WALLACE SAYS CAPACITY TO FIGHT WILL WIN FOR U. S.

SEES LAST AXIS ATTACK IN 1942

QMAHA, March 14 (AP)—The democrats will win the war, Vice President Henry Wallace said tonight, "not merely because we have shown our capacity to fight with a wholehearted effort, but because the people of the entire world appreciate that we are fighting for the privacy and the rights of the common man in all nations."

He delivered that summation of faith in his first major address since the Pearl Harbor attack, prepared for delivery before a midwest audience here of farmers and city folk, and broadcasting over the Blue network.

Wallace and Japan, he said, "are driving desperately against time. They must knock out the U. S. force not at all. All signs indicate that the summer of 1942 will be a repetition of the summer of 1941, with the axis making one last desperate all-out attempt."

Kimberly Precincts

THE BOUNDARY LINES between the five precincts in the Kimberly area have been established by the local board of election judges.

The boundaries are as follows: Precinct 1, bounded by the Blue River and the Kimberly road; Precinct 2, bounded by the Kimberly road and the Blue River; Precinct 3, bounded by the Kimberly road and the Blue River; Precinct 4, bounded by the Kimberly road and the Blue River; Precinct 5, bounded by the Kimberly road and the Blue River.

War Effort Peace

"But when the final struggle is brought to a finish, we can have a better peace than in 1918, provided every person in the United States realizes that his effort in the summer of 1941, and the results in terms of life and death for our young men.

"It is the industrial leaders and workers who expand the production of rubber and copper, aluminum and steel, and who are the backbone of the war effort, who are the people who will depend a short war or a long war."

Mr. Callahan's week was a busy one, with many activities. He was seen at the local school, where he spoke to the children about the war effort. He also attended to various matters of his business, and spent some time with his family.

ers, one of them lit up and burning fiercely, turned away under the pressure of the explosion. The first phase of the battle apparently ended at that point, with the three destroyers withdrawing.

Admiral Doorman then turned his force to the southwest to approach the coast of Java intending to sweep westward along the coast in an attempt to intercept the Japanese invasion convoy.

"Half an hour after this allied force had turned to westward along the coast of Java, the Japanese force was disabled by an underwater explosion. She sank four hours later."

At 11:30, when the fleet was 100 miles off Rembang, two Japanese cruisers were sighted between it and the allied force. The Japanese force consisted of three cruisers and a number of hits were scored. Meanwhile:

The allied force was hit by one shell. Afterward, the DeRuyter made a large change of course presumably to avoid the Japanese. It occurred simultaneously in the cruiser DeRuyter and Java. Both of these destroyers blew up and sank at once.

FEDERAL RANGES OPEN ON APRIL 1

Earlier opening dates of federal ranges in the Twin Falls grazing district will be April 1, it is announced by M. W. March, district manager for the U. S. department of interior grazing service.

"Although about the fall and winter moisture with expected favorable spring growing conditions points to a start early spring forage, there is still the problem of too early grazing on the ranges during the period when the soil is soft and full of moisture," he said.

Urges Care

Hay shortages and resultant prices throughout the district make it necessary that stockmen plan their feeding operations very carefully, the manager advised.

"Exceptional weather conditions resulting in ranges being ready before the set dates will be inspected by the grazing service and adjustments made if conditions warrant," he added.

Opening dates for units throughout the district as recommended by the advisory board will be:

In the Twin Falls division—Lost Creek unit, north of summit of east of railroad to rim, April 1 to August 1 and Oct. 4 to Dec. 1; remainder of creek, May 1 to August 1 and Oct. 1 to Dec. 1; Salmon tract unit, April 1 to July 1 and Oct. 1 to Dec. 1; Rock Creek unit, April 1 to July 1 and Oct. 1 to Nov. 1; Arctesian unit, April 1 to July 1 and Oct. 1 to Nov. 1.

Other Divisions

In the Goose Creek division—Churchill unit, year long; Goose Creek unit, April 1 to Dec. 31; Deelo Hills unit, April 1 to Dec. 31.

In the Rat River division—Highway unit, yearlong; Cottrell Mountain unit, April 1 to Dec. 31; Jim Sage unit, April 1 to Dec. 31; Junction unit, April 1 to Dec. 31; E-way unit, yearlong; Rat River unit, yearlong; Chapin unit, yearlong; Meadow Creek unit, April 1 to Dec. 31.

