leadership as the U.S. government formulates federal energy and nuclear waste management policies.

- Capitalize on Idaho’s nuclear technology competencies by supporting the growth of existing nuclear businesses, the corresponding infrastructure, and the attraction of new nuclear businesses.

- Invest in infrastructure to enable the INL and Idaho universities to successfully compete for U.S. and global research opportunities.

- Develop and promote the Center for Advanced Energy Studies as a regional, national and global resource for nuclear energy research.

- Strengthen and expand nuclear education and workforce training offerings.

Yet the challenges shouldn’t deter families from getting involved in the foster care system, Arnell said.

“Watching these kids grow every day and overcome challenges is extremely rewarding,” she said. “The money will work itself out if you budget.”

Mary Jo Gartner said she would welcome an increase in monthly reimbursements, especially in light of rising gasoline prices. But she’s not worried if the budget proposal doesn’t pass.

“I raise these children like my own,” she said. “You take them in not because you’re going to get rich. Some months are worse than others but what are you going to do? Not buy them Christmas presents or taken them to the water park with the rest of your kids?”

Hailey Woman Crashes into Boise Fire Engine

TIMES-NEWS

BOISE • A Hailey woman was injured Wednesday morning when she crashed into a fire engine that responded to a rollover crash on Interstate 84 near the Black’s Creek rest area at milepost 61.

Gwen Thompson, 50, was traveling west in the right lane, approaching the scene of the crash in a 2000 Subaru Impreza.

Shawn R. Rebholz, 44, of Boise, was traveling west in the left lane next to Thompson, in a 2005 Chevy 2500 pickup.

Idaho State Police say low visibility from fog in the area meant Thompson was unable to stop before crashing into the parked Boise Fire engine. After crashing into the fire engine, Thompson’s vehicle struck Rebholz’s vehicle.

Thompson was transported by ground ambulance to St. Luke’s Boise Medical Center.

Lanes were blocked for approximately two hours.

In her previous arguments Paul wrote the ban deprives Azure of his constitutional rights, specifically due process and prohibition against cruel and unusual punishment.

In his order denying the motion, Stoker wrote that the Idaho Supreme Court conclusively decided the issue in the State v. Delling decision. He further denied a request by Paul one day later to appeal his ruling.

The Delling decision was one of at least five since 1990 where Idaho’s highest court has upheld the ban. Idaho is one of four states that do not allow defendants to plead insanity.

Sen. John Tippets, R-Montpelier, agreed with Brackett, adding that another commissioner told him Hurlock had the support of the commission.

“Now why would we chose

Heider said he voted no after getting feedback from constituents.

“In my case, and from my district, the vast majority, overwhelming majority have asked me not to confirm Ms. Hurlock for this position for her lack of experience, and her lack of previous hunting experience,” Heider said.

Hurlock is the second female Fish and Game commissioner.

Man behind Amish Fireplace gives public $99 deal

Consumers rush to get in on rock bottom deal for the World Famous miracle heater as Amish craftsmen struggle to keep up, household limit of 2 imposed

NATIONWIDE – It’s a deal too good to pass up.

That’s because the man behind the Amish Fireplace and founder of Heat Surge is giving away brand new World Famous Miracle Heaters for just $99 to the general public beginning at 8:30am this morning.

And with many months of freezing cold weather yet to come and high heat bills right around the corner, the phone lines are ringing off the hook.

When I got wind that all this was ending in just 2 days, I left my office at Heat Surge and headed straight to Amish country to set up an interview with long time Amish craftsman Jonas Miller so I could be the first to get the story out to newspaper readers everywhere.

Here’s my interview with the soft spoken, hard working man who reminds me of good old honest Abe and I got right to the bottom line.

QUESTION: I’m confirming that the World Famous Miracle Heater is now just $99, right?

ANSWER: Yes ma’am, it’s just $99.

QUESTION: That’s unbelievable. Do you know how much people have paid for the Miracle Heater and handmade Amish fireplace mantle in the past?

ANSWER: Lots and lots of people have paid $249.00 just for the Miracle Heater and another $298.00 for the Amish mantle. That’s a total of $547.00 and they’re glad to pay it because they know it’s handmade Amish quality that lasts forever and Heat Surge pays me to make sure everyone knows it.

QUESTION: Then why are the Miracle Heaters being given away for just $99 now?

ANSWER: There’s a bunch of good people out there that have always wanted to slash their heat bills and stay warm with one of our fireplaces, but just couldn’t afford one. Folks living on fixed incomes, those living pay check to pay check and retired folks who would have so much more money if they didn’t have to budget for such high heat bills every month. That’s why the man behind the Amish fireplace said to give the heaters away for just $99 for the next 2 days. Plus give the handmade Amish fireplace mantles away for half price so everyone can get them.

QUESTION: Now I know why so many people are calling to get the Miracle Heater. Are the craftsmen struggling to keep up?

ANSWER: Yes ma’am. Now that winter is really starting to set in folks want to save money. Everyone hates paying high heat bills that start showing up in January and don’t stop until after May. I looked in one of the barns this morning and I’ll tell ya what, they’re flying out the door like apple butter pies. The boys are really struggling to ■ CONSUMERS JUMP ON DEAL: “We’re gonna keep our word and give the Miracle Heaters away for just $99, but nearly everyone wants to have a handmade Amish mantle built for them, so please tell folks not to take any more than two because the boys are really struggling to keep up now that they’re just one hundred forty-nine dollars more,” said long-time Amish craftsman, Jonas Miller. Barns that were stacked from floor to ceiling just days ago are now going empty because everyone hates paying high heat bills. That’s why smart consumers are rushing to beat the 2 day deadline for this rock bottom deal that’s putting a real strain on the Amish craftsmen.

keep up. That’s why I need you to tell folks I’m really sorry, but we just can’t let them have any more than two as part of this advertising announcement.

QUESTION: How much money are people saving with these Miracle Heaters?

ANSWER: Thousands of letters pour in from folks all across the country thanking us at Heat Surge for all the money they’re saving on their heat bills with this Amish fireplace. It works because the Miracle Heater creates perfect zone heating giving you 74° of bone-soothing room heat even when the home thermostat is turned down to 59°. So everyone will save money and no one will ever be cold again.

QUESTION: I read an article that says these Miracle Heaters are a top rated safety pick. Have you seen it too?

