

British Meet Stiff Resistance on Isle

FRENCH TROOPS ON MADAGASCAR WAGING BATTLE

By The Associated Press

British troops plunging 20 miles through the jungles in French Madagascar were reported meeting "stiffening resistance" today as Washington considered a possible Vichy-controlled bases flanking the Panama canal.

Washington diplomatic sources said the Vichy government's fight against British occupation at Madagascar could be construed as hostile to the United Nations and that it raised the question whether French bases in the Caribbean—Martinique, Guadeloupe and French Guiana—should be allowed to remain in Vichy hands.

A bulletin from British headquarters on Madagascar said the island's entire air force had been thrown into action against renewed British bombing attacks and declared:

London military quarters said the British commandant-in-chief and his staff landed on the 1,000-mile-long island Tuesday were now fighting on the line of the island's main harbor.

These quarters acknowledged that the island's defenders, under orders from Vichy to fight to the end, were putting up sharp resistance but said the British advance was progressing "satisfactorily."

Washington sources last night said the British, estimated by the French at 20,000 troops, had reached the town of Antananarivo, only four miles from Diego Suarez.

Fighting continues.

The German-controlled Paris radio said: "Fighting has been going on in Madagascar for 24 hours, and a handful of French soldiers have been out of help or reinforcements from the home country, has been through step by step against the British aggression."

Acting with the full consent of the United States, the British moved into Madagascar to prevent a threatened axis seizure of the island.

PEARL HARBOR, May 6 (AP)—Five miles the Japanese have attacked Midway Island since their surprise raid on Pearl Harbor, the United States today.

Details of the gallant defense were disclosed today following the return of the commandant of the Pacific fleet, from an inspection of Midway, where he awarded honors to marine corps and naval personnel who helped thwart the attacks.

Midway, the battle was in person at Midway, told the defenders:

"It is a pleasure to visit this commandant, which has been in the line since Dec. 7 has demonstrated the alertness and ability to resist enemy attacks."

"On the opening day of the war you successfully repelled bombardment attacks by enemy cruisers and destroyers. Since you have been attacked each month since April, once in January and twice in February, in each instance your prompt response caused the enemy to withdraw and withdraw before damage was inflicted. In each case the enemy sustained probable damage. On March 10 aircraft approached the island and the Japanese and one was shot down and destroyed many miles from the objective. Now reached the islands."

10-2 YEARS FOR ELMORE SLAYER

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ida., May 6 (AP)—A recent event has proved a 64-year-old William Dalton, Boise and John Dalton, Elmore, Idaho, slayers of a woman, "Bandy" Gager of Glenn, Idaho.

District Judge C. C. Koelsch sentenced Dalton to "not less than 10 years nor more than 12 years in prison."

Dalton was arrested April 3 after Gager's throat was cut in an altercation at the Elmore pool hall. Testimony at the trial showed the fatal slaying was the result of a four-year-old grudge.

REDS PREDICT NEW U. S. Bomb Attacks on Jap Island Areas

MOSCOW, May 6 (AP)—The Soviet army's official organ Red Star asserted today that Japan's industrial centers and strategic points are threatened by further attacks by American bombers in an allied shift "from defensive to offensive tactics."

Red Star's statement, in a review of the Pacific air war, marked the first time since the recent bombing of Tokyo and other Japanese air centers by American bombers, one of which was forced down on Russian territory after the raid, that the results proved favorable to the allies.

Complete devastation marks this Lubeck street after the RAF made one of the most devastating bombing raids in history. The picture was first published in a German magazine with the caption, "England may be sure we shall remember it." But England squarely remembers the devastation and death that similarly was handed London by Germany a year ago.

It Was Army of Heroes That Surrendered on Corregidor

By William Frye

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The capture of Corregidor today by the swarming hordes of Japanese who ended the end of an epic of heroic heroism seldom matched in military history.

The defiant resistance to the enemy in the Philippines is not over. Little bands of Americans, Filipinos and Moros still oppose the occupation of several of the islands.

But the army of Luzon, of perhaps 50,000 men, which knew that help was a forlorn hope and only fought more fiercely in the knowledge, is gone.

It was the army of Douglas MacArthur, the army of Skinned Whittier, the army of Colin Kelly, who died to save his bomber crew after sinking a Japanese battleship, and of Major Thomas A. H. Trappell, who fought a rear-guard action for his chemical cavalry, and only destroyed a rigid single-handed unit of point-blank enemy fire.

It was the army of Alexander Nininger, Jr., who died after repeated forays alone into the enemy lines; of Jose Calugas, the Filipino mess attendant who went through an artillery barrage to put a field gun in action again; the army of "Mike" Baldwin, who waded into battle voluntarily and put a machine gun out of action; then climbed atop a disabled tank and manned its anti-aircraft gun.

It had its "one-man army," this army of Luzon, in Capt. Arthur W. Wernuth, who accounted for something more than 120 Japanese by himself before he became one of the 40,000 presumably captured when Manila fell on April 9.

It was the army of heroic chaplains who made their daily rounds of the front line posts under constant fire, heralds of personal danger, and equally heroic pagan Igor tribesmen who climbed on tops of tanks to serve as guides, beating out signals with their club to guide the crews, as the mortars, which crashed into the jungle in a storm of enemy fire.

FLASHES OF LIFE REQUISITION FOR TIRES REQUESTED

ST. LOUIS, May 6.—Having lost her husband to the army, and becoming fed up with mailman "talked back," a St. Louis mailman finally decided to advertise for a housekeeper who was, of all things, dead and dumb.

