The British communiqué stressed that it was an "air raid" and said virtually nothing else.

The choice of British for this latest raid operation was second on the French coast, appeared significant in view of the contention of some "neutral" and "non-aligned" states that the British could see and hold a line across that 100-mile wide peninsula.

Following up the daring attack by the commando, strong force of German's most prized French armor, as well as Brest, the port which supplies the main German air bases which caused 13 German fighters to be destroyed.

HITLER USES "DIVIDE AND CONQUER" PLAN IN PROPAGANDA

NAZI OBJECTIVES IN U. S. OUTLINED

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—The office of facts and figures declared today that Hitler has adapted his propaganda strategy of "divide and conquer" to fit a United States at war and is trying to make this country believe that Democracy is dying.

Our armed forces are weak. The "new order" is inevitable. We are lost in the Pacific. Our west coast is in such grave danger there is no point in fighting on.

The British are decadent and "old us a bill of goods." The cost of the war will bankrupt the nation.

Civilian sacrifices will be more than we can bear.

Britain is getting stronger and Bolshevism will sweep over Europe. Our leaders are incompetent. Our government is incapable of waging war.

Aid to our allies must stop. Our real peril is the Japanese, and we must join Germany to stamp out the "yellow peril."

Separate Peace Talk

We must bring all our troops and weapons back to the United States and defend only our own shores.

The Chinese and the British will make a separate peace with Japan and Germany.

American democracy will be lost during the war.

The office of facts and figures issued this list today, saying these were the propaganda objectives which "Hitler wants us to believe."

The list was contained in a pamphlet labeled "Divide and Conquer" and also embraced a discussion of propaganda technique used by Hitler on European nations both before and after they became involved in war.

The office said the prime purposes of Hitler are to "destroy our national unity, create unrest in all groups of the population and deflect us from our major purpose—to defeat the axis." To do this, the office said, Hitler's propaganda strategy "will follow no set pattern; one line will be pursued today; another tomorrow."

Hitler's Plan

"Hitler is trying to set capital against labor, white against Negro, Catholic against Protestant, Christian against Jew," the analysis said. "He knows that prejudice in any form, plays his game."

Americans now recognize the propaganda passed out by the Nazis before this country entered the war, the pamphlet said, and added: "He also emphasizes the words which said: 'If the Nazis can't cross the 20 miles of the English channel, how can they cross the 2,000 miles of the Atlantic?' There are dead men and the waters off New Jersey and the Texas who can answer that question."

Remember These?

"They remember the words which said: 'The western hemisphere, by itself, possesses all the materials necessary for American industry in any form, on hand, plus a growing synthetic industry, and has no real enemy, whatever happens in the Netherlands Indies and British Malaya.' The tire rationing boards will appreciate that statement now that Singapore has fallen."

"They remember the words which said: 'The Japs and the Nazis will leave us alone if we'll only negotiate with them, try to get on well with them. Pearl Harbor knows the answer to this—Pearl Harbor and the office of Cordell Hull where the axis diplomats bowed and smiled and negotiated while the bombs fell.'"

Magic Valley Farmers Respond to War Needs

Magic Valley's farmers are "all out" for production this year to aid in the war effort and from before dawn to after dark most of them are at their tasks. Typical of the smaller farmers is Gerald Askew, reading one mile north and one east of Twin Falls. In the picture at top he is shown "running" a four horse team as he gets the plowing done on his 25 acres. At the lower left he poses beside one of the plow blades—steel that works for the nation's soldiers and sailors. At the right he admits two of his horses as they rest. They don't know it, but they too are aiding in the war effort. Askew is married and has one daughter. (Photos by O. A. Kellner—Times-News Engraving)

Big and Small, Magic Valley Farmers All-out to Win War

By O. A. KELLNER

It's an "all-out" effort most of the Magic Valley's farmers are putting forth this season as leaders cry that work for the nation's soldiers and sailors. At the right he admits two of his horses as they rest. They don't know it, but they too are aiding in the war effort. Askew is married and has one daughter.

As one farmer put it: "We have all the comforts here at home. We can have fun and we can do about everything we want to. It seems to me the least we can do is to answer the call for more production. The boys at the front expect it—and they'll get it."

Bicyclers Must Obey All City's Traffic Rulings

Because in the near future bicyclers, through increasing numbers, might offer quite a problem, Chief of Police Howard Gillette pointed out last night that bicyclers are subject to the same traffic regulations as are automobiles and other vehicles.

