15 HOURS TAKEN TO FINISH DRAW FOR NEW DRAFT

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—The nation's first lottery of the war, a step toward classification of about 9,000,000 men for possible military service, ended at 5:10 P. M. tonight when the drawing started. More than 13 million numbers were drawn from the historic draft goldfish bowl.

After government officials and congressmen drew the first numbers last night, counts of clerks, tally-men, officers and clerks worked through the night to a rate of about 300 counts an hour.

This necessitated changing the order of the numbers in 623 places. To make up for this, 623 numbers were drawn with order numbers after number 742, which the first serial number 2,885 when it was drawn, would be moved up one order number this made 2,885 become order number 2,886.

Allied Warplanes Damage, Sink 23 Japanese Invasion Ships Along New Guinea Coast

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—United States and Australian warplanes have sunk or damaged 23 Japanese ships, including 12 warships, at the northern approach to Australia where Gen. Douglas MacArthur is preparing for a showdown in the battle of the far Pacific, it was announced today.

The smashing aerial assaults, adding up to the greatest allied air-sea effort of the war in the Pacific, claimed two Japanese transport ships and a destroyer. The Japanese victory over the United Nations' fleet in the battle of the Java sea three weeks ago.

The Java sea battle the allies lost 12 warships, including the 10,000-ton U. S. Cruiser Houston and the Destroyer Force. A navy communiqué announced the shattering of the 23 Japanese ships in New Guinea ports where they are "springboards" for a threatened enemy invasion of Australia.

The 23 Japanese ships were sunk or damaged near the New Guinea ports of Salamaun and Lae, an Australian northern flank, in grim assaults of U. S. and Australian planes aimed at breaking the spearheads of Japan's sea-borne invaders. The enemy's 23 ships were sunk or destroyed in dry dock at Soerabaja to prevent her capture.

The Philippine naval base of Cavite was also damaged and was destroyed to prevent her capture. The Japanese seized the former base of the U. S. Asiatic fleet on Jan. 2.

M'ARTHUR FACES FORMIDABLE TASK IN AUSTRALIA DEFENSE

JAPS WILL FACE TOUGHEST FIGHT

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, March 17.—General Douglas MacArthur is facing an extremely formidable task in the defense of Australia, military experts declared today in endorsing against a wave of false optimism.

The odds, they pointed out, were still heavy in the enemy's favor, however much the United Nations may have been heartened by the arrival of American troops at MacArthur's dramatic shift from Bataan to the Australian front.

The expectation was that the enemy would risk the campaign, nevertheless, if it failed to make an attempt and what would follow, then the great Allied coalition under remains security in the hands of the United Nations as the southern jumping-off point for a major offensive once sufficient men and material have been assembled.

MacArthur can hold Australia for such a day, the experts said, the Australian, American and British fighting men serving in his command have a long and costly job ahead of them. The odds are against the success they may win.

The strategy that the task calls for is a dynamic defense—striking back with the most powerful forces of the enemy. The Australian already have put in a heavy hammer blow against the Japanese.

He has more troops and better air strength at his command. He can out-produce the Japanese in defense in great depth because of the vast area of the country.

RUSSIAN ARMIES POUND INTO SUBURBS OF KHARKOV

200,000 ENEMY TROOPS IN TRAP

By The Associated Press
 A Russian offensive against the German army is under way today in the suburbs of Kharkov, the Soviet "Pittsburgh," and Stockholmskaya declared that Russian troops on the central front had surrounded 200,000 Germans in a great pocket west of Moscow.

A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Stockholmskaya quotes Moscow reports that Soviet parachute troops had been dropped in the Smolensk area, 250 miles west of Moscow, and destroyed Nazi positions during a snowstorm.

Front-line dispatches say the Russians had captured five more communities in a gigantic encirclement movement to create an "escape corridor" of German garrisons at Rubezh and Vyazma. Latest reports say the gap had been narrowed to a bare 20 miles.

Thus, the Soviet news agency said, the German fleet of a counter-attack in that sector, leaving 1,200 killed and wounded on the battlefield.

More than 4,750 Nazis were declared to have been slain in the last few days as the Russian counter-offensive surged forward along the entire front.

Grandpa Tvrdy, at 86, Can't Be Stopped by Loss of a Leg

By LAURA LEE SMITH
 BULL, March 18.—To ask, not to ask, that is the question—but not a question long in the active mind of Thomas Tvrdy, 86, who is looking forward to his 87th birthday and packing his suitcase to leave Wednesday for Boise where he will purchase an artificial leg.

In four languages, Bohemian, German, Russian and English, the great patriarch of the Tvrdy family stood in the yard of his daughter's home and announced to a crowd of relatives and friends, "I will walk."

Such a notice usually would mean that the defined one has missed or that Britain is planning to copy an unperfected submarine warfare in three waters.

Claim Patrol Boat
 The German line command said one American patrol boat had been sunk and that U-boats had destroyed five more merchant vessels totaling 41,000 tons off the American coast.

In the Mediterranean, it was announced, a German U-boat attacked and strongly protected enemy east of Tobruk and sank an 8,000-ton tanker.

British bombs were dropped on Germany in daylight yesterday in the course of searching flights, authoritative London sources said.

German columns which advanced south of Tunisia in the Libyan desert on Monday had been stopped again by Thursday morning, British army headquarters reported, and as a result "army activity was on a much reduced scale yesterday."

American Efficiency Speeds Up Australian War Activity

By DON CASWELL
 GENERAL ALEXANDER HADGARTH, Australia, March 18.—Five American army officers, busy in need of staff cars, walked into an automobile agency and saw 12 new cars on the floor.

"What are you up to?" one of the officers asked.

Within 30 minutes the 18 cars had been driven away by American soldiers and a dazed salesman was figuring out how he had earned $500 in commissions in five minutes.

"That incident is typical of the way in which America's rapidly expanding armed forces here are cutting through red tape and delay. The hundreds of Australians are amazed and surprised but they like it.

"You Americans really get things done," they say. "They like to tell of incidents in which Yankee direct action and ingenuity is taking the short cut.

In one town the Americans needed a staff headquarters telephone quickly. They were told it would take two days.

"Couldn't wait
 A signal corps lieutenant couldn't wait. He walked into a store telephone booth and jerked the pay telephone off the wall. Five minutes later he helped himself to super wire and within 30 minutes the headquarters phone was in service.

"Let me spend the next two days rebuilding the telephone booth," the signalman said.

It was necessary to lay underground cables to an airfield. The Australians said it would delay field operations several days while men with picks and shovels dug the trench. The Americans hitched a jeep to a plow and dug the cable in a race of 10 miles an hour. Gladly they would have done it in a third of the time if they had had a third jeep to tow a roller that covered the cable and leveled the ground. The job was completed in a couple of hours.

Once the Yankees needed two parts they found the supply store closed and locked for the day. They removed the hinges from the door, took what they needed, left good American cash to pay for it, replaced the door and finished the loading job.

An Australian supply dealer has his answer for goods sold the Americans, but he was worried for few

Nothing more was heard of him until discovery of his body at a small improvised camp by Raymond Sager and Jack Goehner, who were hunting rabbits Sunday. R. J. Sutton, county physician, stated that in his opinion the man died of exposure.

DEAL HALTED FOR JAP IDAHO LANDS

BOISE, Ida., March 18.—Land in eastern Oregon or Idaho suitable as a new home for Japanese-Americans ended out of California defense centers was being sought today by D. A. Storm of Monterey, Calif., but he announced that he had withdrawn from negotiations for purchase of Mesa orchards in Adams county on request of Gov. Chase A. Clark.

Storm said he had come to Idaho as a disinterested party to "find a home and a job for American citizens and their parents who have worked for me and my family for 20 years."

He said he had attempted to discuss purchase of land in Idaho to Japanese-Americans with Clark but that the governor "threw me out of his office."

He declined to give details of the deal for land which would be purchased for the Japanese-Americans but had decided to terminate a prospective deal for purchase of the orchards near Council, once the latest in the nation.

Don't just mix yourself a "drink"

Hardly added a quart "since Hector was a pup"

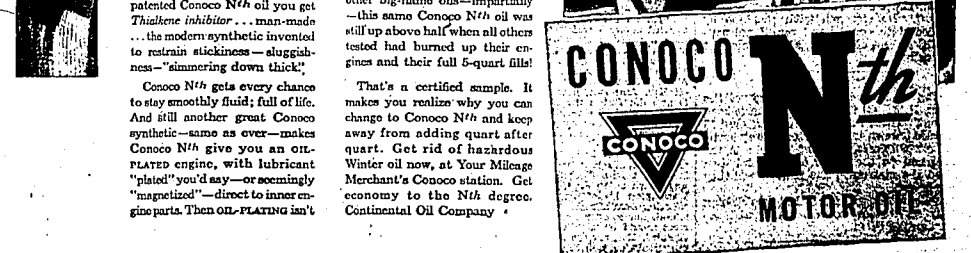

How this oil that defies "curdling" far out-mileaged five other great quality brands... beat their average more than twice over, in Certified Desert Test

Quins thickening up milk don't half give you a picture of the blobs of muck that can foul your oil—and your engine. For muck and "sticker" from oil that fails under present-day strain can't hinder lubrication, nor add to safe mileage per quart. But now that you must change oil for Spring—really a law in every Car Instruction Book—you can easily switch to Conoco N7H motor oil. And in patented Conoco N7H oil you get Thixtine inhibitor... man-made... the modern synthetic invented to restrain stickiness—algebraic—"slimmering down thick."