Surprisingly enough she obtained one right away.

Madam is delighted. She is now enjoying the courteous smiles of a perfectly obedient, and an immaculately kept house—and not one word of unnecessary conversation to take up her time or whittle her nerves.

JOINTOWN, Pa., May 6.—Principal David J. Burt, supervisor of the town, today ordered the issuance of sugar rationing cards at the Alport school, said the youngest member of a family he listed was a baby 45 minutes old.

"The father hadn't recovered his breath from hurrying over from the hospital," said Burt.

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The United States light cruiser Morleyhead, which the Japanese sank on May 4, has returned to port.

No Priorities on Idaho's Fuel Oil

BOISE, May 6 (AP)—An exclusion order, the first received by the Idaho public utility commission, today ordered the distribution of fuel oil in this area be continued without a preference.

Raymond J. Briggs, priority analyst of the Idaho office, said the order meant that no restrictions will be placed on dealers of fuel oil in the state. They may continue operations as at present.

"Further restrictive orders may be issued later, but at present there is no basis to prevent a normal flow of fuel oil to all Idaho consumers," Briggs declared.

REDS SAY ALLIED SUPPLIES HELP TO DEFEAT GERMANS

By Henry Shapiro

MOSCOW, May 6 (AP)—A strong Red army offensive, backed by a steadily increasing flow of United States and British aid, is taking a heavy toll of hastily-mobilized German reinforcements all along the 1,800-mile Russian front, official Soviet spokesmen said today.

German workers are being taken from factories and thrown into the fighting without military training because of the large enemy losses, the official Tass news agency said.

The government newspaper Pravda said that the offensive now under way will steadily become more and more powerful.

Y. Stalin's May day order to the Red army to defeat Germany in its own defense.

Resistance ends.

General MacArthur and his staff named the end in a special communique at 4:15 p. m. today (2:15 a. m. EDT).

Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright asked for the Japanese terms of capitulation.

Allied Aid Helps

The final factor in the defeat of the Japanese, according to the Red army, is the increasing flow of Allied aid.

"Our allies, Britain and the United States, are aiding us more and more each day, pumping into the Red army fresh vital juices," Pravda said in an editorial that was entering a new phase of "liberalization of the occupied Soviet territory" and that the new battle lines are immediately taking "further offensive operations of the glorious Soviet armies."

The Red army is responsible for confidence in a Red army victory. It was stated. They are:

1. Destruction of a considerable part of the German army on the eastern front by the fall of Corregidor.

2. Elimination of Germany's strategic rear areas, in connection with the fall of Corregidor.

3. The sooner it becomes warmer and the more the Japanese are forced to fight, the more the Soviet warriors to achieve victory," said Pravda.

For the days and nights before Corregidor fell, the availing gun was the only one that was sleeping in turns, under a terrible and never ending attack by enemy forces.

As in the case of a major victory, the ship was not yet conquered the Philippines.

At countless places in the islands, notably in Luzon and Mindanao, American and Philippine defense forces, using guerrilla tactics, still are holding out.

VICHY WILL GET 'REPLY' TO NOTE

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull said today that Vichy's rejection of an American ultimatum to the French government on Madagascar called for a reply, and he added grimly it would be categorical.

Whether the reply will be in the form of a note or in the form of action, Hull did not say.

It was non-committal, too, when asked at a press conference about the possibility of a diplomatic circle that Vichy's rejection of the ultimatum was a move toward the Panama canal.

He said he would not say whether the government considered French resistance of the British on Madagascar as a factor in the decision to attack the American note handed to the French ambassador Monday night.

French Cruisers Reported Missing

VICHY, May 6 (AP)—Two French cruisers—the Lamotte Piquet and the Lamotte Piquet—were reported as missing since the British attack on Madagascar. It was not known whether they had fallen to the British cause or were attempting to return to French hands in Indo-China.

The Lamotte Piquet is a new cruiser, launched about the time the war started. She is of 7,000 tons.

U. S. FACES SUPREME TEST

BIG MIGRATIONS OF LABOR NEAR

By L. W. SCHOLLENBERGER
WASHINGTON, May 6 (U.P.)—The United States faces a "supreme test" in mobilizing an additional 10,000,000 workers to more than double the war industry labor supply within the next year, Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the war manpower commission said today.

"To accomplish this, he said, 'large scale migration' of workers into war industry centers will be necessary."

Addressing the federal-state conference on war relocations, McNutt said American armed forces will total 4,000,000 by the end of 1942, and that it would be a "staggering problem" to equip them with the best planes, guns and ships.

Some manpower problems may be solved later today when the commission, created by President Roosevelt to gear America's entire able-bodied population into the war effort, holds its first meeting at 2:30 p. m. E.W.T.

Three major issues that three major issues are involved in manpower mobilization:

1. Whether additional labor shortage can be prevented without amendment to the selective service act to authorize conscription of untrained workers. The administration is reported favoring such action.

2. Whether maximum efficiency can be obtained without "freezing" workers in jobs where they are able to contribute most to the war effort.

Whether workers will move into war industries without a "labor draft."

Must Use Skill Correctly
McNutt told the governors' conference that these problems will be solved by the use of skill.

He said that employers use skilled workers only at jobs where they are required, and that "hoarding" of skilled men be labeled as "unpatriotic" as hoarding of scarce materials.