He said that bicycle riders must observe all stop signs—and must come to a complete stop before entering a lane of traffic. They must also observe the downtown stop and go signals.

Likewise bicyclers cannot be ridden down the sidewalk, Gillette said, pointing out that "cars are not allowed to do this and bicycles, under the law, come in the same classification."

The chief urged the older drivers to "set an example" for the youngsters by observing all traffic regulations.

FUND WILL HELP GRAZING LANDS

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—The national resources planning board estimated today that the grazing service would spend $100,000 during fiscal 1943 on range improvements within grazing districts.

Predicting that improvements to grazing lands in national forests would cost less than $1,000 each, the board reported that the general land office estimated expenditure of $20,000 next year on range improvements on public lands subject to grazing leases outside of grazing districts.

It said that range lands occupy slightly more than half of the national land area or about 570,000,000 acres, made up of about 728,000,000 acres in the west, 40,000,000 in the north and east, and 200,000,000 acres in the south.

ROBELLO STILL ON PROWL FOR BALL PLAYERS

I like the way Tony Robello is conducting matters on the Pacific coast. He is a ball player himself and it is all possible for an independent operator to field a first-class team.

His letters of information are little gems in the trial and tribulations of a baseball scout—he's a hard worker and knows on which foot he stands when he goes to talking baseball with the Pacific Coast league.

It's all coming out of the left eye. He's still chasing Estrada and Parks, the infielder and pitcher from the Arizona-Texas league last year, although he is already well fortified with infielders.

That's what the first mention that Robello made of this league in all his communications home and it must be something in the way of a last resort.

Stanford Cage Club Routs Dartmouth

KANSAS CITY, March 28 (AP)—Hitting their stride in the last 10 minutes tonight, the Stanford Indians slipped into a three-point lead in a game against Dartmouth to trunk a tight game into a 63-38 rout and win the N.C.A.A. basketball championship before 6,000 spectators.

Inaccurate passing nearly cost the Californians the game, but they assembled themselves just in time to dissolve Dartmouth leads and finally wound up in a flurry of field goals.

The Pacific coast boys started out leaping from the floor and trailed by six points at one time in the first half as Dartmouth poured through spectacular one-handed shots. But sophomore Howard Dallmar, a big, galloping guy, came to the rescue with 11 points to tie the count before the half time gun.

Then Jack Dana took a long pass around up the court to give Stanford a 24-22 lead.

In the first five minutes of the final period, Dartmouth had knotted the score twice and pulled ahead, 27-26, on George Minnow's charity. It was the last point the Pioneer Indians got for five minutes.

During that time, Dallmar, voted the game's most valuable player, poked in a one-hander and fast Fred Linat dribbled furiously down the floor to plaster another basket.

That put Stanford into a three-point advantage which began multiplying with the regularity of a metronome.

In 40 seconds, Dallmar, Dana, Ed Voss and Bill Cowden had turned the pile for seven points. Stanford cruised into a 37-20 lead and Dartmouth collapsed.

Stanford 67; Dartmouth 38. Stats: Points: Stanford 67; Dartmouth 38. Rebounds: Stanford 22; Dartmouth 12.

Greenberg Slams Triple, Strikes out

TAMPA, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Eddie Greenberg, former Detroit Tiger slugger and home run king of the major leagues, hit a triple, struck out once and walked once in three times at bat here today as the Macdell field Pliers lost, 9 to 4, to the University of Tampa team.

Greenberg's triple came with one man on in the first inning. The strike came later in the game as he was being able to swing a clean one over by pitcher Connie Owens, 20 year old collegiate hurler.

Pan-American Officials Push Plan for Games

By J. F. McEvoy BUENOS AIRES, March 28 (AP)—In spite of the war, Argentina's Olympic committee is going ahead with plans to stage the first Pan-American games here this year as a lesson to the dictators.

Organizing officials, working in one of those "show must go on" atmospheres, are completing arrangements for a winter sports program here, July 15, with a total of 20 American games here this year as a lesson to the dictators.

SIMON'S MANAGER PROTESTS "SHORT COUNT"

Louis Scores Knockout in Sixth Round

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Except for the neighborhood of James Joy Johnston, all was quiet along Jacobs Beach today, as Joe Louis and Abe Simon headed for a few days rest as a reward for the little party they gave to pile up some $50,000 to $60,000 for the army relief.