Conoco N7H gets every chance to stay smoothly fluid; full of life. And still another great Conoco synthetic—same as over—makes Conoco N7H give you an OIL-PLATED engine, with lubricant "plated" you'd say—or seemingly "magnetized"—direct to inner engine parts. Then OIL-PLATING isn't all draining down fast during parking—or even overnight. Instead, OIL-PLATING can stay up high, to help out your engine at every start, before any oil-pump rises up its full amount. That's how to foil a lot of wear, and not have your engine 500 over-entire oil.

Talk about a strict economy diet... Down in Death Valley's record high heat, battling five other big-name oils—impartially—this same Conoco N7H oil was still up above half when all others tested had burned up their engines and their full 5-quart fill!

That's a certified sample. It makes you realize why you can change to Conoco N7H and keep away from adding quart after quart. Get rid of hazardous Winter oil now, at your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Get economy to the N7H degree. Continental Oil Company.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WAR DRIVING

Henry L. Tucker's resignation from the cabinet is being accepted by the president. In fact it is understood here that he has submitted a farewell letter to the White House and that he had already taken the train for Washington. It is the chief executive's intention to let the nation in on the secret.

Mr. Tucker's resignation was the result of a secretary's inspection of the Panama canal zone's defenses. The secretary's report was that the defenses were in such a state that it was under a heavy barrage on the home front, even more so than the 45-year-old Panama Canal.

Frank Knox, both men, in the public mind, were appointed for political reasons. Tucker, however, is a man who has been in the public mind for the greatest task ever imposed on two Americans. The general belief is that Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet will do better with an embattled staff of state.

Several men have been mentioned as Mr. Tucker's successor. D. S. a selection of a new cabinet will supply a tip on the president's attitude toward his cabinet. The three most prominently mentioned are C. William Dawson, ex-governor of Minnesota, ex-New York and Under-Secretary Robert P. Patterson. If the chief executive wants to make a man of people and courage, he will appoint the Empire state member of the house, who knows the Empire state as to Z. But he probably will not.

LATE—Here in a story which Gen. George Marshall, chief of staff, must read. Although a local and minor matter, it is of interest to the people of the United States in a waiting and defensive war.

Twenty Washington boys recently enlisted, some with good jobs, while others left college classrooms because of a natural urge to sign up. They passed their physical examinations, they were given their uniforms and they were told to show up at the recruiting station for transportation to Camp Lee, Va., at eight o'clock sharp the next morning. They were warned that they were in the army now, and any delay in their early appearance for outfitting would be considered a crime.

Their parents arose soon after midnight under Roosevelt time to provide them with a final farewell. They were packed in the morning, they were in the car and on their way to the station. They were in the car and on their way to the station. They were in the car and on their way to the station.

THAL—The pro-Langer movement in the senate reflects the depth of congressional bitterness toward the White House and represents both personally and politically a real break in the relations between the two houses of the government. The demonstration is anti-Roosevelt rather than pro-Langer.

Opponents of the move to unseat the North Dakota senator are Republicans and Democrats. Liberals and conservatives. The move is a real break in the relations between the two houses of the government. The demonstration is anti-Roosevelt rather than pro-Langer.

RESPONSE—Winston Churchill, the President's old pal, has no friend in the White House in recent days. Should there be a new show-up in Washington over Wain's management of the struggle against the Japanese, Mr. Churchill will not be surprised if American influence in the Pacific is reduced to a minimum.

Mr. Churchill has got P. D. Ben into a pack of trouble. Just before the war, he was in the White House. He was in the White House. He was in the White House.

BATTLE—The political skills have been placed under Charles McNichols, famous newspaperman and editor of the Chicago Tribune. He is in charge of the national campaign.

The erstwhile great "Charley" has become a journalistic figure. He is in charge of the national campaign.

Other Points of View

JAVA—AMERICAN DEFEAT

Quite possibly the only thing that could be more aroused over Java than they were over Pearl Harbor. In both cases American failures had opportunities to shorten the war.

More than two months ago had expected, after the Philippines were blocked, that large American forces would be sent to the Philippines. The war was not enough interest, reconnaissance, imagination, determination or cooperation to do the job. The government should be withheld until more of the story is disclosed. But, for the sake of future victories, American troops who have a definite job to do should be withheld until more of the story is disclosed. But, for the sake of future victories, American troops who have a definite job to do should be withheld until more of the story is disclosed.

WE HAVE AN EXAMPLE AT HOME

Put yourself in the position of the Twin Falls merchant who is on the fence you may be on, they're in a dilemma—the same sort of trouble that's confusing our national effort to prepare ourselves for the ultimate showdown in the present World War.

MEANTIME, the farmers of Magic Valley were faced with the need for all-out production to provide wartime food supplies. Faced also with a serious labor shortage, these farmers realized they must put in longer hours in their fields.

TRIM OFF THE RUFFLES

Fritls are fritls, whether attached to a school girl's dress, or to the national, state or local government petticoats. And if ever taxpayers should insist upon their elected servants to trim off the unnecessary government lace and finery it is right now.

IN view of the certain rise in federal taxes, there must be sweet music in the ears of citizens who find the cost of government in the states of California, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan and New York. And the sooner officials of other states and of many counties and municipalities, ours included, get to the point of the better Mr. and Mrs. Q. T. P. will like it.

KEEP 'EM FIGHTING

For the first time in the history of the Hoboken, N. J., jail three inmates have been tossed out. Three hitch-hiking boys, aged 13 to 15, were thrown in the cooler. They burned their mattresses, knocked a hole in the wall, turned on the water cooler, and then punched the matron in the jaw. Then they were thrown out.

RAPS LONG HOURS; HAS PLAN OF CLERK AID TO FARMER

Editor, Times-News:—I am attempting to express an opinion on any subject should first of all present his credentials. I am a farmer and am a peace loving American citizen and a direct descendant of the early pioneers.

We are at war, our peace and security are threatened by the totalitarianism which seeks to destroy our democratic way of life. To win this war, and win it must, require the best efforts of every man, woman and child.

For many years the merchants of Twin Falls (particularly the food merchants) have been laboring under the illusion that it was absolutely necessary to maintain business hours from 9 o'clock in the morning until far into the night so that our spendthrifts could come to town, spend hours waiting with their neighbors and then go home to watch a movie or two, and finally along about midnight get around to buying some groceries while I, along with many other grocery men, have worked until 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning.

About two months ago, due to the effects of several of our broadminded merchants, adequate business hours were established. They have been maintained 100 per cent. To the best of my knowledge there has been not one single complaint from our farm folks.

Now there is a movement on foot to break down our present structure and to slip back into the old ways, to throw away the keys and to burn the midnight oil again. Almost daily we are told by our President and others that we are facing a very grave crisis, that we must conserve our energies and resources, and above all we must work and sacrifice together if we are to win.

Now please don't misunderstand me, folks, for no one more fully realizes the important role the farmer must play than the writer, for they are truly the backbone of the nation. However, it is the honest opinion of this writer that a reasonable business hours plan maintained for the duration, and if a well organized campaign sponsored by the various services and industries that would take the clerks, the butchers, the bakers and the candlestick makers into the streets for three or four hours every evening to help our farmers plant, cultivate and harvest their crops, our efforts would greatly relieve the labor shortage we are now facing.

Then, we who serve the public in the stores and shops could feel that we were doing our bit to insure final victory and that we were contributing to the physical and mental status would be greatly improved by becoming more familiar with the problems that our farm folks are now facing in their valiant effort to feed a world at war.

Your comments and criticisms would be greatly appreciated.

Sell Scrap Tires, Rationer Advises

Persons who are holding tires worn to the point where they are no longer usable can help relieve the rubber shortage situation by turning them in immediately to a rationing dealer or a collecting charity. Chairman Carl N. Anderson of the Twin Falls county rationing board said today.

He emphasized it is a mistake to believe castings worn or damaged tires are acceptable as "junk" or "carcasses" for retreading or re-capping.

The tires sought as scrap are those that are completely worn out or have suffered damage which makes them unfit for recapping, said Anderson.

There is a pressing demand for scrap rubber to augment the nation's drastically restricted scrap rubber supply. Old tires are the main source of scrap.

Those tires that are being turned over for scrap purposes no longer have any service value, Mr. Anderson said.

Farmers are likely to have accumulations of old tires as they frequently mount new tires on the farm and discard the old, it was pointed out.

STUDY OUTLINED FOR AIR PATROL

Eighty hours of instruction in various subjects will be required of all members of the local unit of the civil air patrol, Maynard Craig, commander, announced this afternoon.

Craig said that subjects listed formed the "basic course" of study and that all members were required to take it.

Next June
"Some members of the local unit apparently have the idea that this is all in fun," Craig said. "They had better get that idea out of their heads right now and buckle down to their work."

The commander said that ground drills will be held next Sunday at 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. at the airport and that "every member is expected to be present at one or the other of these two times." Weekly practice observation flights will take off at 2 p. m. that same day, weather permitting.

