13 Dead in Navy Yard Shooting

Texas man behind Washington shooting.

BY WILLIAM SELWAY, TONY CAPACCIO AND PHIL MATTINGLY

Bloomberg News

WASHINGTON • A 34-year-old Navy veteran from Texas was identified by the FBI as the suspected gunman in shootings at the Washington Navy Yard that left at least 13 others dead.

Aaron Alexis, who was a fulltime Navy reservist from May 2007 to January 2011, was shot and killed by police at the scene. He was last assigned to a logistics support squadron in Fort Worth, Texas, according to the Navy, and last held the rank of specialty aviation electrician's mate third class.

Washington Mayor Vincent Gray said authorities are continu-what prompted the shooting.

"We don't know what the motive is," Gray told reporters. "We don't have any reason at this stage to suspect terrorism, but certainly it has not been ruled out."

The shooting at the U.S. Naval Sea Systems Command headquarters, about a mile from the U.S. Capitol, shuttered streets near the Navy Yard and prompted lockdowns through the day of nearby schools and in the buildings of the U.S. Senate. The identities of the victims have yet to be released.

The Navy Yard shooting, reported at around 8:15 a.m., was the deadliest mass killing since the shooting of 20 pupils and six adults in Newtown, Connecticut, in December. Thirteen people were killed and more than 30 wounded in a November 2009 shooting spree at Fort Hood, Texas. Army Major Nidal Hasan was sentenced to death last month in that case.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation requested that anyone with knowledge of Alexis's actions before Monday's shooting contact them. Washington Metropolitan Police Chief Cathy Lanier said the scene inside the building "was Please see SHOOTING, A7

The potential consequences if found guilty are "huge," he said, so the $500,000 bond is appropriate.

Rowe, 37, was arraigned Monday on charges of aiding and abetting in robbery and conspiracy to commit robbery.

Public defender Justin Call asked that her bond be lowered to $50,000, as she has no record, has family in the area and needs to care for her children, ages 10, 14 and 16.

"Jake Rowe is actually the more criminally significant one," Call said.

If found guilty, Linda Rowe could spend from five years to life in prison.

Police say her husband, Jake Rowe, entered the bank 11:45 a.m. July 9, showed a teller a black, semi-automatic handgun and demanded money. The teller handed over a stack of cash totaling $1,573.

Jake Rowe then hopped on a red dirt bike and sped to Linda Rowe, who was waiting in the couple's blue pickup, police say. The two deposited $820 in a nearby Wells Fargo Bank and made their way to La Quinta Inn on Pole Line Road, less than a mile Please see COURT, A5

Twin Falls Police Station Sent Back to the Drawing Board

ASHLEY SMITH • TIMES • NEWS Twin Falls police Capt. Matt Hicks shows plans Monday for the proposed but postponed remodeling at the police station.

Construction bids at double the expected cost have put the brakes on a remodeling project at the Twin Falls Police Department.

BY ALISON GENE SMITH alismith@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • A planned remodel of the Twin Falls Police Department is on hold after bids to do the job were double the amount of cash available.

If all went according to plan, construction could have started this week, Capt. Matt Hicks said.

The construction would have taken about 90 days and officers and other police employees would have been in a more spacious and comfortable situation by the new year.

A few years ago, the police department began setting aside money to pay for the remodel, which would provide much-needed new locker space and work stations.

"The police department has some pretty critical infrastructure needs," said city manager Travis Rothweiler.

The city hired Lombard Conrad Architects of Boise last December to help with the project. Please see POLICE, A7

Stocks Rally After Summers Exits Fed Race

NEW YORK (AP) • Wall Street was happy to see Larry Summers go.

Stocks rose on Monday after Summers, who had been the leading candidate to replace Federal Reserve chairman Ben Bernanke, withdrew his name from consideration.

Summers, a former Treasury secretary, was viewed as being more likely to rein in the government's massive stimulus program, which has kept interest rates low and boosted corporate profits.

Twin Falls Resident Wins $40K in Powerball

STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

TWIN FALLS • Danny Goodnight of Twin Falls had a dream a few days ago that he had a winning Powerball ticket, and the first number on it was one. With a big jackpot available Saturday night, Goodnight found himself in a liquor store on Kimberly Road about an hour before the draw. The long-haul, feeder truck driver for UPS asked for a quick pick with the Power-Play option, and his ticket had the number one.

"You don't see the number one come up too often, and I thought it was interesting," Goodnight said. "I thought it was a sign of good luck."

He was right. His ticket matched four of the first five numbers and the Powerball. With the PowerPlay option, his winning prize was $40,000.

"This could not have come at a better time for us," said his wife, Kay, who was with Danny when he claimed his prize in Boise. "We are raising two grandchildren and care for elderly parents. This is really going to help out."

The couple plan to pay off some debt and invest the balance.

For its part in selling the winning ticket, the Idaho

State Liquor Division will receive a bonus from the Idaho Lottery of $4,000.

TIMES-NEWS

"This is a win-win for the state of Idaho," said Jeff Anderson, director of the Idaho Lottery and the Liquor Division. "The lottery bonus will go to the division's beneficiaries: Idaho cities, counties, court services, substance abuse programs, education and general government."

Curious Mind Local Interchange Could be Largest in Acreage for State

o meone said the new on and off ramps between Jerome and Twin Falls make up the largest cloverleaf in the country. Is that true?

"That's a good question, and I don't think we have a definitive answer whether it's the largest in the country," said Nathan Jerke, spokesman for the Idaho

Transportation Department. The biggest highway cloverleaf reportedly is the Judge Harry Pregerson Interchange in Los Angeles. It is a stack interchange near the Athens and Watts communities of Los Angeles, where two interstates meet and cross over: Interstate 105 (Glenn M. Anderson Freeway) and Interstate 110 (Harbor Freeway).

In addition to all regular traffic, the cloverleaf has car pool lanes and connectors, commuter train tracks and the Harbor Transitway, all of which contribute to the towering, imposing structure for which the interchange is known. Opened with Interstate 105 in 1993, the interchange is named for Harry Pregerson, a longtime federal judge who presided over the lawsuit concerning the I-105 freeway's construction.

"Without any official measurements," Jerke said, "the I-84/U.S. 93 interchange could be the largest interchange – in acres – in Idaho. Only the Flying Wye, the interchange of Interstates 84 and 184 in Boise, would compare in total land size and is a kind of cloverleaf interchange. The Flying Wye is by far the highest-capacity interchange in Idaho.

"If all four leafs are ever completed, it would be the only traditional four-leaf cloverleaf interchange in Idaho. However, there is no timetable for any further expansion at the I-84/U.S. 93 junction. Any construction of additional loop ramps would be when there is a need based on traffic counts and safety considerations.

"On a side note," Jerke added, "many people do ask why the existing loop ramp is as long as it is. At about 1 mile in length, the loop ramp might seem excessively long for drivers of smaller vehicles that can easily speed up to and maintain the 65-mph design speed. However, the length improves capacity for the highway by allowing other vehicles to reach and maintain a higher speed. If the loop were smaller, like the loop ramp at the Heyburn interchange east of Burley, the larger vehicles - like commercial trucks - cannot reach interstate speeds prior to merging, can back traffic up behind the slower vehicles, and could create a hazard for other highway users."

autumn is less than a week away, arriving Sunday. Temperatures will start to feel cool by Wednesday, as a cold front will work across the region.

The forecast for today will be warm, but not as warm as it was Monday. As the cold front gets closer to the Magic Valley and the Wood River region, clouds will increase, winds will pick up and we could have a chance of an isolated shower or storm this afternoon and evening. The big story will be gusty winds of 25 to 30 mph and dropping temperatures.

Wednesday will feel very much like fall. Winds will gust to 30 to 35 mph and temperatures will be nearly 20 degrees cooler than they were on Tuesday. High on Wednesday is expected to only be in the low-to mid-60s. The good news is it will be mostly sunny. Lows will be in the lowto mid-40s, so make sure you know where that jacket is.

While it will feel nice and cool Wednesday, temperatures will begin to work back into the 80s by Friday. There could be chances of rain Saturday and Sunday, before another storms system bring cooler temperatures Sunday into Monday.

A. Susan Beem Burningham

Nov. 4, 1956-Sept. 14, 2013

A. Susan Beem Burningham, 56, passed away Saturday, Sept. 14, 2013, at her home with her family by her side after a long, courageous battle with cancer.

Susan was born Nov. 4, 1956, at Orlando Air Force Base in Orlando, Fla., to Ken and Donna Beem. Soon after, the family moved to Idaho where Susan enjoyed her life growing up on the family farm at Hunt. She school attended in Eden/Hazelton and graduated from Valley High School in 1975, where she returned years later to serve two terms on the VHS School Board.

In March 1975, Susan married Rocky Hagan. To that union came Craig and Holly. Susan's two kids meant the world to her. She was always there to support them and was a wonderful mom and friend. Although Rocky and Susan later divorced, they remained friends. Susan married Todd Burningham in November of 2004. They considered each to be their soul mate. They were very much in love and spent every minute they could together. They took their vows "in sickness and in health" to heart and saw each other through many difficult times.

Susan's pride and joy were her four beautiful granddaughters: Madison, Brynley, Baylee and Elsie. She was an amazing "Grammy!" She loved planning activities and projects to do with her grandkids. Her best moments were those spent with her "little girls." Susan was very creative her whole life. She enjoyed quilting and found it to be healing as she battled her illness. She made many beautiful quilts that will be cherished always.

Susan is survived by her loving husband, Todd; her two kids, Craig (Jentry) Hagan and Holly (Michael) Bland; her four granddaughters, Baylee, Elsie, Madison and Brynley; her parents, Ken and Donna Beem; her brother, Steve; her special cousin, Kip Andrus; and many extended family members and friends. She is preceded in death by her grandparents, Virgil and Katie Beem, and Lloyd and Iva West; and her granddaughter, Hunter Trinity Hagan.

Susan's family would like to say a special thank you to Dr. Symington and Dr. Smith and the staff at MSTI for their kind care. In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made to the Mountain States Tumor Institute.

The funeral will be conducted at p.m. Saturday, Sept. 21, at the Immanuel Lutheran Church, where she was a member, 2055 Filer Ave. E. in Twin Falls, with Pastor Roger Sedlmayr officiating. Interment will follow in Sunset Memorial Park in Twin Falls. Arrangements are under the care of Farnsworth Mortuary of Jerome.

Man To Be Sentenced in Priest's Meth Sales

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) • A Connecticut man who helped a priest sell methamphetamine is seeking a reduced sentence, citing poor health and saying the priest was the driving force behind the drug sales.

Waterbury resident Kenneth DeVries (DAH'vreez) pleaded guilty in June to conspiracy to possess with intent to distribute methamphetamine. He's scheduled to be sentenced Tuesday in federal court in Hartford.

DeVries has been held since January. He has prostate cancer. He faces about three to four years in prison under guidelines but wants a sentence of time served. He says he Amie Cserepes Assistant Office Manager I am Amie Cserepes the Assistant office Manager of Lithia- Chevrolet. I grew up in Idaho & moved to Twin Falls in 2005 to attend CSI in the Auto Body Technology Program. I was hired with Lithia in my second trimester. I started with Lithia by washing cars 7 years ago, and have worked in the Service and Auto Body Departments then moving to the Accounting Office. It's been a great opportunity to have a career instead of a job.