Honor Pins for Mothers Having Four in Service

A new organization, the Emblem of Honor association, will award free to any mother having four or more sons serving in the army, the marine corps or coast guard an emblem of honor bearing on it the name of each son in service of the country. Sgt. Frank Morris, officer in charge of the army recruiting station at the city hall, said Saturday.

Sgt. Morris said the emblem is an attractive electro-gold plated pin composed of the eagle, the chevron, the scroll and the star. It is the emblem that is being adopted by the "home-folks" to identify that "they have friends or relatives in the service," he said.

Mothers, fathers, sisters, wives and sweethearts of service men are eligible to wear the emblem of honor.

Full particulars as to how to secure an emblem can be had by contacting or writing Sgt. Morris at the army station in Twin Falls.

Gooding's Guards Receive Uniforms

GOODING, March 14—Gooding company A, state guards, has received uniforms for its 51 enlisted men. Straight leg pants, serge shirts, serge caps and blazers and rain coats of olive drab form the outfits.

All officers' uniforms will be the same style as regular army, except for the ornaments and buttons. Instead of having the national seal, they carry the Idaho state seal. All enlisted men drill every Monday night for an hour and a half.

The state guard follows a prescribed course in military training and is now studying three different specialties. The revised infantry drills are given as prescribed by the government.

The organization can function in case of disaster, attempted sabotage or disturbances of a nature making necessary the employment of a large body of men.

Capt. Clifford R. Bevington and First Lt. D. W. McCormick, Gooding, are in charge of the companies at Burley and Ketchum.

"Skip" Saturdays

HANSEN, March 14—Plans for regular classes were conducted in the Hansen schools today, according to Superintendent H. J. Downing, who said that classes now would be conducted on alternate Saturdays until four school days have been made up.

Girls, Too, Tinker With Model Aircraft

There's sometimes a lot of tinkering to do with these model planes before they are ready for flight but Elaine Carlson (left) and Beverly Richardson don't mind the work at all. It used to be just a game for the boys, this model plane flying, but nowadays girls too are stepping in and taking some of the spotlight. The plane the two girls are repairing is a gasoline model. Both girls are students at the Twin Falls junior high school.

After the ship is all fixed up then the fun comes — that's it, the takeoff. The planes are most usually given a "throw" by the operator and from there on the tiny engine does the rest, pulling the ship high into the blue. In the picture above Elaine has just thrown the ship into the air. Models of this kind have stayed up an hour or more. (Photos by O. A. Kelker—Times-News Engraving)

Model Plane Clubs Helping to Make Youngsters 'Air-Minded'

By O. A. KELKER

"You'll never get me in one of them toy flying contraptions!" That was the statement heard over and over not so many years ago—and it came from the older generation. Most of today's "kids" tell a different story. They've nearly all been aloft and they love it.

And not only that, but they are getting used to airplanes and their actions from models up.

In the Magic Valley, for instance, there are several active model flying clubs and most of the members are youngsters—both boys and girls.

Jerome Man's Work Assisted New Air Route

JEROME, March 14—Announcement that American Export Airways shortly will commence transatlantic air service is due at least partially to groundwork laid by a former Jerome resident.

It is Leon J. Lewis, now serving as chief meteorologist for Western Airlines at Nashville, Tenn. He is the son of Attorney and Mrs. M. L. Lewis, Jerome.

Directed Stations

Three years ago Lewis was in charge of 18 floating weather observation stations located at certain points in the Atlantic ocean.

Details of the recordings were published by American Export's flying boats when routes were charted over the Atlantic.

Lewis, his wife and daughter traveled extensively in Europe prior to outbreak of the war. They visited England, France, Ireland, Germany and Mediterranean states.

Lewis was stationed at Marcellus, France, but was recalled in 1940. Shortly thereafter he went to Nashville.

Inventor too

He is co-inventor of an atmospheric recording instrument.

Lewis, who was graduated from Jerome high school in 1924, enlisted in the U. S. navy and completed advanced flight training at Anacostia, D. C. He served as aerologist at Lakshurst, N. J.

