HOW TO LOSE A WAR

There is more than one way to skin a cat and more than one way to lose a war. Bungling generals and soft-headed politicians make the enemy happy. Greedy profiteering by industrialists and production-stopping strikes and slowdowns by labor brighten up the day in Britain.

These are big important things about which orders can be issued and laws passed. Not so headline-grabbing but equally dangerous to a nation are the petty jealousies and unfounded suspicions which throw the whole concerted effort off key. Two recent items in the news illustrate the point.

Many columnists and commentators a few weeks ago made a great to-do over the push and drive exhibited by citizens of Mt. Glenn, O., and surrounding countryside in the effort to enlist every man, woman, and child in some worthwhile war effort.

This was great so far as it went, but there was considerably more smoke than fire. Seems the considerably more people at Mt. Glenn adopted the attitude of the small boy who owns the football: "You let me play quarterback or you can't use my ball." They stalled and held back. Regardless of who was to blame, or whether anybody was at fault, it is a little bit of a pity that the Mt. Glenn effort was not better coordinated.

When an American citizen today stomps his foot and sticks out his lower lip just because he isn't lending the parade it smacks of the attitude which tied France in so many knotty situations in 1918.

Happily, the good people of Mt. Glenn realized in time they were slipping backward two feet for every one they gained. Wiser heads prevailed, they sat down like grownups to talk things over and came out in agreement. Now they are functioning as one team and it's work, not street corner wrangling and back-biting, which occupies them.

A more violent form of ridiculous jealousy is in a California town where a number of candidates for leader of the home guard fought it out with pistols. Their marksmanship and bullets should have been saved for the enemy.

All in all our country is doing a good job of getting set for the knockout blow. Most citizens perform their tasks, buy bonds and pay taxes, do with less sugar and rubber cheerfully. The squawkers, happily, make a very small minority, and Americans sometimes just have to be or they wouldn't be Americans.

The danger of jealousies and throat-cutting among persons who should be working shoulder to shoulder, however, threatens to split many a town, organization or group. None of the only way to get along is to be for everyone to take a long look at themselves and ask: "Am I in any way holding back this united effort by failing to co-operate wholeheartedly?" If the answer is "yes," set yourself right.

WARDROBES FOR WAAC

It may be premature to worry about this, but let's consider the impending plight of the thistle-tongued, bull-necked sergeants of the Quartermaster corps. TEAR JERKER

This will bring tears to many eyes. Down in Bermuda a bumper crop of fine onions is just lying around, all grown up and no place to go.

England would like to have every one of them, but to that beleaguered island they are as priceless as pearls. But shipping space apparently is reserved for other things.

Shipping space is also a problem for the U. S. and Canadian markets. And in Canada the price is inflated; little if any profit could be expected.

This is a crying shame and Hitler will have to answer for it come the day.

TRIBUTE TO MR. ICKES

The department of interior supply bill, as reported by the House committee, is a commendable reduction of some 31 per cent in the funds made available to the department during this fiscal year. Even more commendable is the fact that the bill is in the manner in which the cut came about.

The department's estimates were trimmed originally by 10 per cent. The committee then cut an additional 21 per cent, for a total of 31 per cent.

The committee also recommended that the department's budget be reduced by 10 per cent. This would bring the total reduction to 41 per cent.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

FIMFED—Henry A. Wallace has tried to revive the famous "bureau of education" which John Nance Garner conducted for four years in his vice-presidential administration. But he failed.

Garner, who is now in Iowa, does not possess the persuasive qualities or lobbying liquids which the "whiskey-drinking, poker-playing old man" used so effectively.

The senate's presiding officer has summoned prominent members to his office within the past few days. He believed the people are more pliable on the labor problem. Solemnly and seriously he told them that he believed the people are more pliable on the labor problem.

Some members, particularly Republicans, retorted that they saw no reason for mixing up an administrative matter with the legislative process.

STREIN—An off-stage incident during a four-hour hour has been the cause of a heated argument between Oils (New Jersey) Inc. and J. G. Parson-Hunt.

The dispute is over the right to operate the Standard Oil Company's refineries in the American continent.

GRABBED—Despite Standard's questionable practices in its attempt to serve two masters—the German and American governments—the American government is investigating an attempt to close the barn door after the horse has fled.

DOUBLE TALK—AND DO WE NEED IT?

Well, it was a nice outing. Dickie and I went to the fair. It was super fun playing little around the board. Farmer in the Dell, Dough, Dough, Dough, Dough. It was fun, too, playing that new game of war. It's a well game and makes a real feel almost like there might be a real war.

This tree trimming must be speeded up. At least that's what I gathered as I walked into the high school yesterday. A fellow named Jim was trimming away on the tree and apparently he was in a hurry. How it's done, were the following:

Shortage of rice in my vicinity will not be acute in the years to come.

ANALYZING CURRENT NEWS FROM NEW YORK

JUNK—Foreseeable but not foreseen epitomizes the bicycle situation in New York. The Post and the Times, by daily-buzzing bureaucrats, they watched the rubber lands market and predicted a spring flood. They should have anticipated that auto workers' curtailment of production would run on velocity.

ALBERT LEMAN—This banker must Singapore. Early alibi that enemy air supremacy caused disaster to him, must have subsequent privately circulated official reports, that he was in Singapore for occasions when their line was held up. Disguised in shorts and a sweater, he was seen at the airport. They leaped into the cockpit and were cleared out of resistance and drove to the next point.

