WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—The iron and steel that go into the product of peaceful and pleasant living today were ordered poured into the crucibles of war.

General conservation order M-126, the most sweeping yet issued by the war production board, restricts thousands of manufacturing plants to stop within 90 days all use of the metals needed for guns and planes and tanks and bullets.

Manufacturers of more than 400 common products in every day use were affected, along with thousands of wholesalers, distributors, jobbers, retailers and all their employees.

The consuming public was warned against receiving articles known to have been produced in violation of the order, and violation was made a crime punishable by fine or imprisonment.

12 Men Cross 1,500 Miles in Open Lifeboat

MELBOURNE, Australia, May 5 (AP)—Twelve air force men have reached Australia after sailing for 44 days across 1,500 miles of open sea from Java in a lifeboat which naval authorities acclaimed as one of the greatest open boat voyages in history.

RAP Wing Commander Jewdine was permitted today to tell the story of the expedition to his wife and his companions, eight Australians and three British, who were rescued by a Japanese submarine.

JAPAN CLIMAXES BURMA DRIVE BY ENTERING CHINA

By ROBERT P. MARTIN

CHUNGKING, May 5 (AP)—Powerful Japanese mechanized units forced over the border today to China today, climaxed a three-month drive through Burma by crossing the Salween river into Yunnan province.

A Chinese military spokesman announced shortly after 3 p. m. that enemy spearheads had crossed the border near the town of Wanting on the Burma road about 80 miles above captured Lashio.

Although some enemy troops have penetrated as far as two miles into Chinese territory, the spokesman said the town of Wanting and Wanting bridge, separating China and Burma, still were in Chinese hands.

The drive into China was the final stage of a three-month drive through Burma from the Lashio railhead to Wanting. From the border it is only 200 miles to the Chinese capital, Chungking.

The spokesman said the Chinese were "holding up" in the Wanting area and expressed doubt that the Japanese would attempt a deep penetration into Yunnan province.

The enemy move, he said, likely would mean a halt to the Japanese drive from Java in a lifeboat which naval authorities acclaimed as one of the greatest open boat voyages in history.

It's Like This From Here on

You could almost call scenes like this historic in America today. Sugar purchases under the first food ration go underway—and from here on you can't buy sugar without your ration stamp or a special purchase certificate. Above, Mrs. E. J. Roberts, 121 Monroe street, buys the first pound of sugar sold under rationing by C. L. Schumacher, grocery store manager. Mr. Schumacher is shown tearing out the first ration stamp from a book of ration stamps.

NELSON ATTACKS STATE BARRIERS ON WAR EFFORTS

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, demanded of state government representatives today that they remove the non-essential laws and regulations which hamper transportation or conservation of war materials.

Speaking at a conference of the state representatives before President Roosevelt, the WPB chief said, "We are repeatedly finding that our struggle to save lives and win the war is being tripped up by some non-essential state or local law, not only in transportation and in building construction but all across the board."

Nelson said one of the principal problems was the confusion of state and local laws which limit the size, color and other features of commercial trucking.

Local Ordinances

"We have an acute shortage of public buses," Nelson said, "and we keep running into local ordinances which limit the use of spray painting on public buses. We are trying to substitute commercial materials for stainless steel—but state daily inspectors continue to insist that nothing but stainless steel be used in painting and food-processing equipment where public health is involved."

French Defense Force Resists on Strategic Island

VICHY, France, May 5 (AP)—Chief of government Laval declared today that he had received a note from President Roosevelt demanding that France not defend Madagascar against British attack, and that the Vichy government regarded this note as inadmissible.

Nevertheless, France under no circumstances will make the first move toward a rupture with the United States, Laval said.

By EDWARD W. DEATIE

LONDON, May 5 (AP)—Picked British empire commandos supported by air and naval forces, smashed through Vichy French resistance and landed on the strategic French island of Madagascar today.

Operations still "are proceeding," the British announced. A French battery was reported captured and a dispatch boat was sunk in severe fighting for the big Suazee Diego naval base.

Acting in agreement with the United States, the British forces—including South African—began occupation of the big island yesterday after the French governor general reportedly had rejected an ultimatum.

