BY MURRAY M. NOLAN
SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 28 (UP)—The first presidency of the Latter-Day Saints church formally announced this afternoon that the Lads conference planned for the first week in April, has been definitely canceled.

Instead of the usual conference, only a priesthood meeting of general authorities of the church and state presidents will be held. Cancellation of the conference was decided upon, the presidency said, because of the possible hazard of large gatherings in the "highly militarized" Salt Lake City area and the limitations upon travel.

Scot Kilties Draw Whistle From Rookies

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (UP)—Some American rookies lunging around an army post whistled today at their visitors walked by. The whistles were not jibes at the veterans' most serious and heavy men, with wind and sun-tanned faces. They are Scots, part of a British detachment quartered at the post, and whistling was the first reaction of the Americans when they saw their kilted and tattered counterparts.

But it may be revealed that all are hardened veterans. Those who have not fought in the first World War, some have fought in both wars. The veterans of the war have recruited kilties to the Scots officers and the highlanders' pipe band. The Scots kilties looked like the British, except for their black, hobnail boots.

CURTAIN—AND WITHOUT EXCEPTION!

The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce has been subjected to considerable criticism of late by other communities in Magic Valley...

In effect, this criticism has been along the lines that it's all right for the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce to request to Governor Clark that expenditures on non-defense projects in Idaho be curtailed for the duration of the war emergency.

Actually, if the governor will follow the same policy throughout the state, the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce is not to be distinguished from any of its projects which might have no relation to defense.

According to a recent letter from Governor Clark, the projects now under way or contemplated in the Twin Falls vicinity are the road to the Buhl-Hansen highway, a WPA project for sidewalks and gutters along the same road, a WPA project for oiling and widening of the Buhl-Hansen highway, and a rather extensive farm-to-market road oiling project in cooperation with the Twin Falls High district.

If the governor were to follow the local chamber's recommendations, there is no way of knowing what he and the proper military authorities might decide on the relation these projects would have to defense, but in any event it's apparent that the chamber's policy calls for basing such decisions on the merits of defense—and defense alone.

So far as sidewalks and gutters to the high bridge are concerned, there would seem to be no objection to this project, but it should be considered from the standpoint of defense only. The farm-to-market road oiling project might also be regarded as one not likely to qualify under such a policy.

If the governor is ready and willing to follow such a policy throughout Idaho without exception, it should be apparent that the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce stands ready to take the lead.

When it comes to cuss our government for not doing more to stand ready to aggress for trying to vote themselves a pension, the least we can do is to be consistent at home. This is war, and all the money we have at our command will be none too much to conduct our fight successfully.

NO TIME FOR FIGURHEADS: If there is one thing that nettles the American people's patience in our present great wartime effort, it's continued strikes in our manufacturing plants...

LECTURER SEES ALLIED INVASION

Without aid, Russia will be whipped by the Germans this summer and because of this fact the United States and Great Britain are preparing for an invasion of continental Europe.

That is the opinion of Dr. Win Durant, considered to be the outstanding philosopher-historian of the present day. He spoke before a "Town Hall" audience in Twin Falls Friday night at the high school auditorium.

Explains Defeat The fact, Durant said, is the "explanation" of the defeats which the United Nations are now suffering. He explained that the cause "not letting out a military secret" because "it is something I thought I will do myself." Continuing he said:

The British are keeping 3,000,000 troops in Russia and we are sending troops there and to Ireland. This is why I think we will invade Europe this year. He declared, in pointing out that Russia will be destroyed this summer unless help comes. "I don't think a fighter like Churchill or a fighter like Roosevelt can do it."

Champions Chosen In Close Battles In All Tourneys

Eight basketball quintets from five south central Idaho high school Class B sub-districts today were ready to enter their annual district tournament at Wendell this week-end after concluding successful campaigns last night and Friday. The eight clubs chosen in five district meets were: South Side; Castleford and Murtaugh (co-champions); West Wendell (champion); Mini-Cassia—Paul (champion) and Heyburn.

Castleford Triumphs Last night at Murtaugh, Castleford reversed the score of the night before in the final game by entering a 20-13 victory over the host team. The winners were in front 20-4 at the half-time and led all the way through the second half, scoring with 11 points for Castleford while Arstien collected four for Mustangs.

As a preliminary to the championship game, the Paul club placed in the tournament and received the tournament ball by edging Eden, 20-23. The championship trophy went to Hazelton and the free-throw award to the Kimberly quintet.