Joe, who hardly had his hair mussed chopping down the New York giant in six rounds last night, caught a train for a brief Western trip before getting back to his bookmaking at Camp Upton on Wednesday. He is definitely through with ring-fighting until his shingling with Billy Conn in June.

Simon, a hero for the way he stood up under what was probably the most concentrated clouting punishment Louis ever handed a victim, showed little effect from the dynamiting except for a slight limp over one eye. His flat trail will probably take him against Harry Bobb in Pittsburgh and Buddy Baer in Washington during the next two months.

In fact, the peace was disturbed only in the several blocks surrounding James Joy. The big wind under the derby hat was still howling about the "short count" after the ham got when the fight ended in Madison Square Garden. Jimmy was so steamed he sent a wire asking John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York state athletic commission, still insisting the Abe was on his feet before Referee Eddie Joseph reached him.

While there was a difference of opinion between Referee Joseph and knockout time-keeper Jimmy Crowley as to whether "ten" actually was counted before Big Abe hauled himself up like a Dionne and the general aftermath impression was that the larger, longer, faster gamster would have been flattened eventually. However, one and all agree he should have been given his chance to slick around as long as he could.

The exact figures on last night's tally-pull won't be counted definitely until the army emergency relief gets its check at a formal presentation Wednesday.

However, Promoter Mike Jacobs, who with Louis turned the entire net profits to the fund, estimated the benefit would net "over $200,000." Abe collected $15,000 at the end of net gate of $11,705,50, and turned over some $3,000 to the relief fund, too.

Good News--And Bad-- Hits Cowboy Camp As Uncle Sam Beckons

Good news and bad came to the fans of the Twin Falls Cowboys today.

The good: Manager Tony Robello says he needs only "one good, hard-hitting outfielder" to make the team a Pioneer league pennant threat.

The bad: Uncle Sam stepped in and took away George Wesela, veteran catcher, who had signed up to handle the backstop duties with the Wranglers.

Robello, still plying his "angsty" business up and down the west coast, has been as far north as San Francisco—but in his latest bid to make the team a Pioneer league pennant threat.

Robello reports that he is having a tougher time now than at the start of the season getting players because they have raised the player limit for the Pacific Coast loop back to 25 men and as a result the AA clubs aren't releasing as many men as they had originally intended to.

The new camp of the Cowboys, which opens on Wednesday, April 8, is addressed as "Feters" camp, Boyes Springs, Napa county, California.

Business Manager Hoag was busy yesterday shipping equipment and expense money to the new training site. A couple of dozen bats, eight dozen balls and 35 uniforms were included in the initial shipment.

Loss of Wesela will probably hurt the local club to some extent in the coming days.

Wesela was an experienced backstop and had played professional baseball for 10 years, but fell away from the army and he will probably be inducted from here about the first week in April.

Lesser Lights Show Way in $5,500 Open

ORENSBURG, N. G., March 28 (AP)—The lesser lights of golf gave the game's big names a thorough beating in the $5,500 Open today and held the four first places at the half-way point in the 72-hole event.

Leading the parade were Sam Byrd, the one-time New York Yankee outfielder, and slugging Jimmy Thomson, who were necked at 135.

Rod Munday of the left-handed puts missed two out of 15 today and slid from first to 17th with a three stroke off the pace. He added a par 71 to his record opening 66.

Bob Lovin of Springfield, Mass., and Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, N. H., were necked together but he's been in the money in every tournament this year. As he clinched the argument with the underdog, Byrd and Lovin won scoring honors for the day with 67 and 68.

Buffed in seventh place came the first of the pre-tournament favorites, defending champion Byron Nelson.

13-1 Shot Scores Tropical Park Win

MIAMI, Fla., March 28 (AP)—The 13-to-1 shot Daily Delivery won a photo finish over the well-kicked Astors in the $5,000 added De Goo handicap at Tropical park today.

Bill Rich was third.

A. S. Christopher's four-year-old colt finished the six furlong sprint in one minute and 11 seconds, one second slower than Astors' track record.

22 Turn out for Track Practice At Burley High

BURLEY, March 28—Coach Paul Jones of the Burley high school track department, has announced that nine lettermen and 23 other aspirants have turned out for practicing in various events, with prospects this year better than in the past few years because of the large number of veterans returning.