CLEVELAND—So much drama swirled from the death of a woman and the death of a man. The battle of brains which also flared up all winter. Now a slight Hinting of the tactics of the rival headquarters. The Soviet maneuvers which were planned in the first weeks of the war.

BRITISH ADMIT LOSS OF TWO CRUISERS OFF INDIA COAST

JAP BOMBS SINK 10,000-TON SHIPS

BY SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS
 LONDON, April 9 (U.P.)—An admiralty communique revealed today that the eight-inch-gun heavy cruisers Cornwall and Dorsetshire had been sunk by Japanese airplanes operating in the Bay of Bengal, in their latest attack, bombed the Tricomrae naval base on the Ceylon coast today.

It was believed here that the losses may be merely the prelude to the greatest naval battle of the war, exceeding both in ferocity and strategic potentialities the naval battle of Java.

Such a battle, if it took place, naval quarters said, might decide the fate of Ceylon and of India.

Radio Rome reported last week that a strong British naval formation, including the 31,000-ton battleship Malaya, had left Gibraltar for the Indian sector.

In Bay of Bengal
 Dispatches from India and Ceylon today said that the British air force units ranking the bay of Bengal in search of the Japanese fleet, including aircraft carriers, which had attacked ports and towns of Ceylon and the Indian coast.

The admiralty said that details of the sinkings of Cornwall and Dorsetshire but said it was known there were more than 100 British ships, including the commanders of both ships.

It was claimed just before the British communique was issued that two British cruisers, 8,500 ton type had been sunk, along with 40 merchantmen sunk or damaged and 60 planes downed in the bay of Bengal. The London class is similar to the Dorsetshire class.

Reason for Attack
 It was believed here that the Japanese operations in the Bay of Bengal, Tricomrae and other bombed towns were aimed at immobilizing the British naval units in the bay before they could get into action.

The Dorsetshire, built in 1929, was a 10,000-ton vessel with a complement of 650 officers and men. The Cornwall, of 10,000 tons, had a complement of 650.

The Dorsetshire was credited with firing the torpedo that sank the German battleship Bismarck on May 27, 1941, after a running battle in the north Atlantic. She also sank a German sea raider in the south Atlantic last Dec. 6.

RENO AGAIN TOLD TO "CLOSE DOWN"

RENO, Nev., April 9 (U.P.)—Reno, the "biggest little city in the world," was told today to close down on commercialized prostitution. Lt. Gen. John L. DeWitt demanded the abandonment after a conference with Nevada authorities.

Mayor August Ferrellich promised to take up the matter with the city council as the earliest opportunity. Reno's famed "stockade" was closed some time ago at the army's order, but prostitutes moved to other sections of the city, prostituting under police license is legal in Nevada, last outpost of the "old west."

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9 (U.P.)—Municipal Judge Hugh Smith today asked army officers to institute measures to place prostitutes in stockade concentration camps or enforce other restraints for the work duration.

Judge Smith, who handles women's court cases, termed prostitutes "worse than fifth columnists."

Herbert Emmerich, former WPA secretary, takes oath as new commissioner of the federal public housing authority.

Club Hoaxed

CASTLEFORD, April 9—Club members were April fool victims last week when they went to the home of Mrs. E. C. Hartman to remain at home alone. Driving a truck with the window open, he was struck in the eye by a twig from a nearby tree branch as he drove by with a load of lumber to be used in building a tenant house on the Clyde King ranch.

BOMBING STARTS ON IDAHO RANGE

BOISE, Ida., April 9 (U.P.)—Bombs will start falling tomorrow on Gowen field's new practice bombing range, 25 miles south of here, air base officials announced today.

Civilians were warned to stay out of the area, formerly used for grazing sheep.

The range occupies an area two miles square six miles southwest of Gowen. All roads into the range were posted with "keep out, danger" signs and boundaries were marked by a fire break.

Land for the new bombing range is now owned by the war department.

The area will be patrolled by armed guards but Maj. Earl T. Vance, operations officer, urged citizens to keep special watch over their property. They do no wander into the area.

Buhl, Castleford Youths at Rites

CASTLEFORD, April 9—Members of the Buhl Youth League and the Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church came to Castleford to join in a sunrise Easter service held in the canyon of the Salmon Falls river near balanced rock. Rev. Cecil G. Hamann, pastor of the Buhl and Castleford Methodist churches, was in charge.

Mr. A. Howard, pastor of the Buhl Presbyterian church, offered prayer. Marilyn Heller, president of the Castleford league, gave a talk "Living for Jesus"; Dale Holston, president of the Buhl league, talked on "Easter and Youth"; and Elizabeth Webber, Buhl, read the Easter scripture.

Following worship, at 8 a.m. breakfast was served in the church to the 50 young people who were seated at long tables placed to form a right angle on which were bouquets of daffodils. At the church Alvan Helges, accompanied by Charles Lehoucq, sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

The Epworth League of Buhl and Castleford alternately entertained the other group at sunrise services and breakfast on Easter.

CASTLEFORD HAS HOLIDAY PARADE

CASTLEFORD, April 9.—The annual celebration parade was highlighted by the first parade staged in the college since it was incorporated as a post-secondary institution on April 1941, 30 years after Clayton Diver, first settler in the community, arrived here to make his home.