ANSWER: Oh yes. Someone showed me that article and we’re very proud of it. In fact, when a fire chief tells people with children and pets to get it, you know it’s safe. It has the World Famous safe to the touch Fireless Flame® technology that gives you the peaceful flicker of a real fire but without any flames, fumes, smells, ashes or mess.

This is about the time we had to wrap things up, but I could’ve talked to this soft spoken Amish man for hours.

Unfortunately, he was late getting back to the barn. But there are two things I want readers to know. This really is a great deal and once the two day deadline ends, the price for the World Famous Miracle Heater and Amish built fireplace mantle will go clear back up to $547.00 plus shipping.

That’s why it’s so important for readers to call the National Toll Free Hotlines today to get the Miracle Heaters for just $99 before the deadline ends.

To make sure everyone gets these new Miracle Heaters in a hurry, FedEx® drivers have been instructed to make home deliveries anywhere in the United States beginning tomorrow.

Thousands of local readers are expected to call the hotlines beginning at 8:30am today.

It just doesn’t make sense for anyone to suffer through the cold when you can get the brand new Miracle Heater for just $99 and never have to pay high heat bills again. So if phone lines are busy keep trying, they promise to answer all calls. ■

■ GET THEM WHILE YOU CAN: Long-time Amish craftsman Jonas Miller encourages all the craftsmen to keep up with the household limit of 2 Amish fireplaces as newspapers hit the newsstands. “We’ve got the whole Amish community helping out, but we’ve never seen anything like this before. We’re letting everyone get the Miracle Heater (shown here) for just $99, but nearly everyone wants to have a handmade Amish mantle built for their Miracle Heater, so we can barely keep up with all the orders,” Miller said. Everyone hoping to cash in on this deal needs to immediately call the National Toll Free Hotlines before the deadline ends.

Barns going empty, consumers rush to lock in $99 deal

With just 2 days left to get in on the $99 deal and Amish barns going empty, people everywhere are rushing to get the Miracle Heaters before they’re all sold out.

Demand for the Miracle Heaters has skyrocketed ever since news about the $99 deal started spreading. In fact, overflow hotlines had to be set up just to take all the calls and because the Amish craftsmen are struggling to keep up, a household limit of 2 had to be imposed.

According to the avalanche of consumer reviews for the Miracle Heaters, people absolutely swear by them, repeatedly saying, “It saves money,” “looks beautiful,” and “heats from floor to ceiling to keep everyone warm and cozy.”

People from all across the country are calling to get in on this deal before the deadline ends 2 days from today’s publication date. So if lines are busy be sure to call one of the overflow hotlines at 1-888-414-2503 or 1-888-414-2572 to get the Miracle Heater for just $99.

And since all the handmade mantles that the Amish are building today are half price, nearly everyone is asking to have their Miracle Heater custom built in the Amish mantle for just one hundred forty-nine dollars more because everyone who does is getting a custom finish upgrade in Light Oak, Dark Oak, Black, or Cherry for free.

Just make sure you call before the deadline ends because anyone who misses the deadline can’t get in on this deal and will have to pay the regular price of $547.00 plus shipping for the Miracle Heater that comes mounted in the handmade Amish fireplace mantle. ■

Diamonds in the Rough: Thompson, Idaho Potentially a Mutual Fit

BY RYAN HOWE
rhowe@magicvalley.com

HEYBURN • One of Amber Thompson's favorite memories of her son's college football recruiting process occurred during an in-home visit.

There was her son, Minico High senior Brett Thompson, in the home he's lived in his entire life, practicing offensive line stances in their living room with Idaho Vandals assistant coach Jon Carvin, who had driven several hours — even through a snow storm — just to spend a couple of hours with the Thompson family.

"You can tell these new coaches care about the program and they care about the players," Amber Thompson said. "The players we talked to when we were (in Moscow for Brett's official visit) are so excited and told us these coaches are amazing."

Brett Thompson signed his National Letter of Intent with the University of Idaho Wednesday morning. First-year Vandals coach Paul Petrino believes he has found a diamond in the rough.

"He's very strong, very mature, big kid," Petrino said in his national signing day press conference Wednesday afternoon in Moscow. "He just needs to work on his foot quickness and his technique. Maybe he hasn't played against as tough of competition as some of these other kids we signed, so it will be big for him to get in here and get learning this summer and get better."

Thompson plans to do just that.

"I'm excited to get up there this summer, work out, meet my teammates and start helping to build a winning season," Thompson said.

A 6-foot-5, 305-pound offensive tackle, helped Minico average 405 yards of offense and 33.9 points per game over the past two seasons. He was a two-time All-Idaho first team selection as the Spartans went 15-5 with two consecutive Great Basin Conference championships.

Petrino expressed the importance of recruiting within the state of Idaho.

"We've got to get the best kids in Idaho every year and I'm very excited about this class," Petrino said.

Minico High head coach Tim Perrigot believes Thompson is the first Minico player to ever sign a Football Bowl Subdivision scholarship offer directly out of high school.

"What I've enjoyed is watching him become a better person and a better football player," said Perrigot.

Thompson is the first player from Idaho's District IV to receive a FBS scholarship directly out of high school since 1996, when Glenns Ferry's Ross Farris signed with Boise State for the Broncos' first year of what was then called Division I-A football.

"U of I is such a good fit for Brett," said Amber Thompson.

Twin Falls' Luke Burgett (23) and Burley's Brandon Hosteen battle for a rebound during their Great Basin Conference boys basketball game Wednesday at Burley High School.

Bruins Clinch GBC Boys Title

BY RYAN HOWE
rhowe@magicvalley.com

BURLEY • Alec Meyerhoeffer came off a screen by Damon Jones and drilled a 3-pointer with 10 seconds remaining to lift Twin Falls to a 43-42 Great Basin Conference road win over Burley Wednesday.

The Bruins, ranked No. 5 in the state media poll, moved to 15-4 overall, capped a perfect 10-0 conference season and clinched the No. 1 seed for the Class 4A District IV tournament, which gets under way next week.

"We knew this was our biggest game up to this point of our season. We know we're going to have bigger games, too. We definitely want to play (the district tournament) at our house," Meyerhoeffer said.

Twin Falls struggled against Burley's zone defense most the night, shooting just 30 percent. But on their final offensive play, the Bruins came out of a timeout down two points looking for Meyerhoeffer.

"(Burley's) defender dropped off a ton and I thought I was open," said

Meyerhoeffer. "I hadn't really made a bunch of 3s this game, but I felt confident enough to shoot it. Anyone could have made that shot if they were that wide open."