As a result of Burley's tie-up with the Big Seven conference they will probably be more meets this season than last year in spite of the shorter school term. Practices starting earlier than usual, is also a favorable factor in developing the team.

Returning lettermen are Albert Klum, middle distance; Mervile Robinson, high jumper; John Banner, hurdles; Jack Dottle, mile; Ralph Crane, hurdles and sprint; Jim Brooks, middle distance; Ray Ebersole, jump and hurdles; Elton Brooks, mile, and Ross Jones, shot and discus.

Plans have been made for an interschool meet in the near future.

Russets Sign Four New Ball Players

IDAHO FALLS, March 28 (AP)—Lou Gombel, manager of the Idaho Falls Russets, said today he has signed four additional players during the past few days, bringing the team roster to eight men.

California returned early today from the Pacific Coast league training camp in Eugene, Ore.

Newly signed by Gombel are Tommy Ryan and Charley Beauchamp, outfielders, and Bill Dunn, shortstop. The fourth member, Harold Tobin of Idaho Falls, whose club was bought out by the Russets, upon his return from the coast.

Denver Ski Artist Wins in Downhill

SUN VALLEY, March 28 (AP)—Bustling Barney McLean, Denver stage artist who has been winning ski meets with monotonous regularity this year, came through again today to apood to victory in the downhill event of the sixth annual Harriman cup races.

He unbound the Harriman, with which is combined the first International downhill and slalom, in straight-up fashion at speeds hitting better than a mile a minute through part of the 2.1-mile course that sprawled down 9,208-foot Baldy mountain.

He finished in two minutes 47.2 seconds, just eight-tenths second better than the second place winner Alf Engen, the durable Norweger of Berkeley, ranked as California's best amateur, swooped down a mile and one-half course in 2:50.4 for first place.

Slalom Sunday

The slalom will be run tomorrow and performances in that and today's downhill will determine combined results. McLean, Engen and Dick Durrance of the Alta, Utah, Ski club were done at the California's best amateur, swooped down a mile and one-half course in 2:50.4 for first place.

Following slalom events tomorrow Engen, Torger Tokle, national jumping champion, and Art Devlin of Lake Placid, N. Y., will make exhibition jumps on Baldy mountain. McLean showed off at the top of Baldy, slid through the treacherous "huts" on the edge of Christy's meadow, took the roundhouse corner almost straight and checked into the spectators' box with the precipitous exhibition run without losing precious speed.

Run Into Trouble

It was at the traverse into the exhibition run that part of the runners, showing too much speed, ran into trouble and spilled.

Roland Chivers of Boulder, Colo., was third in the men's downhill at 2:48.2. After him was Clarence Jackie Simpson of Ketchum, Ida., 2:50; Christ Schwarzenack, Pasadena, Calif., 2:52.7; William Lancaster, Calif., 2:57.2; Hal Corning, Sun Valley, 2:57.4; Don Arick, Seattle, 3:02; Wendell Crane, Sun Valley, 3:04; and Gordon Wren, Steamboat Springs, Colo., 3:04.4.

Cleveland Lefties Shut out Giants

MIAMI, Fla., March 28 (AP)—A pair of veteran left handers, Al Minor and Al Smith, held the New York Giants to four hits today and the Cleveland Indians took the first game of the 14 tie club will play en route north by a 2 to 0 score.

Al Minor (7), Al Smith (7), C. Hubbell, Carpenter (6), Feldman (6) and Danning, Berres (6).

Ott's intention of building the Giants into a power team was confirmed when he shipped outfielder Johnny Rucker to Jersey City, N. J., last year and made 170 hits (only Pete Reiser, Hank Hartzel and Danny Layton getting more) but all but 45 of them were singles, many of the infield variety.

The Giants' outfield will line up with Willard Marshall, the 22 year old surprise package from Atlantic City, in left, Hank Leiber, bought back from the Cubs, in center and Ott himself in right. Babe Barba, who had 204 homers at Minneapolis, and Mace Brown, who led in homers last season, are expected to be unopposed. Ryan's failure and Nick Wilcox's unavailability in the field leave a big gap at second.

