WICKARD DRAFTS WHEAT PROGRAM

ENID, Okla., April 28 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Claude I. Wickard today outlined a plan for wheat growing program to include about 400,000 acres of grain used for making flour and lower prices for wheat stocks sold for export, feed and industrial uses.

Speaking on the national farm and home hour (Blue network) Wickard told a farmers' meeting here that the outlook for wheat after the war is "not encouraging." He said international wheat conferences had drawn up a plan for dividing the world market after the war, and that "our share of the wheat trade... will be very small and at a much lower price than parity."

"From the way things look now," he said, "it seems to me that the course to be taken is that there would be something like the Mainland parity for every producer's wheat, the wheat grown on which ever acreage may be needed to supply our full domestic needs for flour—some 60,000,000 bushels—and then have the areas that are specially equipped to grow wheat go ahead and raise the field at 9 p. m. hands their domestic flour shares, then sell that excess wheat at a lower price for export."

Wickard said that "we already have more wheat than we know what to do with," Wickard said grain farmers should be prepared to face wartime problems in America's agriculture. Last year's carry-over was 62,000,000 bushels, and this year's crop is estimated at 600,000,000 bushels.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL HARLIGG

IDEA—A confidential survey of the current activities of inventors reveals them to be most unambitious than ever before in the nation's history. With industry straining to produce at top speed, the uneven distribution of supplies has led the inner circle of invention to the exploitation and allotment of law and semi-fictitious goods.

The surplus on shelves, in yards and warehouses is now 50 per cent more than in any year since the most twenty-eight billion dollars. This figure is seven billion more than was stored and almost two billion more than was sold. The surplus is the result of heavy forward buying and the result of the fact that a disturbing feature is that while a certain key industry may be starved for materials, other industries are being starved for materials and untrained troops.

RAY—Tucker's track may be rolling in riches. The alleged explanation is that there may be better value in the auction setup and no difficulties in tank factories. It accounts in part for the failure of small firms to obtain government contracts; they cannot afford to tie up cash in large volume.

W. P. A.—It has tackled this problem with extreme caution. They have commiserated so stock piles affecting vital commodities, and they have resorted to many expedients to aid manufacturers. But they have not tried confiscation and rationing on a large scale, despite economist's predictions. They say they are not ready for such a step.

SCION—The administration has capitulated once to the pro-roping, red-baiting Martin Dies from deep in the heart of Texas. His cross government employees are or have been affiliated with questionable and subversive organizations will be thoroughly sifted out of the government.

The Texas aired his indictment in October of 1940 and provoked indignation from the top. The President directed a "clean-up" procedure. Federal workers were informed that they would not endanger their official status if they paid no heed to committee subpoenas. D. R. E. took office and a checkered public unrest resulting from the revelations. With a hundred thousand dollars P. D. I. Christman J. Edgar Hoover were trying to conceal the investigation. He recently filed a list of 2,000 names on Uncle Sam's blacklist against whom he believes he has made a prima facie case.

Attorney General Biddle has appointed a court to pick the names of the committee. He has appointed Secretary John J. Dempsey. He was once a member of the Dies committee, and though sympathetic toward the committee, he has been a vocal spokesman against star chamber proceedings and black-listing of innocent people. Other judges are Assistant Treasury Secretary Charles M. Young, and Secretary Wayne Chatfield Taylor. Mr. Gaston was formerly associated with the radical Non-Partisan League for five years. He has been a vocal spokesman for the party. Mr. Taylor is a son of the socially prominent and wealthy Chicago family. The nearest he has to a record is that he was a member of the party as a boy. He peeped in on the fine dinner his father took to serve to Theodore Roosevelt on Chicago's gold coast.

PLACARD—The Republican party may fix its sights almost exclusively on the "white collar class" in next fall's campaign. It may seek the support of the "white collar" class. It may be that the party must be pleasing in the sight of God "because he made so many of them."

The new Capital Hill strategists, including a man who enjoyed top honors from the O. O. F. in 1940, counsel against any deliberate attempt to win back votes from the "white collar" class. They are in the Green-Murray-Lewis ranks lined up with the Democrats in depression years, and will be beholden to F. D. R. for the "white collar" class.

Chairman Joseph W. Martin, Jr. was far from fooling when he announced that he intended to conduct a "good man campaign." The Wall Streeters as well as Wendell Wilkie have wanted his scalp for months. He has been a vocal spokesman for the party and also figures that war contracts and their financial backers will dig deep for money and ballots for the party.