Meyerhoeffer, who finished with 14 points and seven rebounds, didn't have a superb shooting night, finishing 5-for-13, but he started feeling it in the second half, especially when he buried a 30-footer during the third quarter.

"I don't even know where I'm at sometimes. I just see if I'm open and I shoot the ball," Meyerhoeffer said.

Both teams came up with clutch plays during a tense fourth quarter, but Burley wasn't able to answer the Bruins' final dagger.

After Meyerhoeffer's 3-pointer, Burley immediately called timeout. According to coach Jack Bagley, the Bobcats executed their drawn-up play, with Scott Pilling dishing to Brandon Hosteen rolling off a screen in the lane. But Hosteen's shot at the buzzer fell off the rim.

"It's a tough call for an official to call a foul in that situation. ... We got the shot we were looking for," said Bagley.

The game was far different than the Bruins' 19-point blowout last month.

"We definitely knew it wasn't going to be a blowout here because they have some loud fans here and they get energy from their fans," said Meyerhoeffer.

Braylan Bean, a junior who came off the bench during Burley's senior night, led the Bobcats in scoring with 14 points. Hosteen finished with eight points, six of which came on clutch drives to the hoop in the fourth quarter.

"Burley was more aggressive tonight," said Twin Falls coach Matt Harr. "That's the first team since Highland that has beat us up and down the floor. They beat us on their transition, especially in the fourth quarter."

Bagley said he was disappointed at losing the game — and, more importantly, the No. 1 district tournament seed — but he was pleased with a better effort compared to the last meeting with Twin.

"We didn't back down to them. Last time I think we were intimidated by them on their court. This time we competed and didn't back down," Bagley said. "Hopefully this game will give us confidence to know we can play with these guys. If we achieved anything tonight, hopefully we achieved that."

Twin Falls finishes its regular season with a non-conference home game Friday against Highland. Burley (14-5, 7-2) finishes its season at Canyon Ridge on Friday.

NOTES: In a pregame ceremony, Burley senior Kody Coltrin received the annual Curtis Hall memorial scholarship. Hall is a 2000 graduate of Burley High who lost his life while serving his country in Iraq, and each year his family honors him through the scholarship.

Wildcats win their third straight district girls basketball title, beating Kimberly 59-45 at CSI.

TWIN FALLS • As the Filer's girls basketball team scaled the ladders at either end of the College of Southern Idaho basketball court Wednesday, head coach Kody Ketterling let out a soft, fist-pumping whoop.

It wasn't quite the exuberance he showed in 2011, his first season, but the Wildcats are getting used to this.

Filer overcame a hot start by Kimberly to put the Bulldogs away, winning 59-45 to claim its third successive 3A District IV Tournament championship.

"We didn't come out unprepared, but they were hitting a lot of tough shots," said Filer center Sarah Sharp. "We didn't panic and stayed together, and it worked out in the end."

leyball, the junior showed she's still pretty good at basketball too, pulling down 11 rebounds on the way to 16 points, for a double-double.

"A lot of that was just that the tallest girl on the floor should get those rebounds," the 6-foot-3 Sharp quipped.

Filer trailed 18-12 late in the first quarter, but the Wildcats (19-4) turned the tables with an 18-0 run that spanned more than eight minutes.

Kimberly (11-11) didn't score in the second quarter until there was less than a minute left, and by that time Filer was up double digits.

"We knew we were playing well and working hard. If we do that we're fine. They're a good team," said Filer senior guard Sierra Koyle, who scored nine points.

Filer outrebounded Kimberly

58-30 and had 16 steals. Cassidy Ferrell pulled down a game-high 14 rebounds for the Wildcats, while Jenna Jarolimek had four shot blocks.

The Bulldogs were led by Heidi Funk's 11 points, while Makenzie Watts and Jensen Upton both scored 10.

"We came out really loose because we had nothing to lose," said Funk, whose team will go into a play-in game Saturday in McCall, against the District I runner-up. "We knew we had that second chance, so coach just said to have fun and play hard. We did that, but the second quarter they just attacked more."

Filer advances directly to the 3A state tournament next week at Skyview High School in Nampa. The Wildcats will play the 6:15 p.m. game next Thursday, Feb. 14, against Marsh Valley or the District VI runner-up.

Filer and Marsh Valley played twice during the regular season, with each team winning on its home floor.

Utah Big Men Lead Jazz to Win

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) • Paul Millsap and Al Jefferson each scored 19 points, Enes Kanter had 17 and a career-high five blocks, and the Utah Jazz defeated the Milwaukee Bucks 100-86 on Wednesday night.

Kanter went 5 of 5 with five rebounds and a block during the second quarter when the Jazz took control after trailing by 12 in the first.

Utah dominated inside as the Bucks were without the NBA's leading shot blocker, Larry Sanders, because of a back injury. The Jazz held a 31-10 advantage on second-chance points and a 56-36 edge on points in the paint.

Jefferson and Derrick Favors led Utah with 11 rebounds apiece, and the Jazz had a 50-37 advantage on the boards.

Brandon Jennings and Ersan Ilyasova led Milwaukee with 17 points apiece.

The Bucks pulled to 90-81 on Samuel Dalembert's free throws with 3:24 left, but he was called for goaltending on the next Jazz possession.

Milwaukee shot 35.4 percent (29 of 82) and just 6 of 19 from 3-point range. Mike Dunleavy had a particularly tough night, going 3 of 13 for 10 points.

Utah led by 15 after three quarters as Milwaukee shot just 26.3 percent in the third. The Jazz kept the pressure on with Marvin Williams hitting a 3-pointer and DeMarre Carroll scoring on a fast-break layup after Favors stuffed Dunleavy at the other end.

Early on, the Bucks looked as though they might be able to break through in Salt Lake City after losing 10 straight, their last win coming in October 2001.

They led by 12 in the first quarter, with Ilyasova having the hot hand early.

After a pair of layups by Monta Ellis and three-point play by Jennings, Milwaukee led 22-10 with 2:47 left in the first. Utah closed the quarter on a 9-3 run thanks to Alec Burks' 3-pointer and strong inside play by Favors and Kanter.

Kanter then took over in the second.

After going 1 for 1 in the first, he stayed perfect, hitting his next five shots, including a three-point play that gave Utah a 37-33 lead with 6:30 remaining in the half.

Utah led by as many as 12 in the second, 49-37, with 2:01 remaining on a fast-break layup by Randy Foye.