HOUSE PASSES ARMY MEASURE WITH PROFITS LIMITATION

STANDING NOTE APPROVES BILL

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—After sharp debate over the nation's war production effort, the house tonight passed a $1,300,000,000 Army appropriation bill containing a provision to limit war profits on contracts paid for from the appropriation.

Sponsored by Rep. Case, R., B. D., the profits limitation was approved by a standing vote of 70 to 0 without debate, a few minutes before the bill was passed by a voice vote.

Case said the amendment would mean that "net profits" on contracts, probably after taxes had been computed, would be limited to 6 per cent, but there was uncertainty among other members over operation of the limitation.

"Not Workable"

Chairman Cannon, D., Mo., of the appropriations committee, told reporters that "while the objective is splendid, the amendment is absolutely unworkable" and would have to be revised in the senate.

The amendment said this: "No part of any appropriation contained in this act shall be available to pay that portion of a contract for the construction of any building and/or procurement of material and supplies for either the military or naval establishment, designed as 'final payment' to any contractor who fails to file a quarterly statement and certificate of costs and an agreement for renunciation of profit and return of excess profits in excess of 6 per cent."

The big bill would provide funds for 1942 new weapons and supplies for other combat equipment and supplies. All but about $1,000,000,000 will be spent for the army, with the air corps taking half of the sum for planes and correlary supplies and part as another $100,000,000.

House's announced goal of 60,000 planes this year and 125,000 in 1943.

Preceding the measure to the house, Cannon spoke of "amazing increase" in tank production and an output of planes which will "border on the miraculous."

He called on the country to realize that we can't beat the enemy in three days and that tremendous strides already had been made. Many of these reports, Cannon said, had been circulated over the country which he said had created a feeling of "abysmal stupidity" and "fumbling inefficiency."

SOLDIER ADMITS SLAYING WOMAN

DENVER, March 28 (AP)—Detective Capt. James E. Childers said today that Private Thomas Crane, 23, soldier from Oklahoma, confessed he had killed Mrs. Nora Granberg, 46, of Denver, and then was unable to complete their suicide pact because he lost his nerve.

Crane told Mrs. Granberg through the heart in a Shirley-Havay hotel room yesterday and as he watched her die he found he couldn't kill himself, as they had agreed, Childers said.

Crane declared he and Mrs. Granberg, operator of a cleaning establishment, had talked of killing themselves for several weeks and that they finally agreed to do it when they rented the hotel room Thursday, Friday morning, Childers said. Crane related the woman took a revolver from her purse, handed it to him and stretched out on the bed.

Crane, arrested in a tavern, told Childers he had agreed to the suicide pact because he was "washed up in the army and mixed up with too many women," the officer said.

The soldier at first insisted that Mrs. Granberg killed herself. No charge had been filed against him tonight.

Colorful Molly Syster Told Many a Tale of Indian Scares

By MRS. T. B. BRUSH

The passing of my mother, Mrs. Mary Ellen "Molly" Syster, an Idaho pioneer, has been to me like many of the stories she has told me, by the hour, of the early times in Idaho. Each story prompted by some of them in writing, hoping they will be a bit of history as interesting to readers as they have been to me.

Here's One Anecdote

"This 'D. P.' Briggs' fellow, of which Molly was a devoted old daughter, had recently moved from Boise City to Tassins (now Gooding) where Grandfather Briggs was raising grain for the Overland stage company and running cattle for himself.

"One day in early spring he was busy on business. The flood waters of Little Wood river were high and the little cabin in which the family lived was completely surrounded by water. Water high enough to swim a man left the cabin isolated on a sort of island.

"Little Molly was gashed out of the window frame when she screamed for her mother. She saw an Indian was coming. All were scared almost to death for this was 'D. P.' Briggs' and he was a very brave man. He saw an Indian buck swimming towards the cabin.

"Grandmother Briggs, a little wisp of a woman, designed as a leader abroad and poked it through the window, drawing a bead on the man who became a most prominent doctor and surgeon in Lincoln county.

"So, through the years, Molly as a little girl interested in all activities of historical events, counting her enthusiasm throughout the years, keeping notes and scrapbooks on many and varied subjects.

"That my mother's work was continued was evidenced the evening following the funeral services, when Teddy Brush, a 10-year-old great-grandson, asked if he might cut the war pictures and books out of the last few papers. Asked why he replied, 'Grandma has always told me to do it. I have to do it for her now on.'"

Which that he went slowly up the stairs to file one picture away.

