Merchants' Stock To Be Limited by Production Board

WASHINGTON, May 22 (UP)—The war production board announced today it was taking steps to limit the volume of all types of merchandise which may be held in inventory by dealers and wholesalers.

Heavy buying by some firms is "preventing others from obtaining merchandise in sufficient quantities to supply the needs of the communities they serve," the WPB said.

Wholesale regulations will apply to all inventories of all types of merchandise in a way designed to assure that quantities on hand are reasonable and that equitable distribution among dealers is provided for.

The action was viewed in some quarters as a preliminary to greatly increased rationing of consumer goods.

WPB said it proposed to set "an overall limitation on inventories of goods for sale."

No details were divulged, but it was known that the new limitations proposed would prevent any merchant from building inventory beyond the 100 level in dollar value.

Companies which have accumulated swollen inventories would be asked to buy more stock until their stocks were whittled down to a practicable working minimum.

The WPB announcement, touching on this point, said the inventory control would mean that "the lines of access in one or more lines of merchandise will operate to prevent purchases of stock which the retailer or wholesaler may wish to replenish."

How Systems Would Work In the women's department store, for instance, which had stocks of furniture or kitchenware large enough to fill the total inventory above the prescribed limit would be unable to buy new hats or dresses until it disposed of stock in other lines.

(Recent official estimates reckoned the inventory as of the end of February to be about $4,875,000, or approximately 25 per cent above the 100 level in dollar value.)

However, WPB officials said a great number of business firms have been buying new stock in the last three months as dealers became frightened about future replenishment.

It is remarked that efforts would be made to keep private plants in production as long as possible to stabilize as a result of a question about an aircraft company.

Italy's Check Leads On Khar'kov Front

By ROGER D. GREENE Associated Press Staff Editor NEW YORK, May 22 (UP)—Masses of German reserves, flung into check after Nazi tank assaults failed, appeared to have broken Russia's offensive in the 11-day-old battle of Khar'kov today although the Red armies reported that in one sector they had smashed a counter-attack and "on the heels of the enemy, broke into a populated place."

Moscow, the Italian high command asserted that an Italian submarine had attacked a United States naval formation off May 20 and sunk a battleship of the Maryland class.

A special communique said the Dabrujko attacked the formation 100 miles west of the island of Formosa.

The Maryland class includes three ships—USS Maryland, USS West Virginia—all launched in 1920-21 and ranging from 31,800 to 33,000 tons, with normal complements of 1,407 men.

In the past, such ships claim have cruised the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico in quest of information on allied naval movements.

By O. A. KELKER Unless Japanese labor is obtained for sugar beet fields in Twin Falls, Minidoka and Cassin counties—and such help gets here by the end of next week—conditions will reach a "critical" stage, H. A. Elcock, Idaho district manager of the Amalgamated Sugar company, said today.

GERMAN CRUISER ARRIVES AT KIEL

AMERICAN SHIPYARDS

SPEED-UP STARTS ON CONSTRUCTION

By DAYTON MOORE

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—American shipyard workers are celebrating Maritime Day with their answer to submarine sinkings—by launching 27 ships, the largest mass launching since World War I.

A Pacific coast shipyard opened the celebration by launching a ship one minute after last midnight. Other launchings were scheduled to follow throughout the day. One yard was to have three launchings, six yards planned to launch one ship each, and one launching each was scheduled for 12 yards.

The maritime commission originally announced Maritime Day would be marked by 30 launchings. The commission's original plan of the vessel down the ways earlier this week. The need for ships is so great that the commission cannot be held up for today's celebration.

Critical signs of the anniversary of the departure of the Savannah from Savannah, Ga., by a steamship—this year finds the United States facing probably the most critical shipping danger in its history.

The demands of a global war and the submarine raids off the American coast make the need for shipping even more urgent than in 1917.

Four ships were delivered in two days and the Pacific coast yards are averaging delivery of two ships a day. The best production record for 25 years but still only half the rate that must be reached to turn the 2,000 vessels projected for 1942-43.