Several hundred persons were lined along the highway for the parade which was about three-fourths of a mile long. Leading the parade were Wilbur Quigley and Mrs. Maxine Miller, riding on horses and carrying large American flags, followed by the high school band in uniforms.

Next were two Castleford boys home on furlough dressed in uniforms, and Webb, living in the P.O.A.T. house, Sackelbacher, and Corp. Norman Johnson, Capt. Walters, Tex. Then a group of ex-soldiers of the first World War. Following were members of each class of school children dressed to depict some person or event, and after them students on decorated bicycles.

Beyond the bicycle parade, marched the art and wood working clubs and the decorated floats of different groups and organizations, including machinery and a crowd of horseback followers.

Behind the gaily decorated floats were trucks of cattle and sheep, tractors, small threshing machines, an avial and four-wheeled tractor, and a horse, a group in a buggy, etc.

Stock races, potato races, potato peeling contests and three-legged races and slow bicycle races and contests were conducted on the football field as well as on the track. A game of basketball was played between the "married" and "single" men.

Prizes for first, second and third place winners were given for the races and contests, decorated bicycles and riding horses.

Planning Committees. Earl Hudson was general chairman of this event. The contest committee was Carl Osterhout, Lois White, Francis Ebert and Ed Bettes; and the following were chairman of different divisions:

Music: Wilbur Quigley, band, Simo Oakley; ex-colleagues, Chris Hesselbich, school, Hiram Fry, buses, Mrs. E. B. ARMY MECHANIC PLANS OUTLINED

Motor mechanics between the ages of 21 and 45 are needed immediately by the U. S. army to form eight motor maintenance battalions for serving trucks and tanks behind the lines.

Details were disclosed last night by William C. Ash, secretary of the Idaho Automobile Dealers' association, Boise, who addressed a meeting of South central Idaho dealers at a meeting in the Rogerson hotel.

Overseas service. "Chances of seeing overseas service are good once organization is completed May 1 and training gets underway this spring," said Ash.

Mechanics will be rated as technicians and will be paid from $15 to $180 a month. Half a battalion will consist of motor mechanics and the other half will include representatives of allied trades.

"Motor mechanics have played important roles in the battles of north Africa, where allies and axis forces alike are concentrating on mechanized and mobile units," said Ash.

Northwest Battalion. Pacific northwest battalion is in process of organization and will be headed by Stewart Vann, general manager of the Idaho Dealers' association, San Francisco, assisted by E. R. Hopper, Boise, a past president of the Idaho Dealers' association.

Junior officers also are being selected at meetings in the Seattle area.

Applications may be secured at any automobile dealer's office in this state and will be cleared through Ash's organization in Boise.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy had been residents of the Hopewell district since coming here in 1929 from Lawrence, Kan. Mrs. Kennedy had been a longtime member of the Helping Hand club, the members of which had charge of the floral offerings.

HIGH PERCENTAGE MOVED INTO A-1

Seventy-three per cent of the men going for reclassification—out of 92—were designated A-1 by the Twin Falls county selective service board No. 1. Announcement of the results of Tuesday's meeting was made today.

Of the 16 men reclassified for military service, nine came from the ranks of I-1, formerly deferred because of age; five came from I-1, II for limited service; one from J-1, deferred for dependents; and one from A-2, unfit.

The remaining six men also were reclassified. One left I-1-A, conscientious objector opposed only to combatant military service, for the rating of 2-A, deferred as essential non-defense worker.

Also reclassified were one from I-1-H to 4-F; one from I-1-H to I-2; one from I-1 to 2-A; one from I-1 to 3-A; and one from 2-B, defense worker, to 3-A.

A 2-B man was continued in 3-A. Dr. Richard D. Simonson, state medical officer for Idaho selective service, Boise, visited the local board Tuesday and advised immediate reclassification of all I-1 and 4-F cases with a view to induction into the armed forces.

DALLAS, Tex., April 9.—When Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, now leading the American Philippine forces in Batavia in the battle for their lives—received orders to go to the Philippines he was disgusted because he was afraid he'd miss the war.

Col. A. Dougherty of the Dallas R. O. T. C., an old friend, saw Wainwright at Fort Clark on the Mexican border just after the latter had received orders to report for the Philippines.

"He was regretting those orders," Dougherty said. "He was afraid that something might break over here and there he would be stuck in the Philippines missing everything."

Grange Cleanings

By A. HARVESTER

WEST POINT
Well, the rubber is still good enough that the Granges are able to meet and occasionally have visitors from other Granges. I wonder why the A. A. can't relax their vigilance on the "cranky" farmer and save rubber like the farmer will have to for the duration. May get sort of tough on the Granges to hold regular meetings when the rubber wears thin, but they will doubtless still be checking and double checking on the farmer to see that he does not have too much feed wheat for the hogs and chickens.

Anyway, what I started to say was that West Point Grange met last Friday with 39 members and 12 visitors from Wendell Grange. Very appropriately they opened with the song "Work for the Night Is Coming." The charter was draped for Bro. William Sullivan, who passed to the Great Orange above.

It was reported that coal would be hard to get and consumers are urged by the government to get their white cars may be had to haul it, as the war production will undoubtedly require more cars when we really start rolling from the assembly lines. After routine business was cared for, the meeting closed with the singing of "Old Glory" and the meeting was turned over to the Wendell visitors, who put on a program.