Subjects and hours of study which will be required of each member follow:

- 1. Military courtesy and discipline;
- 2. Infantry drill regulations for foot troops without arms; 20; local civilian defense familiarization; 2; first aid course for civilian defense; 20;
- 3. Interior guard duty; 4; defense against gas; 4; crash procedure; 6; organization of the army air force; 2; organization of the office of civilian defense; 2.

Practice Flights
Practice observation flights last Sunday saw three ships pilot a course which ended up at Falls City and two planes to Harlowen. Flights in flight one were Charles Reeder, Don Hutchinson and Joe Stevens, while observers were Junior McClain, Bill Hoehn and C. M. Roberts.

Flights in flight two were Lionel A. Dean and Glen O. Jenkins with observers being Craig and Bud Larsen.

3,000 Deer Camp in Salt Lake As Heavy Snow Covers Fodder

By RICHARD W. JOHNSON
SALT LAKE CITY, March 17 (AP)—Three thousand deer bivouacked in Salt Lake City today and kept subsisting busy trying to protect them from humans who demanded protection from the deer.

Police admitted the public needed protection too because the deer were traffic hazards "in the same category as drunken drivers."

Unseasonal snow drove the deer from the canyons of Salt Lake basin in search of food. Some of them found it on the state capitol grounds where they nibbled buds on shrubs. Others beached through the city's suburbs to trespass on yards and gardens. A few approached within five blocks of the business district.

Wary police and deputy sheriffs tried to protect the horned marauders from dogs and bands of small boys and to appease irate home owners who flooded authorities with complaints. The deer, the callers said, were grazing on patches of newly green grass and shrubbery. Some of the officers became impatient.

"We're trying to save the deer from the humans," a desk sergeant snorted. "Not the humans from the deer."

One woman telephoned to report a "huge police dog" in her back yard, then exclaimed, "my goat, he's not horns." When she refused to accept a telephone explanation, police sent a squad car to shoot the deer away.

After a weekend snowfall of 24 inches, the deer wandered from their canyons yesterday and made their temporary home within the city and its suburbs. They readily approached the city because they had not learned to fear man in their game preserve homes.

The state game commission had maintained feeding stations at the mouths of canyons, but the supply failed to meet the demand yesterday.

The herd had only one casualty in its first day in the city. A young

RAYMOND CLAPPER, outstanding American journalist, will bring TIMES-NEWS readers important news from the key point in the far-flung World War front!

Last year Raymond Clapper flew to London, and according to Life Magazine, "his columns written from England made one of the most distinguished pieces of journalism since the war began."

Now Mr. Clapper is on his way to Cairo to bring you first-hand accounts of the latest and most important war developments. Why Cairo? Here is Mr. Clapper's reason in his own words:

"The danger is that Germany and Japan will join hands. If Germany breaks through Suez, and Japan completes her push across the Indian Ocean, those two powers can exchange raw materials and war production on a scale of complete self-sufficiency. At the same time our two most populous associates, China and Russia, would be all but cut off from outside supplies. The situation we face is not child's play."

And Cairo is square in the path of that gigantic pincer movement which Mr. Clapper fears. So he is off, by air, to take a look for himself and report back to his readers, including those of the Times-News.

WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT CLAPPER

"The quality that Jossie ago lifted Clapper out of the truck of columnists is his knack of translating some event into sound sense on the very day that people want to hear about it. Somehow he manages to hear things faster than the mass mind."

"America's No. 1 columnist, whose articles carry more weight than those of any other writer in the United States."—London Daily Mail.

"Clapper was the only comic commentator in the trade who really felt the gravity of the Japanese menace to our country."—Westbrook Pegler.

Four Dodgers In Lineup For Pirates

By ROBERT MYERS ... S. A. N. BERNARDINO, Calif., March 18 (AP)—There are four veterans with the Pittsburgh Pirates this year who were with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1939.

They are definite opportunities for the quartet in Manager Frisch's plans. He believes Phelps and Al Jones give him the best catching staff in the National League.

He thinks Waelder in right field will have a good year, and that the year-old Luke Hamlin will serve well on the mound, and it's too-early to bet on the pitching staff.

SERIAL STORY

KINGS ROW

BY HENRY BELAMANN

A LONELY LIFE
CHAPTER XXVII
PARRIS slipped quietly into the work of the hospital. The door opened at once familiar and a refuge. Kings Row had terrified him at first. Through the years of his absence he had remembered it with a sort of fatal affection. It had been a shock, a most unsettling shock to come with nothing and nothing to do but to wait whatever upon the actual truth.

In the kitchen Parris laid his hand on her arm. "Don't bother to make it. I just wanted to talk to you for a minute, anyhow." Her eyes darkened a little. "What's the matter, Parris? Is Drake...?" "It's all right. I just wanted to say that I think we've won in a very ticklish fight. I didn't know a year ago whether we could bring Drake back or not. I think we have."

Drake and Randy prospered during the next year. Parris watched over Drake with an anxiety that was not apparent to anyone except Randy. One thing she noticed particularly: Parris always led Drake away from reminiscence by appearing uninterested. More and more she saw Drake live in the present, and look with something like eagerness and faith to the future.

One evening as he was leaving he stopped at the door and looked quizzically at Randy. "Do you suppose you could give me a cup of coffee? It's pretty cold."

(To Be Continued)

Drake was now definitely started in business. Randy's own project for the reclaiming of the old neglected creek bottoms had been put into effect. In Herr Berdorf's old music teacher and pastor at the little German parish. Parris had a friend. But visits there, evenings with Drake and Randy, and seeking work at the hospital and with Dr. Nolan, were not enough to dispel the uneasiness he felt—the fear of returning to old haunts, the shadows, the remembrances of his old home; of Renee and the "secrecy" of her. Too disturbing, too, were events like the argument he had with the Reverend Cole of Presbyterian Church—his old church, services attended with his grandmothers, he remembered. Cole was a blunt, ha decided, and no man to be leading idle minds. They met in the office of banker Patterson, and before many moments their words were sharp, with Cole quoting Scripture and Parris retorting.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith
It was the largest funeral Kings Row had ever seen, with the Presbyterian church crowded to the last seat of the high gallery. Parris attended the services, for the intelligence of hearing the Reverend Cole preach a lengthy service on "a great prophet of God" was also a tribute to his God.

ARTHUR FLIGHT STILL IS MYSTERY

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—War department officials today maintained rigid silence here when Douglas MacArthur, his wife and two young children and his staff officers left the Philippines, but it was believed that they flew out in a large bomber, possibly a B-24, for a naval seaplane.

Military experts emphasized today that the flight was far from "letting the Philippines down" by transferring MacArthur to a seaplane rather than over of holding the Japanese at bay on Iloilo peninsula and eventually winning back the Philippines.

Special broadcasts went out across the Pacific to the Philippines last night and today urging the Filipinos to take new hope for their liberation because their hero, MacArthur, will do his best to reinforce the defenders of the Bataan front.

Military men also found significance in the disclosure that Francis B. Sayre, Philippines high commissioner, has arrived safely in Honolulu by plane and is en route to Washington to report.

The fact that Sayre as well as MacArthur was able to leave the Philippines was said in informal quarters to provide "irrefutable proof" that the Japanese have been unable to blockade the islands completely despite their propaganda claims.

These routes of escape for MacArthur and Sayre may well become avenues for the dispatch of reinforcements, it was added.

KIDNAPERS TAKE TWO OGDEN MEN

OGDEN, March 18 (AP)—Two Ogdens men who were held up in a garage here Tuesday night were kidnaped, driven to Cheyenne, Wyo., in a stolen auto, and released there at 6:50 a. m., Police Captain C. K. Ketter said.

Captain Ketter reported he was informed the kidnaping was done by two men, and he added possibly they were the men involved in the Salt Lake City murder of Clarence A. Howell, retired letter carrier, earlier this week, he being investigated. It was understood the FBI is working on the case.

The Ogdens men kidnaped were Ira Gourley, 1133 Porter, operator of the Ogdens Auto club, 2347 Kleefer, and Jimmie Giles, 6715 Thirteenth, one of his employees.

Captain Ketter said the holdup and kidnaping occurred between 9:15 and 9:30 p. m. Tuesday. He said 427 was my home from the coast register. Apparently the trip to Cheyenne was made in an auto stolen from the garage.

The two men reported to Cheyenne police as soon as they were released. Captain Ketter said, upon hearing from Cheyenne.

Seaman Tells of Shooting Nippon Airplanes Down

SEATTLE, March 18 (AP)—Robert McCoy, 18, seaman first class, told his mother and father here today as good as they claim to be and "there are a few more won't see the rising sun."

His letter to Mrs. Lillian McCoy apparently described the attack week of the Chinese islands in which the navy department said all but two of 18 Japanese bombers were shot down.

The letter said the first wave of 12 planes came over his ship "having seen us for the first time." "Of course we were fighting them off," the letter said, "and after that the second wave came but three left in the air. When one of them was shot down it would come straight down in the water and explode with a terrific noise. Some of them would catch fire; others would be shot down in the water and explode. About ten got away (maybe) and after a while seven more came and they were all shot down. You can see by this, that the Japs aren't as good as they claim to be at least there are few that won't see the rising sun again."

Comedian First to Get Number Drawn in Movie Industry

HOLLYWOOD, March 18 (AP)—Jerry Colonna, banjo-eyed film comedian with the handkerchief, was "buzeyed" today over his low draft number.

"Less, this leaves me speechless," he said. "And buzeyed. Look at me, I'm dumbfounded!"