The Mini-Cassia tournament ended at Heyburn and Paul clinching for the title and the Paul quintet retaining the crown won last year. The final score was Paul 19, Heyburn 19 and Paul led 12-7 at the half time. Fenton of Heyburn collected eight points and Paul Craven got nine in the championship tilt.

The games in this tournament Saturday resulted as follows: Heyburn 33, Albion 20; Acquia 43, Raft River 20; Paul 16, Albion 24; Raft River 20; Acquia 34, Declo 27.

At Clenns Ferry, Heyburn and Wendell shared the title with the Pirates scuttling the Trojans under a 41-23 score. Despite the defeat, Heyburn still had championship honors. On flip of a coin, Wendell enters the district championship.

After getting hold of an adding machine and going over the figures with Bill McRoberts, it appears that yours truly has been a little busy in reporting that $3,000 had already been pledged in the Twin Falls basketball fund. Actually, nearly $4,000 had been pledged—but when some of our astute readers saw that, the amount necessary to keep baseball in Twin Falls had been just about right. The fund is now $3,000, plus the $4,000 pledged, reporting you've already got enough.

Looking over last night's winners and runners-up in the various Class B sub-districts of southern Idaho, it is a little hard to see the biggest loss-up on record for the Class II district crown in the tournament district at night. In case you may have forgotten, the district championship is not held until the following season. The present time, yes, the Indians won the state title, but the district crown went to the hands of Dick Stevens' Heyburn Panthers.

SCHEDULE DRAWN FOR CLASS A CAGE MEET

Gooding Plays Jerome in Opening Game

Jerome Tigers and Gooding Senators will square off in the first game of the annual South Central Idaho Class A district basketball tournament here on Tuesday afternoon, March 10.

The game will be the first of a meet that won't be completed until Friday night at the soonest—and possibly may hang over until Saturday.

First round drawings as announced by Tournament Manager Ed Rogel were as follows for Tuesday opening day of the meet:

3:30 p. m.—Jerome vs. Gooding.
4:30 p. m.—Piler vs. Twin Falls.
5:30 p. m.—Oakley vs. Burley.
6:30 p. m.—Dahl vs. Rupert.

First three days of the meet will be games in the afternoon and evening, with morning contests slated at 10 and 11 a. m. on Friday with the championship slated at 8 p. m. on Friday evening in the double elimination tournament.

Saturday morning games will be held at 10 and 11 a. m. on Friday night game Friday, then the two clubs will meet on Saturday night for the championship of the district and the right to represent this area in the state Class A tournament.

Only one team from the south central Idaho area went to the state tournament this year, compared with two clubs sent last season.

Drawings pitted the Twin Falls Bruins, rated favorites to take the title, in the lower bracket with Jerome, Gooding and Piler.

Upper Bracket

In the upper section are Oakley, Burley, Dahl and Rupert—each considered strong contenders for the title, now held by Oakley. Burley is defending state champion, after annexing the crown at Boise last year when finishing only second to the Hornets in district competition.

All four of the clubs in the upper bracket can be rated as near even-peg with the Bruins and those five quintets should stage one of the best tournament free-for-alls here in several years.

Lavagetto Joins the Navy

28,000 Play in ABC Tourney Opening Tuesday

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 28 (AP)—Sportsdom's longest tournament for world's championships gets underway here Tuesday.

Decorators today scrambled around steel girders in the barnlike fairgrounds Coliseum putting final touches on the arena for the American Bowling Congress, a 73-day affair attracting 28,000, here to a from 824 towns in the United States and Canada.

In the huge coliseum up 28 high-pollers bowling alleys, down one of those 60-foot stretches of hardwood floor, John W. Bricker will face the opening ball launching the 10-pin extravaganza which doesn't wind up until May 11.

The Olympic games can't hold a candle to the bowling congress when it comes to the number of contestants, for the 28,000 is the greatest number ever to participate in any single tournament.

The meet will be rolled in and out of the coliseum on a split-second schedule for singles, doubles and five-man events 16 hours a day, seven days a week.

And for sheer drama, the ABC is hard to beat. Generally some unknown bowler or some unheralded team walks off with the biggest portion of $260,000 in prize money, diamond medals and world championships.