Dispatches of the official German news agency from Vichy said fighting was "in full swing" and that the outcome could not yet be determined, but the British foreign office spokesman said the British would be "in a position to take the island by the end of the week."

The United States, backing up the British move, was reported to have delivered a note to Vichy French President Laval today, warning that the French would be "in a position to take the island by the end of the week."

Axis broadcasts since last Saturday have reported that British warships, including the Washington and North Carolina, in the Indian Ocean, but there was no indication they aided in the Madagascar operation. The Free French forces were reported to have landed on the island.

Official details of the fighting as the British landed on the island, on the north end, the island, were lacking, but the plan was to move 10 miles to the south end, where the Japanese had a naval base.

A Berlin radio dispatch reported from Vichy that Japanese Admiral Kato had ordered the Japanese fleet to support the landing.

It was understood that the British had a division of 10,000 of French while troops on Madagascar, but these were under a large number of native troops.

Soviet Armies Hammering at German Bases

By The Associated Press

Moscow, May 5 (AP)—Soviet armies were reported hammering at three German bases in the Ukraine today, attacking in the vicinity of Kuznetsov, Kharkov and Taganrog, while in the north the defenders of Leningrad were reported to be holding the Nazis at bay.

Timoshenko's huge scale assault on a 30-mile front, ranging from the sea of Azov half way to Moscow, coincided with a special military survey from two German divisions in the Ukraine.

The United States' endorsement of the Soviet move was a forceful challenge to Pierre Laval's policy of collaboration with the Vichy government.

U. S. FLYING FORTRESSES DESTROY JAP INVASION BASES

30 ENEMY CRAFT DAMAGED IN RAID

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 3.—Two of Japan's biggest invasion bases have been blown with blast by U. S. flying fortresses. Consolidated medium bombers and fighter planes of their most ferocious attacks, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

Early reports from advanced American bases indicated that up to 30 Japanese planes were destroyed or damaged. Supply dumps were blown up, big fires were left eating their way through airfield installations and runways and troops were bombed and machine gunned.

Raiders in New Britain island, the most dangerous Japanese base in the Australian zone, and Lae in New Guinea were the targets.

Lands Raid
Brig. Gen. Martin F. Scanlon, 52, of Cranston, Tenn., veteran of 13 wars with the United States army air corps, led the raid on Rabaul, flying a giant flying fortress.

A United Press dispatch from the advanced base from which Scanlon's flying fortresses and Catalinas took off said he and his men fought through some of the worst weather ever since the allied strategic offensive started.

New cannon-firing fighter planes made the raid on Lae.

In his communiqué, No. 15 issued from his southwest Pacific general headquarters, MacArthur announced also that United States fighter planes had damaged four Japanese bombers and one Navy fighter of a formation of nine heavy bombers and 10 Zeros which tried to attack the allied bomber force.

MacArthur said he had not yet since the allied strategic offensive started.

No Effect
No promptly did American and Australian intercepter planes rise, many feet did not even reach the airbase. MacArthur described the raid as without effect.

In their Rabaul raid, American bombers officially claimed three enemy planes blown to pieces by direct hits in an air battle. Other planes were dispersed and scattered with bombs.

Surrounded Japanese planes were damaged by fighter planes in their raid on Lae.

MacArthur said that a single United States plane was lost in the attacks on Rabaul and Lae in the defense of Port Moresby.

ISLE OCCUPYING PROTEST LOOMS

Osaka, Japan, May 3.—The French ambassador, who was summoned to the state department and handed a note which bluntly demanded that the French government should not permit the French government against the government of the United States, said that the French government of the United States, of necessity, have to be regarded by the government of the United States as an attack upon the United Nations as a whole, the note said.

This was taken here to mean that a complete break in American-Vichy relations or even a declaration of war would follow if the French government permitted the French government to continue its "warlike act" against the United States. It was not clear whether resistance at Madagascar would be so decided.

The President of the United States has been informed that Madagascar has been occupied by British forces. This occupation has the full approval and support of the government of the United States, the note said.

County Shooting for $85,500 War Bond Quota During May

With pledges by the thousands being forwarded to the Boise office and the blue "Minute Man" stickers being displayed by a great majority of all homes in this district, Twin Falls county will not be shooting for its monthly quota in the purchase of war savings stamps and bonds.