The 6-foot-11 Kanter was virtually unstoppable.

Five of his six first-half field goals came after he grabbed an offensive rebound or loose ball and went up strong.

In 9 minutes in the first half, the second-year pro led all scorers with 13 points. He also had seven rebounds, two blocks and an assist.

He finished 7 of 9 with nine rebounds and two assists.

The Bucks were clearly missing Sanders, out with a bruised back after taking a hard fall in Tuesday night's loss at Denver.

Trailing by six after one, the Jazz led 51-43 at the break after limiting Milwaukee to 18 points in the second quarter.

Utah also had a commanding 17-5 edge on rebounds in the second, 17-2 on second-chance points and outscored Milwaukee 24-8 in the paint.

NOTES: Hall of Fame power forward Karl Malone reiterated during a radio show that he would like to help coach the Jazz players.

Asked if that could happen, Jazz coach Tyrone Corbin said, "Who knows?" but noted that he likes his current staff. Jazz swingman Gordon Hayward (sprained right shoulder) missed his sixth straight game but has been taking shots during practice. Bucks F Marquis Daniels got the start for Milwaukee over Luc Mbah a Moute, who did not dress because of a sore right knee. Dunleavy converted a four-point play with 11:10 left in the second after being fouled on a 3-pointer.

Oh, Snap: Carey Ends Dietrich's Win Streak

BY NICK RULAND
nruland@magicvalley.com

GOODING • Fifty and done.

Morgan Parke's five foot shot rolled around the rim and in with 25 seconds left, giving Carey the 1A-II District IV championship with a 41-40 win over Dietrich, snapping the Blue Devils' 50-game win streak.

In a game that saw a flurry of lead changes in the final five minutes, with each make more suspenseful than the last in a Gooding gym overflowing with emotion, it was Parke's shot that seemed to have a mind of its own, and an indecisive one at that.

"It felt like it was on the rim a lot longer than it was," Morgan Parke said. "I didn't have a lot shots fall in, but the right shot went in."

The Blue Devils' Jacey Shaw was fouled on the in-bounds with 36 seconds left, clearly an accident as evidenced by Panther's head coach Merrilee Sears' reaction, as she sank one of two free-throws to go up 40-39.

The decisive play occurred after the Panthers beat Dietrich's pressure, something they did much of the night.

"(Parke's) shot kept on bouncing everywhere," said Shaw, who led all scorers with 17 points. "It was rolling out, rolling out, and then it went in. Dangit. I didn't think they would want it that much. We'll get them back at state."

Shaw nearly delivered the championship by herself in the fourth quarter. The point guard drilled consecutive 3-pointers, the first with Dietrich down 34-33, the second with the game tied at 36-36.

But Parke's shot was the only one with eyes.

The Panthers Mendin Cenarrusa banked in a 3-pointer to tie the game at 39 with 36 seconds left.

"It was pretty lucky," Cenarrusa said. "I was thinking it felt good."

Angelica Zarate, who scored eight points, including two smooth mid-range set shots in the first half, had a good look at her teammates' game-tying banker.

"She called the bankshot," said, Zarate, whose tongue would have been firmly planted in cheek if she hadn't an ear-to-ear smile. "I don't know how it went it in. We're proud of her."

It was a contest becoming of a championship. Carey outplayed Dietrich much of the first half despite holding a narrow lead, keeping the Blue Devils off the offensive glass and contesting their inside shots.

"We played some crazy defense," Carey senior Jaide Parke said. "Everyone was going crazy. But we took care of the ball and worried about what we do and not what they do."

Jaide Parke carried much of the scoring load, making one of her three running left-handed baseline attempts that carried her out of bounds — her make the most impressive shot of the night. She finished with 16 points.

But in the second half, Shaw and Charley Bingham led a champions charge, with Bingham scoring seven consecutive points in the third quarter.

Some Dietrich players took it harder than others. Shaw took it in stride; her team's biggest goal still attainable even if the long streak is history.

"I think we had a lot of pressure on us. Now it's off and we can go play," Shaw said.

Carey advances to the state tournament next week, while Dietrich plays Richfield tonight for the district's second state berth. The loser faces a play-in on Saturday.

CSI SWEEPS WESTERN NEVADA

ST. GEORGE, Utah • The College of Southern Idaho softball team found some medicine for its batting woes: Western Nevada College.

Thirteenth-ranked CSI cranked out 26 runs and 26 hits in a sweep of Western Nevada on Wednesday, opening the Scenic West Athletic Conference season with authority.

CSI (8-4, 2-0) beat Western Nevada 16-3 in the opener and 10-1 in the nightcap, both games ending in the fifth inning on account of the eight-run rule.

Lea Hopson homered and drove in three in the opener, while Aubrey Whitmer was 3-for-3 with a homer and four RBIs in Game 2.

"We were swinging the bats pretty good. Quite a few of our runs came with two outs today, so that's one of those days that you swing well and get two-out singles and score some runs," said CSI coach Nick Baumert. "It surprised us a little bit. I thought they would have played a little better — I don't know if it was the pressure we put on them, maybe somewhere in the middle. But a good day all in all."

The two teams play again today.

Honduras Rallies to Beat US 2-1 in World Cup Qualifier

ASSOCIATED PRESS

A young American defense came apart on a hot, tropical afternoon, and the United States opened the final round of World Cup qualifying with a loss for the first time in 24 years. Jerry Bengtson took advantage of a defensive mix-up to score the go-ahead goal in the 79th minute, and Honduras rallied to beat the United States 2-1 at San Pedro Sula. "They were a much better team than us today. We did look flat," American goal-keeper Tim Howard said.

Clint Dempsey put the U.S. ahead in the 36th minute with an impressive volley, but the Americans gave up the lead when Juan Carlos Garcia scored with a bicycle kick in the 40th that should make the highlights reels of the best goals of 2013.

TWIN FALLS • In 1987, Kirby Butler of Twin Falls became a member of the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation. It was a natural decision for him. Butler had grown up elk hunting and wanted to ensure that the land and animal were around for future generations.

This desire to protect and conserve is how the RMEF was born 29 years ago.

The RMEF was started in 1984 by four hunters from Troy, Mont., who wanted to ensure a future for what they considered North America's grandest game animal.

Since then, this goal has gained a following.