Stage and screen dancer Fred Astaire's number was the 15th drawn which apparently gave him the next lowest number among film people.

Astaire, 42, is married and has three children. Other film stars subject to draft classification include Mickey Rooney, Clark Gable, Gene Kelly, Spencer Tracy, James Cagney and Bing Crosby.

JAPAN BOMBARDS SOLOMON ISLES

CANBERRA, March 18 (AP)—Japanese airplanes today rained Tula, in the Solomon islands, in renewing thrusts toward the allied supply line from America to Australia.

Prime Minister John Curtin said that three enemy flying boats carried out the first attack on Tula and the Florida was bombed too. In the first raid the flying boats dropped 18 bombs from an altitude of 1,000 feet, causing some damage.

The second attack on Tula was made by 14 flying boats and five heavy bombers. Little damage was done.

The Japanese push into the Solomons, which first had been reported late last week near Buika island, was regarded here as an effort to edge closer to the sea route over which American reinforcements come, presumably in an effort to cut it.

3,000 MONTHLY AIRPLANE OUTPUT

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP)—Production Chief Donald M. Nelson's airplane production figures today indicated that American factories are turning out 3,000 planes a month.

In a radio talk last night, he said that since Pearl Harbor, aircraft production had increased more than 50 per cent.

Plane production figures have not been announced since last October when 1,217 were being turned out each month. Using that figure, Nelson's statement would put current production over 2,500, but it was assumed that the production rate in-

If the increase of 50 per cent each three months can be maintained during the remaining months of 1942, President Roosevelt's goal of 60,000 planes this year will be attained and possibly topped.

While American weapons are "the best in the world" and the nation's factories are making lots of them, Nelson warned in his speech that there was no reason for "false complacency."

"We need more and forever more of these weapons, and we need them now," he said. "We have got to realize the value of time."

Spring Fashions

LIVE A LIFE OF BEAUTY FOR THE BOYS ON DUTY

Every hero needs a heroine for whom's loveliness epitomizes more than any other one thing all that he believes worth fighting for. Country, home, family. These he is protecting. And it is the picture of the woman he loves—confident, courageous, beautifully groomed, which renews for him, with every fond glance, the inspiration to fight gallantly on!

WOMEN'S SPRING DRESSES TAKE "FOLLY OUT OF FASHION"

'Folderol' Absent in Newest Frock Offering for Miladies

The most normal, "easy to take" things in America right now are women's clothes—especially dresses.

And don't start punning about "shop-lifting," either.

American stylist this spring realized that they must take the "folly out of fashion" because depleted incomes, added defense disbursements, demanded it.

And you see the results in the Twin Falls women's wear departments and apparel shops.

Fundamental

Dresses are fundamental, the kind that are easy to get into and forget about, and practically every dress has a jacket of some sort.

It takes it hard to tell whether you should call it a suit or a dress.

The dresses are minus folderol, merely tailored, trimly cut and surprisingly good in "material" value.

They keep up a woman's appearance and boost her morale because they are practical and at the same time attractive. But you'll have to look for another adjective than "cute" to describe them.

The prevalent military trend was to be expected—pockets, buttons and belching the front of the dress.

O. Henry once said of the well-dressed woman, "Her dress fitted her figure with fidelity and discretion."

Apparently the designers of the print fabrics that have found their way to Twin Falls shops, have been reading O. Henry.

Fit With Discretion

The floral designs, the geometrics in pattern and color that they are selecting for are in the spaced prints, and in the blithe jersey, appearing in flower prints.

They are alluring, try them on yourself and see.

Polka dots have popped out like the measles this spring. Paper hats as for color, just so-so.

Foams of white are at the necks of some of the best "navy" in this year.

White prints are as white as the light, are not as harshly gaudy as in some seasons, and pastel colors tend to bid for popularity.

"Air Warden" Model

The most practical dress this spring is the "air warden" model, made in general fabrics and colors, and distinguished by pockets on the blouse and on the skirt.

But a woman always feels that she dressed her best when it comes to formal gowns.

Newest version of the evening gown is the halter, a capacious, youthful style that comes in taffeta, jersey and chintz, and not be surprised if you see a ratty velvet coming down the bottom of the skirt.

Giddy Cuff Links On Classic Shirts

Blouses and sweaters will be important, of course, in view of the wide street on suits. Classic shirts are in as usual, but with the new note of fringed cuffs plus the addition of cuff links.

There is the softer shirt, with fringed cuffs and fringed edges for interest.

Finally there is the frankly frilly blouse with its huge ruffled jacket or its exquibale embroidery.

Sweaters have at last taken a turn away from the standard pullover and cardigan toward the dressier blouse type.

Not fancy by any means, just newer with little self-trims or crocheted or knitted wool.

Heir to Throne

Here's the young lady who may succeed Helen Schaffner as woman's national driving champion.

She's 15-year-old Patsy Eason, of San Francisco, coached by Phil Patterson, who also handles Queen Helen. Patsy slipped and bowed splendidly.

She already shows evidence of the unswerving ability which characterizes Helen.

Belts take on different look when adopted by versatile schoolgirls.

Many come in felt with practical embroidery and suspenders to match.

Or, leather belts are studded with medallions like cowboy's, and come with canutes or wood skirts.

A practical fashion that has stepped out of classroom bounds is the dicky, perfect for giving that blouse-underneath-look when there's no such thing.

They come in many colors plain or monogrammed with the wearer's name or initials, and may be had in Peter Pan style or pointed collar types.

Time when most of the amusing gadget-fashions had to be contrived by the girls themselves.

How-ever gadgets have become a main part of the school wardrobe as sweaters or pearls, and today there are constantly new ideas in wear-ables waiting for adoption by this gadget loving set.

See in local shops entering to their whims.

Conservation Vital In Defense Effort

Conservation is a vital part of the defense effort, and remodeling is a definite something everyone can do to conserve clothing.

Fine materials will be a premium due to the rationing of goods for civilian use, and the value of good workmanship will play an important part in the conservation of things.

Narrow skirts, high waists, out-of-date blouses or general materials, can be remedied by adding new material, giving a commercial pattern, or making the desired changes. Or garments can be cut down into jackets, blouses, etc.

Plan your remodeling carefully before ripping and cutting to conserve for victory production.

INTEREST GAINS IN PRINT DRESS

The style story for 1942 spring fabrics has been printed on yards and yards of new rayon weaves that are such a part of the mounting interest in this as the character of the designs.

America's fabric creators have designed in this fashion from world-wide sources but have employed the advantages of their country's own man-made yarn.

They have found new ways of setting off the du Pont rayon, for example, are found on such diversified grounds as dull peach-smooth textures, fine line creases with fluted effects, and creases with a flattering drape, rich Canton type, marocain or rough crepe, and textured surfaces in different treatments.

Shantung weave grounds are seen, also rice crepe in which rayon "folds" are introduced for a decorative effect on a crisp, cool, sheer print ground.

Linen type print, ground, and a new, handkerchief weight to full-bodied textures for sportswear.

Color Impact

Rayon's affinity for color is noted in the purely white grounds, the depth of the blacks and bright colors, and the clarity of the pastels.

For example, a new rayon crepe comes with white flowers and dark downlooks on saddle blue, black, and white.

Over wide scroll design, seen in jacket frocks, is featured on a shantung, also, also rice crepe in which rayon "folds" are introduced for a decorative effect on a crisp, cool, sheer print ground.

Color Impact

Rayon's affinity for color is noted in the purely white grounds, the depth of the blacks and bright colors, and the clarity of the pastels.

For example, a new rayon crepe comes with white flowers and dark downlooks on saddle blue, black, and white.

Over wide scroll design, seen in jacket frocks, is featured on a shantung, also, also rice crepe in which rayon "folds" are introduced for a decorative effect on a crisp, cool, sheer print ground.

BEIGE AND BLUE TOP COAT COLD

Beige or blue-it doesn't matter which—is the color most popular with Twin Falls and Magic Valley women who are buying spring coats.

They are bought by a wide variety of women, but the quality is an equally important consideration for many women are buying now "the good spring clothes" they expect to be wearing for two or three seasons.

Taking their place with the plain blues and beiges are pastel plaids in all combinations, a few gold, white or rose colored models and as always, navy blue and black.

For trim is found on many coats, and more vivid colors are found in some of the plaid sweaters in coats. Some are fitted, some are casual, some are belted check rounds, others are belted only from the sides and tied in front and others are strictly shopped.

There is almost any type of feminine shopper has her heart set on, but most of them seem to have their eyes on the best clothes and are majority are buying three-piece suits instead of one—"killing two birds with one stone."

Gaberline, a e.g., herringbone tweeds, camel hair, rough tweeds, flannels, and broadcloths they're all on the suit and coat racks of Twin Falls merchants. Basic colors are the most popular, but some are worn to give a "new" costume for several seasons, are selling fastest.

War Effect Later

The war has yet to affect the styles, for skirts are as long as ever, and in some cases longer. And wool content remains unaltered.

When autumn rolls around, though, there'll be a different picture in the Twin Falls window stores, who explained that merchandise now offered for sale was purchased by the Twin Falls merchants.

Let next fall bring with it what it will, suits and coats now are "new" and Magic Valley window stores are going to be beautifully prepared for any shortage in that department, or several years to come.