The quota set up for this county during the month of May is $85,500. Meantime, canvassers in the various pledge campaigns were winding up their work throughout the district in May.

Every household in this district has been canvassed to give every individual with a regular income of any kind an opportunity to pledge for the systematic purchase of stamps and bonds for the duration of the war. Each individual signing a pledge is given the blue sticker to be displayed in windows as an indication of participation.

Some Missed
In some scattered instances, canvassers have been unable to contact homes, either because occupants were away at the time, or for other reasons. The canvassers in such cases have been directed to return at a later date.

All banks, postoffices and building and loan associations in the county have been urged to keep records of stamps and bonds purchased, and this information will be reported regularly to the people of the county informed.

Quotas for May for other counties in Magic Valley are as follows: Cassia, $14,400; Blaine, $17,100; Jerome, $10,200; Gooding, $9,200; Lincoln, $4,300; Camia, $2,300; and Blaine, $10,400.

From this information, gathered from throughout the county, the national treasury will anticipate the amount of war stamps and bonds the American people will purchase.

The treasury, in turn, will set quotas for every county in the United States, based upon the total amount the government will need from this source to finance our part in the war.

Other Methods Possible
"As you have already observed in certain publications, he explained, the American people must meet their quota on a voluntary basis or it is entirely possible that it will be handled in a different manner sometime in the future."

"To charge the pledge campaign in Twin Falls county with the pledge option today that with the pledge already signed, and those that are yet to be made out, Twin Falls county should reach its monthly quota."

All banks, postoffices and building and loan associations in the county have been urged to keep records of stamps and bonds purchased, and this information will be reported regularly to the people of the county informed.

Dated in Syria and driven off from Madagascar.

Madagascar, in addition to being a vital naval base, has huge tracts of aridlands, some of which are developed, and the South African has been agitating for weeks to seize the island, which is now being called "another Indo-China."

Plan Renewed
Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the Free French, has recently renewed plans that the allies occupy the island.

It is to be hoped that French authorities will accept the offer of the United Nations to help in the defense of the island against aggression, the admiralty war office communiqué said.

Little opposition was encountered by the landing forces, it was asserted.

British regulars and a small contingent of "special service" troops landed at dawn under Vice Adm. E. N. Syfert.

Acting in behalf of the United States, the British acted after two key Japanese admirals visited Vichy, and were warned and French by collaborationist chief of government Pierre Laval and Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, who had previously surrendered Indo-China to the Japanese.

It has been understood that a series of urgent trans-Atlantic telephone conferences between London and Washington would be held.

"The United Nations have decided to force a Japanese move against the French naval base of Diego Suarez, in Madagascar, a condition of the French naval base force arrived off the island at dawn this morning."

It has been made clear to French authorities in Madagascar that the United Nations have no intention of interfering with the French states of the territory, which will remain French and will continue to be part of the French empire."

(Second)
"Reports have been received from the British force commander in the Indian Ocean, stating that our forces landing in the Indian Ocean, covered by naval aircraft, will be proceeding across the Isthmus to the naval base of Diego Suarez."

ASSAULTS SIGNAL NEW JAP DRIVE

WASHINGTON, May 5 (UP)—An assumption of heavy assaults on Manila bay forts and new landings in Mindanao were believed today to be indications that the Japanese were beginning a campaign to wipe out the remaining American-Filipino resistance in the Philippines.

After the fall of Bataan there was a comparative lull in the Manila bay area, while the Japanese attacked the Visayan islands of Cebu and Panay. That action led to the belief that the Japanese might be preparing to lay siege to Corregidor rather than attempt a direct assault. Corregidor represented vital military observers here believed was a far more difficult system of defense to storm than did the islands of Hong Kong and Singapore.

May Try to Land
The renewed intense attacks on Corregidor's Fort Mills, and the neighboring Fort Drum, Hughes and Frank, make it look now that the Japanese are making a concerted effort to land and overwhelm the defenders may be attempted. Though the war department communique for the first time said nothing about the Corregidor garrison, it announced Japanese bombardment on air attacks, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced that Corregidor's garrison continued a blazing defense with the Japanese.

Powerful Defense Guns
Corregidor, the island fortress, is about two miles off the rugged Bataan shore at the nearest point. Any attempt to land Japanese troops would be met by the big coastal guns and mobile artillery which have replied so effectively to the Japanese.