Peace on the Pacific coast yards operated by Henry J. Kaiser, American yards have been stepping up production in order to meet the maritime officials believed the 1942-43 production program of 20,000 deadweight tons would be met. The yards are not hampered by labor troubles or shortages of steel and coal.

The American record for launching ships in one day was set on July 4, 1918, when 25 ships were launched.

The celebration of Maritime Day—which was proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt—will be given to the patriotism and courage of the officers and men of the shipping industry, and to the men in the shipyards and factories whose labor and genius go into their construction.

The celebration of Maritime Day will be climaxed tonight by an international radio broadcast. Participating will be the United States, Canada, Mexico, S. Land, at Boston, deputy war shipping administrator Howard S. Phipps, at New York City, and London, British minister of war transport, at London, and American and British shipyards.

MAZIS HOLD ON KHARKOV FRONT

(From Past Oco)
In one section of the front there a major tank clash several days continued at a lower pitch.

"During the night of May 21-22, we carried out offensive operations on Kharkov," the Russian command said in a statement.

This indicated that Marshal Shkurov's troops still held the city at least. But it seemed clear that Hitler had now brought up enough fresh-and-blooded reinforcements to hold the Russians where they were. Front-line dispatches said the 100-mile front was being pushed back, but only by 10 to 15 tanks in isolated places.

Kerch Battle
"Battles raged in the east part of the Kerch peninsula," a Communist mid-day communique said, again indicating that the Soviet claims that German troops had completely overrun the eastern Crimean front.

The Berlin high command also said that the Germans had been taken out of the Kerch peninsula, bringing the total to 160,000, and that captured in the last week included 28 tanks and 1,307 guns.

British military quarters said German troops were being driven back from the Kerch peninsula, 80 miles below Kharkov, had bitten a chunk out of the front line with their armor drive, but declared there were no indications that the bite was being ironed out.

These quarters said heavy fighting continued along the whole line, from the mouth of the Dnieper to the Kharkov, to Volchansk, 30 miles northeast of the big Ukraine city. It was reported that the Soviet Russian headquarters did not identify the "populated place" into which the German troops were crushing a Nazi counter-attack. Moscow dispatches indicated, however, that the German action described yesterday by Red Star, whose front-line correspondent reported that the Germans had driven a key German stronghold and drove on six miles into an open battlefield.

Sixty-five German planes were declared shot down Wednesday. The Red air force was credited with destroying or damaging 74 Nazi fighters at the end of the week, and 31 ammunition wagons and 31 guns that day.

The Russian bureau announced guerrillas had slain more than 3,000 Germans in the area of Smolensk, 100 miles northwest of the Nazi-occupied White Russia.

As the Soviet campaign raged into its seventh month, American troops training in Northern Ireland were led by Gen. Sir Edmund Allenby, chief of the general staff chief, that their chance to fight "no doubt is becoming better."

"We are expecting great things from the Americans when an opportunity is given them."

Paul H. Leland, son of Rev. Roy E. Barnett and Mrs. Barnett, Twin Falls, was recently elected assistant editor of the Oak Leaves, Linfield college yearbook. A junior majoring in English, Paul is known on the campus as "the editor of the year" for his outstanding career work. He handled all pictures for the 1942 yearbook, and is expected to be automatically become editor of the publication next year.

Man Sentenced to Death After He Is Shot in Courtroom

HARLAN, Ky., May 22 (AP)—Hazen Shepherd, 24, was shot in the Harlan circuit court room where he was being tried for slaying a taxi driver yesterday and the jury convicted him and recommended the death penalty during the few minutes which elapsed between the time he was shot and the time he was taken to the jail. Sheriff Clint Hild said Jack Heaton, 26, a coal miner from Louellen and a nephew of the man Shepherd was charged with killing, surrendered to officers immediately after the shooting and was taken to the jail.