Patriotic Duty To Keep Beauty During Wartime

There is no doubt that one's personal appearance helps greatly to build up one's morale. This is true more than ever in these times, and therefore becomes part of the patriotic duty of American women in this trying time to do what they can to keep up appearances.

Of course the basis of all good looks is health, for no matter how carefully you use make-up, it will do little good if that most precious of beauty aids, your skin, is lacking. It is a well-known fact that our health depends, to a large extent, on our diet and that is why we must all have sufficient quantities of the protective foods—milk, fruit and vegetables.

Milk contains all the vitamins and is the richest food source of calcium, which not only keeps teeth strong and teeth beautiful, but also helps to clear the skin and keep it bright and clear.

For example, you can add meat, fish, poultry, cheese and a moderate amount of eggs and fat.

If you will follow these simple rules of nutrition, you will improve both your health and appearance. For remember that your morale is usually only as good as the way you look.

Red, White, Blue Hankies Slated

Red, white and blue are favorite colors in new handkerchiefs to be had in the early spring.

Gray, blue and white are also popular. The U. S. Service—stars and stripes, anchors, and other patriotic motifs and others.

In a more mellow mood are the prints in a variety of floral patterns. Here realistic blossoms are scattered informally over backgrounds of white, blue and white.

They include tulips—deep purple, wine and gold—carnations, ranunculus, roses, violets, cornflowers, sweet peas, anemones, morning glories and field flowers.

Costume Suits Are Proved Versatile

The in-between versatility of spring, the costume suit is a welcome addition to any wardrobe, because it is the only dress that can be worn as a dress without the jacket and as a suit with the jacket.

The war has created a spring perennial favorite, in some sport types, others in semi-casual and dressy styles.

They are in semi-casual and dressy styles, and are being worn in keeping with the trend toward more functional clothes, and easily adapted to any occasion.

The dress is usually in one shade or print with the jacket matching.

HAT MAKES HALF THE DRESSY LOOK

If you see a smartly dressed woman, you can give HATS the credit for her choice of hat.

That's the importance our Twin Falls milliners say places on a woman's "topper."

Watch the hat parade go by at the spring style shows a few weeks, and you'll see what an important "50 per cent" of an outfit a hat can be for street, town and dress wear.

Proportioned Hats

The fronts of hats began to change with the advent of the pompadour coiffure. New women can be grateful to the hat designers who have proportioned hats to match the back of the head.

Distinguished, neat numbers to be worn with suits are the becoming fedoras, and the fallow caps that are being shown locally.

MILADY'S SHOES WILL BE BRIGHT WITH RIOT OF COLOR

Heels Are High or Low—With No In-Betweens on 1942 List

To be in step with style this spring, your shoes are bright—red, orange—and they're high or they're low when it comes to heels. There's no happy medium! Local stores have heels of all heights, but milady is buying them low because she expects to do a lot more walking than in past years, and she's buying them high to go with her "morale booster" costumes.

COATS AND SUITS GIVE SPRING LIFT

Green Popular Kelly Green is next on the list of favorites, followed by beige and black in third place. Milady's wardrobe is the daily increasing volume of play shoes sold. Besides the fact that women of today are planning to walk, and want comfort as well as style, they're all the more likely to buy shoes that are comfortable, easy to slip on and off, and that they can wear with their blue two or three-piece suits to express their patriotism.

Fables by Autumn The war, as yet, has not materially affected woman's shoes, but by autumn she will have to wear a different fabric-type shoe. They explained that the leather market has been frozen. A shortage of leather but because of the shortage of leather, it will be difficult to tan the leather, and that fabrics will take their place.

They wanted that fine kid leather shoes would be a thing of the past "for the duration" for the kid skin which they are made from France and Italy, where the kids are "rained in the home" to prevent them from getting any scratches or scars of any type to their hides.

Domestic hides could be used for this purpose if American growers would go to the "trouble" of handling their stock with "sieves" instead of turning them loose to cut and tear themselves on barbed wire fences, brush and rocks. It was revealed.

All-white dress shoes will not be the favorite of past seasons for red and white, red and blue and red and tan combinations are much more popular with the war-conscious woman who recognizes that her appearance is an asset to the morale of the men in service.

Heading into spring with a prize winning collection of hats is Your Men's Hat Shop which offers their contributions to sartorial elegance.

Snaps are hung on, and many more and dress styles put in an appearance in their complete stock. Go down and see them today for the hat suited to your features and mode of dressing.

A New Slant

Local salaried men and women are expected to attend the annual banquet of the Legion of Women's Auxiliary at the Memorial building, Forty-one members were seated at three large tables which were decorated in patriotic colors, with red, white and blue tapers.

The evening opened with the singing of the national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," followed by songs by the Legion, "Sing by Mrs. Harry Stoner, Mrs. R. A. Baumgardner, Mrs. W. W. Stone and Mrs. Lambert E. Pickett. Miss Ruth Kelley was accompanist.

Mrs. E. Pickett, auxiliary president, was hostess and an address of welcome, with Commander E. C. Hahn responding for the Legion.

Mrs. Stoner presented Legionnaires with several birthday cakes which she had baked and decorated. Margery Kinsey sang a group of songs, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Pickett.

Mrs. William Floyd, community service chairman, introduced Mrs. Betty Mabbutt, local Camp Fire guard, who gave an interesting and enlightening talk on "What Camp Fire is What it does for the community, and what the community can do for Camp Fire."

After dinner, "Coke walk" was held and singing and dancing enjoyed. Committees included: table, Mrs. Frank Clem and Mrs. Stoner; and menu, Mrs. Elwood Werry and Mrs. Ross Borden.

hospes, and 20 guests showered the bride with gifts and good wishes. This was the evening's diversion.

Bridal colors of pink and white were worn in elaborate and paper decorations for the gift table, and in table linens and menu for the occasion. The effect of the symmetrical design—an angel sleeve, a white shoulder bare—is highlighted by a Victorian checker of black velvet and pearls.

"Escape" From Taxes, War

For unadulterated madness, the kind that drives strong men crazy, you cannot beat some of California's more daring new spring hats. For instance, decorating this pale blue felt sailor, worn by Brenda Joyce, are eight tiny stars in different colors and shapes, fastened to slim stems that wave in the breeze.

Giddiness Again Seen In This Spring's Hats

HOLLYWOOD — Prepare for a hop from the menfolks. One of those usual "Why do women wear such hats?" howls. That is, if the spring bonnets that have been turned out by California's designers catch on as they seem to be already. Giddiness is going to our heads once again.

The reason? Designers have only one answer: People want to feel bright, they say. Here is some "trouble" from war and taxes. You can take your mind off any troubles with these hats. With a miscellany of field flowers over your right eye, how can you feel down in the dumps? Perkys sprawl in dashing colors, with brilliant veiling that covers the hearts of evildoers in sight.

Cloche is Out Strangely enough, that down-the-back, drooping over the shoulders line that flooded the market this winter, has almost disappeared among the spring numbers. The cloche is totally absent. Instead, the hat, but suits, dresses and slacks to sladden feminine eyes. Huge epaulettes, cartwheels, tiny broken champagne mounds and a hint of softness above, smooth-lined skirts that breathe into well-dressed, "hobby" coats, huge pockets. Materials, too, are new—saberlines with the faintest of checks, ribbed, checked, striped, checked, and lush anora or chablis hair fabrics in pastels or brilliant, sun-drenched hues.

It's as though "Spring, '42" were made to order for the junior miss. Her casual clothes are loved so much are definitely in the limelight. All over the fashion scene demands a girl's good tailoring and color—details that she's grown to demand over a period of years.

Snappy Dress Clothes to Help Keep up Morale of Americans

All of us would do well to start the spring season of 1942 with the spirit of the brilliant pledge recently made by the New York Dress Institute of America in general.

The verve and dash of capes on coats and dresses—full skirted about the spring season of 1942 with the spirit of the brilliant pledge recently made by the New York Dress Institute of America in general.

We all understand that many aspects of pleasant living must be given up because of priorities. Such sacrifices will be willingly made but for patriotic reasons, we should give up only those things that need giving up.

We in America can profit by the experience of England. At the outbreak of the war English women, in eagerness to get down to serious work, found themselves adopting a more utilitarian dress. This was soon found to be depressing, thereby serving the enemy's purpose.

History is repeating itself! In the past, feminine fashions became more glamorous, more brilliant, more feminine than they had been before. So with an historical precedent, spring fashions of 1942 are already striking a note of glamorous femininity.

A Forward March INTO Spring

FASHION SHOW THURSDAY, MAR. 19, 8 P. M. Radio Rondevo

San Francisco and Los Angeles combined forces at the recent spring fashion showings in Los Angeles. Flowers are here in full force—fisk ones, small ones, middle-sized ones—cultivated or wild. Ribbons flowing in profusion and you can't escape veils—almost invariably in contrasting tones. This is all very startling, but you consider that California has been noted for the hairlessness of its women in the past.

Like other women, stars are individuals and vary widely in their choices. Because simplicity has not been overlooked, you will find Linda Darnell skipping the iron-rod and choosing a huge picture hat for her first spring bonnet. Of magenta gingham, it is worn to frame her lovely face and is trimmed only with a swathe of the finest veiling—in Kelly green.