It is not yet necessary to order a labor draft, McNutt said, but a considerable number must be recruited to meet the need for labor in the future.

Since Pearl harbor, he added, the United States has been mobilizing men for war work at an increasing rate, and by the end of 1942 will have a labor force far greater than the one built up by Hitler in eight years.

On April 1, about 9,000,000 were employed in war industries, an increase of 3,000,000 over the Dec. 7 figure.

WORK OFFICE SET FOR CAMP LABOR

Under present arrangements, the local office of the United States employment service will serve qualified men in the area in a clearing house for employment on the Eden Japanese relocation project, it was announced today.

Morrison-Knudsen company, Boise, has set up offices in Jerome and is now accepting applications for work there. Men registering at the employment office here will have their qualifications made available to the construction company, it was pointed out.

Actual construction is expected to start in the near future and within a week, work camps for about 10,000 Japs is now underway.

FRENCH TROOPS BATTLE BRITISH

France's German Premier, Pierre Laval, bluntly ignored the warning contained in an American note to Vichy that any warlike act committed by the French government against the government of Great Britain or of the United States would, of necessity, have to be regarded as an attack upon the United States as a whole.

White French planes fiercely attacked the British occupation forces at Madagascar, the French government said today.

Madagascar, a French colony, was yesterday in a desperate fight with British forces.

Madagascar's land forces were estimated in London at 1,500 Frenchmen and 2,000 colonials.

Planes Shot Down
Vichy dispatches said several British planes were shot down by anti-aircraft guns and some of the British tanks put ashore had been destroyed.

Other European war developments.
German planes started firing at British ships and aircraft in the Mediterranean.

This apparently referred to the bloody Russian Russia, 130 miles south of Leningrad, where the Nazi 18th army of 90,000 men had been reported trapped for months.

Hitler's high command also took notice of the heavy fighting in the Russian front, declaring that "in the rear of the Russian front, the German bands were annihilated at several points."

Guerrillas Report
Coincidentally, Soviet guerrillas operating in the vicinity of German-held Orel, 200 miles below Moscow, were reported to have killed 5,000 German troops in the last 24 hours.

Heavy fighting was reported continuing to rage around long-bearded Leningrad, where the Russians said they had slain and overrun German positions.

As the war in Britain's great bombing offensive struck at German war industries in Stuttgart, the second night in a row, it was reported that the Luftwaffe had been ordered to attack targets in southern Germany and blasted Nazi air bases in northern France and the low countries.

A city broadcast said anti-aircraft guns at Lyons and Clermont-Ferrand, 30 miles from Vichy, fired at German planes during the night.

The body rests at the Burdett funeral home. Arrangements are being made to take the body to Belgium for burial.

Farmer Succumbs
SHOENHEART, May 6.—Thomas Henry Edwards, 53, Dietrich rancher, died at 10:30 Tuesday at the Gooding hospital, where he had been a patient since Sunday. A heart ailment was given as cause of death.

Mrs. Edwards, his wife, and a daughter are survivors. Mrs. Edwards, and another son, Wesley Edwards, is coming from Illinois.

The body rests at the Burdett funeral home. Arrangements are being made to take the body to Belgium for burial.

NEW RULES SET FOR INDUCTIONS

New regulations governing the induction of selective service registrants were received today by Twin Falls board No. 1.

The half dozen or so registrants who are exempted from the army, navy or marine corps may now be inducted without the approval of the war department, as has been the case previously, providing they have a clean civilian record.

Registrants who are Canadian citizens now have the option of enlisting with the Canadian or U. S. armed forces.

The board was also notified that the quota for the volunteer of officers' corps from among A-1 registrants during May would be six.

It was also announced that registrants will be given a 10-day furlough to clear up their business affairs after their final examination. The next group going from Twin Falls will be examined at Boise.

CHAMBER HELPS PLEDGE SIGN-UPS

"The universal pledge campaign in this section officials report, was 'very successful' with thousands of residents pledging themselves to purchase war bonds or stamps in certain amounts at stated intervals."

"Under Control"
"Everything under control. Am very fit," cablegrammed Paul Vigus from Australia to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Vigus, Hazelton.

The cablegram, received this morning, was the first word he had received from their son since he left for the front.

Mr. Vigus, with the United States army, sent regards to his friends and "mother's day greetings."

Two Car Permits
The county rationing board today has issued permits for the purchase of new automobiles to William E. Ebert, a farmer of Murtaugh, and Thomas Clyde Bacon, Twin Falls farmer and livestock man.

CORREGIDOR FORT FALLS TO ENEMY

held out, constantly harassing the Japanese and their communications. MacArthur's regular communique, No. 18 from his general headquarters reported that the Japanese were storming the north shore of Corregidor in their most savage attack.

He reported also that from northern Luzon, the Japanese in an attempt to stamp out the determined resistance of the defense forces in the interior of the main island, were continuing an advance southward through the Cagayan valley.

Others Fall
Port Milla, a top-shaped Corregidor jutting the Bataan shore of Manila bay, scene of one of the most glorious naval victories in American history in the Spanish-American war, Port Drum on El Fraile island and Port Frank on Camaguey island, surrendered to the enemy after the defenders had reached the limit of their endurance and their supplies were exhausted.

They had taken, day and night, for days an unending battering by mile down the Bataan peninsula and in the last hours had been taken across the Bataan peninsula in a desperate, fleeting safety of Corregidor.