Pro Gridders Will Play Full Schedule

CHICAGO, Feb. 28 (AP)—The National Football league, a mere youth of 22 years and lacking the 1915-18 reputation of the American Football league, will attempt to combine the wisdom of all its club owners by playing a program at its annual meeting March 20-23 in New York.

Commissioner Elmer Layden said today that the outlook for 1942 included smaller playing squads (the limit now is 33 players) and probably the same-length schedule (11 games in 1941).

Layden set out his business—athletic entertainment—is an important factor in public morale and well-being.

Layden said "Reducing the number of games defeats this purpose, and at the same time active participation in the war program won't leave any time to experiment with longer league schedules."

Layden declared the loss of many outstanding players by enlistment or drafting into the nation's armed forces had created a general demand for smaller squads, since some clubs would find it impossible to keep at top strength under the present player limit.

Athletes May Go To Buenos Aires By Plane Next Fall

YPSILANTI, Mich., Feb. 28 (AP)—If the United States decides to take part in the Pan-American games at Buenos Aires next fall, its athletes probably will go there by plane.

Chairman Lloyd W. Olds of the games' track and field committee for the United States observed today that a sea voyage would be "too risky in war times such as these."

Olds, coach at Michigan Normal, said a decision on U. S. participation would be made Saturday at a committee meeting in New York.

Twin Falls Cubs notched a 35-23 win over Gooding in the opener, which saw the Bruins away 15 to 7 at the half. Weber and Gentry each scored six points for Twin Falls, while Krahn of Gooding was high point man with eight.

Requested Takes Top Money in Flamingo Stakes

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28 (AP)—B. F. Whitaker's Requested today won the $20,000 added Flamingo stakes at Hialeah park with Redhorn second and Alsab third in the field of 16 three-year-olds.

Under Eddie Arcuro's handling, Requested took the lead at the head of the stretch and pulled away to finish four lengths in front of Redhorn, representing J. J. McIntyre, Alsab, Mrs. Albert Sabath's 1941 two-year old champion but a failure in his two outings this season, closed well but still was five lengths back of Redhorn at the finish of the mile and eighth, run in 1:50 2/5.

Mrs. E. Mulrean's Pirat Piddle, lightly regarded, set the early pace and finished fourth, four lengths back of Alsab.

The biggest crowd of the season at Hialeah park, 26,271, got its first thrill in a mile and eighth $25,000 race when Louis' Tiger's attack, finishing Cinderella horse, Market Wise, beat one of the best fields ever to run here.

From dead start at the start, Market Wise came through handily under a brilliant ride by jockey Wendell Eads to win away over such champions as Attention, Was Tiger, Chalcion, Moland and Porter's Cap.

Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention, starting for the first time of the winter, took second, and Samuel J. Riddle's War Belle was third in the event—in which every advantage favored for next week's $50,000 Widener handicap as a competitor.

Once Eddie Arcuro called upon Requested to make his bid in the Flamingo here was little doubt that the Whitaker colt would triumph. The horse was third at the three-quarter point in the race and an eighth beat, took the lead as the field of 16 thundered into the stretch and finished over the finish four lengths to the good.

BRITISH PARACHUTE, SEABORNE TROOPS SMASH AT COAST

DETECTOR UNITS SMASHED IN RAID

By The Associated Press. Striking out in the first hours of the dawn, the British parachute and seaborne troops have smashed an important German radar location station near the channel port of Le Havre in a smoothly directed operation which the admiralty said was office last night pronounced remarkably successful.

The raid attained its immediate objective—quite possibly disrupted the operation of the detector system by which the Germans spot approaching British bombers and direct the returning British forces even succeeded in bringing back prisoners and survivors of the overpowered garrison.

But it looked even more like a British and allied eyes as a sign that the island-bound British, within the limits of their resources, are striking out along the offensive lines which the United States has followed in the event of a triumph over the axis. For in London it was predicted, freely that a series of forays to harass the Germans in the west and thus raise the pressure on the Axis from the east.

The British appeared to be acquiring themselves far more than adequately without aid. They reported that the Germans, after a series of forays to harass the British in the west and thus raise the pressure on the Axis from the east.

The Germans, who displaced as "nuisance raids" new RAF bombing attacks aimed at the German battle ships Ossenmann and Scharnhorst in Kiel and Wilhelmshaven, also made a series of attacks on the coast against the French coast. The raid, said Berlin, overcame what were the British defenses.