Last year was a big year for the foundation. Not only did it reach 6.1 million acres conserved since its founding, but in January, RMEF also announced membership was at an all-time high of 196,079. The new membership total at the end of 2012 was 11,944 higher than the end of 2011, which marks RMEF's fourth consecutive year of record growth.

In Idaho the foundation has 6,645 members.

Butler, a hunter for 38 years, has committed to being a lifetime member now.

And every year he looks forward to the Magic Valley Chapter's annual banquet. It's a great time, Butler said, but also an opportunity to raise money and awareness for the group's efforts.

Banquet Details

Community above the Ice Lures Anglers to Annual Tournament

TWIN FALLS • Jeff Foxworthy and ice fishing.

You might be asking yourself what the one has to do with the other. But do you remember this Jeff Foxworthy joke about Idaho?

"If someone in a Home Depot store offers you assistance and they don't work there, you live in Idaho," Foxworthy said.

According to Don Hartman, you could also be ice fishing.

Hartman, owner of West Magic Resort and organizer of the 3rd annual West Magic Resort Ice Fishing Tournament, said it's because of the community that forms above the ice.

4 Great Places for Snowshoeing, Cross-country Skiing

BY MARY KEATING
For the Times-News

TWIN FALLS • As the snow piles up, thousands of cross-country skiers dust off their skies, brew hot cocoa and pack up the car. Crisp winter landscapes, bright blue skies and inexpensive trail fees lure newcomers to slip on gaiters, click into skis, buckle up snowshoes and head off on a quest for fresh air and adventure.

The goal for many outdoor enthusiasts is to uncover an exciting and distinctive path to explore. In Idaho, an expansive winter wonderland, are many unique and awe-inspiring trails. In a single weekend, one can kick and glide across the moon, stride past towering rocks or telemark through the pines.

In the evenings, skiers might soak their bones in one of the region's hot pools; after all, Idaho is listed as the state with the highest hot spring density and is home to 232 hot springs.

Cross-country skiing and snowshoeing celebrate the tranquility of nature and the visual joy of a scenic landscape — but also offer a full-body workout.

Depending on individual form, enthusiasts can burn between 400 and 700 calories an hour. Of course, caloric expenditures vary widely.

If you are new to either of these winter sports, cross-country skiing and snowshoeing have a quick learning curve and low rate of injury, and the motions are akin to the body's natural movements. With inexpensive (or free) groomed trails that are easily accessible, the opportunity for the entire family to get outdoors, partake in a bit of exercise and build winter memories is only a kick and glide away.

Below are some breathtaking trails to consider:

• Craters of the Moon National Monument near Arco is magical in the winter, and it provides a rare opportunity to canvass a snow-covered moon. Deep snow transforms and softens the fiery, rugged landscape, and those on skis or snowshoes may explore the monument along the seven miles of groomed trails with no fees charged. Trails are groomed from approximately December to March. Winter snowshoe and snow schools are available. To find out weather conditions or more information, call 208-527-1335.

• Castle Rocks State Park near Albion gives snowshoe and ski enthusiasts an opportunity to amble past giant granite spires. The park has no groomed trails, but there are plenty of ski trails to be had. In addition, the park holds a snowshoeing camp for children 5-9 years old. It will take place on Feb. 18, beginning at 10 a.m. The camp will include a backcountry hike, animal track identification and nature in winter. To reserve a spot, call 208-824-5916.

• Magic Mountain ski area near Twin Falls offers telemarking and 26 miles of groomed trails. The resort is lightly wooded and is a popular destination for cross-country skiers. Information: 208-736-7669.

• Pomerelle Mountain Resort near Albion, with an average of more than 500 inches of snow each year, is a perfect place to cross-country ski. Cross-country maps are available at the Pomerelle ticket office. Information: 208-673-5599. Use of U.S. Forest Service marked trails is free, but they are

Situation Update: Status of the Sporting Arms Industry

Unless you've spent the past few months living on the dark side of the moon, you're well aware of the national debate being waged about the Second Amendment. This heated dialogue — precipitated by the Sandy Hook shootings, the President's response with 21 hastily issued executives orders, and Sen. Dianne Feinstein's latest Assault Weapons/Magazine Restriction Ban — is not the subject of this week's column. Instead, I would like to address the immediate and long-term implications that these governmental interventions are having on the firearms industry and our 300 million gun-bearing American households.

The most immediate effect was to trigger a nationwide panic-driven buying spree. The counters and shelves of sporting goods stores, stocked to overflowing with an almost unimaginable assortment of firearms and accessories, factory ammunition and reloading components just several months ago, are now as bare as poor Ole Mother Hubbard's cupboard. This is a national phenomenon, not simply a local response. In my 59 years — through all the concerted attacks on firearms, ammunition and the Second Amendment that I've witnessed — I have never seen a universal response that even came close to this one.

In this assessment, I first visited and chatted with a number of local sporting goods managers. Afterward, to develop a more representative sampling, I solicited as much information as I could from all the national wholesalers, distributors and industry media folk who responded to my inquiries.

Here's the lowdown, starting with factory loaded ammunition. Current factory production capacity for all the major calibers is now allocated. Projections call for a nationwide shortage of all major caliber ammo over the next nine months — .22LR through .50 BMG. All plants are producing as much ammo as possible at approximately 1 billion rounds weekly — astonishing for a nation not engaged in a major war. It's important to understand that the industry procurement pecking order is to supply the military first, law enforcement second and the civilian market last.

With respect to reloading components, Remington, Winchester, CCI and Federal primers are all going to ammunition manufacturers first. There is currently no new production stock available for civilian reloading purposes. And industry officials said it could be six to nine months before things get caught up. Pistol magazines are largely unavailable or not currently available for backorder. MAGPUL — a primary manufacturer of quality synthetic AR magazines — is backordered by 1 million units and doesn't expect any large quantities to be available for civilian consumers anytime soon.

All of the major revolver, pistol and long gun manufacturers are either currently working at full capacity or making adjustments to increase production as quickly as possible. Here's a sampling of what some of the biggies are reporting:

Smith & Wesson: Running at full capacity turning out 300+ guns per day, primarily M&P pistols.

Ruger: Plans to increase from 75 percent to 100 percent in the next 90 days.

Colt: Production increasing weekly; bottlenecked by bolt carrier supply shortages.

LWRC: Making only AR's, running at full capacity, but can't get enough gun-quality steel to make barrels.

Springfield Armory (pistols, M1A's, M14's): Only company that can meet demand, but backordered 30-45 days.