After six years navy duty, he was employed by Pan-American, Eastern Airlines and American Export, before joining Western. He also attended Columbia university.

In his work at Nashville, Lewis determines immediate and future weather conditions and with his assistants, transmits the data to the airlines.

CLARK ASKS IDAHOANS NOT TO SELL LAND TO JAPANESE

GOVERNOR HITS BACK AT CRITICS

BOISE, Id., March 14 (AP)—Gov. Chase A. Clark today appealed for Idaho citizens to refuse to sell land to Japanese and urged that coastal defense areas in statement cracking back at critics of his opposition to movement of alien American Japanese into the state.

The governor said he had "orders from the federal government to keep my hands off the Japanese," and disclosed he was asking aid of the federal government in preventing settlement of Japanese in Idaho.

"I am not ready to sell the state of Idaho to the Japanese for a few dollars, while our American boys are dying to prevent Japanese from taking the state of Japan and our entire nation by force of arms," Clark stated. "I appeal to every citizen of the state not to sell land to the Japanese."

"If we let them come now, and by purchase of land, settle themselves here, we will soon be sick of them."

Urges Guard

The governor said he had advised the federal government of "our willingness to conform to any reasonable authoritative orders."

He urged that Japanese who may be sent here be placed under guard and confined in concentration camps for the safety of our people, our state and the Japanese themselves," he said.

Previously, Clark had sent protests to western army officials after he learned individuals, representing Japanese groups, had appeared before the state to buy agricultural land for Japanese ordered out of coastal defense areas.

Clark said he had advised the federal authorities.

"Attempts are being made by Japanese to purchase land in our state, and notwithstanding newspaper editorial opposition and the critical statements of federal officials in Idaho, directed against me, an unalterable opposition to this movement, the governor continued.

"This official says that anyone who sells up to the Japanese in this country, and that we can treat the Japanese in such a way as to make them loyal Americans or we can alienate them."

"Cut Our Throat"

"It seems to me that we had our arms around their necks when they stabbed us in the back at Pearl Harbor. If my collection serves me, it seems we were trying to appease them for a good many years, while they were getting ready to nip our throat."

"Recognizing their constitutional rights and being good to them in flowery language, but I am looking to the future of Idaho, and I am appealing to the people of Idaho not to sell their land to Japanese."

"Thirty years ago the federal government asked the state of California to sell the Japanese the Japanese territory, because they were sensitive people and worthy of consideration, good will and cooperation. The government was perfectly sincere, but what is the condition today—California is crawling with Japanese."

"They contribute nothing to the standard of life, but undermine it. In a hundred years they will overrun us to the Rocky mountains, unless checked. If they come to Idaho, I want them put in concentration camps and kept under guard so they can be taken back under guard. If they purchase land in Idaho, and settle here, they will spread throughout our state."

Two Kinds

"I realize that there are honest, patriotic Japanese, but I also want to suggest to you that the possibilities are that the ones who were born here are more dangerous than those born in Japan because the latter, to some extent, may appreciate their escape from despotism, but those born here are taught that Japan is heaven and their citizenship is the Almighty."

"I do not want to work any handicap on any Japanese who are loyal American citizens, all I want to do is keep the state of Idaho a good state to live in, and I do not want to establish the Japanese permanently in it."

"And another thing, I am not an appeaser," Clark concluded.

Stolen Bell Is Back Again

Restored to service and its rightful Kiwanis owners after 13 years, bell of the Twin Falls club is topped by M. Terry (right), club president, H. H. Hedstrom (left) aided in recovering the stolen bell. R. K. Dillingham (right) is past president of the Kiwanis club, which has received the bell from the Twin Falls club. (Times-News Photo and Engraving)

"Gone With Wind" 13 Years, First Kiwanis Bell Is Home

By TOM JOHNSON

Two bronze dinner bells standing side by side on the table of U. N. Terry, president of the Twin Falls Kiwanis club, drew considerable comment at a recent meeting of the organization.

One gong glittered. It was shined up to beat the band, as it is custom with luncheon club paraphernalia.

The second bell was drab. It was dirty, dusty and looked like one which hadn't been polished or shined for a period of 10 years.

"Thirteen years, to be exact," reminded H. H. Hedstrom, past club president, who was in on the mystery of the two bells.