The activity reported Monday gave no sign that the defenses were weakening. But Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright's forces took a five-hour bombardment of the island of about nine and a half inches in diameter, and the Japanese concentrated on Corregidor, while thirteen separate raids were made by light and heavy bombers.

Miss Mary Lou Gralum directed an identification contest involving senior girls, with definite stamp prizes going to Miss Vera Goodman, Miss Esther Given and Miss Betty Sommer.

Here's Pep Dish You Should Fix For Next Party

Southern Idaho housewives, here's an idea for that next buffet supper "whatsoever" you are planning in the way of entertainment for your friends.

The idea comes from Miss Arlene Erickson, junior at the Twin Falls high school, who arranged the delicious plates for the recent annual Girls' league events of the spring season.

She arranged six plates, but you'll probably find one or two suitable for your needs.

In the center of your relish tray or large plate, put olive oil, and surround them with green olives. Divide the plate into six sections with carrot sticks.

In each of these sections place a different relish—green pepper slices, hard cooked egg slices, beet pickles, cheese squares, cucumber pickles and onion slices.

To decorate the plate, use a small slice of apple, center each with a radish.

All adds up to a perfect picture of vitamin-goodness.

Arlene is ambitious to be a dietitian or "cook" in the "food line." She says that she's probably more than ordinarily interested in food because "my sister, Mrs. B. B. Griggs, is such a good cook."

Arlene entered high school as a junior last fall, coming here from Fargo, N. D.

Hostess Committee

Hostesses were Mrs. Cora Stevens, Twin Falls county treasurer; Mrs. E. C. Ward, Mrs. W. A. Jackson and Mrs. Humphrey.

The face-covered refreshment table had a centerpiece of tulips.

The boys' class will be presented by Eshelton Halderman, and the girls' class will be given by Jean Goodhue.

"Its Quality Doesn't Vary"

Here's What Another Housewife Has to Say About BUTTER-KRUST Bread—

"I have been asked why I prefer BUTTER-KRUST Bread. I think the best reason is that it's quality doesn't vary. Nothing is more disappointing than getting a loaf of bread now and then that's flat, coarse or soggy. We have found that BUTTER-KRUST is the same excellent bread day after day, and what's more, it's always fresh. This might not be so important to others, but our entire family likes good bread and lots of it. I can say truthfully that we have never been disappointed in a loaf of BUTTER-KRUST."

SERIAL STORY

FRANTIC WEEKEND

By EDMUND FANCOTT

BY A WATERBELL
CHAPTER XIV
THERE was no scheming brain like Peggy's to guide the course of human affairs in another corner of Ferdy's woody domain. Below the house the lake narrowed to flow clearly into a dancing stream. This stream cut through thick woods to a narrow cleft of rock in the creek bed, gathering pace there to tumble over the fall of twenty feet and settle foamingly into a wide pool. The course then broadened, between wide ledges of flat rock, and made its way along a more placid bed. The fall, pine-flanked and sparkling, the young below it, and the blanching banks about it, made a scene Ferdy never tired of peering at.

Fay and Michael were enjoying the scene, themselves. Ferdy's prog was in the paint and canvas and the conversation they shared, quite as much as their host. Michael's usual reserve melted under Fay's warm smile and her radiant interest. She asked of his experiences in England with the First Division in such a way that he knew she was talking for more than while away time. Finally, embarrassed at having so much of the conversation pivoting about himself, he turned it adroitly toward her life in New York, her plans on leaving it behind.

"I'd like to get to England," she said. "I'd like to do something real to help."

"But you can do that here," Michael countered. "You'd be wasted driving an ambulance, doing office work in uniform. With a voice like yours . . . why, in camp the fellows would get a great kick out of your singing. It's just the kind of thing we couldn't get enough of over there and I expect it's the same over here."

There was a thoughtful look on Fay's face. Michael continued, "Why don't you organize a concert party, get the Legion to sponsor you. I'll bet you'd have so much work to do you'd never get around to thinking of anything else."

Fay turned to him eagerly. "That is an ideal I could speak to my father about. He wants me to go on singing and he doesn't want me to go back to New York. I could get . . . let me think . . . what about your sister? Does she do anything besides sing?"