These are heady times indeed. Stay informed and don't be shy about standing proud for your sport and your constitutional right to keep and bear arms.

ONLINE: The Mountain Man of Boulder City

Times-News journalists blog on their outdoor adventures — and yours — at "Trails & Tales." The latest entry is from Laurie Welch. Here's an excerpt:

"Drawn in by the romance of the history and probably more than a touch of gold fever, I never get to spend enough time at old mining towns. But Boulder City holds a special intrigue that comes with the possibility of a glimpse of the mountain man who once frightened the living daylight out of me in the middle of a dark, dark night. ...

"Once on a trip to the mine, cut too short by friends urging us onward, I confided in Mark how I longed to linger at the mill. I wanted to explore how it worked and sit with it as the sun went down behind the jagged mountains. So we planned a camping trip to the mine. ...

"Mark built up a campfire to light what was sure to become a very dark night. He propped up a large hunting rifle on a log not far from the fire and gave his customary speech on the dangers of being in a wilderness that included bear territory. ...

"The night darkened into a shade of black I didn't know existed, but my excitement at being in this special place kept me alert long past bedtime. ..."

New Youth Fishing Club Changes Tonight's Meeting Location, Time

TIMES-NEWS

TWIN FALLS • A new children's fishing club, dubbed Kids Fish N Fun of the Magic Valley, will hold its first meeting for volunteers and directors at 6:30 p.m. today, Feb. 7, at Tomato's Italian Grill in Twin Falls.

That's a different time and location than previously planned.

The fishing club is looking for volunteers and several people to be on the club's board of directors.

"The purpose of this club is to get our kids in this community more involved in fishing and the meaning of the sport fishing," said Garth York, organizer of the fledgling club.

The club, for ages 3-17, will teach children and teens the basics of fishing and teach them to respect the areas they fish, he said. It also will offer several outings throughout the year.

Interested in volunteering, serving on the board or being a club sponsor? Contact York at 208-320-4588 or york1632@yahoo.com.

willing to help you out," Hartman said. "It's a lot of fun."

And Hartman said the community is growing.

He predicts more than 200 ice fishing participants will be at this year's tournament, set for Feb. 16-17 at West Magic Resort.

Spectators are encouraged to come out and watch anglers of all skill levels take to the ice. These fishermen and women are trying to take home top prizes for heaviest trout and longest perch.

"In two days we find out who is the best fisherman or who has the luckiest spot," said Calvin Colter of Twin Falls. He's the owner of Cal's Log Tavern, a co-sponsor of the tournament.

And there are plenty of fish to be caught.

According to the West Magic Resort website's fishing report, the reservoir has frozen solid at 14 inches in some places. Recent reports state that the trout are averaging 3 pounds or more and the perch are up to 10 inches, with people catching between 60 and 100 a day.

Fish are weighed at the end of each day, with winners announced Saturday and Sunday.

"A lot of people there know each other; it's a community event," Colter said. "And if the fish are real good, we don't have much time to talk to each other."

On Feb. 17 the tournament concludes with a fish fry.

"A lot of people donate their fish to the fry ... it's a good time," Hartman said.

Pat Callen of Hollister comes for the ice fishing and stays for the fry. He said the fish fry is a perfect time to visit and talk ice fishing.

"I'm looking forward to it this year," Callen said. "I like to compete; it makes it more fun."

For the past two years, Callen has won the top prize for heaviest trout.

"I go ice fishing all the time. If there's a tournament, I'm there," Callen said. "It's better than sitting at home, watching TV."

Callen is a self-taught ice fisherman. He started when he was 16, and now the 65-year-old does not waste a good day of ice. One of his favorite things to do is to sit and watch the poles.

"Some people like to go skiing; me and my friends live to go ice fishing," Callen said.

But will Callen win again this year? He hopes so, but that's not why he ice fishes.

"Absolutely some of my friends will try to beat me, and if they do it's wonderful," Callen said. "Whoever wins, I'll slap them on the back and congratulate them. All that matters is having fun."

Center in Twin Falls.

Through money raised at the banquet, RMEF is able to help rejuvenate elk habitats across Idaho, including re-establishing an elk herd in the Clearwater Basin.

In 2012, the RMEF used $134,000 to directly affect 20 Idaho counties, including Cassia and Gooding.

"Forest thinning, prescribed burning, weed treatments and more are expected to improve 28,993 acres of Idaho elk country," David Allen, RMEF president and CEO, said in a foundation press release.

On the east side of the the Caribou National Forest, RMEF worked with a landowner to protect 250 acres of elk habitat along Stump Creek through a conservation easement. And in the Panhandle, RMEF said it was key in securing 921 acres of public access and winter range for elk and moose.

Mark and Michelle Stray of Twin Falls, chairing this year's banquet committee, said their involvement in RMEF is a family affair. And Michelle, a licensed hunter, said becoming a member is not just something for the men. Michelle and Mark have been members of RMEF for five years.

Colin Hickman, regional director for RMEF, said he joined the cause because not only is he an elk hunter, but through his work he can make sure his children and grandchildren will have a chance to hunt as well.

"Everyone has their reasons for why to join," Hickman said. "Elk are majestic, beautiful creatures, and the work we do benefits them and all the animals on that habitat."

Light Goose Season Opens Next Week

JEROME • While most hunting seasons are now closed, the spring “light goose” season is poised to open.

Beginning Saturday, Feb. 16, the hunt stretches across portions of southern and eastern Idaho. The season on Ross’s and snow geese runs through March 10 in Areas 2 and 3. The bag limit is 10 per day and 20 in possession.

Area 2 includes Bingham County west of the west bank of the Snake River and the American Falls Reservoir bluff; and Power County north of Interstate 86 and west of the west bank of the Snake River and the American Falls Reservoir bluff.

Area 3 includes Ada, Boise, Canyon, Cassia, Elmore, Gem, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Minidoka, Owyhee, Payette, Twin Falls and Washington counties.

The Idaho Department of Fish and Game reminded hunters that Fort Boise, including Gold Island, and Payette River wildlife management areas and the part of Roswell Marsh Wildlife Habitat Area south of state Highway 18, and the Snake River Islands Unit of the Deer Flat National Wildlife Refuge, are closed during the spring light goose season from Feb. 16 through March 10.

In addition, the restrictions on hunting waterfowl with a shotgun capable of holding more than three shells, unless it is plugged with a one-piece filler, and on the use of electronic calls do not apply during this light goose season.