Wait U. S. Return
Organized resistance on formal military lines had come to an end with the fall of Corregidor and its fall.

But there was a feeling here that the Philippines would remain a part of the United States, and that the United States would remain a part of the Philippines.

This correspondent left Corregidor after going through the Bataan campaign three days after the Bataan surrender.

Corregidor's defenders were determined to make the Japanese pay the highest possible price for the victory. They were certain to win eventually.

NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVES
Mill Tower, 220 South Third, San Francisco, Calif.

LET'S NOT BE NAIVE
The conclusion of a New York legislative committee, that Communism may menace the United States even more in the future than it has in the past, should not be brushed aside casually just because Russia happens to be our military ally for the moment.

The committee's statement is partially limited by the fact that the legislators were restricted to the relatively narrow field of Communist activity centering in the public school system of a single city.

Handicapped thus, after 16 months of intensive study, the committee has concluded that Communism and Communists are not working for the benefit of the United States, or for the cause of democracy. They are working for Communism, and for Russia, and for Josef Stalin.

Nothing that there is no substantial evidence that Communism's 20-year designs to instigate a proletarian revolution in the United States have been abandoned, or will be, the legislators note. The committee believes that the subversive tactics which have been temporarily disguised will emerge again.

"If, in the meantime, the Communists succeed in extending their influence under cover of their patriotic and pseudo-patriotic garb, while we naively take them at face value and permit ourselves to be hoodwinked into a false sense of security, we will find to our sorrow that the problem will be more acute in days to come than it is in the past."

It is not the dictum of red-baiters. The men who directed the inquiry were known for liberalism, to the extent that some had been accused of radicalism. Moreover, their conclusion is identical with that of one of the great liberals of all time, Prof. John Dewey, who has written of this very problem:

"The American people should bear clearly in mind that Stalin's actions—and those of his agents and sympathizers here—will be governed by his own interests as an individual, regardless of the efforts of or the consequences to his present democratic allies . . . Stalin knows what his apologists here apparently do not know—that totalitarianism and democracy will not mix."

This is not to suggest that we relax in the slightest our all-out effort to help Stalin's Russia against Nazi Germany. On the contrary, let us expand and speed up that program to the limit of our capacity.

But we must keep before our eyes the distinction between military Russia, which is helping us to beat the axis, and Communism, which hates democracy more than Nazism, but fears Hitler more than Roosevelt.

PROMOTION CIST IS SMALL
Now that thousands of individuals in Magic Valley have pledged themselves to regular purchase of war stamps and bonds for the duration of the war, they will be interested to know that the United States Treasury department is promoting the war savings program at a cost of less than one-tenth of one percent.

Obviously, anyone might suspect that all the printing, publicity and work involved in undertaking such a tremendous program would cost so much that it would be way out of proportion to the amount actually derived from stamps and bonds for war production purposes.

It's reassuring to know that practically all of the money invested in war stamps and bonds is used to build up war equipment—and that so small an amount is being spent to promote the sale of these government securities.

REMEMBER CORREGIDOR
After more than 250 Japanese air raids, Old Glory still flies over Corregidor, and the United States is deprived of the use of Manila harbor against us.

Some of the drama went out of the Philippine epic when Bataan fell. But over there, on an island rock, Americans still defy the Japs to do their worst. While we remember Bataan, let's not forget the heroism of Corregidor.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLWIND

OBJECTION—The man who must supervise President Roosevelt's plan for stabilizing wages has already admitted that it cannot be accomplished effectively in accordance with the White House formula recently promulgated. It is William H. Davis, chairman of the Federal Labor Board, to which this key safeguard against inflation has been entrusted.

The New Yorker confessed the futility of piecemeal wage regulation in a recent issue of a conservative association which spent a full day hearing Lord Henderson's views on the subject. He pointed out that the government at first sought to permit flexibility by basing labor's return on the cost of living, but in actual operation this device was a failure, he admitted. Various working groups obtained advances, but the price administrator agreed with Mr. Davis that a similar result would flow from any scheme which lacked inflexible and legal limitations. Being loyal soldiers, however, they will do their best to make the decreed program operate successfully.

The two also concurred in the belief that under present conditions raises should be restricted to those receiving "substantial incomes." But they could not get together on any practical arrangement for determining what constituted a below-par salary or what agency should make the decision. A more serious objection lies in the fact that the lower brackets are not unlimited and have no avenue of appeal to Mr. Davis' court of industrial relations.

DISUNITY—Anticipated squawks from numerous groups have forced the organization of a gigantic propaganda bureau to "sell" the President's wage-point program to the nation. The principal spokesman will be Budget Director Harold D. Smith and Archibald MacLachlan of the office of facts and figures. On the day after Mr. Roosevelt's radio address Mr. Smith alerted the key information sources of the government into his office. "We have a hard job ahead of us," he explained in effect. "We must convince people that everything is sharing alike the sacrifice. It is the most important assignment you men have ever had." He impressed on them that no one, either as an individual or as a member of a class, should be allowed to say or think that he has been made the victim of discrimination under the presidential program.

Four departments—treasury, labor, agriculture and O. P. A.—will spearhead the campaign. Secretary Morgenthau's bureau will coordinate low bracketed wages that neither the wealthy nor the war contractors will escape with full profits. Mrs. Perkins must convince workers that they have given up no more than their members of society, while Secretary Wickard's writers must put over the same idea among farmers. Price administrator Henderson faces the familiar problem: He must persuade manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and consumers that he is not trying to prevent the most revolutionary and painful experiment in our history from creating serious and painful disunity.