"That kid?" laughed Michael. "She's hardly finished high school."

"Just like a brother, aren't you?" Fay smiled. "She's got a voice, if I'm not mistaken."

"She's always dancing around the house," said Michael.

"Maybe there's something there, then. I know—we'll get Biddy to work out a program for a mixed party. He's really quite good when he can forget his troubles."

"That equities," said Michael without enthusiasm.

"He isn't bad. They say that when he was on the stage he was one of the best slapstick comedians on the circuits. Then he tried to go retired and dropped."

"I know. But he could work out a balanced show for us and we could pick up some other people in Montreal or Toronto."

MICHAEL looked at her a little wistfully. "With your name

—your stage name—it would go . . . Fay shook her head. "I want to forget my stage name."

"But why?" asked Michael. "You are so young, you've got everything ahead of you . . . once you get rid of Biddy and the rest of his crowd."

"It can't be done," laughed Fay. "And anyway I don't want that kind of success."

"Why?" asked Michael, as unable as Peggy to understand how a girl could resist it.

"A year or so ago it seemed the most wonderful thing in the world and I loved it, but I guess there must be something wrong with me. This is the kind of thing I really love . . . being in a place like this in the summer . . . or late last night, singing in the evening to a few people I like. You can't imagine how restful and natural it is compared with the stress and strain of New York, the long hours, the fuss of keeping up appearances, the endless stream of people wanting something from you—money, time, endorsements, recommendations, entertainments . . . and the men, all kinds of them, nice enough people except they wouldn't be giving you a second glance if you were plain Mary Smith, or if they weren't looking for limelight and reflected glory. They propose like crazy, and their promises are thinner than their consciences."

Fay passed a slender hand across her forehead as if clearing her mind of cobwebby memories best forgotten. "Another year of it," she shuddered. "Honestly, Michael, I think I'd have been a nervous wreck. As it was I felt like some person quite strange to myself, living a false existence, with no more sense of values or of contact with real people than an oyster under a glass counter. No, I know now what I want from life. It isn't that kind of thing."

Michael gazed down at the water rushing between the narrow ledges at his feet. "What kind of thing do you want?"

"Just what any girl wants eventually, I suppose."

Michael felt himself impelled to

BRITISH PLANES BLAST GREAT SKODA ARMAMENT WORKS

AIRCRAFT DROP VICHY LEAFLETS

By The Associated Press
British warplanes heavily bombed the great Skoda armament works at Pilsen in Nazi-occupied former Czechoslovakia before dawn today, dropping incendiary bombs and Vichy leaflets, capital of unoccupied France, and attacked the big war foundries city of Stuttgart in southern Germany.

Stuttgart (population 500,000) is the reported headquarters of the Bosch electrical works, the Daimler and Benz airplane engine factories, and other vital military plants.

A German broadcast said that the RAF "attacked" Vichy with incendiary bombs and that French anti-aircraft batteries went into action, but Vichy dispatches said the planes merely dropped propaganda and observation flares.

The raiders also flew over Germany's Rhine, 30 miles from Vichy. Other planes, carrying out a widespread series of night attacks, pounded the docks at Nantes, France, and bombed shipping off the coast of Holland and Norway.

German night raiders struck back with a 30-plane attack on the English south coast, dropping incendiary and high-explosive bombs on Croy and Eastbourne.

The British air ministry said giant new four-engine bombers, capable of carrying eight tons of bombs each, were sent on the long foray against the Skoda works in the second attack there in 10 days.

The air ministry gave few details of the results of the new raids, but air experts, noting that the attacks were carried out in the face of unfavorable weather and enemy opposition with the loss of only three bombers, called the night's work "one of the RAF's most impressive achievements."

Many bombers made up the raiding armada, which the air ministry described only as a strong force.

Bag Four Nazi Planes
The British bagged four German planes during the night.

On the Russian war front, Adolf Hitler's field headquarters asserted that the Nazis had beaten off attacks by "strong enemy forces" and declared that "several offensive operations by German troops for the improvement of their own positions were carried out."

With signs of Hitler's long-awaited grand offensive still missing, German newspapers took a grimmer tone and exhorted German war workers to speed up production for "a last gigantic struggle."