Only nontoxic shot approved by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service may be used while hunting waterfowl. For a list of approved shot go to: www.fws.gov/migratory-birds/CurrentBirdIssues/nontoxic.htm.

For more information, see the 2012 Waterfowl Seasons and Rules brochure available at all license vendors, Fish and Game offices and online at fishandgame.idaho.gov/public/hunt/rules/?get-Page66.

Hunters need a 2013 hunting license and a state migratory bird permit. Last year’s federal duck stamp is still valid for spring 2013 hunting, Fish and Game said.

Minnesota Cancels Moose Hunting as Population Plummets

BY STEVE KARNOWSKI
Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS • Minnesota canceled its moose hunting season Wednesday, citing a precipitous decline in the moose population, as researchers try to get a handle on why the iconic symbol of the north woods appears to be faring worse here than elsewhere across its range.

The population has dropped 35 percent over the past year and 52 percent from 2010 to an estimated 2,760 moose left in northeastern Minnesota, according to the annual aerial survey conducted by the Department of Natural Resources in January. That’s down from an estimated 4,230 moose last winter. Minnesota’s moose numbers were estimated as high as 8,840 in 2006.

“So it’s just a plummeting population here,” DNR Commissioner Tom Landwehr told reporters.

While moose might not die out completely in Minnesota, the population could be too small well before 2020 to accurately estimate, said Steve Merchant, the DNR’s wildlife populations and regulations manager. He noted the big drop in just the past year.

“That’s a steep slope, and it comes down to that — very few animals left, very shortly,” Merchant said.

Researchers are conducting studies to better understand why moose are dying out in Minnesota. Scientists suspect some combination of higher temperatures, parasites, diseases, contact with deer and changes in forests in northeastern Minnesota. A separate moose herd in northwestern Minnesota is now so tiny that the DNR no longer conducts surveys there.

DNR officials said it isn’t clear why moose are struggling more in some places than others. New England has a much larger moose population and the range there may be expanding, although numbers may be declining in some northeastern states. The population appears to be holding its own or growing in parts of North Dakota. But some Rocky Mountain states are experiencing declines. While Canada’s moose population remains large, it’s been falling across the border in Ontario.

Idaho Power Discounts Camping Fee for Seniors, Disabled Veterans

TIMES-NEWS

TWIN FALLS • Idaho Power said Wednesday it has begun a three-year pilot program to provide discounted fees to service-disabled military veterans and to seniors at the company’s parks.

Any service-related disability will qualify an individual to receive a 50 percent discount on overnight camping fees, the company said. People 60 and older will receive $2 off per night in the peak season, April 1 through Oct. 31, at any of Idaho Power’s parks where overnight camping is allowed.

“We want to thank veterans, and this is an opportunity to do that. Similarly we feel a senior discount further encourages families to visit our parks and enjoy what Idaho has to offer,” Fred Noland, senior biologist for Idaho Power, said in a company press release.

Day-use areas are free at all Idaho Power parks. The company charges overnight camping fees at its parks in Hells Canyon and at developed sites at C.J. Strike Reservoir.

To qualify for the discounts, visitors will need a driver’s license or other official identification. Those taking advantage of the disabled veterans’ discount will also need an Idaho Department of Parks and Recreation Veteran’s document, Oregon Parks and Recreation Department Veteran’s document, or a copy of their Veteran’s Administration document stating such disability.

Visitors can indicate on their fee envelopes that they are paying the discounted fee through the company’s Veterans Program or Senior Program by checking a box. Fee collectors may request proof of identification when they do their campsite inspection rounds.

The 14-day stay limit still applies, and the first-come-first-served policy remains in effect.

Wyo. Sheep Known for Butting Vehicles at Park Dies

LANDER, Wyo. (AP) • A bighorn sheep named Bam Bam because of his habit of butting vehicles at a Wyoming park has died, likely of natural causes.

He was the last survivor of the bighorn sheep herd in Sinks Canyon State Park near Lander.

Bam Bam became a local celebrity of sorts when he began showing up near the park’s main road in 2007 and allowed people to pet him.

Fearing for the sheep’s and visitors’ safety, park managers moved Bam Bam to an enclosed state facility near Wheatland in 2009.

Sinks Canyon Superintendent Darrel Trembly says Bam Bam will be mounted by a taxidermist and put on display in the park’s visitor center.

Calif. Officials to Research Coyote Hunting Laws

BY TRACIE CONE
Associated Press

SACRAMENTO, Calif. • The state game commission on Wednesday declined to intervene in a controversial coyote hunting contest, although members did ask for a legal opinion on whether the board has authority to regulate contests in the future.

Hunters are set to fan across Modoc County on Saturday and Sunday to see who can kill the most coyotes in a contest sponsored by a gun club. The winner will get a silver belt buckle.

Animal welfare advocates argued before the Fish and Game Commission that the hunt is inhumane, and wanton slaughter is contrary to scientific wildlife management practices that show the predators play an important vermin-control role in the ecosystem.

“It’s ethically indefensible and suggests wildlife has no value other than targets in an outdoor shooting gallery,” said Camilla Fox, executive director of Project Coyote.

Fish and Wildlife Director Chuck Bonham said it’s legal in California for hunters to kill wildlife that causes crop or livestock damage.

The board took no action because the hunt was not on the agenda. However, newly elected commission President Michael Sutton asked staff to clarify the board’s authority to regulate the contests.

Fox said after the meeting that it’s an open question whether coyotes to be targeted along the California border with Oregon have caused damage.

“It’s a question the department should be looking at. How often is damage demonstrated?” Fox said.

A letter previously sent to the agency said 20 organizations want to protect a wolf known as OR7, which became the first in the state in nearly a century when it wandered across Oregon and into California a year ago. They fear other wolves could be in the area.

Opponents of the coyote hunt fear that participants won’t be able to readily tell the difference between a coyote and a wolf.

OR7 is larger than a coyote, but because it mingles with coyotes, animal advocates wrote letters and collected petition signatures asking the state to call off the coyote hunt.

The gray wolf is a federally protected species in California, and wildlife authorities are in the process of determining whether state protections should be offered as well.

Bonham said wildlife officials will be at the hunt to educate participants about the physical differences between a wolf and a coyote.

The ability to hunt predators is important to ranchers, said Margo Parks of the California Cattlemen’s Association. She said coyotes are responsible for $4 million in damages annually.

“OR7 is a poorly disguised excuse to further chip away at hunting rights,” she said.