ORDERS—The makers of combat planes on the west coast have finally won the "war" against the "war" that should spread up production by 10 or more percent, especially that of the great bombers now spraying Europe with destruction. The air corps has accepted the comparatively simple proposal for a long time, but it has been mired by bureaucratic opponents of change that have been unable to get the necessary approval. The procurement office which provides supplies for the aviation industry is now located at Dayton, O. It was the school of the air corps, and it was the school of the air corps. The procurement office which provides supplies for the aviation industry is now located at Dayton, O. It was the school of the air corps, and it was the school of the air corps.

Other Points of View
The Budget press is annoyed because Under-Secretary of the Treasury has recently hinted that the United States would have to declare war on Hungary, Bulgaria and Rumania if their governments did not stop being so helpful to the axis.

The neglect which hurts the feelings of Hitler's puppet and time-servers does not, we can be sure, offend the feelings of the United States. Children cannot be expected to discriminate. All language they hear is new to them. They are not the standard for their speech. It is usual nowadays to hear words which are not in the dictionary. The child has to learn that there is a language for the street, one for the playground, one for the classroom, one for the house. Small wonder they get into trouble.

When this language is used in school there is a to-do in the office. "Bad language about little girls." "Bad words used before little girls." "Profane language in the classroom." The child has to learn that there is a language for the street, one for the playground, one for the classroom, one for the house. Small wonder they get into trouble.

What are you doing here? Bent home? What for? You don't mean to tell me that you said that to the teacher? My goodness! That was an awful thing for you to do. We will have to talk to you about this. That makes no difference. What? You did hear us say that? Grown people say that? Your children's age must never say.

"Well, come along, I have to go and apologize to you for the teacher. Mind, you never talk like that to anybody, anybody at all, again. You are a disgrace to your family. You must destroy you if he ever hears about it."

Talking back is the fashion of today. Everybody does it, and the quicker and smarter the answer, the better the laughter and applause. The children are doing very well in their practice. They are doing very well in their practice. They are doing very well in their practice.

FINAL PROBE OF CRASH UNDERWAY

SALT LAKE CITY, May 6—Civil aeronautics board officials today began the last time among the ruins of a United Airlines Mainliner that crashed in the foothills north of here Friday night, taking 17 persons to their deaths.

Robert C. Hoyt, CAB assistant safety bureau director, said investigators would abandon their search for clues among the debris of the craft and return to their headquarters to await a public hearing, tentatively scheduled here May 11.

The hearing, originally slated for a week to enable both the CAB and a congressional investigating committee to hold their separate hearings simultaneously, although at different places.

Air company investigators gave up their attempt to find evidence pointing to the cause of the tragedy yesterday and admitted they were "completely baffled." They expressed belief, however, that the CAB and congressional hearings would shed some light on the matter.

Harvey Hancock, assistant to the president of UAL, said that minutes before the crash, the plane had reported it was flying clear.

Minutes before the crash, the plane had reported it was flying clear. Flying on the beam, landed at the Salt Lake airport near the time of the crash.

CAB officials said wreckage of the craft would be left intact and under guard so it would be available for study during the hearing.

VICHY RESISTANCE MAY BRING U. S. ATTACK ON ISLES

NOTES POINT TO AMERICAN PLANS

By WADE WERNER
WASHINGTON, May 6.—The Vichy government's resistance to British occupation of Madagascar was regarded in diplomatic circles today as an act which might be construed as hostile to the United States and hence basis for a move against Vichy-controlled bases flanking the Panama canal.

The United States stood ready for any western hemisphere repercussions, but there was no official indication of what moves President Roosevelt might order in support of the British policy of warring French military bases before the axis has a chance to grab them.

Chief of government Laval's sharp rejection of the American plan to bring British troops to the island, coupled with Chief of State Paulin's order to fight and Admiral Darlan's vituperative denunciation of British "highway robbery" ended any expectation that Vichy might take the occupation of Madagascar philosophically as it took the Japanese occupation of French Indo-China last year. It raised in the form of the question whether Vichy-controlled bases in the Indian Ocean, particularly Godebout and French, Guiana, could be allowed to remain in Vichy hands.

Diplomatic observers pointed to that section of the American note to Vichy which warned that "any warlike act permitted by the French government against the government of Great Britain or the United States would, of necessity, have to be regarded by the government of the United States as an act of war upon the United States as a whole."

Ordered Attack
Vichy, these observers stressed, not only has permitted such warlike acts against the British landing forces but has ordered them. Therefore if such action is regarded as "an attack upon the United States" as a whole, the French overseas bases under Vichy control must be regarded as hostile.

Informal sources did not attach great weight to Laval's assertion that, despite American support of the British, Madagascar, as a whole, Vichy would not make a first move to restore relations with the United States.

Vichy, already frankly notified of British plans to attack the island, "will not hesitate" to back the British with force if necessary, was again by Secretary of State Hull yesterday that American ships and troops were ready.

Kids Will Bring Scrap Iron To Help Buy Soldiers Gifts

Boys and girls who want to help Uncle Sam Phillips will be in charge of the scrap iron drive for the forces—and are a free movie as a reward for their help will bring scrap iron to the downtown district Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. Junior Chamber of Commerce campaign will also handle the drive.