The first number was song singing of "It's a Good Thing to Be a Granger." Then Valene Olsen sang "Pal of My Yesterday," with "Any Bonds Today?" as an encore. Next a reading by Elmer Young, "The Railroad Crossing." The program closed with the group singing the "Dixie America." The rest of the evening was spent in dancing and visiting. And of course they served refreshments as we got so used to trying to eat up the surplus.

LUCERNE
Grangers are not united on the labor halting resolution that was sent out from the Buhl Chamber of Commerce. It is supposed that members of Commerce have this resolution, as I understand that it was sent out from the United States Chamber of Commerce and boy, am I shy of anything that comes from that name. Some Granges endorsed it, and others rejected it. Out at Lucerne last Friday night they endorsed the resolution as the Grange met and considered mostly routine business. Several replies were received from communities that were given to members of congress by the Grange.

The Easter theme was present in the program that Lenora Heilbrunn, and as eggs are always connected with the thought of Easter, a call roll was answered with some interesting facts about eggs. A summary of the nutritional value of eggs was given by Mrs. Helen Heilbrunn, and as eggs are always connected with the thought of Easter, a call roll was answered with some interesting facts about eggs. A summary of the nutritional value of eggs was given by Mrs. Helen Heilbrunn, and as eggs are always connected with the thought of Easter, a call roll was answered with some interesting facts about eggs.

NORTHVIEW
Out at Northview Grange, when the meeting last Friday night they had the labor resolution and several aligned it though no action was taken by the Grange. Only the usual routine claimed the attention of the Grange and the meeting was turned over to the lecturer, and here again the Easter theme was evident.

The program opened with a recitation "Easter" by Lenora Morris; Easter rhyme, Betty Erickson; "Happy Easter," Lerry Crawford; song, "In the Temple," George Jucker; dialogue, "What Is It?" by Billy Reed and Warren Hart; two violin solos, Ralph Hart; "Spring House Cleaning," Ruth Cunningham (this was a number sent out by the state lecturer and suggested that the mind needed cleaning in the spring the same as the house); song, "Easter Blessing," Wilma Reed; Lenora's prayer, George Jucker.

Holls, doughnuts and coffee were served as luncheon and a social hour followed. A good attendance was present.

FAIRVIEW
Out at Fairview Grange, another Friday night Grange, they had the labor resolution up for consideration and turned it over to a committee. J. R. Crawford, Harvey King and Melvin Harrison, for study and report at the next meeting, it being a by-law of our Grange that no resolution may be considered without having been referred to a committee for study, unless by unanimous consent.

We feel that this is a wise provision because there are always plenty of groups and organizations that are very willing for the Grange to pull chestnuts out of the fire for them, but this provision keeps us from being the goat quite often. We do not uphold labor for in any way tending the war effort, but we would like to have industry and capital wash up their own pot before they take the kettle black. We would respectfully advise the Buhl Chamber of Commerce to amend their resolution and place capital on a similar footing with labor if they are retaining the war effort in their last for profits.

Lots of Business
Somebody or other we always seem to have a bill of business at the meeting. At Fairview, after opening Grange, with "Outward Christian Soldiers," Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson gave the third and fourth degrees of Patrons of Husbandry. Boren Jensen reported on the so-called Bidde bill of censorship measure, now before congress. After having obtained a copy of the bill and Fairview Grange wishes to express its appreciation to Mr. R. S. Toffenreiter and Cong. Dawson for the copy, we are still at sea as to the real danger in this bill. It looks harmless enough to all except the persons who would sell us out, but if there is a joker in the bill it is in the part that allows any government official or agent of the government to withhold information in regard to any act of an officer or agent of the government from the public. This could easily become a dangerous cloak for pervert acts. Anyway, we are still studying it.

They Want the Fair
William Johnson reported on the finances of the building fund showing the amount received, spent and the balance on hand. The reason for in regard to discontinuing the fair was voted down. Several communications were read, one from the State Grange, enclosing $10 for our part in the booster campaign celebrating the diamond jubilee of the Grange. A set of worker cards was also received and gold pins will be received for individual members who secured members for the Grange.

Also received was a copy of the "Program" for the year. A committee from the State and National Granges, in connection with the government control group asked for help from the Grange and fixed a week of April for the Grange to observe. Also received was the bond which the Grange had ordered from the government.

The Grange voted to buy a new degree hood and to hold a plant and bulb sale at the next meeting. From here the lecturer took over. A program was given by Mrs. George Baxter, Campbell and Morrison families. With Mrs. Campbell as announcer. First number, "Come to O'Day" by the three Brannon children. Myrinda Campbell and Mrs. Campbell were the soloists. The State of Liberty Faces A New Order of "Byrnes" by Mrs. Darrow. The graduation shows careful preparation, deep thinking and a peculiar sense of patriotic zeal. One so young as Miss Darrow. It was also well rendered.

Two things you are urged to hoard: DEFENSE BONDS and COAL

You don't need any reminder that it is a patriotic duty and privilege to invest regularly in Defense Bonds.

But it IS our obligation to tell you frankly — and in good time — why it is very important that you keep your coal bin well filled in advance of need.

Our Country is at war — and the goal of winning the war comes first — ahead of every other human necessity. It is obvious, therefore — looking ahead to next fall and winter — that serious shipping problems could arise, due to the war's priority on railway facilities.

Coal itself is plentiful and will likely continue to be plentiful. But the mines are not sure of their ability to meet normal dealer demands a few months from now.