Work, however, isn't my whole life. I love to enjoy the outdoors with my family, friends, my husband and dogs. We go hiking, fishing, Camping, and enjoy the beauty of Southern Idaho. I have also been co-captain of our Lithia-Chevrolet & CJDR Relay for Life Teams for the past 3 years.

Overall, I am blessed with the awesome people in my life; family, friends, & co-workers etc. Thanks to everyone who is apart of my life.

Chevrolet of Twin Falls is proud to employ over 50 members of the local community. Many of our team embers grew up and attended school in the MagicValley and now have families that are following in those traditions. Jerrad Durfee

Oct. 22, 1969-Sept. 10, 2013

WENDELL • On Tuesday, Sept. 10, 2013, Jerrad Dale Durfee was unexpectedly called to our Heavenly Father. Jerrad was born in Jerome, Idaho, on Oct. 22, 1969.

He was an active member of the Wendell Community as a volunteer firefighter and an employee of the city of Wendell. He was an allaround likeable guy with a happy-go-lucky personality, which many people enjoyed. He was a very faithful father along with his wife, Diane Drake Durfee, raising their enthusiastic children, Shelleana (21), Mike (20), Chaz (17), Trevor (14) and Braden (9). Every one of them loved him with all their hearts and will miss going camping, family gatherings and goofing around. He enjoyed being an assistant baseball coach for Braden's baseball team and helping Braden design and race pinewood derby cars for Boy Scouts.

At an early age, he enjoyed cars, starting with Matchbox and Hot Wheel cars. After graduating from Wendell High School, he continued his passion for cars and went on to Wyoming Tech taking its auto body and mechanics classes. He also earned an associated degree in water management from the College of Southern Idaho. Working in these professions, he acquired many lifelong friendships.

He will also be greatly missed by his "best bud," Chancy, his Black Lab.

He is survived by his wife, Diane; his parents, Ynes and Dewey Durfee; and his children, Shelleana, Mike, Chaz, Trevor and Braden.

A funeral service will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 18, at the Living Waters Presbyterian Church in Wendell. Burial will follow at the Wendell Cemetery. A visitation for family and friends will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Tuesday (today), Sept. 17, at Demaray Funeral Service, Wendell Chapel, 164 E. Main St. in Wendell.

Condolences may be shared with the family by visiting the obituary link at demarayfuneralservice.com.

Willis E. Anderson

June 21, 1950-Sept. 12, 2013

SHOSHONE • Willis Anderson passed away Thursday, Sept. 12, 2013, at the Lincoln County Care Center following a lingering illness

Willis was born June 21, 1950, to Lowell and Betty Anderson at Wendell, Idaho. He attended school in Dietrich, Idaho, graduating in 1968 as valedictorian of his class. During his high school years, Willis enjoyed sports and especially basketball. He played on the team which won the state high school championship in 1966. After graduating, he attended college at Boise State College and the University of Idaho. He served in the Air Force National Guard and was honorably discharged in 1974. He then worked for the Union Pacific Railroad and worked for more than 20 years for Anderson Asphalt Paving of Bellevue, Idaho. Willis is survived by his son, Larry J. Anderson of Fort Lewis, Wash.; three brothers, Lowell "Butch" Anderson (Debbie) of Riverside, Calif., Larry (Lexie) Anderson of Bellevue and Kirk (Kathleen) Anderson of Boise; as well as many nieces and nephews. Willis was preceded in death by his sister, Patricia Anderson Priest; brother-in-law, Terry Priest; his parents; and grandparents.

Willis really enjoyed his cell phone and would call his family and friends often to check in. We will miss those phone calls.

A funeral service will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 21, at Demaray Funeral Service, Shoshone Chapel, with visitation beginning at 11 a.m. Burial will follow at the Shoshone Cemetery. Friends and family are invited to attend a celebration of life for Willis at the Eagle's Nest in Dietrich, Idaho, following interment at Shoshone Cemetery.

Arrangements are under the care and direction of Demaray Funeral Service, Shoshone Chapel. Condolences may be sent to the family by visiting the obituary link at www.demarayfuneralservice.com.

Paul Amos Bancroft

July 10, 1909-Sept. 14, 2013

SHOSHONE • Paul Amos Bancroft, 104, a resident of Shoshone, passed away Saturday, Sept. 14, 2013, at DeSano Place Suites in Shoshone.

Paul was born July 10, 1909, in Glenns Ferry, Idaho, to George and Myrtle Bancroft. He attended school in Wendell until the family moved to Shoshone. Paul graduated from Shoshone High School in 1929. The high school had burned down that winter so the graduation ceremony was held in the movie theater. He married Ruby Marie Ritter on June 9, 1934, in Shoshone, Idaho, at the Ritter Homestead north of town. He was a member of the First Baptist Church in Shoshone.

Paul is survived by his daughter, Wanda Bancroft of Twin Falls, Idaho; grandchildren, Marty Sharp, Keri Mackie, Brad Stepanek and Randy Stepanek; greatgrandchildren, Anna Stepanek and Sara Stepanek; and step-great-grandson, Tavish Mackie. He was preceded in death by his parents, George and Myrtle; siblings, Marie, George and Frank; wife, Ruby; and daughter, Roberta.

The family requests memorial donations in Paul's name be made to the First Baptist Church in Shoshone.

Visitation for family and friends will be held from 10 a.m. to noon Thursday, Sept. 19, at Demaray Funeral Service, Shoshone Chapel. A funeral will follow at 2 p.m. at The First Baptist Church, 205 Fifth Ave E. in Shoshone. Burial will follow at the Shoshone Cemetery.

TWIN FALLS • Marjorie Jones Slivkoff, 77, of Twin Falls, passed away Saturday, Sept. 14, 2013, at her home with her husband by her side.

She was born April 23, 1936, in Corona, Calif., to William and Ida (Daniels) Broyles. She met John Slivkoff in 1998, and they were married in 1999. Marjorie loved outside wildlife and had a passion for pinto horses.

Marjorie is survived by her husband, John Slivkoff; children, Kathy Clark, Teresa McCollum, Christopher Chamberlin, Deborah Searlift and Timothy Slivkoff; 13 grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Cremation is under the direction of Rosenau Funeral Home in Twin Falls.

Carmen Iris Steele Feb. 23, 1939-Sept. 13, 2013

JEROME • Carmen Iris Steele, 74, our beloved mother, was born Feb. 23, 1939, to Juan and Juana Sanchez in Juncos, Puerto Rico. She passed away Friday, Sept. 13, 2013, in Gooding Idaho.

She moved to Utah in 1948 with her family: siblings, Johnny Corcino, Mary Salcedo (deceased), Frank Sanchez, and Georgi Sanchez. She married and later divorced Miguel Rios (deceased). She was preceded in death by her husband, Raymond Steele, whom she adored, and made their home in Hagerman, Idaho. They were married for 26 years until his death in 2007. She was blessed with six children: Joey Sanchez, Donna (Jan) Foust, Dianna (Tim) Burbidge, David (Sidney) Rios, Michelle Rios and Carmen Rios. She spent the last four years with her beloved companion, Jim Waugh. She had 18 grandchildren and many greatgrandchildren.

She worked as a CNA at St. Benedicts for more than 20 years, until she retired. She was full of life and enjoyed helping others and she will be dearly missed by many.

A celebration of her life will be held at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 19, at Demaray Funeral Service, Gooding Chapel, 737 Main St. in Gooding, Idaho. Brayden, smaller than many his age, plays football and wrestles. If you didn't know, you couldn't tell he has a disease. He's got spunk, too.

But step into his room, and Glen points out a difference between Brayden and his 6-year-old brother, Ouinn.

"You see what is missing on this side of the room?" he said. "Trophies and ribbons. He doesn't have anything.

"Saturday is going to be his first, but he doesn't know it?" Ask Brayden how it feels to be 4, and he gives a quick answer - "bad."

He wants to be 7. That's the number painted on the side of his Power Wheel. It also happens to be the car number of Kris McKean, a prominent local racer who frequents the Magic Valley Speedway.

When McKean walked around the corner Saturday, Brayden ran to him, his Spiderman shoes pounding the metal stands, and hugged the racer's legs.

When Glen mentioned that Brayden didn't own a trophy, McKean decided to have a staged race so the boy could win against McKean, Jeff Peck and others in his Power Wheel, making him king for the day.

"I'm not doing it for me to look like a good person," McKean said. "I'm doing it for them to have something to look back on and think, 'That was pretty cool.'"

Brayden likes the bad guys. In Spiderman, he cheers for Venom, Peter Parker's nemesis.

Unfortunately, McKean said, some local race fans feel he fits that bill. When the Thorne family started coming to the speedway, Brayden began cheering for No. 7.

Wendell Woman Killed in Crash; 2 Children Injured

BY ALISON GENE SMITH alismith@magicvalley.com

JEROME • A 27-year-old Wendell woman died in a car crash Monday afternoon, which also injured two children in Jerome County.

Chasity Pearson was driving a Chevrolet Suburban east on West Road at 1:30 p.m., Idaho State Police said.

For unknown reasons, Pearson drifted into the oncoming lane at 375 West Road in Jerome County, said ISP Sgt. Mike Wendler.

Pearson's Suburban struck a trailer being towed by a Dodge Ram. The driver of the Dodge, John Cutler, 39, of Wendell, tried to avoid Pearson's vehicle but could not, Wendler said.

Wendler said the truck and trailer rolled and Pearson's vehicle came to a stop in the road.

Cutler's vehicle came to rest on its side on the right shoulder. A loader fell off the trailer and struck a gas line, causing a small gas leak.

Pearson was pronounced dead at the scene.

Cutler was not transported. Intermountain Gas responded to the scene and repaired the gas line.

It is unknown if Pearson was wearing her seatbelt. A 4-year-old girl riding in Pearson's vehicle was taken by air ambulance to a Boise hospital. A 2-yearold boy who was also riding in Pearson's vehicle was treated at St. Luke's Jerome Medical Center and released, Wendler said.

One child was restrained in a car seat. It is unknown if the other child was restrained. Cutler was wearing his seatbelt. Next of kin has been notified. Both lanes were blocked for approximately four hours.

Wendler said he couldn't confirm whether the children were related to Pearson.

As of Monday evening, ISP were still investigating the cause of the crash, he said.

The Jerome County Sheriff's Office, Jerome police, Gooding County Sheriff's Office, Jerome Fire Department, Air St. Luke's and Magic Valley Paramedics also responded.

Judge: CCA in Contempt for Prison Understaffing

BY REBECCA BOONE Associated Press

BOISE • A federal judge says private prison company Corrections Corporation of America is in contempt of court for persistently understaffing an Idaho prison in direct violation of a legal settlement.

U.S. District Judge David Carter made the ruling Monday in a lawsuit between inmates at the CCArun Idaho Correctional Center and the Nashville, Tenn.-based company.

Carter wrote that CCA ported," Carter wrote.

The American Civil Liberties Union sued on behalf of inmates at ICC in 2010, contending that the prison was so violent inmates dubbed it "Gladiator School." CCA denied the allegations but reached a settlement that required increased staffing levels and other operational changes.