MRS. MOLLY SYSTER

... equal to the occasion then, as always in later years, was this man who became a most prominent doctor and surgeon in Lincoln county.

So, through the years, Molly as a little girl interested in all activities of historical events, counting her enthusiasm throughout the years, keeping notes and scrapbooks on many and varied subjects.

That my mother's work was continued was evidenced the evening following the funeral services, when Teddy Brush, a 10-year-old great-grandson, asked if he might cut the war pictures and books out of the last few papers. 28-YEAR-OLDS GO INTO 'FRONT LINE'

Dipping deep into the ranks of men formerly deferred because they were 28 years old, 43 per cent of such 1-1 men were reclassified 1-A, fit for military service. Twin Falls county selective service board No. 1 announced last night.

Twenty-one 1-1 men were up for reclassification and nine of them entered the front-line bracket. Of the remainder, five entered 2-A, deferred as essential non-defense workers; two were marked 3-A, deferred because of dependents; one was listed as 2-B, defense worker, and four were 4-F, unfit.

32 Reconsidered

Fifty-nine men were classified; six for the first time, 52 were reconsidered, and the 60th was up for continuance in his classification of 2-B.

Of the six new registrants, two entered 1-A; one each were assigned to 2-B, 3-A and 1-B, fit for limited military service. The sixth was declared 1-A-O, conscientious objector applied only to combatant military service.

Reclassification, in addition to the 1-1 men, found 15 1-A registrants entering 1-C, denoting they are now in military service. One 4-F man also joined 1-C.

Three additional 1-A men were obtained by reclassification. Two came from 1-B and the other from 3-A.

4 to Dependent Class

In the reclassification, five passed from 1-B to 3-A; one from 1-B to 2-B; three from 1-B to 2-A; one from 1-A to 2-A; one from 1-A to 1-A; one from 1-A to 1-B; and one from 1-A to 4-F.

Excluding the 15 1-A men now in the army, the local board registered a net gain of 11 1-A men for future military service. Fourteen entered the top bracket and three left it.

U. S. Air Power to Roar on Army Day

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—American air power will go on view on Army day, April 6, at army air stations and a dozen major cities.

Divorces Set All-Time High In Year of '41

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—Love went out the window in these United States in 1940.

The census bureau reported today that the 1940 divorce rate was the highest in history—214,000 divorces, or more than one for every six marriages performed.

That number is a 250 per cent increase over the 60,023 divorces granted in 1901, the bureau noted. It said the previous high was established in 1929, when 231,000 divorces were granted.

The bureau ceased gathering exact divorce statistics after 1932, when the number of divorces fell to 190,388—as a result of the depression.

More divorces were granted in Texas during 1940 than in any state—over Nevada. Texas had 27,500; California, 24,200; Ohio, 11,700; Illinois, 12,700; Michigan, 12,551; Missouri, 12,000; Florida, 11,186; and New York 11,300.

Nevada granted only 1,189 divorces," the bureau noted, "but in proportion to its population that was eight times as many as any other state."

Wife Sues Her Mother-in-Law For Alienation

Charging that her husband's affections were alienated by his mother, a Twin Falls wife sued her mother-in-law for $18,000 in district court yesterday.

Damage claimant is Mrs. Margaret Vickers, wife of Charles Vickers, 514 1/2 Mrs. Mattie Vickers, mother of Charles, on claim that the mother dominated the son, constantly threw him into company of other women and killed his love for his wife.

The plaintiff advised the court that the mother's dominance over the son was so great that Charles Vickers told his wife he would "go with mother" if it came to a choice between wife and mother. Mrs. Vickers also asserted in her complaint that she and her husband were happy until they came to Idaho and moved into the farm house already occupied by her husband's parents.

She claimed that Charles still "baby son" to his mother.

The defendant, Mrs. Mattie Vickers, recently filed district court suit against her daughter-in-law and in which she asked the court to decree to her the farm and equipment purchased by the couple with funds she had loaned to them.

G. O. Hall is attorney for Mrs. Margaret Vickers in the $18,000 damage action, filed yesterday.

SERIAL STORY
KINGS ROW
BY HENRY BELMANN

CHAPTER XXXVI
Parris talked to Randy the same day. He tried to tell the pronouncement, and to hold out hopes from the consultation. Little by little the color and the expression left her face.