The following is quoted from BITUMINOUS COAL PRODUCERS BOARD FOR DISTRICT NO. 20:

"Mr. Gray, the Coordinator of Solid Fuels, has stated that both industrial and home users of coal may expect disruptions in the normal flow of their fuel supply from time to time, due to various dislocations caused by the war and its repercussions upon ordinary business activity, and he warned that the full effects of the war upon the fuel supply could not yet be seen, and that wise consumers should take immediate precautionary steps by storing reserves of fuel in order to avoid the possibility of an acute coal shortage in the near future."

The only wise thing, when in doubt, is to play safe. So we urgently advise that you keep an ample supply of coal in your bin at all times. Thus you will protect your own interests and help your country solve one of its difficult problems.

CASTLE GATE is an unusually good storage coal. Its naturally low inherent moisture definitely safeguards against deterioration. DUSPRUFG makes it absolutely and permanently dustless. WASHING purifies it — gives you more heat for your money.

Budget your coal purchases — buy a ton or more every month and pay cash for it. Obviously, it isn't feasible for your coal dealer to stock enough coal to protect all of his customers, nor is it financially possible for him to extend credit to cover extensive storage.

PIONEER LEAGUE CLUBS OPEN SPRING TRAINING SESSION

Shortage Seen In Talent for 1942 Campaign

By The Associated Press
It's spring training time for Pioneer league baseball teams.

Five of the outfits are congregated in Coeur d'Alene today but the sixth, the champion Boise team, stayed in its home state, being "on location" at Lewiston.

Reports from the various training camps indicate good material is scarce, in fact almost impossible to hire.

It seems that a large percentage of the best talent has joined the armed forces or prefers to work in defense industries, a more lucrative and exciting vocation. They have yet to prove their worth on the diamond.

Reports from managers hint that some of the Pioneer league teams will be weaker than last year because of outstanding players are available.

Clubs at Merced
Idaho Falls' Bussert is working out at Merced, Salt Lake's Reds and Fresno's Cowboys, Boise's Springs, Pocatello's Cardinals and Sacramento and Ogden's Reds at Merced.

Manager Tony Robello of the Cowboys reports the lack of a strong catcher but contends they will have "If this club can't play better than 500 last year, then I'll toss in the towel."

Robello said he had five good pitchers, a "peach of an infield" and "good outfield" but was dubious about the receiving department.

Less Two Catchers
Twin Falls has two catchers before spring training started, one to the army; the other a defense job.

Manager Lou Garland of the Ruckelshaus' New York Yankees farm headed for camp with only four Yankee-contract players stenciled. Others on the roster were picked up elsewhere.

Idaho Falls pitched two likely prospects in Hideo Tokui, infielder, and lanky Burdette Peterson, a pitcher with a good location.

Only Ray Adams, outfielder; Max Little, pitcher, and Steve Dyer, pitcher, were Idaho Falls uniforms last year. All the other candidates are new.

Manager Jim Keesey of the title-holding Pilots wished only nine players perform during the initial workout, but others started streaming in and a full attendance is expected before the week is out.

The Boise team is spotted with veterans, an ominous sign for the other squads, but some are eligible for the army. Loss of several key men would cripple the Pilots.

Managers of the other teams are gambling on the prospects of getting winning pitchers from the big league. One has already tried out last autumn.

They come through, then the Bees will be tough. If they fail, the Bees can't get replacement men; then the capital city fans will want to adopt Brooklyn's old slogan—wait till next year.

Aide from the kids, the Bees have a dozen veterans around, and should be strong.

Ogden's roster is almost completely new. Therefore, Manager Bill McCoy must pick a winning combination out of talent that's unknown to him. It's a big job.

Clint Smith, manager of the club, the Bees are certain to be there in 1942.

Pocatello's Cardinals, always an up and at 'em outfit, probably will be another hot player in the hands of the St. Louis parent organization.

They have a new manager, Nick Crippin, an outfielder, and unless the players already lined up complete completely, they should be pennant contenders.

Defense Boosts Athletic Program At Murtaugh H. S.
MURTAUGH, April 9.—The need for physical fitness, which has been stressed by our nation during the present emergency, has reacted in the local school, according to Don Blackley, coach.

Twenty-two boys have signed up for football next year as compared with 13 last season, and the number of boys for next year's basketball has doubled. There were 20 in this year and 30 have signed for next year, he reported.

Although competitive baseball was dispensed with this spring because of the early closing of school, the boys are showing a keen interest in the physical education program.

The Sports Round-up

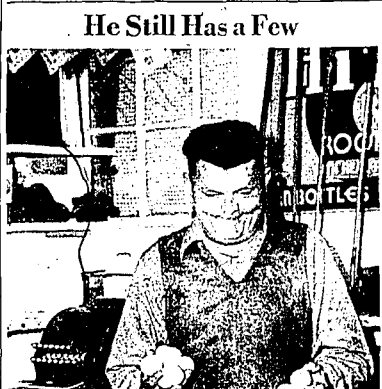

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Wide World Sports Columnist
NEW YORK, April 9.—The national start running today at Jamaica and Keeneland, New England opens its season today, and the day after Florida closes. Wonder when the fans are supposed to get their mitts on their pocketbooks?

It's our idea that all sports seasons run too long. There will be more fun and just as many customers if they'd start later and end earlier so the fans could get a breathing spell and get steamed up about each new sport as its season came along.