That settlement was set to expire this month, but the ACLU asked the judge to extend it and find CCA in contempt for failing to abide by the agreement. CCA acknowledged earlier this year that its employees filed reports with the state that falsely showed 4,800 hours of vacant security posts as being staffed during 2012. But during the contempt of court hearing, witnesses revealed that number only included the night shift during a sevenmonth span. "It is clear that the noncompliance was far worse than the report of about 4,800 hours would lead one to believe," Carter wrote. " There is also no reason to believe the problem only began in April 2012 and was solved after October 2012. Indeed, even in the weeks prior to the contempt hearings, mandatory posts were still going unfilled – thus there remains persistent staffing pressure that is the backdrop to prison employees fabricating records. The difference today is that CCA may finally be presenting an accurate picture of its inability to fully staff its prison."

They didn't know who was in the car, but they all joined in.

"Someone out of the stands said, 'Why are you rooting for that guy?" Glen said.

"I remember at one point (Brayden's) dad got hit in the head with a lighter because he was cheering for me," McKean said.

A few years ago, the 23year-old McKean got on the wrong side of the law, driving a car into a liquor store. He said few have let him forget, including himself.

"Being young and dumb," he said. "It wasn't too long ago, but I was going through a harder time in my life and it just took a swift kick in the butt to get me going back in the right direction?

McKean said he is learning from his mistakes and realizes some people look up to him at home and on the track.

A quick bond develops between youngsters and their favorite racers. McKean never forgot one from his youth who drove a black and yellow car and gave out Batman stickers.

As a gift to one of his biggest fans, McKean took Brayden's big wheel, painted it black, added a No. 7 sticker and placed miniature sponsor logos all over it.

Doctors don't know if they will ever be able to fully correct Brayden's problem. Glen said he doesn't want to bring any extra attention to it.

"Because he really doesn't care about it, we just let him do what he wants to do," Glen said. "He's a rough and tough kind of kid, but he's ultra sensitive.

"When he was 3 years old," Glen said choking up. "He told me he didn't want any more surgeries. He's 3. What dad wants to hear that?"

McKean, who has two children, said he can't imagDREW NASH • TIMES-NEWS

ine what Glen is going through.

"He comes off a little overbearing, but I can't say I wouldn't be the same way in his situation," he said. "He's just trying to do what's best for his kids. You do what you can."

About 2 p.m. Saturday, Glen asked Brayden if he would let someone else race his car. Brayden, looking through the fencing, said, "No," and his father laughed.

His son, growing concerned, nudged him.

"Nothing is going to happen to your car," Glen said.

"That's your special car. See, it looks just like Kris's car." The two walked down to the track, and Glen let Brayden walk ahead. He grabbed a helmet McKean placed on his car, put it on, and struggled to lift his head. Racers, family, members of the media chuckled and took his photo.

Then Brayden got serious. "I'll take it easy on you," he told McKean, drawing more chuckles.

The engines started, the green flag waved, and off Brayden went. He crossed the finish line and didn't look back. He kept going. And going. And going until his father called him back.

"This is the coolest thing I have ever seen," Glen said.

Peck and McKean hung a ribbon around Brayden's neck and gave him a trophy. It said "Best Little Racer."

Grinning, Brayden rode back to the pits in Peck's car. Glen followed on foot, leaned against the railing and watched his son interact with the racers. The father couldn't stop smiling and talking about the race.

"Did you see the start?" Glen said. "He peeled out."

had ample reason to make sure it was meeting the staffing requirements at the prison, yet the level of understaffing was apparently far worse than the company originally acknowledged. He is appointing an independent monitor to oversee staffing at the prison, and says steep fines - starting at $100 an hour – will incur if the company violates the agreement again. The judge also rejected CCA's contention that the former warden and other company officials didn't know about the understaffing, saying that they had been warned of the staffing problems multiple times and at the very least failed to check it out.

"For CCA staff to lie on so basic a point – whether an officer is actually at a post – leaves the Court with serious concerns about compliance in other respects, such as whether every violent incident is re-

Twin Falls police had gone to Carlin, Nev., to serve warrants to the Rowes on Sept. 4. That led to a 20-mile off-road chase and ended when a police officer shot Jake Rowe after he allegedly pointed a rifle at officers.

He was treated at a Boise hospital before being taken to the Elko County Jail.

Linda Rowe told Campbell on Monday that she is unemployed and has no money to hire an attorney. The judge asked how she supports herself. Rowe said her family lives with her inlaws.

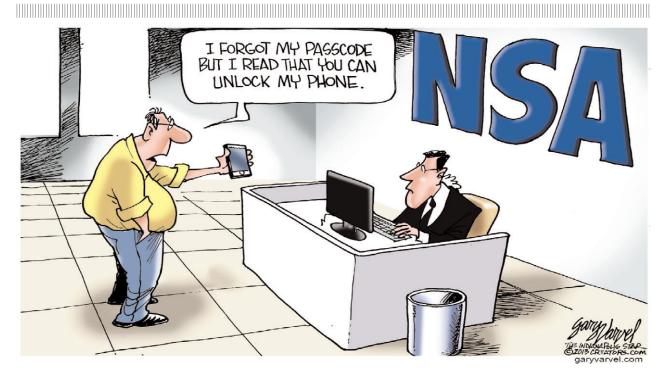

Campbell appointed the county public defender's office to represent Rowe in court.

Rowe is scheduled for a preliminary hearing Sept. 30. Prosecutors will try to prove they have enough evidence to take her to trial.

Jake Rowe still is being held on a $1 million bond in the Elko County Jail on suspicion of armed robbery. Prosecutors there could file new charges against him.

Idaho's Crown Prince Again Declares

t. Gov. Brad Little is announcing this week in a series of statewide appearances that he will ask the voters to renew his lease on the state's number two position.

They should, regardless of whom the Democrats may offer as the alternative. The former four-term state senator from Emmett has performed well, whether leading trade missions or greeting visitors to his office.

In this writer's opinion the 59-year-old Little is the best to hold the office since former state Sen. John V. Evans served as lieutenant governor to Cecil Andrus. That is saying something because Idaho has had a series of fine "governors in waiting," all of whom did the state solid service especially when called on to exercise the full power of the office of Governor when the sitting governor is out of state.

The list includes such luminaries as Phil Batt, David Leroy, Jack Riggs and Gov. C.L. "Butch" Otter. Others on the list include Bill Murphy, Mark Ricks and U.S. Sen. James Risch.

While the official duties are few – chair the State Senate, if necessary, break tie votes, and substitute for the governor especially when he is traveling out of state — there are numerous demands on the office. By all accounts, Little does his homework and performs well to the credit of the voters who conferred the public office on him.

The founders thought the position would be part-time, so the salary is a paltry $35,000 per year, but in today's demanding, competitive environment, it is increasingly a full-time job. Thus, many of those who have held the office often have had to supplement needed items from their own purse. Thus, almost all have been, or are, men of means.

Such is the case with Little. He is the owner and operator of a family cattle, farming and investment operation in the Treasure Valley and has served with quiet distinction on a number of boards and foundations. He is a former chairman of the state's most powerful and influential lobbying group, the Association of Idaho Commerce and Industry; and, a former president of the Idaho Woolgrower's Association. He wears cowboy boots, but in his case it is authentic and genuine. He projects an image of a well-educated rancher, which he is, having obtained his Bachelor's degree in Agribusiness from the University of Idaho. He is a thoughtful, solid conservative, not an ideologue nor someone who the tea party zealots currently plaguing Idaho's Republican Party would embrace.

Soft spoken, he has a fine sense of humor, is well read and can give thoughtful remarks with a country-boy eloquence that engages and enthralls his audience. His political future has always been bright, as he was the beneficiary of appointments to both his Senate seat and to the lieutenant governor's office.

Even his marriage to Teresa Soulen in 1978 carried the political advantage of uniting two of the state's most influential ranching families.

While his partisans and supporters may consider the wait for him to assume the office he seems destined for to be an overly long nine years, Gov. Otter himself pointed out that he had to bide his time for 14 years.

Little knows, though, there is no guaranteed path to his crown prince status automatically converting to the governor's crown someday. Popular as he is, it is doubtful in 2018 he would be crowned by acclimation.

The GOP has a strong bench, with at least four others having the skill and ability to be a good governor. Much as they individually may like Little, they could still mount credible challenges to his apparently inherited office.

These others include House Speaker Scott Bedke from Oakley; state Senate Majority Leader Bart Davis from Idaho Falls; state Sens. Dean Cameron from Rupert; and Shawn Keough from Sandpoint.

For now though, Brad Little is a lock to be re-elected and my advice to my good friend, Larry Kenck, chairman of the Idaho Democratic Party, is not to waste precious resources running anyone against him. He deserves to be returned to office and he has my vote. He should have yours, too.

Kellogg native Chris Carlson was the longtime press secretary for former four-term Gov. Cecil D. Andrus. He resides in Medimont in southern Kootenai County.

Review, Release and Repeat

The following editorial appeared in Monday's Washington Post:

h e National Security Agency is a huge organization of human beings with the same capacity to misunderstand, miscommunicate and misbehave as the rest of us.

That has been one lesson from months of revelations about the secretive intelligence organization. Nothing has demonstrated a J. Edgar Hoover-style conspiracy to abuse the extraordinary amount of information the NSA can access. But the revelations have underscored the importance of imposing more meaningful checks on the agency's activities.

The latest revelations date to 2009, when the Justice Department discovered that the NSA had improperly sorted through telephone call records, so-called metadata the government collects in bulk but is supposed to use only in certain circumstances. An "alert list" contained numbers that hadn't been vetted according to a legal standard agents must meet to justify NSA scrutiny. Though it appears that NSA agents still had to meet that standard to run intensive analysis on any phone numbers in the database, the disclosure infuriated Judge Reggie B. Walton, a member of the NSA's judicial overseer, the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court (FISC). Privacy restrictions "have been so frequently and systemically violated that it can fairly be said that this critical element of the overall [phone records] regime has never fully functioned effectively," he wrote, according to The Washington Post's article.

In a related filing, the NSA also admitted that its agents violated the rules at other points in the collection program, apparently because the agents didn't understand that they were working with that group of records. In other words, lacking a good understanding of how the complex systems worked and what the rules were and without satisfactory systems to protect sensitive records, the agency messed up.

Even when officials are well-trained, misuse is possible. That's a lesson from another story on government data gathering last week, about a 2010 incident in which investigators took a laptop, camera, phone and memory stick from David House, a supporter of Pentagon leaker Pfc. Bradley Manning. Newly released documents reveal that government agents — not in the NSA — put Mr. House's name on a border watch list "for questioning re leak of classified material" and instructed border agents to obtain his digital effects. They did not have a warrant, but the government has wide latitude to confiscate material at border crossings. That might make sense if you're taking legitimate steps to regulate the border, but not as a back-door method of confiscating Americans' memory sticks.

Both cases deserve Congress' scrutiny. Judge Walton's stinging rebuke indicates that the FISC isn't the "rubber stamp" some critics insist it is. Lawmakers should make sure the judges are deeply involved in overseeing the agency and that they have the opportunity to hear from adversarial voices challenging the government, particularly when important points of law are at stake.

The FISC on Friday ordered the government to release more of its still-classified rulings relating to bulk records collection. It should not have taken Edward Snowden's leaks to spur more transparency. Lawmakers should deal with the problem of overclassification across the government. President Obama, meanwhile, should give explicit instructions to a review board he convened. Weighing the effectiveness of government information-gathering programs against their privacy impact should be a top concern; Congress and the public should hear directly from the review board about striking that balance as Congress and the public consider reforms.