The Jaycees, who are conducting the soldier gift campaign, are sponsoring a "scrap iron" contest in conjunction with the Orpheum theater management at 10 a. m. Saturday. Youngsters who bring scrap iron to the receiving lot next to the Boulevard will receive free tickets to the show.

All They Can Carry
"We're taking the kids to bring all the old scrap metal they can carry," said Chairman Bill Simpson. "If they find a large piece of scrap, two youngsters can team up to bring it to the lot and both will receive tickets to the show."

Simpson suggested that the boys and girls use coats and wagons to carry their pieces of junk metal.

Receiving hours at the vacant lot next to the Boulevard will be from 10 to 6 p. m. Friday and from 10 a. m. to 10 a. m. Saturday. Committee members are:

Robert Noble and Ellis O. Jones have been indicted on a California state charge of failing to register as members of a subversive group. They were members of the "Friends of the Axis," alleged pro-Nazi organization.

Richard Loo, Chinese actor, is going to play a role he did like and recently accepted in Paramount's actual film "Wake Up and Live!" He will play Saburo Kurusu, the Japanese spy who was talking peace with the enemy during Pearl Harbor.

SOUTH DAKOTA'S SOLON REJECTED

By The Associated Press
S. W. J. Bulow, South Dakota Democratic senator, yesterday rejected a third term to an out-and-out Roosevelt supporter who charged him with being a "sell-out" and "traitor" to the state.

Former South Dakota Governor Tom Berry held better than a 2 to 1 lead over the 25-year-old senator, who since Pearl Harbor has pledged support to the war effort but reserved the right to criticize administration domestic policies.

Charles F. Bushnell, appearing certain to be Berry's Republican opponent, holding a decisive lead over Olaf J. Rungstad, secretary of state. Rep. Karl Mundt (R) was renominated. He will be opposed by Fred Williams, a Republican representative who retired in 1940 to run for the senate.

The state's four-way gubernatorial race was so close it probably must be decided at the June party convention.

Unofficial results of voting yesterday in other states:

Alaska—Rep. Schell (D), a labor leader, defeated Ray J. Madden, an executive of the oil industry.

Diplomatic observer Bankhead and six representatives, all Democrats, were unopposed: Rep. Grant (D) defeated Rep. Brown (D) in a runoff election.

Florida—Four Democratic congressmen were renominated: Rep. Green (D) defeated Rep. Brown (D) in a runoff election.

Delivery Cut, No Ration on Coffees, Teas

What's what on the civilian war front? The following questions and answers prepared by the Salt Lake office, division of information of the office for emergency management, may help you.

Q—Have they started rationing coffee and tea?
A—No. Deliveries have been cut 25 per cent on coffee and 50 per cent on tea, these restrictions being necessary because of shipping difficulties. But other items, such as Quaker Oats and Raisins, still being manufactured or shipped, we let our hair down for the duration?

Q—You can keep your hair up for a little while yet. The war production board has cut metal allocations for hair pins and bobby pins 50 per cent, but they are still being made.

Q—I have tried to get a telephone installed in my place, but was refused. Yet, a neighbor on the next block had a new telephone put in after this. Why?

A—After the war or herself may be in the war effort and find the telephone a necessity. The war production board has been fortunate enough to be near an exchange line which was not over-crowded. Your neighbor's line is an exchange line can be strung for the duration.

Q—The office of defense production has recognized the importance of taxes in the war effort, but they are being closely coordinated. Crusing must be halted and the car must be used for the war effort. If you are in a defense related activity, you may be able to conserve rubber and equipment before obtaining more.

Q—Why were no price ceilings set on oil or food or beverages in cafes? A—The possibilities of the long term of the war are so numerous that enforcement would be difficult. If enforcement is to be made, it must be on a case-by-case basis. The war production board is working on this.

Country's No. 1 Gold Star Mother Will Christen Ship

NEW LONDON, Wis., May 6.—Mrs. Peter Thomas Barber, the nation's No. 1 Gold Star mother, will send a ship down the ways on the west coast next summer for a new troopship for the navy.

Mrs. Barber, a farm woman, has three gold stars on her service flag, three sons are in the navy. Her oldest son, Malcolm, 22; Leroy, 21; and Randolph, 19. This is their mother's story.

"The boys," she said, "were inseparable in the old days of peace at their modest Wisconsin farm home near here."

"They hunted with each other in the fall and liked to go fishing with their father. They were close, and played hard, too. They did everything together."

Then Leroy went away to join the navy. He took his preliminary training at Great Lakes naval training station and was assigned to a ship as a fireman's mate. Mrs. Barber was asked to christen the ship.

"I am happy to accept," she said, "and gratified that the navy is going to honor my boys in this manner."

So Malcolm and Randolph joined the navy, too. After receiving their training, they were sent to the front lines and were granted permission to serve on the same ship with Leroy.

All three were firemen. All three were together on their ship at Pearl Harbor when Japan attacked. All three were killed Dec. 7.

Mrs. Barber was notified on Dec. 21 of their death, but the nation learned of her sacrifice through release of Monday's casualty list. Mrs. Barber had two other sons to think about, Clayton, 16, and Robert, 9. There were farm chores to do. But she couldn't forget—neither did the navy.

"I wanted to honor the mother who probably has lost more sons than any other woman in the country during the present war," Mrs. Barber was asked to christen the ship.

DENOUNCES REMOVAL OF KALTENBERG

Editor, Times-News
What kind of a country have we, anyway, when the powers that be dare to force a man like Kaltenborn out of the air?