Shepherd was seated at the defense table. Commonwealth Attorney David C. Smith had just completed closing arguments and asked the jury of men from adjacent Boone county to sentence Shepherd to the electric chair.

As Smith walked back to the prosecution table, Sheriff Hild said H. Forester started to address the jury the shot rang out from the courtroom. Several women and children in the crowd, court attaches rushed to Shepherd's aid. They carried him from the courtroom and he was pronounced dead at hospital.

After the court room had been quieted, Judge Forester told the jury that Shepherd was alive when taken from the room and ordered them to take the case under consideration.

The jury returned in a few minutes with a conviction verdict and recommended the death penalty.

KIWANIAN GOALS

A message on defense from the Kiwanian International relayed to an address by Wilbur S. Hill, district lieutenant governor, Twin Falls featured the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanian club at the Park Hotel yesterday.

The message declared the public is indifferent to the war effort, said it is willing to make the necessary sacrifices and is certain that the U. S. will win the war. However, the message said some phases of action to be taken, the war effort had to be changed, notably organized labor's demand for everything while giving little.

Reserve Billings. According to Hill, Kiwanian International set out the Kiwanians should see after the end of the war that the people's personal affairs were restored and should support a government leading to a community of nations which could "slap down" any aggressor.

Many billions of dollars have already been spent and millions of soldiers have gone to the front. The American people have proven their desire to suffer blood, toil, tears and sweat in order to remain a free people. And industry and labor have done their utmost to help get the nation ready to avenge the death of our brave men who fell at Pearl Harbor.

BICYCLE RATONS
UNDER WAY SOON

Bicycle rationing is expected to begin within a month's time, the office of price administration in Boise, Idaho, advised the Twin Falls county rationing board today.

The announcement followed issuance of an order, permitting manufacturers to ship adult bicycles to distributors for the first time since April 2 when sales and transfers were frozen by the WPB to forestall a possible run of bicycles. Dealers, distributors and manufacturers are reporting they may have inventories of all bicycles, except children's sizes, to the OPA.

Shipments in limited quantities to dealers for resale only, also are permitted, but such transfers must await word from the OPA to the manufacturer or distributor that the dealer receiving the bicycles has first filled a requisition report. After this requirement is complied with, a dealer may buy as many as 10 adult bicycles for each of his sales outlets in addition to those he has on hand.

Control over bicycles has been delegated by the war production board to the OPA, with the exception that certain military and governmental agencies may obtain the vehicles by application to the WPB.

IT'S TICKLISH—LET'S BE CAREFUL

Although the people of Idaho are showing a more tolerant attitude toward American-Japanese, than was manifest immediately following Pearl Harbor, the plan to bring 600 Japanese here from Portland to relieve an acute labor shortage in the beet fields is a proposal that needs careful consideration.

First, it should be understood that this latest proposal has no bearing on the camp to be located near Eden for 10,000 Japanese evacuated from the west coast. They will be brought here later under government direction, and there is every indication that an ample guard will be maintained as a protection against any possible sabotage.

The consignment of Japanese to be brought here from Portland, however, will be for the sole purpose of relieving the labor shortage for beet work. They will be asked to volunteer to come to Twin Falls county at the request of the beet growers, and will probably live at their labor camp south of the city.

The United States employment service will handle recruitment at assembly centers on a strictly voluntary basis, and will also examine living accommodations to be provided. Proper medical care and health facilities likewise may be available for the Japanese during their stay in this section.

Those responsible for reaching this agreement to bring these Japanese workers into Twin Falls county are the Administrator Sugar company, county officials, representatives of the United States Employment service and the Farm Security administration.

Under this arrangement a sufficient number of persons will be drafted to work on the beet fields in main peak and on end. Every effort will be made to avoid an incident of any kind, and the Japanese will be checked in and out of the labor camp as they go to and from their work. The sugar company will be in charge of the camp.

Knowing the provisions of this agreement, and the important purpose it is designed to serve, the public should guard itself against intolerance or unjustified restrictions.