Public land Wildfire Practices a Hindrance

The "Rim Fire" which destroyed much of the Stanislaus Forest near Yosemite National Park is so named because of a sheer drop-off above the Tuolumne Rive on Highway 120 between Groveland and Yosemite Valley. A stone banister runs beside that part of the highway and is called by locals, "The Rim of the World."

I lived near that rim for many years. My parents were lookout-tower keepers nearby. My brothers were both firefighters and my husband and his brother were always the first heavy equipment operators called out on fires. When fires occurred, sawmills in the area immediately closed and the logging crews were sent to the fires, allowing them to be contained before becoming devastating crown fires.

In those days, logging and fire trails criss-crossed the forest, providing access so fire trucks could reach fires quickly. Loggers bucked limbs and piled them so the slash could be disposed of and not allowed to become excess fuel as logging thinned the forests, reducing fuel. Prisoners cleared gooseberry bushes to prevent bark-beetle infestation, making trees susceptible to fire. Local citizens gathered firewood, also reducing excess fuel.

The "Clinton Legacy Roadless Initiative" was foisted upon us and ecoterrorists were permitted to decimate the logging industry. All roads into the forest were closed so fire trucks cannot get to fires. Citizens cannot use their forests for picnics or firewood. Taxpayers pay for exercise equipment for inmates who are not allowed to do physicallabor, which could teach responsibility. The Forest Service is eradicating Bear Clover, the native ground cover, causing erosion while destroying habitat of all small forest animals.

Professional firefighters are now brought in from distant places, giving fires time to burn out of control and become more destructive. Without access roads, buckets of water are dumped from helicopters, an immensely expensive operation. It is reminiscent of the time when citizens passed buckets of water from the horse troughs to throw on a burning barn with about the same results.

Mere mismanagement? Hardly. Our founding fathers gave us a republic, not a monarchy or a dictatorship. Are we willing to keep our republic?

Dress Code Punishes Everyone

I am a seventh-grade student at O'Leary Middle School and would like to comment about the new dress code there.

Last year, there were a couple of girls that were not following the dress code, which was finger tip length. Now because of those few girls, the school district has decided to punish everyone. We now have to wear shorts and skirts to the knee. You can't find anything like that in local stores that is fashionable.

I have also seen the cheerleader uniforms that have been approved, yet they are still way too short for the normal dress code. Is that fair? Plus, does it really matter what we wear? It's not going to help or harm our education at all.

The firm estimated the remodel would cost about $210,000.

The department went out to bid and contractors came back with estimates of more than double that, Hicks said.

The lowest bid was just under $430,000.

"We were shocked, and that's a pleasant word for it," Rothweiler said.

The architecture company's estimate didn't take into account the cost of the type of lockers specified by the police department, he said

Hicks said the department had hoped to get lockers double the size of current ones that included a bench, drawer for personal items and a power outlet, which boosted the project's cost.

At the Sept. 9 meeting, City Council rejected all four bids.

Now, the city is looking at how best to address the department's needs at a lower cost, Rothweiler said.

Soon, city staff will begin the space analysis, but its unclear how long the process will take, Rothweiler said. The new review will include multiple city departments instead of only the cramped police department. The delay in the remodel doesn't make the space problem at the police station go away. The police department out grew its 37-year-old space 10 years ago, Hick said. Twin Falls has grown substantially in recent decades and the police force has expanded with it.

Many of the women employees are records clerks, dispatchers and other jobs that keep them in the office, he said.

Now, 24 women, plus four female patrol officers share one bathroom stall, while the 66 male officers on the force share two showers.

While every patrol officer gets a locker, that won't last long if the department continues to expand, Hicks said.

An officer's work space is their car and their locker, Hicks said, they have no desks to keep personal items.

The number of work stations for officers also would have tripled from five to 15, under the now scuttled plan. Now, at the end of shifts, officers often have to wait in line to complete their reports.

Still, these improvements only would have lasted five to 10 years at the current pace of expansion, Hicks said.

Fort Worth police arrested Alexis on Sept. 4, 2010, on a charge of discharging a firearm after an upstairs neighbor reported to police that a bullet came through her floor from the apartment below, where Alexis lived.

The neighbor said Alexis had called the police several times complaining she was being loud, and that several days earlier, Alexis had confronted her in the parking lot for making too much noise.

Alexis told police he did have a gun and was cleaning it when it went off, according to police records. There is no record immedi-

"The ones that were in the cafeteria with us, we all just looked at each other," she said. "At first they said let's just stay here in the cafeteria. I said no, I'm getting out. So everybody just started running out the side door."

Streets around the Navy Yard, in southeast Washington, remained closed. Police cars, tactical vehicles and emergency responders raced along M Street Southeast, with sirens blar ing.

Shortly after 3 p.m., the U.S. Senate initiated a lockdown for the following two hours as a precaution.

The Washington Nationals baseball team, whose stadium is several blocks from the Navy Yard, postponed its scheduled game Monday night against the Atlanta Braves. The game will be played as part of a day-night doubleheader on Tuesday, Major League Baseball said in a statement. Rear Admiral John Kirby, a spokesman for the Navy, said the buildings at the vard remain locked down. As a result of the incident, the Navy has ordered commanders to account for all personnel assigned to commands in the Washington area

"This is an active search scene," Kirby told reporters at the Pentagon. "This isn't over for law enforcement or for our people over there."

"He said that he was trying to clean his gun while cooking and that his hands were slippery," the police report states. "He told me that he began to take the gun apart when his hands slipped and pulled the trigger discharging a round into the ceiling"

Monday's shooting shut down streets around the Navy Yard throughout the day and employees remained indoors as police looked for suspects who may have conspired with Alexis in the attack.

Navy Commander Tim Jirus said he was in his fourth-floor office when the fire alarm went off and he fled to an alley outside. He stopped to speak with another man, whom he didn't know, when he heard what sounded like gun shots. He saw the man shot in the head.

"To hear the gun shots and realize you were that close makes me a little unnerved," Jirus, who works for Naval Sea Systems Command, told reporters outside the Navy Yard. "It makes me like life a lot today. I'm going to hug my kids the next time I see them?

Sports Editor David Bashore [208-735-3230 · dbashore@magicvalley.com]

Boise State's Beau Martin celebrates a play against Air Force Friday at Bronco Stadium in Boise.

MONDAY PRESSER

Role Reversal: Bulldogs Ranked, Broncos Underdogs

BY RYAN HOWE rhowe@magicvalley.com

BOISE • Friday night's much-anticipated matchup between Boise State and Fresno State just got a little bit more intriguing, as the Bulldogs cracked the USA Today Coaches Poll this week at No. 25.

It's the first time Fresno State has been ranked since 2008.

The game (7 p.m., ES-PN) has been billed as a marquee Mountain West matchup since the preseason, as the league's media picked Boise State and Fresno State to win their respective Mountain and West divisions, and predicted the teams would meet in the first-ever MW championship.

"That game is a great window into our conference; it's a nationally telepulling away in the second half for a 42-20 victory to open Mountain West play. CAN BSU PARK THE CARR?

Boise State's defense will face one of the best quarterbacks it will see all year. Fresno State senior Derek Carr, considered a potential first-round NFL draft pick, was the Mountain West Offensive Player of the Year last season and leads a group of seven returning starters on offense.

Carr set a MW record as a junior with 4,104 passing yards and is on pace to set the school's all-time career passing record, which has stood since 1986.

So far this season, in wins over Rutgers and Cal Poly, Carr has averaged 330.5 yards and four touchdowns per game, completing 71.2 percent of his throws. He's tossed only one interception and has been sacked once.

Ten Takeaways Boise Blossoming, Bulldogs Rested

BOISE • It's not often a college football team gets mentioned in the same sentence as Alabama, but with their 42-20 win against Air Force, the Broncos won their 14th straight conference opener. Only the Crimson Tide has a longer streak - 21.

Each Tuesday, the Times-News will look at 10 issues that occurred over the previous weekend which could affect Boise State's upcoming game.

A few topics the Times-News will investigate this week as Boise State prepares for Fresno State.

One: Bulldogs Breather

vised game," said secondyear Fresno State coach Tim DeRuyter during Mountain West media days in July. "...Ever since I got to Fresno, if there is one team everyone wants to beat, it's Boise.

"You look at what Boise State has done, they have been the standard bearer in the WAC and the Mountain West with their track history. If you want to be the champion you have to beat the champion."

Boise State and Fresno State – along with San Diego State - were cochampions of the Mountain West in 2012.

The Bulldogs are threepoint favorites, despite BSU having won seven in a row in this series, including the Bronco's 20-10 win last season in Boise. Fresno State hasn't beaten the Broncos since 2005.

"I like the fact that we're going to have them at home, that will give us a great chance," said DeRuyter. "They're not going to lay down to anybody. You have to beat them?

Fresno State (2-0) didn't play last week. It's scheduled road game at Colorado was postponed after severe weather and flooding.

Meanwhile, Boise State (2-1) took care of business at home against Air Force,

PLAYER OF THE WEEK

One player who would like to sack Carr on Friday is BSU redshirt junior defensive end Demarcus Lawrence, who received Mountain West Defensive Player of the Week honors after tying a career high with nine tackles against Air Force.

Despite missing the UT-Martin while serving a one-game suspension, Lawrence leads Boise State in tackles for loss this season with 3.5. Lawrence was a first-team All-Mountain West selection in 2012 and came into this season expected to lead an inexperienced Bronco defense that was replacing seven starters.

KICKOFF TIME

ESPN announced on Monday that BSU's home game against Southern Miss on Saturday, Sept. 28, will kick off at 8:15 p.m. The game will be broadcast on ESPNU.

A limited number of discounted tickets are still available for that game, as well as the Wyoming (Nov. 16) and New Mexico (Nov. 30) games. The discount is for $10 per ticket in the north end zone and $25 per ticket in select reserved seats in sections 101, 111 and 130.

Fresno State's game against resurgent Pac-12 Colorado was postponed due to flooding. The accidental bye week could have Fresno State rested or rusty.

Broncos head coach sees this Friday's opponent in the former.

"I can tell you this, I wish they had played," Petersen said.

Two: Defensive Discipline

Petersen was none too happy with linebacker Corey Bell and lineman Tyler Horn's personal foul penalties which extended Air Force drives in the competitive portion of Friday's game.

"The two personal fouls were poor football, poor judgment," Petersen said. "We have smarter guys than that. We talk about it, we work on those situations, and they are going to learn the hard way when we come back to practice."

Three: Ajayi and the Pickled Pigskin

Broncos star running back Jay Ajayi had four touchdowns Friday, but fumbled twice on the same rainsoaked possession, once with his gloves on and off.

"It was a great night, but at the same time those fumbles are unacceptable and bad," Ajayi said.

Ajayi, who hadn't fumbled

DREW NASH · TIMES-NEWS

Boise State's Aaron Burks takes a moment before their game against Air Force Friday at Bronco Stadium in Boise.

all season previous to his twofumble drive, couldn't remember the last time he played in the rain.

He said Friday night was a "learning experience" for proper wet ball mechanics.

"It was a mental thing where I just had to have a short term memory and bounce back," Petersen said.