FAMI—A tall, athletic youngster with a gimpy leg approached a night guard at a recent cocktail party. "If you were out of the country when men had to register, he asked, 'how would you sign up out there?'" "Well, what happens if you return and don't register?" "The cops might get you and you might have to go to jail."

The cop explained his odd predicament. He was flying for China when the citizen army was mustered. While on a special errand in Chiang Kai-shek's private plane he was captured by the Japanese and he lost a leg. On his return he secured a civilian assignment with the army air corps.

CONSET—The curator of the Folger Shakespeare library is taking on chances on girlies who are getting away with one of his most priceless possessions. Along with first editions of Dekker, Marlowe, Jonson and the Bard of Avon, he has hidden away the cast-iron corset which once confined Queen Elizabeth's waistline to hugging proportions.

OTHER POINTS OF VIEW
We noticed that the proof-reading gal was nearly having hysterics. We asked how come. She handed over what one typewriter operator had produced for "any additional legislation which the chief executive officer would ask Congress to enact." He may have something at that.

EASIER TO SING
The new A-flat score of "The Star-Spangled Banner" sponsored by the national music educators' conference has a note that is easier to sing than the old one. It is a note that many singing will be easier. The conference did submit an easier method of learning and remembering the new A-flat score. It is a note that is easier to sing. Presumably, therefore, the new humming will continue volume-wise.—South Bend (Ind.) Tribune.

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE
A Japanese girl is valedictorian of Nampa High school's graduating class of 1942. She is the first of this kind to happen in Japan, which illustrates as well as anything we can think of at the moment the extent to which the Japanese are making their way and a totalitarian dictatorship like theirs. What America we don't ask "who was your grand-father?" And this is one of America's priceless attributes.—Nampa Free Press.

ANALYZING CURRENT NEWS FROM NEW YORK

RIVALS—The appointment of Roosevelt as Mayor of New York City is chiefly the result of the hatred which A. F. O. and C. I. O. have for the National Labor Relations Board.

ALBERT LEMAN
The FBI has been probing several encounters. Somewhere between Cape Cod and Long Island a fishing vessel was captured by a Navy runner of enemy alien extraction stocked up with an enormous load of food and supplies. The vessel was turned with an empty galley next day.

KNIVES—New York military men are concerned about a deluge of the Pacific war overlooked by the general public. They hope that Roosevelt's brave private life over the past few years has been overlooked because it would be tragic to lose more men familiar with the enemy's tricks than the United States has.

FREE—Shrewd Wall street tycoons have passed the word to pipe down on any ways of anguish about the man of means by the Federal Reserve government in settlement of the claims on the expropriated oil wells.

PLAY IS BUSINESS OF CHILD'S

CLAPPER'S OBSERVATIONS ON NATIONS AT WAR
WASHINGTON, April 28—In a speech to newspaper publishers in New York City, Raymond Clapper, chief of the office of facts and figures, warned this country against being lulled into a false sense of security in the near future.

RAYMOND CLAPPER
I don't believe Hitler would get anything except a chorus of applause from the American people. I am so certain of it that I think the most fortunate thing that could happen would be an attempt by Hitler to get peace. It would be taken by everyone as a sign of weakness and would result in a new confidence in the United Nations.

OFFICER Honored
Rupert, April 28—Chief Petty Officer Lloyd Stevens, who has been visiting here, left Tuesday for his home in Seattle, Wash. He was assigned to a ship. He has spent the past two years at Pearl Harbor in the signals and received citation for bravery during the attack on the islands.

IMPROMPTU DUTIES OF A WAR BOND CANNASIER
Dear Pat: I saw you and your hat—strictly— who told you this. But have you heard about Ben Tillery, Andy McGee, the lady and the chicken? Ben and Andy went to a certain apartment in quest of a chicken delivered by the butcher shop. There's a chicken in the house. Ben and Andy were admitted, they found the chicken in the house. They were admitted, they found the chicken in the house.

MORE ON CONG. HANK
Dear Pat: Apparently "I'm Still Tired of Your Foolishness" doesn't like Congressman Hank. Hank is a bad fellow. Hank. You don't have to love this some one went to school. Hank is a bad fellow. Hank. You don't have to love this some one went to school.