For attic madonnas of the sort that gives strong men pop-eyed palpitation of the brain-pan—take the thought that Brenda Joyce has for her "Right to the Heart" picked out for herself. It is a sailor in light blue felt with a small, simple black and white trim, smack in the front, is the real news. It is a bouquet of white, pink and blue, in various shapes and colors, fastened on slim stems that wave in the breeze. The hats as shown when designers from vells is brown.

Crown Treated rayons in these "stiff" spring veranda. Soft rayon crepes that "take" draping are perfect for the new over-skirts and side draped effects; and these, too, even in their black and navy versions, accent femininity by use of white lingerie and lace trills and furbeles. Very much in the Cowart manner.

Colors do not lag behind—with strong "shock" colors leading in the fashion column. The bright, alight green of fresh spring grass is perhaps the quietest single color for accent—in prints—or in jackets or details of black, brown or navy fashions. A decidedly orange tomato-red is being highlighted as an exclusive high fashion color of rising significance.

Any conveys a spring perennial of course; black puts in an appearance, and brown is a rising star. However, dark colors this year demand sharp accents of brilliant color or white. In the neutral tones beige is far and away the big popular color, with gray highlighted for "inclusives."

THE FORCES of FASHION BRILLIANT

TO DO THEIR PART SPRING and SUMMER, 1942 TO PRESERVE THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE

FASHION is a VITAL FORCE to a free nation at war as well as in peace. Fashion can play a big part in our defense effort. Fashion is a powerful builder of morale. Fashion is one expression of the freedom for which we're fighting.

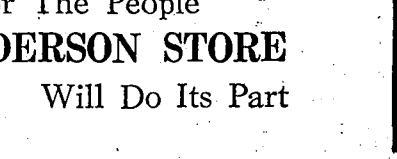

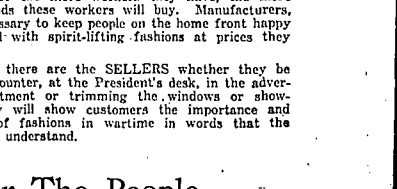

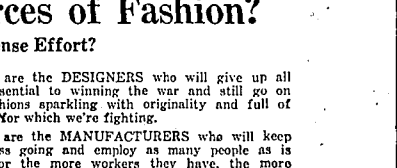

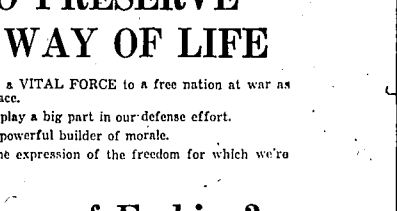

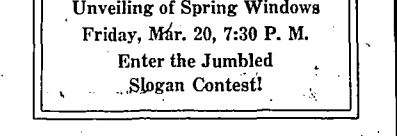

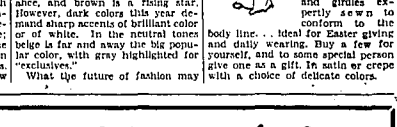

What Are The Forces of Fashion? How Can They Contribute to the Defense Effort?

First, there are the DESIGNERS who will give up all materials essential to winning the war and still go on creating fashions sparkling with originality and full of individuality for which we're fighting.

Then, there are the MANUFACTURERS who will keep their business going and employ as many people as is possible. For the more workers they have, the more Defense Bonds these workers will buy. Manufacturers, too, are necessary to keep people on the home front happy and satisfied with spirit-lifting fashions at prices they can afford.

And finally, there are the SELLERS whether they be behind the counter, at the President's desk, in the advertising department or trimming the windows or show cases. They will show customers the importance and worthiness of fashions in wartime in words that the customer can understand.

THREE STYLES IN SPRING TOPCOATS

The man who is buying a topcoat in the spring of 1942 can be absolutely certain that the garment is right for the season. He follows three style rules. One of these is to buy a single-breasted coat, second is to get a coat with the fur front, and third is to be sure that the shoulders are broad and that the coat comes at least to the knees and possibly slightly below.

Although styles in topcoats seldom change noticeably from season to season, the reason for this year's new to have been made with an eye to their ultimate value and the conservative lines that will remain good year after year.

Favorite Colors
Drowns and grays are favorite colors and while there are the usual bright tweed cover again holds the top spot, particularly in the lighter weight garments. Cover comes in shades of tan, brown, gray, and goes through any number of browns. Many of the grays are in tweed and a goodly number of them have interwoven dials, diagonals, herringbone,hound's tooth and some contrasting colors.

The coats this year are cut full and many have a feeling that the main factors took into account the nights the garments might be on the street to hold their wearers in the city. The pockets are larger; many of them are patch pockets and many to hold their wearers in the city. The pockets are larger; many of them are patch pockets and many to hold their wearers in the city.

Full Garment
In the topcoat market there is an increase this spring in the full garment coat, and there is a trend toward the beginning of a return to the trench model. This is in line with the tendency to all branches of dress to simulate the military note. While the garments are made of heavy materials, they show a decided utilitarian character that they are not only for raincoats, are warm enough for spring and fall topcoats and, in addition, can be used for protection by the man who suddenly finds himself an officer with a commission.

In line with topcoats, it is expected that there will be an increase in the number of light-colored coats and also windbreakers and the like. Some of these are lined and many of them have anple linings which give them added value should they be used in any one of the numerous branches of war work.

PATRIOTIC TREND FOR SPRING HATS

The tide of a nation depends not only upon its fighting men and ammunition, but also upon its winning women. Courage, cheerfulness, serenity, poise and femininity are the parts given women to play in the actual world drama in which this nation is engaged.

Highly woman to achieve and maintain these attitudes of courage and cheer, of feminine loveliness and femininity, she must carry with her in her heart, will be the clothes they wear.

Hats also are necessary to the costume, for protection to the hair, and for giving a finished, well-groomed look. No woman is considered completely dressed unless she is wearing a hat, and upon no quality does a woman's poise and courage count more, than upon the feeling of being well-groomed and completely dressed.

"Fleather Red" as launched at the annual spring millinery fashion show in New York, is one of the significant colors of the season. The pink and red shades which are related to red, also are important. Yellow and warm brown have their place, and match the color of the sky—or the color of the eyes.

As for alopecia, here also is a fashion story. Alopecia are as varied as the day. Little hats die forward, and are massed with flowers and veillings; big hats droop tall, and are massed with flowers and veillings; big hats droop tall, and are massed with flowers and veillings; big hats droop tall, and are massed with flowers and veillings.

Elmo Farrar sang "South of the Border" after which Mrs. Jones sang "The Star-Spangled Banner." Mrs. Kuntz, music director of the school, stated that this great country is the most progressive and stable country of South America. The people of this country are still unopposedly very courteous and many old Spanish customs are still followed.

In speaking of Brazil, Mr. Pierce stated that this great country is 2,500 miles from east to west and the same from north to south. Much of this country is still unopposedly and impenetrable jungle. The Amazon river drains most of this country, the world's greatest river. It was settled and settled in about 1500 by the Portuguese, who held it until 1622. And if I might comment, Germany has served the value of friendly relations with South America before we had gained trade advantages that South Americans are only now repudiating.

Grangers from all over the state will do so, and extend sympathy to the brother and sister Grangers in the death of Mrs. Jones' father, death occurring last week. Also we extend sympathy to Brother Gordon and Mrs. Gordon. Mrs. Gordon's father had been a member of the Grange and was a half mile south and one and a half miles west on the Castleton road.

FEMININITY SEEN IN SPRING STYLE

"To all the world men who fear that the female of the species will spend twenty-four hours a day in a uniform, here are some words which should be encouraging," says Mollie Fernia, noted dress designer. "I predict that come spring, women will react quite violently to the masculine efficiency of tailors' uniforms and to dressy femininity."

That "little touch of white" this year has the general frivolity and crispness of bonnet trim added to navy blue wool jersey, moire or crepe. A practical note is provided in lingerie touches that bring on.

Prominent too, are dainty prints of all sizes and colors; in applied ribbons of dainties on black or background prints, as a border on the hem of the dress or a stripe of tiny dainties to outline the bust.

Rich-colored buttons and belts make their appearance too, possibly because they may be worn in uniform as well as a smart coat contrast with navy.

Print dresses with your waist-jackets, tiered skirts, usually banded in white, these wool jersey dress and jacket outfits that somehow remain feminine in spite of an exceedingly practical note.

SOLDIERS STILL APPRECIATE GIFT

Don't forget the men in the armed forces just because Christmas is long past! Remember that they're glad to receive gifts from home at any time for they're doing a year-round job, and they deserve year-round consideration.

With all the stress on knitting this past winter, and on sending "warm things" to the soldiers, one is apt to forget that in spring his needs are different. Warm weather can be uncomfortable too, if one is not prepared for it. So thoughtful people will send light-weight garments to their friends in the various services this year.

SPORT SHIRTS IN FAVOR IN SPRING

The increasing trend toward casualness in men's clothes again places sport shirts in the foreground for spring. Not only does the sport shirt go country clubbing and serve for general wear with slacks, but many are so expertly tailored, they go to business with equal aplomb.

The greater part, color plays an important role in the sport shirt picture. Plaids are seen but not popular in well-tailored masculine wardrobe, and with the increased care in styling and tailoring, preferences to play an important role in the spring sportswear.

'Waste Warden' Helps Women In Efficiency, Conservation

Every woman in the United States is interested in helping to aid the war effort. Inevitably there will be shortages of many household items and clothing materials during the course of the war, and there already is a need to conserve.