Ajay was temporarily pulled out of the game for Aaron Baltazar before returning into two-back formations, later scoring his fourth touchdown.

"I will say this, if he does it again though, we have a bunch of other backs, and he won't come back," Petersen said. "You better hang on to that football. That is gamechanging."

The power/speed 'back with six touchdowns and 5.3 yards per carry average knows to heed Petersen's warning.

"I knew right away I was going to get benched," Ajayi said. "We always harp on it in the running back room that we have to hold on to the ball."

Ajay later added in jest that he was happy Petersen didn't double as the running backs coach.

Four: Slow Defensive Starts

Through three games the Broncos defense has given up 34 points in the first half, while largely shutting out

Air Force and Tennessee-Martin in the second halves.

Next week, Boise State can't wait a half to re-calibrate to an explosive Bulldogs passing offense.

"(The first half) was very frustrating," linebacker Ben Weaver said. "We came back inside; we made a little bit of changes and corrected a few different things. But mainly just swarmed to the ball, everyone did their assignments."

Added defensive tackle Ricky Tjong-A-Tjoe: "The first half we were feeling (Air Force) out a little bit to see how they play."

MLB Mariners Lose to Tigers

DETROIT (AP) . Joe Saunders was much better against Detroit than he was in his previous start.

Then the Tigers finally broke through in the sixth inning – a frustrating finish for the veteran lefthander.

Victor Martinez hit a tiebreaking single in the sixth, and Omar Infante followed with his own RBI single to chase Saunders and help Detroit to a 4-2 victory over Seattle on Monday night. The Mariners have lost seven of eight.

"Everyone hates losing,"Justin Smoak said. "We've been in tight ballgames and haven't been able to get the big hit."

TIMES-NEWS

Rick Porcello struck out 10 in six innings for Detroit, which moved a step closer to its third straight AL Central title. Porcello (13-8) allowed a run and five hits with two walks, falling one strikeout short of his career high. Drew Smyly got five outs in relief and Jose Veras finished the eighth.

Seahawks Rely on Lynch in 29-349ers Blowout

Seattle Seahawks' Marshawn Lynch (24) runs for a touchdown against the San Francisco 49ers in the game Sunday in Seattle.

SEATTLE (AP) • Richard Sherman celebrated by dancing with cheerleaders, Marshawn Lynch cut, plowed and strolled his way to three touchdowns, and Pete Carroll got one rousing birthday gift.

The awaited NFC West showdown between the Seattle Seahawks and San Francisco 49ers was a one-sided rout.

Lynch scored on touchdown runs of 14 and two yards, and added a seven-yard TD reception in the second half, Seattle flustered Colin Kaepernick into his worst passing game as a starter, and the Seahawks dominated in a 29-3 win Sunday night.

Seattle Sets Stadium Noise Record

SEATTLE (AP) • The fan group attempting to set a Guinness World Records mark for loudest stadium says it has established a record during Sunday night's game between the Seattle Seahawks and San Francisco 49ers.

The group, called Volume 12, announced on its Facebook page it had set the mark late in the first quarter. The decibel reading taken during a sack of San Francisco quarterback Colin Kaepernick in the first quarter — following a one hour weather delay – was 131.9 decibels.

The previous record for `loudest crowd roar at a sports stadium," was 131.76 decibels, set in 2011 in Turkey at the Ali Sami Yen Sport Complex Turk Telekom Arena during a soccer match between Galatasaray SC and Fenerbahce. The group footed the bill for the Guinness World Records official to come to Seattle and wasn't affiliated with the team.

Kam Chancellor intercepted Kaepernick midway through the fourth quarter, returning the pick to the San Francisco 2 and leading to Lynch's third TD.

Then there was Sherman, Seattle's ultra-confident All-Pro, who intercepted Kaepernick's deep sideline pass for Davis with about 13 minutes remaining. He celebrat ed his first interception of the season by dancing with the Seahawks cheer squad. Steven Hauschka kicked a 37-yard field goal, and the Seahawks' lead was 22-3 with 11:31 left.

"He should probably stay at cornerback," Seattle wide receiver Golden Tate joked about Sherman. "I don't see a future in that."

USA Football

Announces 10-member Medical Comittee

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) • Seattle Seahawks team doctor Dr. Stanley Herring will be the chairman of USA Football's new medical advisory committee.

The organization, based in Indianapolis, has spearheaded a national plan to make the game safer for youth football players. The new group will collaborate with other USA Football committees, national governing bodies and medical organizations. Joining Herring on the committee are Dr. John Bergfeld of the Cleveland Clinic; Dr. Douglas Casa of the University of Connecticut; Dr. Jonathan Drezner of the University of Washington; Dr. Gerard Gioia of Children's National Medical Center in Washington; Dr. Andrew Gregory of Vanderbilt University; Dr. Tamerah Hunt of Ohio State; Dr. Patrick Kersey, medical director of USA Football; Dr. Margot Putukian of Princeton University and Dr. Gail Rosseau of the NorthShore Medical Group in Chicago.

and 208 yards, was targeted just once in the first three quarters. His only catch came with 9:40 remaining.

Boldin was shadowed most of the night by Sherman. It was a request Sherman made following Boldin's big day a week ago and with the Seahawks minus their other starting cornerback Brandon Browner.

"I asked Coach for the challenge," Sherman said. "I wanted to follow him. There were a lot of things said this week."

The 49ers finished with five turnovers and no TDs in a game for the third time since the start of 1979 season.

"I don't think any of us are proud of our performance," San Francisco coach Jim Harbaugh said.

Leading 5-0 at halftime after a wacky first half of delays and points coming via safety and a field goal, Seattle started the second half going to Lynch. He carried on the first four plays, and when Seattle faced third-and-12, Wilson scrambled and bought time for Doug Baldwin to get open downfield for a 51-yard reception to the 20. After a penalty backed up the Seahawks to the 14, Lynch took an inside

"Every game we feel like we should dominate, and we did," Seattle safety Earl Thomas said.

The game was delayed 60 minutes late in the first quarter when thunderstorms blew through the area. The highly anticipated matchup was sloppy as opposed to sensational, but Lynch more than did his part.

Lynch finished with 135 total vards, including 98 vards rushing, to make up for quarterback Russell Wilson hitting on just two of his first 10 throws and Seattle's receivers struggling to get open. His TD run on the first drive of the second half gave the Seahawks a 12-0 lead. His TD catch pushed the advantage to 19-3 early in the fourth quarter.

"We are dedicated to running the ball and we are going to keep working until we really own it, and we don't own the running right now like we can. We'll get better at it," Carroll said.

This won't be a game noted for efficiency or execution by either side. There were careless turnovers and untimely penalties. But that was expected between these nasty rivals and the favorites not just in their division but as potential NFC representatives in the Super Bowl.

And it was the Seahawks getting an early, important advantage over the 49ers.

"We did what we expected to. I think you guys expected something different. I think you guys expected something a little more Kaepernick-y," Sherman said. "We didn't expect any of that. We expect guys to play discipline ball."

Kaepernick failed to get anything going in the passing game, unable to break down Seattle's stellar secondary. He was intercepted in the end zone in the first quarter when Earl Thomas hauled in a deflected pass intended for Vernon Davis. That was the only time the 49ers threatened to score a touchdown.

And just because Carroll can't stop competing, he challenged and won the Seahawks another turnover following a kickoff fumble with 4:15 left and the Seahawks leading by 26.

Wilson finished 8 of 19 passing for 142 yards, one of the worst games in his young career. Kaepernick was 13 of 28 for 127 yards passing, and he ran for another 87 yards. His three interceptions matched his entire season total from 2012. Frank Gore was held to just 16 yards on nine carries, and Anguan Boldin, who tortured Green Bay last week for 13 catches handoff and darted nearly untouched for his first touchdown of the season.

Seattle extended the lead later in the half thanks to a careless personal foul penalty from Aldon Smith, slapping the helmet of Seattle's Breno Giacomini behind the play after Zach Miller and the Seahawks were stopped short on third-and-28. Given another chance, Wilson stayed in the pocket against blitzing safety Craig Dahl on third-and-4 to find Lynch wide open in the left flat. Lynch took a few steps toward the end zone, stopped and waited, and finally crossed the goal line, pushing the lead to 22-3.

Five: Prodigious Passing = Bad Secondary Play?

Boise State's offensive production under quarterback Joe Southwick the last two weeks has been off the charts, comparing favorably to any of the units the last 13 vears.

But have the numbers been largely inflated due to porous secondaries?

Southwick has had lots of cushion to make completions. Against the Skyhawks, he underthrew receivers downfield, resulting in pass interference penalties. Last Friday he was bailed on a few his intermediate and deep throws by his receivers.

"I'm sure there is still some stuff we won't be proud of and we have to get ready for Fresno," Southwick said.

Six: Beaten at the Point of Attack

The Broncos defense has not been befuddled by misdirection this year. When things have gone bad, it's been because the unit's been out-manned around the line of scrimmage. Coach Petersen said the tackling issues of the first two games related to offensive players getting Broncos defenders in space. That only happens if they get there first.

"In the second half (the defensive line) started to show up and exert themselves a little bit and that is when things change," Petersen said. "Our guys just settled down and inside got a little (stouter) and a little more knock-off,"

Seven: Tight-End Depletion

In three games, Boise State tight-ends have three receptions. Long a staple of a coach Petersen led offense, Broncos tight-ends have struggled to find a niche in the new offense.

Now, No.2 tight-end Holden Huff will be out at least a week with a foot injury. At times against Air Force, the Broncos lined up in three tight-ends. Don't expect that against the Bulldogs. Junior Connor Peters will take Huff's place.

Eight: Shane Williams-Rhodes Watch

Against Washington, Shane Williams-Rhodes had a combined two rushes and receptions. Against the Falcons and Skyhawks, he had a total of 14. Coach Petersen said he doesn't want to put a strict number on how many times Shane Williams-Rhodes touches the ball, but a repeat from week one seems unlikely after the last two showings. Will SWR get more?

Nine: Fresno's Time

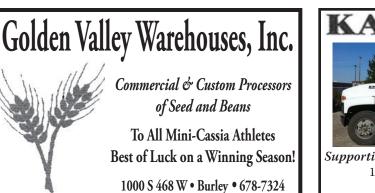

With a week off, the Bulldogs have had plenty of time to consider the importance of Friday's game. The Bulldogs haven't won the Milk Can since 2005.

"There is one team people in this valley want to beat, and it's (Boise State)," Bulldogs coach Tim DeRuyter said Monday.

Many have predicted the Bulldogs to beat the Broncos this year and take the Mountain West Conference championship.

Ten: Secondary Un-Tested

The Broncos much-maligned secondary hasn't faced a passing offense since they were torched by Washington. The Bulldogs passing offense is probably better than the Huskies. If Boise State is going to pull the upset, it will have to show improvement from week one. They haven't had many live game repetitions to improve.

Pittsburgh Steelers quarterback Ben Roethlisberger (7) escapes a sack by Cincinnati Bengals defensive end Michael Johnson (93) in the second half of an NFL football game, Monday, in Cincinnati.

Rookie Bernard Leads Bengals over Steelers 20-10

ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI • An elusive rookie made all the difference by darting through the Steelers' defense.