Some of the new Kiwanis members asked, "How come two bells? One one enough?"

Older Kiwanians were silent. They knew the story.

The Original

"This bell," said Hedstrom, referring to the neglected bronze bell, is the original one of the Twin Falls club.

He traced its history: how it accompanied Kiwanians to the organization meeting of the Twin Falls club Jan. 15, 1929, and performed faithful service until February, 1928.

"Then, without warning, it disappeared," he recalled. Hedstrom.

When the Kiwanis bell dropped out of sight 13 years ago, it was gone with the wind. Club members couldn't find it, nor could the police. Hedstrom wanted a bell, hoping against hope that the club bell would turn up. But, it never did.

So, five Kiwanians banded together the following month and presented a brand new bell to the club, replacing the one which was stolen.

The Donors

The donors — and their names have been engraved on the second bell — were Fred Merck, Bert Edmund, R. P. (Robby) Robinson, the late Charles North, and the late George Sanohzich.

And their bell served Kiwanians for the next 13 years.

Meanwhile, the original bell was resting in a secure hiding place. It was draped in the basement of a Twin Falls residence.

It had been placed there by a high school student. He became alarmed when he heard the police were looking for one stray Kiwanis bell.

After all, he had removed it from its storage space in the linen room of the basement of a Kiwanis home.

The guests celebrated, the Kiwanians aroused and the police on the alert caused the youngster to hide the bell until the incident had been forgotten.

Ralph Musser, now of Milwaukee,

TIRES DENIED TO LOCAL JAPANESE

Application of a Japanese farmer for permission to buy obsolete-type tires and tubes for a passenger automobile was rejected by the Twin Falls county rationing board, according to Chairman Carl N. Anderson.

Anderson said rationing regulations allow only American citizens to acquire rubber for motor vehicles. The Japanese, although a resident of Twin Falls county, is ineligible.

Meanwhile, obsolete-type rubber may be obtained by a cashed-out farmer, two tires and tubes for farm wagon; a Buil three-tire and one tube for passenger car; and a Buil driver, one tube for passenger car.

was president of Kiwanis at that time," recalled Hedstrom.

Found After 10 Years

Approximately 10 years later, Hedstrom was notified that the bell had been found. A young lad told him he found a bell deep in a coal bin. It was stamped "Kiwanis International" and he contacted the local club officials.

The woman, it developed, was the sister of the boy who had hidden the gong back in 1928. Fact that a bell had been hidden in the family cellar never had been mentioned by her brother.

Hedstrom identified the bell and said it looked very much as though her brother was the youthful scamp who had run off with Kiwanis property. A non-acceptance pact was signed, the paramount feature of which was that the incident should be mentioned only in the future.

"Well," said Hedstrom, "it's all settled now. The bell is back where it belongs and the incident is forgotten. There's no reason why it couldn't have been cleared up in 1928 if the boy had only taken the trouble to return the bell."

The Problem

The Twin Falls club immediately was faced with the problem of what to do with two bells. Kiwanis says it is the Twin Falls service-luncheon club with the largest membership, but Kiwanians could see no good use for two bells.

"Have the original bell polished," it was ordered. And, at next week's luncheon it was brighter than the new one.

Decision was made to give the original bell to the Kiwanis club, but because Twin Falls sponsored the younger club.

The new bell was not given to Kiwanis because names of the donors are engraved thereupon. The original bell, too, has seen less use in the past 13 years.

E. Arthur Beem, elder Kiwanian, accepted the bell and presented it to Dr. Ivan A. Anderson, former president, at the March 3 session.

St. Paul's Lutheran church, Jerome, will be dedicated today to climax an unusual building program that saw the members of the congregation do the actual work and supply funds for needed articles and furnishings. (Times-News Photo and Engraving)

Dedication Today for Church Built by Congregation Effort

A special address will be delivered by Rev. W. F. Gross, Portland, field secretary of the synodical district. Special music for the occasion, with a quart choir under the leadership of Prof. G. C. Westerkamp, choir leader and organist, will also be a part of the service. Rev. Westerkamp is a son of Rev. and Mrs. Westerkamp.

The women of the church will serve luncheon during the noon hour in the basement, for all members of the congregation, their families and their guests who are expected from Rupert, Eden, Clover and Twin Falls.