Another suggestion: If Leon Hains peace conference between the army and the A. U. doesn't smooth things out today, why not have an arrangement whereby the armed forces could certify athletes as being clean the way colleges do?

Today's guest star: Jim Red, Topeka, Kan., Daily Capital: "Kansas farmers report they are the highest in 1942 and it wouldn't be surprising to see a new record set this fall for the price of football 'beer'."

He Still Has a Few

By GAYLE TALBOT
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 9 (AP)—One of the world's greatest golf courses, the royal family of the game starts playing today in the 7-hole Masters' tournament, with the smart of military motors over-head to remind them that this probably is the last sentimental stop as Bobby Jones' course until after the war.

Even though they have been playing against each other all winter—most of them—from the west coast across the country, the best seemed not to realize that the big bus-up was at hand until they landed here. Now they do, and it has given them an added incentive to win the most coveted of the titles, excepting only the Open, which is a more lightly-would field of 42 that get off today.

The Masters' crown was what might be called a "manufactured" trophy. It was made up of the last eight years' winners a remarkable hold on the players. Open and all their championships they carry the glory to the exclusion of the Niblicks, the Hogans, the Ben Hognans.

And further down, playing together, will be Ben Hognan, who in 1927, 1928, 1929, 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933, 1934, 1935, 1936, 1937, 1938, 1939, 1940, 1941, 1942, 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949, SERIAL STORY

MEXICAN MASQUERADE

BY CECIL CARNES

SENTENCED:

CHAPTER X

NO side-winder ever struck faster than Allan Steele. He pivoted in his own length on the ground and came to his feet in the same split movement. His forward leap and upward thrust of his powerful left arm knocked aside the barrel of the menacing rifle. It exploded harmlessly. He swung a haymaker with his right which would have torn the East Indian's head from his shoulders if it had found the mark.

Probably the fellow was unprepared for any resistance at all, let alone a counter-attack so dynamic. Perhaps his orders were not to shoot unless necessary. He gave ground almost automatically, and gave it barely in time to escape the looping fist which buzzed by his nose. He shouted, then, something in Japanese, then went spinning into a patch of cactus as Allan's left reached his jaw.

If the Japanese words were a command to close in, his six yellow helmets had not waited for the attack. One of them tripped over the Eurasian's feet, another was knocked sprawling by the Eurasian himself in flight, a third folded up with a grunt and went to earth as Allan's knee drove his stomach against his spine and plastered it there.

But still there were three of the formidable Orientals left. They bore in, grim, silent, purposeful. Two brandished Allan's arms, caught them and clung like leeches. The last man dove headlong to grasp his knees in a feebly futile effort to avoid a well-aimed blow to the face diverted his aim. He sprawled, his arms still groping blindly for their objectives.

By now the Eurasian was on his feet again, but standing prudently to one side. His hideous face wore an expression repulsive from hate, he snapped orders in words that crackled. As if, prodigiously imaginary omnipotent gods, the temporarily disabled Japs sprang erect and tore in again like men possessed of frenzied energy, directed upon Allan with the impact of six living battering-rams.

He fought them tooth and nail, and with elbows and knees and fists and feet. The knot of struggling men swayed this way and that, spinning around in a series of crazy circles. No sound came from the straining bodies except Allan's gasping breath and occasional grunt, with a Japanese accent, as one of his desperate jumps connected with some vital spot in an enemy's anatomy.

By sheer weight and brute force, he thrust them tooth and nail, and with elbows and knees and fists and feet. The knot of struggling men swayed this way and that, spinning around in a series of crazy circles. No sound came from the straining bodies except Allan's gasping breath and occasional grunt, with a Japanese accent, as one of his desperate jumps connected with some vital spot in an enemy's anatomy.

In the end, it was the Peninsula itself that bent him. At the foot of the hill came this akin to a display of fireworks dazzled his brain; but before he could really appreciate the rockets, shooting stars and Roman candles, a curtain of blackness fell on the earth. Allan simply, his head and his rock with a force that nearly split them both.

HE was stunned only momentarily, but that was enough for the pack of wolves who had pulled him down. He opened his eyes to find himself helpless, his arms lashed behind him at wrist and elbow. Two Japanese brethren, heavily, were sitting behind his legs. The Eurasian stood above him, his head down, his hands on his hips. "So you've come back to life," he commented, and drove a booted toe deep into Allan's side. "Believe me, it will be a pleasure to watch you go out of it again—presently!"

He added something to his men. The four who were holding Allan to the ground got up, raising him with them. He caught his balance uncertainly, still dizzy from the crack on his head, but he was able to control his limbs when his captors marched him around the base of the hill and down to the shore.

There seemed to be a whole fleet of boats launched by the seven's service. Allan and his men were lashed, bundled into one and another for the trip. He held his eyes open as they put-pull toward a dock, and sprang to his feet when he felt his aliveness. A curt order from him in Japanese and one of the men produced a dirty yellow cloth which he wrapped about the prisoner's head, blindingfold him effectively.

He could not make much of his surroundings as he was guided ashore and led inland. There was a path to be a concrete path under his feet. The sound of many chattering voices indicated quite a crowd had turned out to inspect him.