Running back Giovani Bernard scored his first two NFL touchdowns, one of them on a short pass that he turned into a 27-yard score, and the Cincinnati Bengals beat Pittsburgh 20-10 on Monday night, extending the Steelers' early misery.

The second-round draft pick had a 7-yard touchdown run in the first half before turning a short pass from Andy Dalton into a third-quarter score - a preview of what the Bengals (1-1) could become with a passcatching threat out of the backfield.

First-round pick Tyler Eifert also had a big play, making a 61-yard catch that set up Bernard's touchdown run.

The Bengals piled up 407 yards on one of the NFL's toughest defenses, holding the ball for more than 35 done in by another game of self-destruction on offense. The Steelers had two turnovers in scoring range and couldn't hold the ball long enough to give their defense a breather, failing to get a first down on seven of their 12 possessions.

It was a chance for the Bengals to show they've supplanted the Steelers in the AFC North. They beat Pittsburgh 13-10 at Heinz Field last December to reach the playoffs, and now have moved ahead of them again with a rare Monday night win.

Cincinnati is 10-20 in Monday night games.

The Bengals put the ball in the Dalton's hands in the first half, letting him pass away while they all but abandoned the run against one of the NFL's top defenses. Dalton had an upand-down game, finishing 25 of 45 for 280 yards. He was one attempt shy of career high.

Cincinnati's rookies provided the big plays.

yard catch. Bernard finished the long drive with a 7-yard run, his first touchdown in the NFL, for the early lead.

The Steelers needed to get their offense moving after a horrid opener. They ran for only 32 yards and Ben Roethlisberger was sacked five times during a 16-9 home loss to Tennessee. Worse, the Steelers lost Pro Bowl center Maurkice Pouncey for the rest of the season with a torn knee ligament. Fernando Velasco, signed a week earlier, started in his place Monday.

They weren't significantly better in Cincinnati.

Roethlisberger got Pittsburgh's offense moving in spurts. He completed all five of his passes on a touchdown drive that pulled the Steelers into a 10-all tie at halftime, including completions of 19 and 43 yards to Emmanuel Sanders.

Shaun Suisham kicked a 44-yard field goal, and the Steelers had a chance to add to the lead in the first half.

game's first turning point.

Pinned at their 3-yard line after a punt, the Steelers drove into scoring position. Roethlisberger completed a 34-yard pass to tight end David Paulson, who fumbled the ball as he was tackled. Adam "Pacman" Jones forced the fumble and recovered it at the Cincinnati 13-yard line.

Another of Roethlisberger's passes went off Jerricho Cotchery's hands and was picked off at the Bengals 13yard line in the fourth quarter, essentially sealing it. Roethlisberger finished 20 of 37 for 251 yards.

The most intriguing question: Could Steelerturned-Bengal James Harrison leave a mark on Pittsburgh's mess of an offense?

The linebacker left Pittsburgh after last season when they couldn't agree on a restricted deal. The former NFL defensive player of the year took his scowl 300 miles down the Ohio River to a team that's trying to supplant the Steelers in the AFC

Zach Johnson Rallies to Win BMW Championship

ASSOCIATED PRESS

LAKE FOREST, Ill. • Zach Johnson is having a September to remember, and there's still one very big week to go.

In one tournament, he made a 25-foot birdie putt on his final hole to earn the last spot on the Presidents Cup team. In the next one, Johnson made a bunch of big putts in the final round of the rain-delayed BMW Championship for a 6-under 65 for a two-shot victory over Nick Watney.

Next up?

His win Monday at Conway Farms gave Johnson the No. 4 seed going into Tour Championship, giving him a clear shot at the FedEx Cup and its $10 million prize.

"It's hard to grasp the last two weeks of golf," Johnson said. "It's not like you have to win every week to win that FedEx Cup. You've just got to win at the right times, or play well at the right times. And I like the momentum I have for next week."

Johnson's 10th career win came at the expense of Jim Furyk, who endured another dose of finalround disappointment. Furyk, who had a one-shot lead, has failed to win the last six times he had at least a share of the lead going into the last round. He holed a 12-foot birdie putt at No. 10 to build a two-shot lead, but played the last eight holes in 2-over and wound up with a 71 to finish alone in third.

Furyk had to settle for slice of history Friday as the sixth player in PGA Tour history with a 59. Only three players in that exclusive club went on to win Al Geiberger is the only player to win when the 59 was not in the final round.

"I don't know if I used them all up on Friday and knocked them all in or what, but I just wasn't able to get the putts to go," Furyk said.

Johnson wasn't the only player who felt like a winner Monday.

Luke Donald, a member at Conway Farms, was No. 54 in the FedEx Cup and was on the verge of being left out of the top 30 players who advanced to the Tour Championship. He ran off four straight birdies on the back nine, atoned for a bogey on No. 16 with a birdie on the 17th, and then saved par from a bunker on the 18th hole for a 66 to tie for fourth. That moved him up to No. 29 to get him into East Lake. Watney was at No. 34, and he went from playing his way into the top 30 to nearly winning the tournament. Watney closed with a 64 and was tied for the lead until Johnson made an 18-foot birdie putt out of the first cut on the 16th hole, and a 12-footer for birdie on the next hole.

"The guys ahead of me were ahead of me for a reason – they've been playing well all year," Watney said. "Luckily for me, I kind of pulled everything together."

The FedEx Cup points will be reset, meaning the top five only have to win the Tour Championship to capture the cup.

Tiger Woods will be the No. 1 seed, though he doesn't go there with much momentum. Woods started the final round in cool, breezy conditions just four shots behind and was never a factor after missing a short par putt on the opening hole. He closed with a 71 and tied for 11th, seven shots behind.

"It was not a very good putting week," Woods said, who was coming off a tie for 65th on the TPC Boston. "It's just one of those weeks where I just didn't have it."

Henrik Stenson, a winner in Boston and angry enough in Chicago that he snapped off the head of his driver during the final round, will be the No. 2 seed at East Lake, followed by Masters champion Adam Scott, Johnson and Matt Kuchar.

Steve Stricker, who played in the final group with Johnson, was one shot off the lead when he started the back nine bogey-double bogey. He closed with a 72, a round that cost him one of the top five seeds.

Furyk had company in his misery.

Matt Jones of Australia had a chance to get to the Tour Championship which, in effect, would have put him in the four majors next year - but his 8-foot birdie putt on the last hole hit the lip. That cost him a spot in the top 30.

Harris English was at No. 28 and might have caught the worst break of them all. In a driving rain Sunday, he lost the grip on his tee shot and pulled it into grass so thick the ball was never found. The horn to stop play sounded a minute later, and English went back out Monday morning to No. 8 to play his third shot on the par 5. He wound up with a double bogey, never found momentum and fell out of the top 30 by two shots.

NCAA Won't Budge on Paying College Athletes

ASSOCIATED PRESS

MILWAUKEE • The structure of the NCAA could look very different by this time next year as members try to resolve the growing disparity between big-money schools and smaller institutions.

What won't change, however, is the amateur status of the players who make college athletics a billion-dollar business.

"One thing that sets the fundamental tone is there's very few members and, virtually no university president, that thinks it's a good idea to convert student-athletes into paid employees. Literally into professionals," NCAA President Mark Emmert said Monday at Marquette University. "Then you have something very different from collegiate athletics. One of the guiding principles (of the NCAA) has been that this is about students who play sports."

Emmert and the NCAA have had a turbulent year, with money the source for most of the discontent. After Heisman Trophy winner Johnny Manziel was investigated for allegedly receiving money for autographs – he was cleared – Time magazine put him on the cover along with the headline "It's Time to Pay College Athletes." Oklahoma State is investigating whether rules were broken after a series of Sports Illustrated stories that alleged cash payments to players and academic misconduct.

The NCAA is also facing an antitrust lawsuit from former players who believe they're owed millions of dollars in compensation.

"(There's) enormous tension right now that's growing between the collegiate model and the commercial model," said Emmert, who spoke as part of Marquette's "On the Issues" forum. "And, by the way, this is nothing new. This tension has been going on forever and ever. It has gotten greater now because the magnitude of dollars has gotten really, really large.

"The most valuable (television) products are things you have to watch in real time, and that's sports and 'Dancing with the Stars,"' he added. "So we're seeing an explosion in the value of sports media properties and that's injected a lot of revenue into sports. ... That's led to a lot of the discussion. This whole notion of, first and foremost, treating student-athletes in fair fashion while still maintaining the student-athlete, is at the core of all of this."

One way to address that would be by allowing athletes to turn pro straight out of high school, Emmert said, something the NBA and NFL don't allow. Other professions don't impose an "artificial juncture," he said, noting that ballet dancers don't have to take a detour to college before joining a troupe. He also pointed to baseball's two-track model.

Players can turn pro out of high school. If they choose to go to college, however, they must stay until after their third year or they turn 21.

"It's a dynamic tension that we really need to work on because it's at heart of part of what talking about here," he said. "Why would we want to force someone to go to school when they really don't want to be there? But if you're going to come to us, you're going to be a student."

While there may not be interest in paying players, the NCAA's Division I Board of Directors has twice approved a rules change that would allow schools to give athletes a stipend to cover expenses not covered by their scholarship - clothes, travel, meals out with their friends. But the full membership has overridden it, with some smaller schools saying they were not interested or did not have the money to pay stipends.

Lee Westwood also fell out of the Tour Championship with a poor week.

Johnson put his postseason in jeopardy by skipping the opening FedEx Cup playoff event to attend his brother's wedding. He was at No. 27 before he arrived for the BMW Championship and started the week just wanting to make sure he was in Atlanta.

He did that and more, giving him 10 wins in his 10 years on the PGA Tour.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Legislative Policy Summit Today for Chamber Businesses

TWIN FALLS • The Idaho Chamber Alliance, in partnership with the Twin Falls, Mini-Cassia and Jerome Chambers of Commerce, will hold a Legislative Policy Summit from 8:30-11:30 a.m. today at the Twin Falls Center for the Arts, 195 River Vista Place. The purpose is to share legislative priorities of local businesses, chambers of commerce, and the statewide business association for the upcoming 2014 legislative session.

The summit provides a great opportunity for business owners and operators to come together on public policy issues. We can then develop strategies to promote those issues to our elected officials to help businesses grow and strengthen Idaho's economy.

The summit will include a discussion of local-option sales tax authority with Assistant Senate Majority Leader Chuck Winder, who has been researching proposals that could expand local governments' ability to work with voters to assess local sales taxes to fund needed projects.

Also to be discussed are Idaho's transportation funding needs and possible legislative solutions with Sen. Bert Brackett, chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee, and Rep. Clark Kauffman, member of the House Transportation and Defense Committee.

The event will wrap up with a preview of what is expected during the coming legislative session from John Watts, legislative advisor for the Idaho Chamber Alliance. He also will lead a discussion to gather input from business leaders about their priority issues.

But summit is free, but advance registration is requested. To sign up, call the Twin Falls Area Chamber of Commerce at 208-733-3974, the Mini-Cassia Chamber of Commerce at 208-679-4793, or the Jerome Chamber of Commerce at 208-324-2711.

Canyon Park West in T.F. Gets First Tenant

BY JOE CADOTTE jcadotte@magicvalley.com

TWIN FALLS • After months of anticipation and rumors about big-box stores and restaurants moving into the 200,000-square-foot Canyon Park West outdoor mall, the Idaho Central Credit Union has become the mall's first official tenant.