Early in February, the Kleenex Rubber company, sponsored the "Waste Warden" movement to help American women become a part of this great conservation enterprise.

"Waste Wardens" are being instructed through radio programs, lectures and organized club activities, to save for family and defense. Many, organized through their local clubs, meet to pool their ideas, but no organization is actually necessary.

Every American woman can be a "Waste Warden." Her plan of attack is centered around an inventory of the family's possessions and what they need, planning a budget and buying wisely—methods of utilizing worn things into smart, like-new possessions.

TWIN FALLS STORES OFFER WIDE VARIETY OF MEN'S SUITS

Future Uncertain but Spring Display Not yet Hurt by War

As for men's suits of the future—your guess is as good as ours—but as for men's suits of this spring, they'll still have collars on them, there will still be vests with double breasted models and there'll still be cuffs on the trousers.

That much was determined by a Times-News reporter as he made a special tour of inspection of suits which will be on sale during the spring getting started in Twin Falls.

The pattern of things to come is almost a certainty at the present time, however, according to the local dealers. As one dealer put it:

These Are Coming
 "It is the consensus that a considerable number of simplification processes will be put into effect. What they will be, or how drastic, is anybody's guess right at the moment. Some of the things that have been decided upon, however, include the following:

"No vests with double-breasted suits; no two-trouser suits; shorter jackets; no inside belting pockets; no patch pockets; no pocket flaps; trousers narrower at the bottoms and at the knees; overalls and work coats will be shorter and without outside or inside patch pockets; suits will not have real cuffs, but unless additional restrictions are made will not have real cuffs, from offering distinctive styles.

Varied Colors
 Colors in suits this spring will more or less run the gamut and there will be a goodly supply to choose from at the Twin Falls stores.

One of the "most important" items in suits this spring will be that they are made with just the proper "turn" which enables just the right amount of color to show. Vests also have a new angle in most cases which prevent them from creating bulk. This is achieved by a correct balance in the shoulders and just the right amount of relation to the rest of the suit.

Suits for spring and summer will be in shades of blue, brown, tan, gray and tan. There will be all shades of these four colors as well as mixtures of them.

Topcoats
 Topcoats will be in the same combination. Sleeves will be full and length will be "enough."

This year more stress is being placed in getting the "right color for the right man" along this line, our local dealer provided the Times-News writer with a "comparison chart" which could go for all dealers. Here are some of the highlights of the chart:

The medium type should wear blue, gray just dark green and avoid red brown, light tan and extreme light gray.

The gray hair type should wear brown, blue or gray but should avoid tan, medium brown or grays too like their hair.

Dark Type
 The dark type should wear tan, light gray and powder blue but should avoid light brown, olive or olive green.

The blond type should wear dark brown, blue or tan but should give a wide berth to grays, light blue and green.

The Auburn type should wear brown, medium blue and dark green but should avoid light green, tan and extreme light gray.

The whole family has taken to riding bicycles and are depending on mass upon Your Shop, stocked with the best riding, safest two-wheelers in town.

Across the continent from Newfoundland to Alaska the Canadian government is building an aerial military "highway," a chain of radio beacons 250 miles apart, to guide planes crossing America in an emergency.

Double measure of chic—the combining of giant print with solid color. Here it's done in a rayon crepe dress as right for busy women to wear to committee meetings, as for an evening's party with that man on "leave."

COMFORT, COLOR IN BOYS' ATTIRE

Boys' clothing for spring will be mainly of the sports type—colorful and comfortable. In the opinion of managers of Twin Falls apparel shops for boys:

"Of course, the majority of parents will purchase sport wear for their sons over 10 years of age," said one store manager.

South central Idaho youth, it was learned, do not like formal suits as the boys do in the east. A Maple Valley boy wears a suit, usually medium dark, to church on Sunday, to parties occasionally, and to graduation events once a year.

Informal Attire
 "The rest of the time we'll find the boys wearing slacks, sport shirts, leather jackets and sport coats," it was stated.

Youth will be scarred in pleasing colors, tan, browns and blues. Gabardine and tweed cord will be the favorite materials.

"Women must follow style, as must men to a certain degree, but not so with the boys," said one manager. Style and comfort should prevail when it comes to boys' apparel. Anyone who has seen a boy at play knows that comfort comes first.

Service First
 "Women who buy the clothes for boys are interested first of all in service. It should be emphasized that new restrictions will not affect the quality of clothing for quite some time," it was stated.

Business has been better than usual and Twin Falls stores have good supplies of boys' clothing on hand for the spring demand.

Next year, of course, may be a different story, but there are no restrictions this spring," announced another manager at a Twin Falls store.

New Sweaters in Brighter Colors

Spring sweater styles are as varied as blossoms, achieving trim in thoroughly proportioned measurements and expert workmanship. There is a sweater for every figure type, to accessorize beautifully with tweed suit or evening attire.

For the boy's office or war worker, bright colored sweaters play a major role, because they lend themselves readily to a day of toil and a few simple additions to suit for fun after five. Not only do sweaters go to the office, to dinner and to class, but they also lend for play and leisure moments. They make companions to shirts and slacks in shades that blend or offer an interesting contrast.

Favored shades are blue-rose, blue, light red, chili green and other colorful and neutral shades.

Anyone having contributions to donate is asked to communicate with Ben Jensen, Kimberly, or Fern Jones, Co-op Oil Station, Twin Falls.

BUHL

Jack Breeman, owner of the Buhl Floral company, returned Wednesday from the two day regional convention of the Florists Television Delivery Association at Salt Lake City. He reported that many florists from the northwestern states and British Columbia, Canada, as well as noted speakers and artists from New York, Texas and other eastern states attended.

Mrs. George Marshall entertained the Devoe Creek Bridge club at dinner Friday. Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. O. R. White, Neil Larson, Mrs. Bob Larson and C. D. Meeke.

P. W. Joyce received a telegram that his brother, John Joyce, 65, Chicago, died there last Sunday night. He had been ill for three years, and is survived by three children.

Studies reveal oil trucks today are among the safest vehicles on the highway.

A Suit Worth Stopping for

Going places—taking the bus to save his car, and observing another kind of war economy by wearing a suit of long wearing, 100 per cent wool, in double-breasted styling. Seat, notched lapels and the strategy of buttons set to achieve a tapering waistline, are spring style preferences.

What's your pretty new hat with-out a hair-do to complement it? Your Beauty Shop has the answers ready to a day of toil and a few simple additions to suit for fun after five. Not only do sweaters go to the office, to dinner and to class, but they also lend for play and leisure moments. They make companions to shirts and slacks in shades that blend or offer an interesting contrast.

Favored shades are blue-rose, blue, light red, chili green and other colorful and neutral shades.

MONK-TYPE SHOE FAVORED BY MEN

For active duty both at home and in the armed forces, the monk type shoe is favored by most men, usually in a highly polished brown calf, although the moccasin style shoe also has its adherents. The conventional oxford and buckler with wing or straight lip is popular for business wear, suits in brown, in fact, easily wear, again in brown, in fact, brown dominates the entire footwear scene, because of its ability to team up successfully with sport clothes and business suits. (For evening wear, however, black patent leather still reigns supreme).

In recent years the increased participation of men in activities outside of business has created a demand for a new style and type of shoe, namely, leisure hour play footwear. Wide in range and type of fabric, they came in colors that are a radical change from sober brown or black. Dark green, russet, and yellow lead the fashion poll in fabric shades with ever favored brown in leather for leisure wear. The general feeling, the Norwegian moccasin has supplanted the saddle oxford, now relegated to active sports and campus wear. Other play shoes run the gamut of style from colored sandals to rugged, peasant type country shoes. Soles are often thick and in some cases are wedge heeled.

For wear with tweeds, the thick soled blucher is favored, the rugged brown leather is favored. The military influence also comes in for its share of attention, as noted in the swing toward highly polished leathers with the boomerang finish.

DRESS TO DANCE
 Newest women evening gowns is the ballerina, ankle-length dress of delicate cotton lace for slim figures. Romantic erenites, illuminated in the tropical mauve or applied with pique.

Ration Talk Booms Demands For Men to Fill Wardrobes

It's war time, and there is talk of rationing. This means that most well-dressed men are going to see to it that what they do buy and have this year will be selected with an idea of comfort, wearability and the prospect—particularly in sportwear—of interchanging coats and trousers to give the impression of many more outfits than they actually possess.

Shedding suits in the two-piece style, that is coat and trousers, are high fashion and will certainly top the sportwear market this spring. These come in a range of colors, some with stripes and others with herringbone weaves and occasional patterns. Tied are good in all shades and many of them have lighter shades, almost gold, worked in the designs. Other styles are in blue and tan combinations, and still others use soft tans combined with browns.

Single Breasted
 Most of these coats are single-breasted with three buttons, and the pockets are patch. Many of them have an extra cash pocket. The shoulders are not exaggerated and the coats, for the first time in several years, are slightly shorter. One of the great advantages of Sheldland is the fact that it does not take on a shine and it will wear well in fact. If you have to give it lots of use over the next few years, you can console yourself with the fact that it can be mended and patched and still look fresher than most materials.

Covert still holds a high place in the demand for the ever-popular gray flannel. You can get both covert and flannel in all shades and interchanges with a Sheldland for sports jackets. The same holds true of gabardine, and while the war may affect the quantity of this material on the market, its qualities for all-around use are not affected.