HISTORY OF TWIN FALLS
AS GLEANED FROM THE FILES OF THE TIMES-NEWS
15 YEARS AGO—APRIL 28, 1927
SPOKANE, Wash., April 27—Facing the worst disaster in recent years hundreds of residents of the Geop. Alaska mining district of Idaho abandoned their homes to escape a mountain stream overflowed their banks.

Next Wednesday evening a huge benefit ball will be given by the Geop. Alaska Club. The proceeds of which will be turned over to the Red Cross and whether the dance will be open to Kinship or northern Idaho relief will be decided by local Red Cross officers.

THE TURNING POINT

The laymen ventures diffidently to advise the expert. This is particularly true when the layman does not know all the contributing factors.

We do not make bold to tell the generals and the admirals how to win this war. We can say, however, that somewhat more than a hundred thirty million Americans will be wild with delight when sound strategy permits us to carry the war direct to Tokyo, Berlin and Rome.

The Armchair Strategists of America, unincorporated, are convinced that the axis must be beaten at home. Counter-offensive activities, designed to hamper the Nazis and the Japs in their attacks, are necessary. We do not belittle their importance. But we do feel that they are mere stopgaps.

Germany and Japan have spread their tentacles over the world, delving one outlying territory after another. We can't restore peace by arduously recapturing the lost possessions island by island.

We amateurs are convinced that the way to win this war is to invade Germany and Japan. To the extent that the bombing of Tokyo and other Japanese cities is a preliminary step in such an offensive, it may be said to mark a turning point in World War II.

We, the lay majority who urge this bold course, have no illusions that it will be easy. The cost in blood, sweat and tears will be beyond anything this sad world ever yet has known. But...

An offensive against either Germany or Japan presupposes the availability of millions of well-trained fighting men. These millions must be provided with ample armament at least as good as the axis possesses—tanks, planes, guns, munitions.

The men, the materiel, food, clothing, medical supplies, must be carried safely across thousands of miles of submarine-infested waters. The great month after month. This will require a ship tonnage almost beyond comprehension.

We are training the men. We are producing materiel at an ever-increasing tempo. We are building ships probably faster than ocean carriers ever before were turned out.

On behalf of the armchair strategists, we concede that we laymen can not know exactly at what moment there will be enough men properly trained and adequately equipped, with enough ship tonnage to carry them to battle and maintain them until victory is won.

That is for the best generals and admirals to determine. But as they must solve the equally difficult problem of meeting the jumping-off places for invasion of Germany and Japan.

We don't envy the brass hats either of those jobs. But we do insist, respectfully, that they be done at the earliest possible moment. And we hope the bombing of Japan was the first step toward taking the war to the enemy homelands.

BREWSTER CRACKDOWN

There would seem to be something very mysterious about the circumstances under which the Navy has taken over four plants of the Brewster Aeronautical corporation.

There was no labor trouble. Union spokesmen praised the company's attitude toward employees. Both the Navy's new manager and the union representatives denied that there is enemy alien trouble in the plant.

The Navy says the plants were not produced in the type of aircraft. Perhaps there is some further important fact which all parties concerned are conspiring to keep from the public. If not, the Navy's action would seem to be unusually drastic—and perhaps misdirected. If subcontractors do not deliver, why not take over their plants, if anybody?

We want war production to the limit. But we don't want a lot of cracking down just to prove how tough some big boys is.

USED CAR LOTS

The administration didn't take long about repudiating Senator Downey's bill authorizing the confiscation of all privately owned automobiles.

There is plenty of dynamite in any such plan. The American people will not object to giving up their cars at any time when they are convinced that the military machine really needs them. But they would require a big job of selling at the moment.

It would be worth the rubber that would be used if Mr. Downey would drive by automobile from Washington to his California home, and look over the used car lots he passes. Perhaps, perhaps, he would withdraw his bill for the present.

SERIAL STORY

FRANTIC WEEKEND

BY EDMUND FANCOTT

THIS STORY, the weekend guests at Ferd's... "Gee! I got you. I come from New York this afternoon, flew up, and they told me you were here so I come and get lost and tell you how much I am and take their hands off me."

BALDY BARGES IN

CHAPTER VIII FAY laughed. "Peggy certainly does have a voice," she said. "With some training she might go places. Someone ought to stop her before it's too late."

"Listen, honey, you got to be sensible! It's the broadest thing you've ever heard of. There's a million dances on Broadway and every one of 'em that would give the eye teeth for the chance of my giving you. I've got it in my pocket, not one contract, not two contracts, but three contracts all in my big time."