Presently the party halted. Allan heard a door behind him open and the door was shut behind with a rattle of bars and metallic clings that suggested iron. A short walk—he counted 10 paces—then down a flight of 10 stone steps. Another path, complete with sound effects of bars and metal. Another stairway, again leading down, and another stone-floored passage. He was reminded unhelpfully of a movie he had once seen in which a man was taken down into the bowels of the earth and left to rot in a medieval dungeon.

Another door, and when this was unbarred and swung open, he sensed a change in the light even through his bandage. He felt he was in a room, brilliantly illuminated even if 20 feet underground.

A VOICE spoke in Japanese. The cloth was whipped from his eyes. He was in a comfortably furnished room, equipped like any modern office and lighted by electricity from an overhead fixture. The company, he reflected, must have its own dynamo. It was nothing such details—nothing anything and storing it in his memory against a time such data might be useful. He was down but not yet out; his mind was active and fighting even if his body was helpless.

He was standing in front of a flat-top mahogany desk. The Eurasian on one side of him, a guard on the other. The rest of the capture-party, he supposed, must have dropped out somewhere on the way. Two middle-aged Japanese were seated in chairs behind the desk, one of them in a well-cut uniform. He was who came briskly to the matter in hand, speaking good

Spanish in a high-pitched voice. "You are Senor Steele?"

Allan inclined his head, to "erh" query, though they were more statements of fact than questions. "I am Colonel Watanabe, of the Japanese Army. This is my colleague, Dr. Ishizuka, of the Tokyo Academy of Science."

Allan bowed. The pair rose as one man and bowed back. "I regret, Senor Steele," went on Watanabe, "that your enthusiasm for photography should have led you to a hilltop from which you were observing our little settlement through a pair of field glasses. The offending glasses were on the desk before him, together with Allan's automatic. "I further regret, senor, that you thereby intruded on a privacy we deem essential to our safety." Watanabe paused as if to give emphasis to his next words. "The penalty for your transgression, senor, is death."

CHOR, GLEE CLUB WELCOME SPRING

Now It's the Wooden Bike

Darryl Hickman, child film actor, and Marlene Mann tried out these children's wooden bikes just designed for production at Hollywood. A minimum of metal fittings is used and the bikes were the result of recent order banning manufacture of children's-size bikes of metal. The pedaling mechanism is wooden pulleys and belts. Tires are of reclaimed rubber.

By MARTHA SCHOEFS

Striving for springtime's full glory, the capella choir and girls' glee club of Twin Falls, which school presented their annual spring review under direction of Miss Margaret Albertson.

The auditorium's capacity had practically been reached when the girls' sextet, Norma Andrews, Vera Petzold, Grace Burdick, Gwen Hoffert, Bernice Hill and Mary Helen Clapper appeared on the stage clad in ever popular spring suits to introduce Rodgers' "Society" as in a Morning nurse.

Garden Setting

The stage curtains parted revealing a garden setting. The mixed quartet, Olie Fern Secord, Doris Ann Shrewood, Betty Edmondson, June McNeely, Clarence Dudley, Bill Reynolds, Bob Barnett and Earl Bennett entered the garden singing "Summertime," Gershwin.

Predicting the time of day, Doris Ann Shrewood and Bill Reynolds sang "Ten for Two," Youmans, and as timely as the time, tea was served to the girls in the garden.

Olie Fern Secord sang musical background for the tea drinkers with Wilson's "Carmina."

Again the girls' sextet emphasized spring in the air. Directed in the private costumes, they offered "Who Will Buy My Violin?" Pullias. Adding to the enjoyment of the audience as well, Eva Dunham sang "When a Maiden Comes Knocking," Pines. The mixed quartet, who was the garden occupants, released some of its seasonal enthusiasm with Youmans' "Without a Doubt."

Another musical offering by the mixed quartet was Cole Porter's "It's the Bells of the Night."

Scene Two

The curtains opened on scene two with Olie Wells singing "The Man I Love," Gershwin. This scene confirmed the saying, "In springtime young hearts turn to love," for as Miss Wells sang Gershwin's luscious tune, the members of the boys' chorus, each in turn, offered their love to the singer only to be sweetly but coolly rejected.

A reverse in attitude was brought about by Clarence Dudley, who singing Irving Berlin's "A Pretty Girl Like a Melody," treated the members of the girls' chorus in the same manner as Miss Wells, rejected all suitors, until he matched his melody with the pretty girl.

After seeing how the two previous affairs turned out, Jack Tiffany entered with his piece, "Lady Be Good," Gershwin, and after wonderful musical dramatization of earnestness, Mary Helen Clapper consented to listen to him. Evidently joined together in the case, they displayed their light heartedness with a soft dance, which was well received by all.

Love Theme

To assure everyone of the outcome, Vera Petzold sang "Sweethearts," Herbert. And, Mary Jane Shrewood and Margaret Sawyer brought the "Spring Love" scene to its climax with Porter's "Night and Day."

Determined to break the serious trend of the scenes, the Harmon troupe, led by Mildred Edmondson sang into Gershwin's "Clap Yo Hands." Another Gershwin composition, "Fascinating Rhythm" was enacted by Bob Nelson and Lois Blinn.

"Fifty Feet" also by Gershwin, was given justice by Virginia McEldride and Lois Pearson. Margaret Detweiler soon ended the joy frolicking of the group with her "Blue Serenade" and the show became serious but with a light touch.

The final scene was the ballet features by the girls' ballet team given to the strains of Carmichael's "Star Dust" melody.