"We have to do something. We can't let Drake endure the punishment he must while he himself," Parris said nothing.

"Do you hear me, Parris?"

"Yes, Randy. You pose an old question. There's nothing any honorable physician could do with this."

"Could Drake's—could the amputation have had anything to do with this?"

"I can't say, Randy, my dear, you are pretty stouthearted. But I am telling you the truth when I say I don't know. Many people have cancer that attacks bone structure. We don't know causes."

"I've this question about this awful amputation, deep in my mind, but now—"

"Don't cry. I'm not crying. I'm cursing. I'm cursing everything there is in this town, everything in the world, everything in heaven, or hell. If I could stand anything for myself—but, Drake! My God, hasn't he had enough?"

he had a disagreeable feline feel as if many things, many courses were suddenly finished, file, too, had lived through experiences that had been too violent. Mrs. Skeffington's denunciations of Kings Row came back to his mind. And yet, a sleek, cool thread of reason that spun like a thread of crystal through his weaving thought and fancy told him the feeling was wrong. He—he—Parris Mitchell—was not Parris Mitchell of Kings Row, but Parris Mitchell of the world. So stationed, there was nothing in Kings Row that could ever reach through to touch him. He had only to think of the vast, interweaving effort of men in all places, and in all times, who strive to the connect and link-up the scattered labors of the world into a beneficial whole, to have sense of his own deity.

LATE in the spring Parris crossed the Aberdeen campus one afternoon just as the public school happen to touch him. He had only to think of the vast, interweaving effort of men in all places, and in all times, who strive to the connect and link-up the scattered labors of the world into a beneficial whole, to have sense of his own deity.

DR. McNEILL assured Parris that there was no immediate danger, that the cancer was working slowly and he had left instructions with the nurses to see that Drake suffered little.

So Parris left to keep his appointment in Vienna, and three months later he stepped off the great little Kings Row local.

Toward the end of August it seemed that Drake could not possibly fall from one day to another. Randy came again, and again to Parris.

"Hear, Parris, for God's sake! You love Drake, your friend! How can you let this go on any longer?"

One morning it seemed to Parris that Drake's mind emerged a little. Increased doses of morphia at lessening intervals were no longer able to hold back the regions of torture.

Drake looked with a kind of dazed wonder at Parris, and then at Dr. McNeill. Then he turned his head slowly toward Parris. The cloudy look in his eyes cleared for a few seconds, but in those few seconds something passed between the two men. Dr. McNeill was "the" man.

"It's a matter of hours, Dr. Mitchell," he said evenly.

Drake twisted his head to one side, and clenched his teeth over his lips. Then the fog of an unutterable agony blurred his eyes again and long hours howl broke from his throat.

Parris sat, white and still.

"It's for you to say, Dr. Mitchell."

"Do you think a normal injection, at shorter intervals—"

Dr. McNeill turned without a word and prepared a hypodermic syringe at the little table.

The sound of Dr. McNeill's steps receded. Parris arose and closed the door leading into the hall. Then he sat down on the edge of the bed and took Drake's hand.

The sun crept in at the front window.

Parris went out and closed the door softly behind him.

THE days and weeks following Drake's death seemed to Parris to descend to a curious level of monotony.

Before Christmas he saw Randy at Cary Whitehead's office. She spoke of business matters with less enthusiasm.

"I want to be as fat, you know, Parris. Drake"—she managed the name with a little difficulty—"was always so excited about anything new that we undertook. Now, sort of wonder why I bother about it. I have enough money—I don't need too much, you know."

"Well, Randy, I've been wanting to talk to you about the business. I'd like to get out."

"Parris, I'd like to quit, too. I believe Dan Gilbert and Elliot would buy us out."

"Do you think so? But what would you do? I think you ought to have something."

"Yes, I can understand that. All of these years—"

"I don't want to forget anything, Parris. Every hour of my life is precious. It's all right, Parris. I used to think a great deal about the future. I always dreaded Drake's growing old. It was from that that he had to die as he did, but—"

"—poor Drake! Randy's eyes dimmed. "I'll be able to make sense out of it all some time, I hope. We mustn't lose sight of each other, Parris. You have been so good—as good."

"You two were my only friends, you know."

"Parris, I'm just 32 years old—I will be 32 on my next birthday, and I feel as though I had lived half a dozen lives."

"I don't understand that, too."