The credit union plans to move to the canyon-rim mall as it works to more than double its presence in Twin Falls, said CEO Kent Oram. Idaho Central's current location on Pole Line Road has the "biggest asset size" of 20 credit union locations in the state, he said.

Room for customers is running out at the current location, he said.

"We have a lot of traffic issues," Oram said. "It seems like we're full and busy every second. It will take that pressure away so we can take better take care of folks."

The city already has issued a special use permit for Idaho Central to operate a drive-through window in Canyon Park West, said Mitch Humble, of the Twin Falls Building Department. "That's one of the first steps before they'll get a building permit," Humble said.

The city issued a building permit for another credit union location at Addison Avenue and Eastland Drive on Sept. 3. That 4,800square-foot office will open next spring, Oram said.

Opening day of Idaho Central's 5,800-square-foot canyon location is not yet known, he said, but once both new locations are complete, the Idaho Central Credit Union will close its doors on Pole Line Road.

When the projects are done, the company will have more than quadrupled its space and will be able to provide twice the services, Oram said.

"Twin Falls for about five years running has been growing very quickly for us, so it's definitely a reflection of economics," he said.

Once complete, Canyon Park West will have six anchor shops, 19 mediumsized shops, 28 small shops and two restaurants.

An email from Canyon Park West's developer, Tina Luper, said she cannot confirm tenants other than the credit union.

Wildfires to Submit Information

BOISE • Small, nonfarm businesses affected by the 2013 Beaver Creek and Elk Complex fires should submit information to the Idaho Department of Commerce so it can request a disaster declaration from the U.S. Small Business Administration.

Such a declaration would make disaster loans available to small businesses with working capital needs caused by the fires.

The state needs five or more small businesses in Ada, Blaine, Boise, Butte, Camas, Custer, Elmore, Gooding, Owyhee, Lincoln, Minidoka and Owyhee counties to complete and submit the state Department of Commerce SBA's Economic Injury Worksheet.

The worksheet can be found at commerce.idaho.gov under the "Communities" tab. Forms can be downloaded and sent by fax to 208-334-2631, by email to jerry.miller@commerce.idaho.gov or mailed to Jerry Miller, Idaho Department of Commerce, P.O. Box 83720, Boise, ID 83720-0093.

Agricultural businesses are not eligible for the SBA program but may seek help from their county's Farm Service Agency representative of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Small businesses are asked to submit their worksheets as soon as possible so help can be targeted to areas with the greatest needs.

New FSA Guaranteed Loan Limit

Effective Oct. 1, the limit for loans guaranteed by the Farm Service Agency will be $1,355,000.

The limit is adjusted annually based on the "Prices Paid to Farmers Index" compiled by the National Agricultural Statistics Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The increased limit will boost FSA's ability to meet the credit needs of American farmers and ranchers, the agency announced.

Feds: Banks Can Keep Working with Online Lenders

Online lenders, rocked since a March announcement by the U.S. Financial Fraud Enforcement Task Force that it would focus on web-based lenders and the Automated Clearing Houses that process their loans, gained much needed stability this week as regulators appeared to soften their position.

The Online Lenders Alliance gained assurances from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) that the agency is not attempting to interfere with the business of online short-term lending or the companies that process their transactions so long as they operate in compliance with regulations.

WASHINGTON • A potential federal shutdown looming, President Barack Obama on Monday warned congressional Republicans they could trigger national "economic chaos" if they demand a delay of his health care law as the price for supporting continued spending for federal operations.

House Republican leaders were to meet Tuesday in hopes of finding a formula that would avoid a shutdown on Oct. 1 without alienating party conservatives who insist on votes to undercut the Affordable Care Act. Even more daunting is a mid- to late-October deadline for raising the nation's borrowing limit, which some Republicans also want to use as leverage against the Obama administration.

"Are some of these folks really so beholden to one extreme wing of their party that they're willing to tank the entire economy just because they can't get their way on this issue?" Obama said in a speech at the White House. "Are they really willing to hurt people just to score political points?"

The Republicans don't see it that way.

House Speaker John Boehner, who opposes the threat of a shutdown, said, rise above partisanship today." Obama, said Boehner, "should be working in a bipartisan way to address America's spending problem, the way presidents of both parties have done before," and should delay implementation of the health care law.

While some conservatives supported by the tea party have been making shutdown threats, Sen. Rand Paul of Kentucky said Monday that was "a dumb idea." At a community meeting in Louisville, he said, "We should fight for what we believe in and then maybe we find something in between the two. ... I am for the debate, I am for fighting. I don't want to shut the government down, though. I think that's a bad solution?

Magic Valley Residents Have Unclaimed Property

When people move, divorce, close bank accounts or make other lifestyle changes, they sometimes leave behind forgotten property. Unclaimed property usually means money — checking or savings accounts, stock dividends, mutual funds and utility refunds. Or it can be things left in safety deposit boxes or at hotels or hospitals, items such as coins, gems, jewelry and stamps.

Honest businesses surrender those assets to the state, which tries to reunite the stuff with its owner or heirs. The Idaho Treasurer's Office provided this sampling of 75 people who own unclaimed property valued at more than $100. Their last known addresses are in south-central Idaho. But many other people are on the list, too. Be proactive by searching for your name at the office's website, sto.idaho.gov.

My interests in dentistry revolve around the importance of oral health and how it affects the overall wellness of my patients and the importance of educating parents," Bybee said.

Southern Idaho Health Underwriters Receive Pacesetter Award

TWIN FALLS • Southern Idaho Health Underwriters recent ly received the Pacesetter Award at the National Association of Health Underwriters' (NAHU) 83rd Annual Convention and Exhibition in Atlanta.

The association was recognized nationally and received NAHU's Pacesetter Award based on its attendance at national and regional meetings, chapter management, holding local meetings and events, communications, membership activities and growth, public service projects, media relations and continuing education.

"The leadership of NAHU members has a far-reaching impact on providing for the health-care needs of individuals, families and business in their communities. We are grateful for the Southern Idaho Health Underwriter's hard work and recognize them with this well-deserved award," said NAHU CEO Janet Trautwein in a news release.

"Southern Idaho Health Underwriters exemplify the dedication to providing the best opportunities for our members," said Kim Pullin, company president. "This year, our chapter organized a charity bowling fundraiser for the Twin Falls Senior Center meals delivery program, hosted 10 educational and training meetings for local insurance agents, and helped to further our members' educational and professional development efforts. These projects and many others have set a standard of excellence in the health insurance industry that we are proud to represent."

The National Association of Health Underwriters represents 100,000 professional health insurance agents and brokers who provide insurance for millions of Americans. For more information, please call David V. Wilcox at 208-733-2528, visit www.iahu.org, or email david@magicvalleyinsurance.com.

Association has led the opposition to federal regulation claiming consumers need short-term loans, tribes need the revenue for essential services, and federal regulators were infringing on their sovereign immunity.

Lisa McGreevy, president of the Online Lenders Alliance, told members she met with officials from the FDIC last week to discuss how the federal investigation into the industry misled some banks to believe they were under orders to stop processing such loans.

Jane Larimer, executive vice president and general counsel of NACHA, the Electronic Payments Association, wrote: "Our inquiry should not be taken as a direction to [ACH processor] to cease processing payments for online lenders engaged in legal lending activity."

Among the owners of online lending companies are at least 15 federally-recognized Native American tribes. The tribes have further argued that the federal government does not have the authority to regulate legal businesses that are operated by tribes because they are sovereign entities.

The FDIC has reported that some 65 million Americans have credit access problems and lack sufficient income to survive short-term emergencies. Congress has supported short-term lending, also called payday lending, in an effort to give low-income workers access to loans they cannot get from traditional banks.

Caller ID Helps Protect against Scam Artists

IDAHO FALLS • After her first attempt to stop a would-be con artist from taking $800, Yolanda Hernandez of Idaho Falls didn't expect more calls.

"He said to win the $1 million and Mercedes, I needed to pay taxes that I would get back," Hernandez said. "I was supposed to get a Green Dot card and he would call me back."

He called back, and Hernandez was ready. She read off a series of number she'd made up.

"When he said there should be more numbers, I told him there were not any more," she said. "That's when he hung up."

The call had come from an 876 - area code in Jamaica. Being prepared saved her from being scammed.

But scam artists now get through your caller ID by "vishing", short for "voice phishing," the Better Business Bureaus warn. They use Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP) phones to steal people's financial information. Some "vishers" use automated dialing programs, so the caller ID device may list a legitimate-looking local phone number.

The BBB recommends:

 Keep your number to yourself. Any time you divulge your telephone number to a retailer, financial institution or other business, it is a tacit invitation for them to call that number or sell it to a third party.

 Hang up right away. Recorded marketing (robo) calls typically begin with a second or two of silence. There is nothing to gain from attempting to reason with the people behind the calls.

• Ask your telephone provider if it can provide free blocking services for annoying telemarketing calls.

• If the call is a recording, do not press 1 or any other numerals to "get yourself off the list." By pressing a number, you are confirming that someone is responding to the call, and you will likely receive more of them.

• Consider registering your home and cell phone numbers with the National Do Not Call Registry. The web address is donotcall.gov and the phone number is 888-382-1222.

RUPERT • A new law office, Anthon Darrington PLLC, has been opened in Rupert by Brett Anthon and Matt Darrington, Declo natives and longtime residents of the Mini-Cassia area.

"We worked together in another firm, and so we both understand how the other works, and our values line up," Anthon said.

"Rupert has a lot to offer,"

Darrington said. "Our building is in an ideal spot, and Mini-Cassia is a great place for business. We're happy to be a part of the community."

"It was a good business opportunity," said Anthon. "We moved into a building that was vacant and that had been a law office before. Now we're making our own managerial decisions and it's been great."

The new office, at 601 Seventh St., is near the Rupert Square, the Post Office and the Minidoka County Courthouse.

The lawyers have hired a full-time secretary and a part-time bookkeeper.

"I'm excited about Rupert," said Anthon. "It's a great location, and there is good forward, positive motion here."

Anthon focuses on family law; specializing in divorce, adoption and other family services. Darrington's specialties are collections, civil litigation and business formation. Both also offer personal injury services, Darrington said.

The lawyers previously worked for the Robinson, Anthon and Tribe law firm.

"It was wonderful working for them," Darrington said. "It helped to build experience and then bring that experience into the new0 office."

The lawyers said they hope to bring the Mini-Cassia area cost-effective and reliable legal services.

UN Report: Sarin Was Used in Syria

UNITED NATIONS (AP) Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon has presented the Security Council with a report by a U.N. expert team on a chemical weapons attack in Syria last month that he says "makes for chilling reading." It found that sarin nerve gas-filled rockets were fired into the Damascus suburb of Ghouta but did not say who launched the attacks.

Here are the highlights of the U.N. report:

Evacuees Return to Heartbreak

While rescuers drop supplies for the stranded and serach for the hundreds still missing, many who fled flood waters in Colorado are being allowed back into their home, only to find toppled houses, upended vehicles and a stinking layer of muck covering everything.

HYGIENE, Colo. (AP) Weary Colorado evacuees have begun returning home after days of rain and flooding, but Monday's clearing skies and receding waters revealed only more heartbreak: toppled houses, upended vehicles and a stinking layer of muck covering everything.