THE ACES ON BRIDGE®

Bobby Wolff

*“There are who teach only the sweet lessons of peace and safety
But I teach lessons of war and death to those I love.”*

— Walt Whitman

When West led the heart king against six spades, declarer took it and played the two top trumps, both defenders following. He then turned to the club suit. If East had held the last trump, the slam would have been made. East could ruff in whenever he chose, but he would have no heart to return. Declarer could then discard both his heart losers on dummy’s clubs. But today it was West who ruffed the third club, and he cashed two hearts to put the slam two down.

Since you are booked to lose a trump trick, even if the spade suit breaks 3-2, the critical trump trick must be lost to East, who is known to be the safe hand. After winning the heart lead, you should play a trump toward your hand and win with the ace. You then return to dummy with a diamond to lead another trump. When the queen appears from East, you must duck. You can then win East’s return, draw the last trump, and discard your two heart losers. This play is indicated because hearts are known to be 6-1. Had West not bid, the line found at the table would probably have been best.

Incidentally, you would make the same sort of play if your trumps were A-Q-7-6-3. After finessing the spade queen, you would return to dummy to lead a second round of trumps. Whenever the spade king appeared from East, you would duck it, keeping West off lead for the duration of the deal.

ANSWER: The double of a no-trump opening or overcall is for penalties, so you have no reason to remove it. Your partner knows you opened third in hand (when, traditionally, a few liberties can be taken) and you have no reason to be ashamed of your values. Pass, and await developments.

That is an excellent time to put new enterprises into motion or to make crucial decisions. In August and September, you might be overly focused on your love life or take vacations when work needs to get done. You have a good eye for the main chance all fall but should wait until a more auspicious time in October when your judgment is better to implement new ideas.

HOROSCOPE
Jeraldine Saunders

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Move full speed ahead. Your quick thinking and eye for detail will put you at an advantage when up against worthy competition. A fleeting stab at romance could fall far short of its intended mark.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Any job worth doing is worth doing right. Show pride in your work and strive to achieve your tasks professionally. Put social activities on the back burner and focus energies on getting the job done.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): There could be an appealing person you would like to flirt with, but remember there are miles to go before you can sleep. Money and recognition will be earned through hard work, not charm.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Ambition may make you seem a bit ruthless or inconsiderate. Avoid arguments and try to be more thoughtful, as a bone of contention that seems so important now will seem unreasonable in hindsight.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): The less said, the better. You may be challenged to put your money where your mouth is. This may be a good time to make investments or to take advantage of loopholes.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): If you want something done, do it yourself. There's no need to wait on outside assistance when you are quite capable of taking care of business. You can earn Brownie points on the job.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You may be tempted to compromise your principles to reach a compromise. Keep in mind, however, that a willingness to please everyone and anyone no matter what the cost can prove to be expensive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22): Hard work must be its own reward. If you wear your ambition on your sleeve, it might weigh you down. You could find it difficult to receive praise or recognition even if you burn the candle at both ends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Jumping to conclusions is like jumping off a cliff blindfolded. Preparation and a clear idea of where you are going are necessary — and could prevent you from making a silly mistake.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The righteous rule. You can hold your head high and look others in the eye because you know you haven't done anything wrong. Someone is willing to defend your reputation in a public venue.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Ambitions may occupy your mind and time. A helpful opportunity could send you in a totally different direction. Remain poised to accept necessary changes or to take advantage of new endeavors.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Don't be derailed by a daydream. You may find yourself longing to be somewhere else on some exciting adventure but reality is the right track. Keep your feet on the ground and focus on taking care of business.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for the compassion you showed “Wants to Be a Mom” (Nov. 24), the 15-year-old girl considering motherhood with her almost 18-year-old boyfriend. Having lost her dad at an early age and having a mother who prefers drugs over her daughter, must have made this young lady feel very unwanted. I understand why she might think a baby would give her the love she’s missing.

DEAR ABBY
Jeanne Phillips

I applaud you for not judging her, but instead kindly helping her to understand the consequences of her potential actions. I wish her the best and hope she’ll have the wisdom to realize how important an education will be for her future. With luck, in a few years she’ll be a young adult ready to assume the responsibilities of being a parent.

— LINDA IN MICHIGAN
DEAR LINDA: “Wants” was smart to write for advice before acting on impulse. She deserved a thoughtful response and not just a reprimand. Readers had much to say about her letter:

DEAR ABBY: At 15, I had the first of my five daughters. By the time I was 20 I was raising the babies by myself. Would I do it all over again? Not in this lifetime!

“Wants,” your boyfriend is immature. He should finish school and get a job before thinking about children. You are only 15 and have your best years ahead. One thing that never crossed MY mind was how I would be able to support my child without an education. I learned the hard way.

If you and your grandma aren’t getting along, it’s up to you to change your attitude. Grandma has more experience than you do in this world. Listening to her will help you avoid many of the pitfalls that I went through, and that you face presently.

— WAS THERE ONCE IN WASHINGTON

DEAR ABBY: A mentor to teen boys told me that some of them deliberately try to impregnate girls so they’ll have a “trophy” of how manly and virile they are. The more babies they help conceive, especially without having to be responsible for them, the more bragging can go on in the locker room. Every parent needs to know this behavior is going on. Some of these boys have punched holes in condoms and convinced a reticent girl to have sex — then laughed at her and dumped her when she became pregnant.

— NURSING SCHOOL STUDENT IN WISCONSIN

DEAR ABBY: That 15-year-old’s boyfriend’s desire for her to have a baby seems like a control issue to me, and it will set the tone for their relationship. She needs to say no or she will most likely be under his power for the foreseeable future. I have seen this happen too many times with high school girls.

— FORMER TEACHER IN THE NORTHWEST

DEAR ABBY: Some states will accuse the young man of statutory rape, and he could end up in jail and be branded a sex offender for life. And the girl will wind up with a baby, no education and no husband to help her. Children have no business having children.

— FLORIDA READER

DEAR ABBY: Tell that girl and her boyfriend that if they want a baby, they must support that baby on their own. Those of us who are working and raising families are tired of entitlements the young ones count on for support. Life is hard. It’s expensive. And it is about more than what you “want” on a whim.

— KATHY IN THE MIDWEST

DEAR ABBY: Please tell her to visit Planned Parenthood. It promotes responsible parenting and healthy sexuality. I checked its website and there’s an office in Blacksburg, Va., not far from where she lives. My best to her.