"Whatever was done, Parris, we did together, you and I—the only two people who really loved Drake. Do you hear anything about Louise Gordon?"

"I did hear that her condition was worse and that there seemed little hope of her recovery."

"Parris, all of that seems a mighty strange, dark business to me. There are worse things about it than we know."

PARRIS thought of what Randy had said about her age. His own age, as well. He didn't, of course, feel old, as Randy did, but

U. S. Could Use More of This: Admiral Salutes Busy Worker

BY THE SPECTATOR
The parade of busy workers went right ahead last week—but some of the things weren't so busy. Some even carried a moral. If you'll forgive a moral just this once. For in—

Dear Admiral Harry Yarnell was inspecting a shipbuilding plant at London, Conn. He tapped a workman on the shoulder.
"The workman, without looking to see who it was, said: "Stop bothering me. I'm a busy man." Whereupon the admiral saluted and walked away.

Bashful Cop
Bashful was the Nokesville, Ind. police department when it requested state police to help find a stolen automobile. It was a black, contained a sawed-off shotgun, and had "Nokesville police department" painted in the sides.

Police chief in Shelby, O., may have a little trouble catching culprits these days—but he's patriotic. He sold his automobile and bought a bicycle to conserve tires and gasoline for national defense.

Here in Twin Falls, Commissioner Truman T. Greenlight operated on the identical theory when he authorized purchase of bicycles for Charles P. Larsen, city streets superintendent, and Earl Hawkins, street foreman. Aggregate weight Larsen-Hawkins, 415 pounds.

But get about gasoline service stations doing out oats to horses during the tire shortage may not be so far-fetched. A St. Louis, Mo., feed company said many automobile agencies have become outlets for feed products and in some cases already conducted car-servicing a sideline.

Tires
Even in times of stress, it was proved at Ripley, W. Va., people don't forget about the tire shortage. Fire destroyed a gasoline truck and the driver went to a hospital with severe burns. But, passersby saved the tires by plastering them with mud from the roadside. In Twin Falls a gas truck fire was too hot and the tires went up in smoke. Chief comment of 3,000 folks watching the truck and the thousands of gallons of gas burn—"Goah, think of those tires being wasted!"

One Jap's name was mud when he made a flying leap for freedom in Vancouver, B. C. He was hailed by a constable for being out on violation of the curfew. He was making a running broad jump into a passing automobile.

This car turned out to be a police patrol. The sentence was 30 days. Boomerang!

At Camp Callan, Calif., a private penned a letter to a girl friend and enclosed a check for one thousand dollars. Presently the check came back. It was cancelled, endorsed by the young lady and cashed by the trooper's No. 1 rival.

Girl friends, however, were getting worried by reports from Australia and Ireland that Yankee soldiers were not so dinky. Some even wanted to settle down there after the war.

At Akron university, sorority girls became alarmed when slumped by defense bonds to men arrested, by offering a kiss with each man they bought sales 275 per cent the first day.

Girls who were helping out were the blind man who obtained a defense factory job in Connecticut and the Texas man arrested and crooked too so he could join the military forces.

What's in a Name?
A Jerome county selectee is going into the army as a private, so don't let his name fool you. It's General Thomas Little.

In Chicago, a juror got into trouble when he failed to report to the judge for jury duty. The juror told the judge he was unable to concentrate for two days and on the third day had decided with romantic inclinations to get married. That's why he was absent.

The juror relented. After all, it was spring. He ordered the juror to buy $25 in defense stamps as a wedding present for the bride.

At Yreka, Calif., a farmer reported his patriotic son had given birth to nine pigs—three red, three white and three blue. A University of California agriculturist commented the farmer must have been wearing United States.

You're Wrong
The Washington state U. S. marshal hit out a tire while en route to Boise with a prisoner. You're wrong, the rationing board wouldn't allow him a tire. He borrowed a tire from a friend in Dote.

What a friend!
Actually, there was the case of the telephone wedding that wasn't. A girl announced she would wed a famous army private via long distance telephone. A Tulsa pastor consented and the phone company said the bill would be $8.

Next day came a press item from Tacoma—McChesney field officers said there wouldn't be any long distance telephone wedding for Howard Wilson, 27, air base pilot. They said it was a misunderstanding. Private Wilson wasn't available for comment.

It's probably just as well. He might have gotten the wrong number and married a grandmother.