Norma Andrews sang "The Bubble" by Prinf as the concluding song and Virginia and June McEldride closed the last scene with a ballet number.

Toss Away Those Blue Prints --Priorities Placed on Lumber

WASHINGTON, April 9 (UPI)—Put away those well-thumbed blue-prints of your dream house and forget those plans for remodeling the old homestead.

The war production board shattered those hopes today by ordering all non-essential construction halted for the duration. Materials, labor and equipment must be devoted to the war effort. It decided that the federal housing administration will help administer the order, by leaving setup, blue-prints will be authorized only when the design and specifications conform with standards the War Relocation Authority sets for the minimum use of critical materials, the WPB said.

Local FHA officers will decide whether or not a project is eligible for recommendation to the WPB. Exceptions for individual buildings are expected to be limited to places where there is extreme shortage of housing for war workers.

Specifically exempted are military and government construction and buildings for industrial or related structures damaged by acts of God and the public enemy. Most of the buildings and homes now under construction can be completed, but no exceptions are granted, the order prohibits the beginning of any new buildings in the following categories:

Residential construction—Cannot be started without authorization if it exceeds cost more than $500. That would permit the construction of a bathroom or a garage if you can get the materials, but would make impossible an addition of sizable proportions or extensive remodeling.

Agricultural construction—Cannot be started if the cost is estimated at $2,000 more for the particular building or project involved.

Other construction—Cannot be started without permission if the project costs $5,000 or more. This category includes commercial, industrial, recreational, institutional, highway, roadway, sub-urban and utility construction, whether privately or publicly financed.

The WPB emphasized that the order does not affect ordinary maintenance and repair work to return a structure to sound working condition without a change of design.

Mandalay in Smoking Ruins After Great Jap Bombardment

By DANIEL BERRIGAN

MANDALAY, April 4 (Delayed)—The havoc done up like this today.

Through the night a fleet of Japanese bombers stalked the sky, unrelenting, dropping their death toll.

Tonight, this city of pagodas and tradition lay in smoking ruins.

The prosperous commercial district is a shambles with hundreds of dead and wounded. At this moment, a large moon is rising over the city, casting long shadows, casting a chill reflection over the groups of bodies of men, women and children which remain in the streets. Casualties are estimated from 5,000 to 8,000, with probably 2,000 to 3,000 killed and hundreds wounded critically, but no definite count has been made yet.

Rescued to Aches

Three-quarters of the downtown district, trading center for Mandalay's 125,000 residents, were reduced to ashes and rubble. Heavy bombs folded, brick and concrete structures like match sticks, burying occupants.

No warning was sounded. Had the population been warned in time, casualties undoubtedly would have been hundreds.

Over a mile square, where were hundreds of native homes and shops, was burned to the ground by incendiary bombs. There was no chance to check the fire as a strong south wind swept the flames through the dry buildings. Hundreds of natives, caught completely by surprise, burned to death. Few escaped with more than the clothes on their backs.

All 12 buildings of the general hospital were burned to the ground. China town, one of the most crowded, is still littered with dead humans, horses, cattle and dogs.

The fire is still blazing, threatening to spread to the only business block still undamaged.

Roads checked

Roads leading from the city in every direction are choked with evaders. Some are leaving on foot, others in ox carts. All are fleeing to the west.

Great Earthquake Reported in Asia

BOMBAY, India, April 9 (UPI)—An earthquake of great intensity, apparently entering in the yellow sea between Japan and the China coast, was recorded here last night at 9:30 p. m. (11:49 a. m. MWT, Wednesday).

Two more shocks of lesser intensity were recorded today at 1:08 a. m. and 5:25 a. m.

The epicenter was calculated to be about 2,160 miles from Bombay north latitude 32 north, longitude 122 east.

SYDNEY, Australia, April 9 (UPI)—A heavy earthquake believed to center in the China sea southwest of Luzon, was recorded here early today.

BRITISH DESERT ARMY IN ACTION

CAIRO, April 9 (UPI)—British empire forces, in a swift hard counter-thrust, struck back today at the axis forces pressing out from their positions between Gerna and Tokmaruk on the Libya front, and took a number of prisoners.

The British forces struck back at an enemy force which was trying to establish a strong point, possible jumping off place for an attack in force, between Dimini and El Gacala.

Another British column engaged an enemy force in the Sidi Bregheich sector.

The report said the Germans and Italians moved in the lightning area did not try to advance their positions yesterday, but the British forces waited close by for an attack which would signal the start of a new drive for Suez.

There was a surge of activity all over the Mediterranean from Gibraltar, where axis radios reported a heavy cannonade for 20 minutes during the night, to the desert where Col. Gen. Edwin Rommel, commanding a formidable German-Italian army, appeared facing out British strength.

Malta was under almost continuous aerial attack and reports said that in 24 hours up to midnight, the Germans and Italians had lost nine planes shot down, six probably shot down and eight damaged for a total of 24.

Denver Paper to Become Tabloid

DENVER, April 8 (UPI)—Colorado's oldest newspaper, the Rocky Mountain News, will become a tabloid next Monday to render subscribers and advertisers service "keyed to the times," a front-page announcement said today.

The Scripps-Howard morning publication, which has been published as a regular-sized, eight-column paper since 1859, will continue all its present features, according to the announcement.

"War has speeded up immeasurably our daily routine, our emotions, our needs," the announcement said. "A newspaper must respond in form and news presentation to these demands for a quicker pace."