The Berlin correspondent commented darkly:

"This war demands ever-growing sacrifices in blood and health. Private life no longer exists in Germany."

A bulletin from Red Army headquarters said Russian troops "waged offensive battles on several sectors of the front and improved their positions," and dispatches implied that the Soviet armies had seized the initiative to break the mid-May spring stalemate.

Defenders of long-battered Leningrad pictured as striking savagely at the Germans, a communique reported that yesterday's assaults left "eleven hundred enemy dead on the field of battle."

SEIZURE OF ISLE BOOST TO ALLIES

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
British occupation of French Madagascar, with two-fisted backing by the United States, will boost allied morale no end, not only because we have beaten the Japs to a host of vast strategic importance but because the operation represents the short-sleeve initiative which is going to win this war.

In itself it is a notification to date-vagued, fox-nosed Pierre Laval—the Vichy chief of government who has hatched his creaky cart to Hitler's star—not to start kinking the allied days around. Let there be any misunderstanding in the mind of this Frenchman with his fanatical toward the ravagers of his own country, Washington has warned him bluntly that any warlike action against the occupying forces at Madagascar will be an act of war against the United States.

Can't Miss Warsaw
Laval can scarcely fail to interpret this warning as applying not only to his own country but to any other hostile move, such as turning the French navy and colonies over to the Germans. There can be no small doubt that he would like to seize upon the pretext of resistance to the allies and try to whip the French people up to the point of hostility against Britain.

However, while the French have little love for England, they are strong for the United States and are well aware that their fate is wrapped up in the allied cause. The French people on the whole are with the allies. Laval is smart and he is crafty, and one wouldn't expect him to allow his anger at the Madagascan setback to drive him into any rash effort to lead his people into conflict with the allies and thus jeopardize all the indications are that he will be asking for trouble at home if he does it.

Equivalent of Victory
The occupation of Madagascar, which is like a huge sawtooth parallel to the southwest coast of Africa, is the equivalent of a major military victory. Because of its position of the shipping lane into the Indian ocean around the Cape of Good Hope, Madagascar is the key to that vast body of water.

The Japs apparently were about to occupy it themselves and had they done so they would have secured virtual control of the whole Indian ocean. They would have meant that the American and British supply route around the cape to the east, the main lifeline to India would have been severed. In short, it would have been a disaster of the first order for the allies, the domination of the whole Indian ocean might permit the Japanese to overrun India, and to deal with the Germans in the middle east.

U. S. AIRPLANES RAID JAP BASES

NEW DELHI, India, May 5 (UP)—American bombers raided Japanese installations in southern Burma, which has been dropping heavy bombs on Mingaladon airfield near Hanoon, Birge, Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, commander-in-chief of American forces in India, announced today.

Flits were scored on runways and buildings, starting fires visible for 60 miles. The announcement said enemy opposition during the raid was slight and that all American pilots returned safely.

Last night's raid followed a Sunday night attack on the Rangoon dock area. It was the fourth American raid by Brereton's forces on the irascibly defiant area.

ARMY, JOBS TAKE 3,000 OFF FARM

BOISE, May 5 (UP)—Selective service and defense work have drawn more than 3,000 Idaho men from farm work during recent months, J. O. Beeson, farm labor placement supervisor for the Idaho district of the federal employment service, announced.

Since New Year's day, 1,641 Idahoans have gone into defense work on the Pacific coast and on Pacific islands.

Approximately 6,000 Idaho men have been drafted for army service, of which Idaho Executive Officer L. Col. Norman B. Adkison said about 27 per cent were agricultural workers.

Adkison said draft boards have been advised not to call men badly needed on farms in the future, and pointed out that of 7,300 men deferred for occupational reasons, in Idaho, 31.9 per cent were agricultural workers.

W. R. Wing, manager of the Boise office of the employment service, reported 722 non-agricultural work-

Car, Tire Rations Cut Down Traffic

BOISE, May 5 (UP)—Rationing of cars and tires was credited by Idaho Law Enforcement Commissioner J. L. Balderston with responsibility for a 22 per cent traffic decrease in Idaho during the first three months of 1942.

He said, however, defense work in Kootenai and Blaine counties may "more than make up the decrease" during the remainder of the year.