The Libyan battalions leaped back into life as the British forces, getting the sea, are being used to attack the land-aid patrol. Far to the west, the land fighting has been going on since the attack on the axis supply port of Tripoli.

SOLOMON FORESEES ECONOMIC MOVE

"Although next year's fiscal appropriations yet have not been presented to congress, advance reports indicate that stringent economy measures are being planned. Mr. Clark last night informed Ray J. Holmes, president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

"I believe, of course, that we must concentrate all our efforts on developing the local economy and eliminate all unnecessary frills.

"However, we must be on guard to see that we do not waste millions of dollars which have been spent on projects that will be useless if not completed or continued.

"The speaker's letter was in answer to a Chamber of Commerce resolution urging abandonment of non-defense non-essential government spending for duration of the war.

Eggs in One Basket? They Put 84,000 of Them in This One!

Interior of the new 84,000-egg capacity turkey incubator is inspected by George F. Seidel (left), manager of the local Swift plant, who has directed installation of the $2,000 worth of new equipment at the hatchery. Verne Eisinger (left), is head hatcheryman.

"Don't put all your eggs in one basket" may have been advice back in the horse and buggy days. It just doesn't apply in at least one instance right here in Twin Falls today.

At the University of Idaho and backed it up with seven years' work at Swift's.

The chick incubator delivered its first setting of 11,000 eggs Friday. It is an electrically-heated forced air unit, built in the Swift plant. What this means to a hatchery may be gleaned from the fact Swift's 60,000-egg incubator was in 14 units. The new single unit makes for better hatches all the way around.

To the layman a turkey incubator is a "honey." There are two units, each with two incubators and a hatcher. They're reduced with and without.

Thermometers and hygrometers and glass doors enable workers to peer inside and check the temperature and humidity.

The hatchery, with its latest scientific devices, is not open to the public. Don't be lightheaded when you plan to employ, either, unless they're hatcherymen.

The hatcherymen observe the strictest sanitary regulations. Coats are changed before they enter the rooms which separate one incubator from another. Shoes are disinfected.

Chickerymen occasionally go about their work in a formaldehyde-dusted atmosphere guaranteed to keep the eyes of any intruder from an American or instantaneous death to a Jap.

It also happens to kill any germs which might threaten the lives of people, who are shipped to their farm homes sometimes within six hours after removal from the hatchery.

Government May Widen Plan For Clothing From Old Cars

By LUCILLE KNIGHT DIERKS. Mrs. Walter E. Harman's "idea" that materials from junked automobiles be used for clothing for migrant families, furnish her grown to life she has been given to handle the project alone any longer.

In 16 short months, it has grown from the simple purpose of caring for migrants coming to the attention of the Jerome Christian church to the now first one the work of Leasing J. Rosenwald, chief of the bureau of industrial conservation, office of OPM, in Washington, D. C., where it is expected that action will be taken soon to place it on a national basis as an important part of the home defense.

National Publicity. Last week, the story of Mrs. Harman's work, written by Mrs. Letha Webb Tester, Gooding, appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

It pleased that the story would help explain the project to a public that doesn't understand the magnitude of the possibilities which are being met with for fear that the story had "broken" on a nationwide scale too soon.

"Already auto-wrecking yard owners in eastern cities have bought up as many old cars as they can get their hands on, and are removing the materials from the interior and junking the automobiles for use in clothing war refugees through the Red Cross, and America's migrant through the family life education projects.

"Time is short, and in the east these materials are being burned from the cars before the metal is junked for re-use in factories producing munitions. It has been wonderful to me during the past few months," she said, "that the project needs concerted backing to get it across quick in Washington, and I can't do it alone."

She added that she'd be in Washington in about two weeks, "even if I have to walk."

Passenger Autos Retaffords Held up. "No certificates will be issued in March for passenger car re-entries," it was announced last night by Chairman Carl N. Anderson of the Twin Falls county rationing board.

Retired certificates for trucks on list B of the eligibility classification were not issued until March 25, Anderson was informed by the Idaho state rationing board.

Trucks on list B are trucks used for any important purpose not included in list A of the tire rationing regulations.

RUBBER SEEN IN CORN AND WHEAT

Corn and wheat, both "good" crops in the Magic Valley section, have been added to the potential sources of artificial rubber, W. H. Eldridge, secretary of the local Rubber club, said yesterday.