KFTT assures that they are doing their utmost to get him back into the air. It is the duty of all freedom loving Americans to write our President and congressmen to get him back into the air.

Free people will not stand for this rotten deal. Someone is to blame for this dirty work and we learn who it is, ere our liberties are taken away.

If we bleed Hitler methods we would not be fighting him.

THE WRONG MAN

Editor, Times-News

There must be an error in this. I have known Mr. Laid for many years and he has had a metal shop in Pler. As I understand the man with this skill is Charles Bennett, who still lives here and at one time had some connection with Ford. Bennett is a friend of mine and I am not sure he has been taken in this for Mr. Lechner lived on a farm here years ago.

JELL WHIFFS 4 AS COWBOYS OPEN A HOME WITH 5-2 WIN

Wranglers Outfit But Bunch Blows In Four Frames

By Hal Wood
Times-News Sports Editor

Tony Jell, as smooth a workman as you'll ever see on the slab in the Pioneer league, got the Twin Falls Cowboys off to a flying start in their home debut last night as he struck out 14 Idaho Falls batters and pitched the Wranglers to a 5-2 victory.

The Cowboys, outfit 6 to 5, bunched their blows along with some walks in the first, fifth, sixth and seventh frames to take the ball game—moving in front in the third frame never to again be headed.

With Jell striking out over half the men to face him, the vaunted Twin Falls infield had little work to do, but the few chances offered were handled in flawless manner, and Manager Tony Robello's club appeared to be a well-organized team.

Idaho Falls scored first in the opening when Bill Dunn, shortstop, led off with a double and came around on a pair of infield outs.

Susner Gels double in the third frame, and the Cowboys came right back in the same inning to count one run when Ernie Sierra, center fielder, was safe on an error and went to second as Sierra was thrown out at first.

SPORTS

Ace Hurler Can Slide, Too

Idaho Falls pitcher may have outdone the play at third base when Tony Jell, Cowboy pitcher slid into first last night, but the camera proved the umpire called the play correctly. Jell took the ball on the eighth frame when Catcher Bill Hossel dropped the ball and Jell sprang for third. Handling the ball on play at third base for the Royals, is Ray Adams, speedy hot-corner specialist. Jell later scored on Lane Shanks' double against the center field fence.

And for some reason or other, the fans who, after Announcer Charlie Sieber had asked for the return of all fans who were knocked into the stands as a patriotic gesture (said balls to be given to the men in the armed forces) suddenly took a ball he had caught and threw it over the back of the grandstand.

FRANTIC WEEKEND

PEGGY PROGRESSES

CHAPTER XV

LUNCH on Saturday was a great success. The various mishaps and conversations of the morning had welded the company together, and even Baldy found himself part and parcel of the party, no longer hostile stranger barking at the fringes of the gathering. He had emerged for lunch in another complete and splashy new outfit of sports slacks and shirt. Michael, Myra and Fay had gathered. Peggy and Nigel had been collected. Ferd had a quick caricature of Baldy emerging in his new suit, a caricature which impressed Baldy as much as he kept picking it up and muttering: "Well, what do you know about that?"

Baldy tackled Fay immediately after lunch and Myra tackled Peggy. "What were you doing all morning?" asked Myra.

Peggy smiled sweetly. "Swimming... in a swim suit... with a gentleman..."

"If I know you," muttered Myra, studying the innocent green eyes of her sister. "That canoe was untied by someone."

Peggy had learned never to tell lies to her sister. She saw through Baldy, but she had also learned that half the truth sometimes sufficed.

"I did it," she admitted. "I did it for Michael's sake."

"For Michael?" echoed Myra. "Why, haven't you noticed?" asked Peggy. "He's crazy about Fay. It sticks out all over him. And she thinks he is wonderful. She told me so herself this morning, before breakfast."

"Maybe she was still asleep," guessed Myra.

"And I was just helping him. Nigel is crazy about her too... he was. I know because I found him by the wharf looking for her..."

Myra was not being fooled by her sister. "So you maneuvered him on an island... with you for company?"

Peggy smiled and there was far too much self-assurance in her expression.

"Now, listen," said Myra. "Every time our family comes up here there is trouble of some kind. Keep your head and don't get ideas. Try someone else for a change this afternoon."

That is just what Peggy had in mind. Even at her age she knew that there was nothing like leaving a man in air and giving oneself a security value—that is, provided you could make sure that any competition was well cared for. So, smiling very sweetly at her sister, she sought her brother, her plans churning faster than ever.

"Michael," she began when she found him moodily smoking a pipe by himself. He was thinking how little chance he had with a girl like Fay. "Michael," said his sister sternly, "we must do something."

"What do you mean?" He was Impressed by her serious air. Good, thought Peggy. "It's about Fay. That horrible little man Baldy is after her again. He is worrying her head off to go back with him. If we don't rescue her, maybe she'll go this afternoon."

"She won't go," said Michael, bristling. "She's the kind of girl who can make up her own mind and stick to it."

"O. K.," said his sister. "If you want to quit, quit."

Her brother shot a surprised and questioning glance at her. Peggy leaned forward. She whispered the next words, looking around to see if anyone was following the conference.

"Fay thinks you are wonderful. She told me herself this morning before breakfast."

"If you would mind your own damned business..." Her brother bristled, whether from anger or embarrassment she did not care. Peggy rose haughtily to her feet and looked at him. "All right. But I am going to rescue her. If you want to help, stroll around to the boat house and look in a few minutes."