"All in the big time. Johnny White, you lack. He's jumped the price and he's got on the air in a week for Peppertop Credits and it's name your own price because he don't get it without you and Benny Shaw's putting on a musical in the East and there's a place for you—not the lead but real gravy. It's the biggest thing you ever saw and the country right from nothing. Honey, you got to listen! It's your chance and we got you climbing so fast the top won't be high enough for you next year..."

A STRONG hand hooked itself in the back of his collar and Michael heard him away from Fay.

"Thank you, Michael," she laughed, apparently quite unperturbed by the spite of words that had just splashed over her. "The little man turned on Michael. 'You take your hand off me. I'm Irish I am...'"

AT that moment there was a squeal from below the house. Three men looked from one to the other with a slight apprehension. After all, it was a very good house, even though they had three men for protection. Then their faces showed a mixture of feelings as Michael Mack led in a prisoner who was awfully slightly disheveled, and a revelation in the way of clothes.

"Dat's no way to treat a gentleman! I come quietly and I said I'd come quietly and I was just looking round to see if I was come to the right place. I got business..."

"Probably same stray material. We've had them before. They get lost and come and ask the way out..."

CHORUS OF COMPLAINTS GREET'S FDR'S LABOR 'FAVORITISM'

40-HOUR WEEK RESULT IN SOPAP

WASHINGTON, April 27.—A chorus of complaints that President Roosevelt practically had exempted himself from the 40-hour week program spurred new efforts in congress today to force suspension of the 40-hour week and a legislative clamp-down on other union privileges.

Legislators generally approved the objective set forth in the President's seven-point message yesterday in which he urged about an "equality of privileges" in sharing the war burden, but split into camps over the question of enforcing and supporting some of the methods proposed.

The President planned to lay his program before the nation in a radio address tonight at 8 p. m. (MST).

Sharp Criticism

"There was sharp criticism in congress of the fact that Mr. Roosevelt had asked for no labor legislation and had approved continuation of our own supply war by industrial workers while proposing legislative lowering of price ceilings on farm products."

Opposition developed also to his suggestion that drastic measures be enacted which would level off high personal incomes at $20,000 a year, after payment of taxes. Most members agreed with his recommendations for drastically increased excess profits taxation.

There was general approval of an expected order fixing retail and wholesale prices and a plan to control the rationing of essential commodities. Likewise, the President's proposal for a new unit on which war bonds was applauded.

Favoritism

But legislators who have been clamoring labor laws expressed dissatisfaction at Mr. Roosevelt's plan to stabilize wages by executive action through machinery of the war labor board as well as his evident opposition to suspension of the 40-hour week and to the enactment of anti-strike legislation. Alaska War Road Tough Job—Can Be Done, Says Traveler

By O. A. KELKER

Task of building the war highway from the United States up into Alaska will be a real job, but not the "mountainous job" of which most people believe it to be.

That was what Karl Robinson, noted lecturer and media picture expert, said here yesterday in an interview with the Twin Falls newspaper and discussed at the "Freezing Alaska" last night.

Both ends of building the Alaska war road is this: The workers must come from both ends and there is a hitch in the middle. With main roads supplies can be brought in about any place but in Alaska, because of the local picture, the supplies must come from the west coast of the United States, and get to the road excepting from one of the ends.

JAP CENTER MAY BOOST BUSINESS

EDEN, April 28 (AP)—Selection of Eden as headquarters for a Japanese evacuee relocation camp is expected to add materially to south central Idaho business.

The camp, to be sited to completion in the heart of a 17,000-acre tract, will accommodate the 60,000 acres to be reclaimed, will house up to 10,000 Japanese who are being removed from the Pacific coast by the army and the war relocation authority.

If the full capacity of the camp is reached, Jerome county's population will have been doubled, and population growth is expected to be proportionate increase in retail and wholesale business to merchants of Jerome and Twin Falls county.

The present population of Jerome county is 20,000.

Completion of ditches to bring Snake River water into the area, now largely arid, is expected to be completed to transform the area into a valuable agricultural district within a few months.

In addition to agricultural pursuits, however, an entire self-sufficient community is being established, requiring the services of business and professional men among the evacuees.

The army will maintain protective forces and administrative officers at the new town.

Full water rights for irrigating the area will be secured by purchase from supplies in the American Falls reservoir. The rights are available under the reclamation project, contingent only upon filling the reservoir. No water shortage is anticipated in normal years.