Congregational March

Preceding the impressive dedication services, the congregation and guests will assemble outside the building and will march in, singing in unison.

Beginning at 2:30 p. m., the services will be in charge of Rev. W. F. Dammicht, Buil. Another service at 8 p. m. will be in charge of Rev. M. H. Zager, Twin Falls.

During both morning and evening services, the Dining brothers, Alfred, Adolf, Albert and Herbert, Jerome, will offer specially arranged music.

The imposing grey dunstone brick church building was paid possible through the efforts of its entire membership, now numbering 155. It is located on the corner of east First and Ash streets.

GAIN SHOWN IN GAS TAX REVENUE

BOISE, March 14 (AP)—Compilation of gasoline tax returns for the first two months of Idaho caused Governor Clark today to reverse an estimate he made some time ago that state revenue from that source had fallen off 10 per cent from the same period of 1941.

"Instead, he said, a gain of more than three per cent was reflected, although at one time during the period a decrease was shown."

Clark and Highway Director S. E. Johnson predicted, however, that the tax, only a source of income for the highways bureau, would provide increasingly less revenue during the year. For January and February $49,188 was collected, or $21,711 over 1941.

Johnson pointed out bureau surveys showed traffic on highways down 10 per cent in January and 22 per cent in February as against a year earlier.

Calculations are totaled a month after gasoline is consumed, and Johnson explained might account for the discrepancy between traffic counts and receipts.

"Bright Outlook" Painted in Talk

At Sorosis Club

GOODING, March 14—Sorosis club members met Tuesday in the club rooms with Mrs. Burton Driggs bringing to the group an exceptionally bright and "bright outlook" through her paper on modern miracles which are wrought in the research laboratories of our country.

Mrs. Vern Carroll, presided at the business session, which was presided over by the "Art Appreciation" period, given by Mrs. A. W. Williams. The Creation of the Statue of Liberty in Rome, by Michelangelo, was the picture used. A small print was displayed on an easel.

With the idea of lifting people out of the heavy thoughts of the war, Mrs. Burton Driggs prepared her subject on the optimistic side, telling of the marvelous advancement of science to replace raw materials with synthetics and plastics.

Mrs. Driggs told of the development of the plastics, which have replaced many vital raw products of rubber and silk which now are rapidly being improved upon and in many cases have proved to be more durable and useful than the "real thing." She told of the advances in the chemical science which has recently brought the synthetic drugs into successful use.

On a display table were numerous objects made of the new plastics and other materials sent Mrs. Driggs from the duPont laboratories and others.

Hostesses were Mrs. D. H. Sulphens, Mrs. Ward Meyer and Mrs. E. B. Hughes.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

Questions - and Answers

about Newspaper Advertising

- Q. Do you know of any measure for the value of newspaper circulation to an advertiser such as the standards that a business man uses in buying merchandise?
- A. Yes. In the well-known standards that have been approved and adopted by advertisers—namely A.B.C. standards.
- Q. What is A.B.C.?
- A. A.B.C. stands for Audit Bureau of Circulations, a cooperative association of 2000 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers in the United States and Canada.
- Q. What is the Bureau's work?
- A. To audit the circulation of newspapers and periodicals so that advertisers can buy space on the basis of definite standards and verified facts and figures.
- Q. How does A.B.C. accomplish this?
- A. The Bureau has a large staff of experienced auditors. These men visit the publisher members annually and make audits of their circulation records. This information is then published in A.B.C. reports for the use and protection of advertisers.
- Q. What do these reports show?
- A. A.B.C. reports tell how much circulation a newspaper has, where this circulation is, how it was obtained, how much people paid for it, and many other verified facts that advertisers should know when they buy advertising.
- Q. Are all publications eligible for A.B.C. membership?
- A. No. Only those with paid circulation. This is important to advertisers because it is the best proof of interest and purchasing power on the part of the readers.
- Q. Is this newspaper a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations?
- A. Yes. We are proud of our circulation and we want our advertisers to know just what they get for their money when they advertise in our columns. The audited information in our A.B.C. report gives them the complete facts.