Conspiracy was quite a hectic business after lunch on a hot day, but Peggy was young and full of energy and had an advantage over the others, who all seemed quite willing to lounge for awhile after the meal.

The next move was to cut Fay off from the old few reclining on the veranda. Before her conversation with Myra she had enlisted herself in the service of Baldy, thereby impressing that gentleman with the fact that she was an intelligent miss, if a little young.

"I think a girl is crazy to refuse your help," Peggy had said. Baldy had looked at her without speaking, which was so unusual and Peggy had continued. "You want to see her alone?"

A short of disgust emerged from Baldy. He waved his finger at various figures in deep chairs.

"With this crowd? What a hope! Open my mouth and half of 'em jump down it before I say a word."

"O. K.," whispered Peggy. "Be round at the rocky. I'll deliver the goods. If I can't get a chance myself I'm not going to see anyone else miss it."

Baldy was unconvinced. Long experience with women had taught him to look for the underside of any conversation, but he took a chance and went to finish a cigar near the rocky.

When Peggy came back from speaking to her brother she slipped into a seat by Fay who was closing her eyes for a few moments of blissful rest. Nigel had parked himself near her.

"Fay," whispered Peggy secretly. "What would you do?"

At the question which arose in Fay's eyes, Peggy looked around as if everyone else, particularly Nigel, were too near.

"We can't speak here. I wish you knew more about men than I do..."

Fay responded with natural generosity. She rose from her chair and drifted away from the veranda with Peggy. Nigel was fast asleep and did not notice their departure.

"Let's go round to the rocky," said Peggy. "Maybe there will be no one there."

"It's like this," said Peggy. "Nigel is awfully nice. I like him... and I think he likes me. But I'm only seventeen and he is twenty-four. Do you think..."

She paused. "Fay smiled. 'Why, eight years difference is ideal.' 'Do you really think so?' said Peggy. 'At which convenient moment they came upon Baldy so suddenly that there was no time to escape. But Peggy was satisfied. She knew that a girl like Fay would do her best to leave Nigel alone so that Peggy could have a free hand. Everything was working out beautifully!'"

RAF HOLDS UP TEMPO OF AIR OFFENSIVE; STUTTGART HIT

RAIDLESS NIGHT ON BRITISH ISLES

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS
LONDON, May 6 (U.P.)—The royal air force, carrying on the greatest air offensive of the war, returned to southern Germany during the night to give the Luftwaffe another blasting.

The air ministry said the docks at Nantes, France, also were bombed, and that fighters and bombers attacked airbases in the Low Countries and in northern France. Four British bombers were missing.

The RAF had been over Stuttgart the night before, blasting such objectives as the Bosch electrical works, the Daimler-Benz factories, which make airplane engines, heavy trucks and tanks, and the Hirth works, which make aircraft precision equipment.

The second raid seemed to indicate a British determination to do as thorough a job at Stuttgart as they did at Berlin, one of Germany's chief battle ports, which was leveled by 600 tons of bombs dropped in four successive waves.

Raidless Night

Adolph M. Bothne, boatwain in the United States navy with a service record of 15 years, is modest.

Bothne, brother of O. J. Bothne, Twin Falls, was awarded the navy cross for heroism at Pearl harbor, but his brother here didn't know it until he read it in an Associated Press dispatch.

Prior to the dispatch the hero's wife, who resides at Long Beach, Calif., received a letter from him in which he wrote that he had received a "well present" on his birthday which was April 15. That was the only mention he made of the award and both the wife and the brother didn't know he had received it until they read the dispatch.

The section will be one in a series of which M. W. Blackburn, national secretary of the federation and a California farmer, is to speak. Blackburn arrived in Idaho today and conferred at Pocatello with state Farm Bureau directors in regard to affiliation with the national organization.

BATTERED BODY OF WOMAN FOUND

HOLLYWOOD, May 6 (U.P.)—The body of an attractive, middle-aged woman found in her home late last night, her skull crushed, was identified by police today as Mrs. Rose Whitmore, wealthy widow of Frederick Whitmore of New York.

Suspicion of an air raid was responsible for the discovery of the body. She had been in her home several times in the course of her duties, instructing residents on air-raid precautions, and found no body home. Last night he detected an odor of decomposition and called police.

Officers learned that Mrs. Whitmore received a large inheritance in 1920 from Whitmore in addition to trust fund upon which she realized $2500 a month. It was not known when she came to Hollywood. Artistic among her effects included, police said, that she traveled extensively.

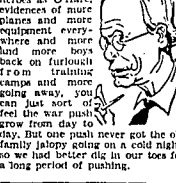

Some time ago, Mrs. Whitmore purchased the fashionable home in which she lived, and a new car.

Police said they were searching for a man who had spent considerable time with the wealthy widow recently. They said he was a former Chicago drug salesman who had been with her in Florida. He was believed to be driving Mrs. Whitmore's car.

Mrs. Whitmore was beaten to death with the handle of an automobile jack, an iron bar about 18 inches long. Police said they found the instrument wrapped in some clothing. In a vanity drawer.

Officers also found a number of pamphlets and newspaper clippings on occultism, especially astrology.

Uncle Ef

With welcome homes for such homes as O'Hare, evidences of more planes and more equipment everywhere and more boys back on furlough from training camps and more going and more going away, you can just rest of feel the war push from day to day. But one push never got the old family jabby going on a cold night, so we had better dig in our toes for a long period of pushing.