Eldridge said that four agricultural college scientists, according to an article in the Country Gentleman, have carried the work through the initial stages. It is now being developed further at the agricultural research laboratory at Peris, Ill.

Experiments to date have indicated that 10 pounds of rubber might be obtained from one bushel of either corn or wheat. On this basis it is estimated that 120,000,000 bushels of corn or wheat would produce 600,000 tons of rubber, the nation's normal annual consumption. It was pointed out that the experiments now being carried on may mean "much to Magic Valley's farmers as from a future date."

SERIAL STORY KINGS ROW

BY HENRY BELLMANN

THE STORY OF DR. TOWER'S search for the mysterious "Kings Row" continues in this serial story. The doctor, who has been in the city for some time, has been looking for a place where he can set up his laboratory. He has been told that there is a place called "Kings Row" where he can find what he needs. He has been looking for it ever since he came to the city.

AFTERNOON WITH DRAKE
CHAPTER XII

MOLLYS jouncing gait had an almost hypnotic effect. He was hard to keep the eye from resting on some shining buckle or patent-leather trimming of the shoes which rose and fell with her pace. Parris began to feel sleepy. After a little while he began to feel that his head was closing like something like a luminous thread stretching on and on ahead of him. It moved and whirled faintly, and little figures ran and danced along the silvery transparent line. They were like the people he knew: Drake, himself, Louisa Gordon, Casandra, and over and over again the images of Irene, like a long screen of linked paper dolls. He wanted to call out to them, but they seemed very far away.

"I guess you and me had better stick together a little bit, Parris. One of 'em, you got to have somebody."

"Who will you be?"

"It kind of thing some day, but I want to have all the good time I can get. But when you get kind of tired even having a good time."

Drake looked very serious. "You know, Parris, I wouldn't tell this to another soul on earth, 'cause I know everybody thinks a kind of what that I run around an awful lot, and that I ain't steady. But I'm going to surprise some people around this old town. I'm going to settle down hard when I do settle, and he cut a quick sideways look at Parris, as if going to make Louise proud of me."

"Is she in love with you, too?"

"More I mean."

"I don't know. You can't tell anything about Louise."

"Well, of course she is. If she wasn't, of course you'd know that in a hurry."

Drake blinked at this unexpected peculiarity.

"Parris, you know Preston Hill out there west of town?"

"Yes, of course, why?"

"I want to buy it."

"Good gracious, Drake! What for? It's just a hill."

"Kings Row has got to grow, hasn't it? That's the best direction for it to go. Wouldn't that be a good place to build houses—you know, looking down across the cross there, and away out over the country?"

Parris was mightily impressed.

"Why, that's wonderful! You'd make a lot of money, wouldn't you, and be rich?"

"Well, doctors make a pile of money. Wouldn't it be the best kind of thing if we, you and me, could build houses for ourselves out there, right near the cross there?"

"Listen, Drake—" Parris wriggled about and pulled one foot under him. It seemed to them at that moment that he was stiffer and straight ahead of them and pleasant.

ALL of the next day, and the next, Parris went about in a pleasantly unthinking haze of mind.

That afternoon with Drake had relieved the whole feeling of loneliness which had weighed on him for weeks. But he did not want to see him—not just now, he could talk to Drake about his work, his hopes and plans, and about a good many of his everyday things. But at this moment he longed for someone who spoke the language of another side of his personality.

It was quite dark when he reached Cherry street.

As he was about to step onto the low porch floor, he saw to his surprise that it was Casandra and not Dr. Tower who sat in the deep chair under the green-shaded light.

"Hello, Casandra. It's me—Parris. Didn't you see you?"

"Why, hello." She arose and dropped her book face down in the chair. "Come in!" The words were distinctly question, and not invitation.

"Well, I—I just came after my notebook. I left them here Tuesday night."

Parris dropped his bag and coiled on the chair. "I've been playing hooky."

"From father?"

"No. He put me up to it. Said I needed to rest."

"He's in St. Louis."

Parris felt himself grow a little ill at ease as he listened seriously. He really hadn't had a good look at her for a long time, and he had forgotten how lovely she was.

"Sit down. No over here on the corner. It's comfortable."

She sat down and pulled a pillow behind her head. She seemed perfectly at ease now.

"Why, you know, Casasia, I haven't seen you to talk to you, really, in a long, long time."

"But you put in such a long time, I'm probably the only one."

He flushed. "Well, why, Cas-