Rescuers grounded by weekend rains took advantage of the break in the weather to resume searches for people still stranded, with 21 helicopters fanning out over the mountainsides and the plains to drop supplies and airlift those who need help. The confirmed death toll stood at four, with two women missing and presumed dead. The number of missing people was difficult to pinpoint, but it has been decreasing. The state's count fell Monday from just over 1,200 to about half that. State officials hoped the overall number would continue to drop with rescuers reaching more people and phone service being restored. "You've got to remember, a lot of these folks lost cellphones, landlines, the Internet four to five days ago,"

WHAT KIND OF CHEMICAL WEAPON WAS USED?

Chemical weapons were used on a "relatively large scale" on Aug. 21 in Ghouta. The team found evidence of sarin gas on many ground-to-ground rocket fragments. Soil samples in the vicinity of the landing sites were saturated with sarin. Blood and urine samples taken from victims found sarin poisoning and breakdown components of sarin.

HOW WAS THE GAS DELIVERED?

The U.N. team found remnants of rockets that were 630mm long and 140mm wide, with a small rocket motor on the bottom, a central shaft and a cylindrical warhead. The warhead had a capacity to hold about 56 liters (14.8 gallons) of liquid sarin, plus or minus 1.6 gallons.

The rockets were "variants of the M14 artillery rocket, with either an original or improvised warhead." The team was able to trace back the trajectories of two of the rockets and found their path could have come from a single, multibarreled launcher. WHAT SYMPTOMS DID PEOPLE SHOW?

The team examined 36 survivors of the attack, and found loss of consciousness in 78 percent; shortness of breath in 61 percent; blurred vision in 42 percent; eye irritation or inflammation in 22 percent; excessive salivation, or vomiting, in 22 percent; and convulsions or seizures in 19 percent. Of 34 blood samples taken, 91 percent tested positive for sarin exposure at one laboratory, and 85 percent tested positive at another lab. WHO FIRED THE

IF SEPTEMBER 17 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: Get your resume polished up and your shoes shined. During the upcoming six to eight weeks you may have a chance to put a business plan into motion or make progress on career goals. You'll find that widening your network of business contacts can help vou achieve vour ambitions. December and January are good months for a pleasant vacation, as you put business affairs on the back burner. In February and March, your popularity and attractiveness peak, so this is a good time to look for a new job or a new partner.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Get going while the going is good. Put creative energy to good use while you have it and you can make progress in all aspects of your life. Showing off your "can do" attitude will impress all the right people.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Stand by your convictions. When discussing where your loyalties lie, let everyone know exactly where you stand. Trying to appease the other side by making concessions may only weaken your position.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You can't do it all yourself. You've established independence, but you'll never get a project off the ground without a good supporting cast to help you. Be appreciative of all those who assist you CANCER (June 21-July 22): Maintain your balance. Conflicting opinions may pull you in separate directions. Find a neutral referee who can give you the proper perspective. Don't make decisions or promises until late in the day.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Present yourself as a star. Self-confidence and a professional attitude will put you over the top with those who can help you along the road to success. A willingness to meet all challenges wins kudos.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your instincts are right on target. You can feel safe in following a "hunch" when faced with choosing a correct path. Go with your initial reaction when analyzing new projects and you'll hit your mark.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22.): Look good and speak well and people will hang on your every word. You may not have all the answers, but if you act like you do, people believe it. Making a good impression helps you in both business and romance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Hibernation is only a good thing for bears. To get the most out of life, you've got to get out and meet people and spend less time vegetating on the couch. There's a whole world out there; get out and enjoy it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Keep your eyes on the prize. Remember why it is you do all that you do. Achieve your long-term goal, whatever that may be. Don't be deterred by obstacles, as they are merely par for the course.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Don't shy away from the limelight. You've done the work and there's no reason to avoid taking a welldeserved bow. Take ideas that have been floating around your head and put them into action.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Sometimes the best course of action is to take no action at all. Adopting a wait-and-see approach will work to your advantage better than doing something just for the sake of doing something.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Adapt and overcome. Just because things didn't go the way you planned doesn't mean you can't utilize changes to your advantage. Careful planning and study can turn a minus into a plus.

FLEXIBLE HOURS could be the small change that makes a big difference in your life.

What does a better job mean to you? Is it getting home at a reasonable hour? The chance to coach your kid's baseball team? Whatever it is, Monster has the tools to find it. DEAR ABBY: My younger sister, "Tanya," is 22 and a single mother. Her son is 2. She's pregnant again, and this time her baby will be a girl.

My sister is very dramatic and emotional. She gets angry easily and has a short fuse. She's great with her son, except he picks up on her drama and is somewhat dramatic himself. My worry is that girls are more likely to imitate that behavior, and I'm concerned my niece will be just like her mother. Although Tanya has a good heart, her emotional issues have caused her to have horrible relationships with men, as our mother did.

When I suggested to my sister that she talk to someone about her anger, she flipped out on me. We were both sexually abused as children. I have dealt with those issues and she has not. Was I rude to suggest she see someone about her emotional problems?

- JUST TRYING

TOHELP DEAR TRYING TO HELP: Suggesting that Tanya discuss this with a professional wasn't rude; it was a loving thing to do. Your sister reacted defensively because she isn't ready to admit she needs help.

What you must do is hope that one day she will be receptive, but also accept that it may never happen. Not everyone is strong enough to face the fact that they need help or willing to reach out for it.

DEAR ABBY: How does a person quit being a quitter? At 46, I have realized that this is what I am. I have quit everything – church, jobs, school. If I don't like a friend, I just drop the person. The same goes for books, exercise - everything! How do you stop the lifelong habit of quitting?

- OUTTTER IN CHARLESTON

DEAR CHARLESTON: I hate to see you give yourself a pejorative label. It's time to have yourself evaluated because it is possible you suffer from attention deficit disorder - and if you do, there ishelp for it.

If that's not the case, then start small, give yourself a goal you CAN accomplish

THE ACES ON BRIDGE® Bobby Wolff

"Surprised by joy — impatient as the wind." — William Wordsworth

Today's deal came from the knockout stages of the Seniors event in the Asia Pacific games last fall in Fukuoka, Japan. The deal shown swung the match but not in the way you might expect.

Where Hirata Yamada and Kyoko Ohno were West and East respectively, East's decision to pass one spade let her opponents back into the auction, and East-West finished up defending three no-trump. Yamada led a low club to the first trick — an interesting choice, since partner was marked with club shortage. Declarer won in dummy and led a diamond to the jack, queen and ace. Yamada now accurately shifted to the spade 10, and declarer was now dead. He covered with the jack, and East won and cleared spades. West was sure now to get in with the club ace and could then cash out the spades. Down one for 50 looks like a good result for East-West

However, in the companion room there was no easy way into the East-West auction when East raised to two spades instead of passing one spade. After a diamond lead, declarer Hideo Togawa ruffed two diamonds and a club in dummy and two hearts in hand. Then he led a third heart and played safe by ruffing high, following a guaranteed line for eight tricks. So he finished up making 110.

Accordingly, Yamada's textbook play had held the loss on the board to 2 IMPs — and an eventual loss in the match by just one IMP.

ANSWER: You have a pretty good hand for a simple one-notrump response to an overcall, but what are the options? A jump to two no-trump should show a full opening bid, while a cue-bid almost guarantees support for partner. Since you have no suit you can voluntarily introduce. bid one no-trump. It is acceptable to have full values for your bidding once in a while.

and don't stop until you have reached it. It doesn't have to be anything complicated, but see it through. Then give yourself another, more difficult assignment and finish it.

Perseverance is a skill that can be learned. Each time you succeed, you will reinforce the idea that you CAN do it. The more you do this, the better you will feel about yourself, and it will be reflected in your work and social relationships.

DEAR ABBY: I am a married woman with several single friends. They are always eager to do things with me, but married life is a lot different than being single. I'd love to connect these friends, who don't know each other. I realize making friends can be hard, and I'd love to help them in that way.

What would be the best way to do this? I don't have a lot of time to spend inviting everyone together and having them get to know each other. I'd like to do a quick introduction, then let them go have fun doing "single people" things. Is this possible?

- UNIFIER IN PITTSBURGH DEAR UNIFIER: Absolutely. Call or email your friends and tell them there are people you want them to meet because you think they'd enjoy each other. Then arrange a group lunch at a convenient location and introduce them. After that, if the chemistry is right, they'll become friendly.

Times News

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 17, the 260th day of 2013. There are 105 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight:

On Sept. 17, 1862, more than 3,600 men were killed, many more wounded, captured or left missing, in the Civil War Battle of Antietam in Maryland; although the battle itself proved inconclusive, it effectively halted the Confederates' advance into Maryland.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this date:

In 1787, the Constitution of the United States was completed and signed by a majority of delegates attending the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia.

In 1908, Lt. Thomas E. Selfridge of the U.S. Army Signal Corps became the first person to die in the crash of a powered aircraft, the Wright Flyer, at Fort Myer, Va., just outside Washington, D.C.

In 1911, Calbraith P. Rodgers set off from Sheepshead Bay, N.Y., aboard a Wright biplane in an attempt to become the first flier to travel the width of the United States. (The 49-day journey required 69 stops before ending in Pasadena, Calif.)

In 1937, the likeness of President Abraham Lincoln's head was dedicated at Mount Rushmore.

In 1939, the Soviet Union invaded Poland during World War II, more than two weeks after Nazi Germany had launched its assault.

In 1959, Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev traveled by train from Washington, D.C., to New York City, where he received a low-key welcome from New Yorkers. A groundbreaking ceremony was held for Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles.

In 1962, U.S. space officials announced the selection of nine new astronauts. including Neil A. Armstrong, who became the first man to step onto the moon.

In 1971, citing health reasons, Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black, 85, retired. (Black, who was succeeded by Lewis F. Powell Jr., died eight days after making his announcement.)

In 1972, the Korean War comedy-drama "M-A-S-H" premiered on CBS.

In 1978, after meeting at Camp David, Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat signed a framework for a peace treaty. In 1986, the Senate con firmed the nomination of William H. Rehnquist to become the 16th chief justice of the United States.

In 1987, the city of Philadelphia, birthplace of the U.S. Constitution, threw a big party to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the historic document.

Ten years ago: Spain's leading investigating judge, Baltasar Garzon, issued the first known indictment against Osama bin Laden in the Sept. 11 attacks. An audiotape purporting to carry the voice of Saddam Hussein, broadcast on Arab television, called on Iraqis to fight the American occupation. New York Stock Exchange chairman Dick Grasso resigned amid a furor over his $139.5 million pay package.

Five years ago: Defense Secretary Robert Gates met with Afghan President Hamid Karzai and offered the people of Afghanistan his "personal regrets" for U.S. airstrikes that had killed civilians and said he would try to improve the accuracy of air warfare. A suicide attack on the U.S. Embassy in Sanaa, Yemen, killed 19 people, including an American woman and six militants.

One year ago: NATO said it was scaling back operations with Afghan soldiers and policemento lower the risk of insider attacks and reduce local tensions after an anti-Islam film was blamed for setting off protests in Afghanistan. Republican presidential nominee Mitt Romney told reporters his comments about Americans who pay no income taxes were not "elegantly stated." Romney was recorded telling a group of wealthy donors that 47 percent of Americans consider themselves victims, don't pay any income tax and expect government benefits.