SERIAL STORY
BY HENRY BELMANN
FARRIS OUGHT TO KNOW
CHAPTER XXIV

DR. GORDON sat in his living room with a tray before him. He ate slowly, almost absentmindedly. The door opened so slowly and so silently that he did not notice Louise's entrance.

"Father!" Louise spoke in a curious flat, colorless voice. "What's the matter?"

"I heard about Drake McLugh."

"Um." The doctor turned his attention to his food. "I stood it as long as I could, then I went down to the railroad."

"That will do, Louise. It was most unbecoming of you to go about parading your feelings—whatever they happen to be."

"Father!" Louise started stony-faced at Dr. Gordon. "The girl shook now so violently she could scarcely stand. 'You monster!' 'Louise!' 'You fend!' Dr. Gordon arose, laid his napkin on the table, and with the utmost deliberation took her arm.

"I'll tell the world know what you are, if it's the only thing I ever do in this world. Tomorrow—tomorrow—I'll tell everyone. I know what you are. I know all about you—and your operations!"

Dr. Gordon took her by both arms. "You are going to bed—at once."

"I will tell. I will tell. I will tell!" Louise began a sort of singsong chant that rose suddenly to a shriek.

Dr. Gordon struck her again, a sharp, stinging slap that cut her screams short.

"Louise—this is enough of your willful tantrum now. If you persist, there is one thing I shall have to do—"

He halted. She stared at him, half listening, then suddenly screamed "that!" she whispered.

"If you utter one more word of the kind of nonsense I've heard from you I shall—commit you to the insane asylum!"

Louise backed away. "You wouldn't dare!"

"I have only to call Dr. Nolan on that telephone there in the hall, and have you in a cell—behind bars—in an hour. Now can you get that through your head?"

Louise swallowed hard. "I—I'll go," she said.

"That's better. And stay in your room until I say you can come out."

Louise nodded her head like a small child who only half understands what is being said. She backed toward the door.

"For three days Randy scarcely slept. She felt that she dared not leave Drake. She knew that she had to be with him when he found out what had happened.

Randy set her foot on the first step, and paused. She stood for several minutes leaning her head against the door frame. It was then that the dreadful sound came from that upper room.

"She tore up the narrow staircase and flung the door open.

"Drake!"

Drake's eyes were rolling and his face worked violently as if the very bone structure had been shattered. Randy saw with a sick horror that his hands were dropping frantically under the blankets.

"She almost leapt across the room and seized his hands. 'Drake! Drake!'"

"Randy—where—where's the rest of me!" His voice rose to a sharp wail.

"Hush, Drake. I'm here with you. You'll get it all now."

He held her hand to her shoulders. Little by little he quieted.

"It was that accident!"

"Yes, Drake. But don't try to lay about it yet. You'll get well now."

His grasp loosened. She looked fearfully at him. He was quieter now. Very slowly he turned his face to the wall.

KINGS ROW

Drake here, don't you?"

Very slowly her eyes filled with tears. Very slowly her hand relaxed. She did not make a sound but let herself away and lean against her father's breast as if he reached out and put his arms around her.

"Come on, now, and set us down. How we going to fix it up, you reckon?"

She shook her head. She was not able to speak.

"They sat in silence for a time. Then Mr. Monaghan spoke.

"Now you listen to me, daughter."

"All right."

"I never said anything to you about Drake when he began coming around here. I—I just didn't know what to think. I felt awful but that everything's turned out this way, but we got to take everything as it comes. Now, like I asked you a while ago, how we going to fix this up?"

"I guess I know what you mean. I'm going to marry Drake."

"That the way you want to do it?"

"I've got to convince him, some way. I'll think it out."

"Now look here. There's one thing. There's just me. So this house is yours, anyhow. I saved a little money. Ain't any of us going to starve."

"I'll think of something. First of all, I'm going to send a cable to Parris Mitchell. There's been enough of his foolishness."

"You ought to let Mitchell know, I think."

Randy dressed again and went out. It was horribly cold, but she scarcely noticed it. She was excited, and terrified, too. How Drake could be managed was the real question. She'd be mad, no doubt, about letting Parris know, but she was certain that she should.

She wrote carefully, crossing out words, and finally rewrote the whole message. It was a succinct but full account of the loss of Drake's money, and the accident. She bit the creaser in the pencil for a moment or two, and added: "I must keep him with me somehow."