Stripes and Plaids
 Socks for sportswear still run in stripes and plaids, most of them tan and blue. The wool ones are full of color and can go with almost any combination of pants and coat you wear. Some of these are also in solid colors—yellow, blue, shades of tan and even white.

New Color
 One word about shirts for sportswear. There's a new color called Gabardine, which has made its appearance in the last few months at sports events over the country. It brings a resemblance to other shirts and looks tan with a gray suit and gray with a tan one. It doesn't look like a good idea to lay in an extra pair or two before the market changes.

STHIPS STAR
 The classic striped flannel suit continues to hold its own and this season will see it particularly featured in varying shades of blue, in some grays and in many shades of brown.

MEN'S HATS RUN TO TAN FOR 1942

Earlier forecasts for men will be tan, cactus or grayish tan, depending on the individual's choice. But for the time being, don't try to buy a light color hat. The war is on. While fashions from the continent of Australia can't be imported, that eliminates light hats. Robin blue for instance, is "out." Blame it on the Japs.

"Colors of men's hats will be guided by necessity," said a Twin Falls haberdasher. "But, regardless of the future, stores have good selections of hats on hand for the spring demand."

Shirts Plain

Men's shirts will be plainer than last year's. They will be lighter in color. But, all in all, it should be remembered that war-time restrictions on manufacturers will not limit selections this spring.

"Next year may be a different story. It appears certain there will be new and startling developments in men's accessories by that time," said another store manager.

For example, take suspenders and garters. Right now you can buy many pairs of suspenders and garters as you please.

Now, at next year. Less rubber will be available for suspenders and garters, because the armed forces need every ounce they can get.

That means something else will be holding up trousers and socks in 1943. What it will be is unknown right now. That's another of the men's accessories business interesting.

Silk Ties Still Here

"We thought silk would be less common after outbreak of the war, and we were wrong," said a haberdasher. "Silk ties, for example, will be easy to obtain this spring."

At present time there is an increased demand for men's accessories and Twin Falls stores have been busy to meet it. The store owner knows what the score will be.

A good idea is to buy men's accessories now. You can't choose Twin Falls managers all are wondering what's going to replace armor and suspenders come winter time.

Denim Costumes Highly Practical For Youngsters

"Practically exemplified" is the new, two or three-piece denim costumes for the child two to eight years old. Practically enough to "dress up" in and practical enough to wear when the "boss of the family" is making mud pies, the striped denim costumes are available as shorts or slacks with matching jackets, or as one-piece slacks.

They're an answer to a busy mother for clothes that are easy to launder and appropriate for most any event to which she might wish to take her child.

Capes for Dress-up

And for dressing up, what little girl doesn't like to wear capes? In one children's department of a local store, there's a combination five-piece cape outfit of light and dark blue wool and rayon that would put any female, six or six, "on top of the world."

The dark blue skirt has matching suspenders of the same material; the light blue coat is lined with red and has tiny gold buttons matching down its front; the dark blue cape has matching red lining and the light blue purse and combination light and dark blue military type hat give the costume that "final touch."

Interesting to note is the fact that the label tells the content of wool and rayon, and that the skirt bears a tag stating it was made from reused wool. There was no apparent difference in the material in it and the cape.

Not Changed Yet

Indicating that there would be no apparent change in children's costumes because of the war—except for military style notes—until next fall or a year from now, a saleswoman remarked that the only thing in which there was absolutely no wool was in men's infant's shirts.

Coping their mothers and older sisters, "older" young women are wearing more and more sport-type clothes and are approving the varied stock of ties, jackets and slacks which are offered for their selection in coats and suits in most Twin Falls stores.

Top Sergeant Needs a Couple Of Jackets to Carry Medals

Less than half of the 61 decorations won by Top Sergeant Corbett Meek take up about all the room there is on his jacket.

(By NEA Service)

PORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex.—If Top Sergeant Corbett Meek wanted to wear all his medals on one time, there wouldn't be room enough on his uniform coat.

The 42-year-old private of the U. S. Army in January, 1912, has won 61 decorations during his 30 years of active service.

Between battles in Mexico and in Europe during the World war, the collection has grown to the point that even on dress occasions, Meek could only pin on a few favorites.

Among the decorations are the Distinguished Service Cross, Silver Star, French Croix De Guerre, Verdun medal, World War campaign medal, distinguished marksmanship medal, and a small whitebarrow of others.

After his first re-enlistment, Meek saw action in the battle of Agua Prieta, Mexico, in 1915. When this country entered the World war, he was among the first to go, serving with Company H of the 11th Infantry in the trenches.

Battling in a revolution through the years, he added to it in the Moroccan sector, Toul, France, in 1918. In September, 1918, by capturing a German machinegun nest during a lone-wolf raid. He was in the midst

BRIGHTER COLORS LOOM IN SPRING

From a look at all of the new clothes, this is going to be the most colorful spring ever. From your hat to your shoes, you'll be wearing bright, eye-catching colors that are sporty-looking to wear as they are to see.

"Color for confidence" is the theme of the spring clothes selected by the National Retail Dry Goods Association. "Color for bravery"—it is felt that because of the war, women will want to help bolster morale by wearing bright invigorating colors.

The three chief families on the NREDA spring 1942 card are: bright colors (reds, blues and greens); new stronger pastels (gay pinks, warm yellows); and neutrals (blues and grays).

Browns Lead for Casual Clothes

Patent belts in darkest brown lead off for sports clothes and casual coats and suits. In dressmaking, detailed coats and suits, black is first with navy second, followed by beige and grayed blues. Navy is still the favorite spring dress color with flattering, feminine shades of rose and blue running second.

Beads the basic black dress that every woman wants in her spring wardrobe, there is a wide selection in your spring wardrobe, wear neutrals (blues and grays).

Colorful Accents

What could be lovelier with a navy or black costume than bright red in your hat, bag, gloves or even shoes? And of course the final patriotic touch with this red and blue outfit, wear fresh, white gloves. Brilliant Kelly green is a new accessory note with all the wonderful spring shades of brown, from beige to chocolate, for a real cheery look in your spring ensemble, wear neutrals (blues and grays). Try it in a hat, a pair of nylon gloves or in a sky blouse.

Leit need not mean a lack of variety in fashions when you shop at our four G. O. R. E. T. Besides fresh daily products, there are intangible suggestions and nudges at your disposal, to make your shopping a nutritious enjoyable period to look forward to. Defense Work Makes Slacks A New 'Must'

If there's a woman in Twin Falls who hasn't a pair of slacks by now—she isn't taking a first aid course! Once upon a time slacks were reserved for outlogs and sports events; then they became something to wear when doing the housework, and now they are the uniform of war workers, defense workers and "course takers."

Slack Jumps

All local merchants agree that the sale in slacks has jumped tremendously since Pearl Harbor. They helped that popularity by assembling the newest available in slacks suits, in a variety of materials and colors.

Slacks have a "little sister" this spring. Half-way slacks they're called, and are the best things yet for traveling—another pastime that will become more and more popular as "transportation curtailment" continues.

Some prefer culottes to slacks and skirts for tennis. Their preference are catered to, also, but the culottes of this spring are far better fitting than the "first of their kind."

Palm Beach Material

Going back to slacks, one local establishment carries a slacks suit of palm beach material that has a longer-than-usual jacket. Purchasers of this outfit, claim, they feel less conspicuous.

Jerkins are so popular with the younger set during the winter and early spring, as dress toppers, that it's not surprising to find them in the "black work" this spring.

With everyone in full cry to keep fit, keep strong, keep supple, the play clothes of other seasons are "new" clothes of this spring. Kelly green is one of the most popular colors in sportswear this season.

Denim pinafores have been purchased by local merchants for those who are going "all out" for gardening. And for planting and weeding there is nothing better.

In the class of spectator sportswear, slacks, and more slacks, are the order of the day.

They come in seersuckers, chambray, corded cordons, linens, palm beach cloth and flannels, and are a spring and summer necessity.

Blouses Help in Suit 'Character'

With suits the big news in fashion this spring, it is only logical that blouses should take some share of the honors. For it is the blouse that determines the immediate character of the suit, transforming it from a tailored outfit to a softer, more feminine ensemble. This season dressmaker type as well as classic slacks are very much in vogue.

For example, there is the "softened" shirtwaist... of simple, familiar lines but with just a touch of fagoting. Then there is the Russian type blouse with its loose appearance, looser waist, and buttoned shoulders.

Latin Americans Send U.S. Jewelry

There is much interest anew in costume jewelry inspired by Latin America. In this group are the original silver pieces made by our southern neighbors as well as pieces made here from their designs and materials. Strings of nuts, seeds and polished woods make necklaces and bracelets. Felt, cut into the shape of birds or flowers, form pins and earrings.

It's a slack season all year round and even more so in spring! Ready with the trimmings, fitting, best looking slacks in many a day in Your Shop, in a wide choice of woollens, gabardines spun and rayons that come in many different colors and patterns. Wear them for lounging, for play and for convenience when you go to your defense course.

The Bunny family moved to town and have established headquarters for the younger toy-loving set at Your Shop. It's an occasion to have an invitation for all ages to view the wonders of the land of make-believe. Real, though, are the many playthings, both educational and amusing that were made to delight lucky children on Easter day.