When the labor camp for Japanese is established at Eden, much as we may dislike the idea, we should take into consideration the fact that military authorities are confronted with a great responsibility. In evacuating Japanese from our main centers, military officials must do so, and them somewhere. It is logical to assume that these military authorities are aware of the dangers that might exist, and will have the camp guarded accordingly.

We are not inclined to be idealistic in this regard, but when confronted with the problem, we believe it should be handled as practically as possible. Every precaution should be taken to protect our vast irrigation systems and to avoid any incident that might lead to avoid any trouble. We must remember that many of our own American boys are prisoners in Japan, and naturally we're hoping that these boys are being treated humanely.

When the consignment of Japanese to District Attorney John A. Gerver made the following statement at Pocatello recently:

"Idaho residents are changing their attitude toward American Japanese. The almost hysterical attitude citizens took toward local Japanese is gradually fading. Nearly every farmer or business man is willing to give dirty Japanese a chance to prove their loyalty by their work."

"After the dastardly attack on Pearl Harbor, the people of the United States expressed their feelings on the Japanese in America; they felt almost as though the Japanese here were responsible for the actions of their kind-folk in Japan.

"We can't realize these American Orientals are no more responsible for Hirohito's actions than the American-Germans are for what Hitler does."

DRAFT INJUSTICE

Dover, N. J., was proud of 102 selectees who were examined by draft board physicians and found physically fit for army service. There was a farewell breakfast, at which the mayor paid tribute to "the hardest bunch of fellows in many a year." A few hours later, 42 of the young men had been rejected by physicians and sent back to civilian life.

This is no new story. From all over the country come similar tales of young men who have given up their jobs, closed out their businesses, broken up their homes and reported for service, only to be rejected, on physical grounds.

Here is one field in which Selective Service could humanize the draft. There is no apparent reason why selectees should not receive final physical examinations before they are ordered to cut civilian ties and report for service.

According to a charge of New York Importers, the gross inefficiency upon government shipping is the result of meddling with private seafaring concerns and the resulting ocean transport.

PRESIDENT WARNS OVER-ENTHUSIASTIC OPTIMISM

PROSPECTS POINT TO LONG BATTLE

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt today declared that this country still faces the prospect of an awfully long war, warned today against unwarranted and over-enthusiastic optimism about the progress of the conflict.

Reviewing recent evidences in this country of optimism over the war, Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference that public opinion had been going up and down according to developments that looked big at the moment but actually had no important bearing on the final outcome of the war.

Mr. Roosevelt said there was no reason to be overly optimistic one week, and overly pessimistic the next, because this is going to be a long war. He reiterated his confidence, however, that ultimate victory will be ours.

Ills Over-Statements

He noted a tendency of the American people to make over-statements. That is a mistake, he said, and the press can help very much by not attaching too much significance to developments of a more or less minor nature.

He was asked whether he thought the joint army-navy review of the war, issued last week-end, contributed to the recent ground swell of optimism.

The president said he had not read the review. He said that as a general rule individuals should rely on the war and navy departments, but should not rely too much on their announcements.

But news, he said, should be passed by the censor just as much as good news. But no war news should be released until it has been established that it will affect military operations, he added.

Ill Serious Problem

The president conceded that the sinking of American merchant ships continued to be a very serious problem, but said there was no news in this situation because the country was aware of the gravity of the problem.

The president discussed the possibility of a long war shortly after Sen. Walter E. George, D-Ga., former chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, cautioned that there is a danger of over-optimism which could lead to a psychological "let-down."

BARRYMORE HAS 'RESTFUL' NIGHT

HOLLYWOOD, May 22 (AP)—John Barrymore had a "restful night and his appetite" but his condition still is critical, his physician said today.

Dr. Hugo M. Kenan reported there had not been sufficient change in the 69-year-old actor's condition to say that he had passed the danger.

Barrymore was visited at intervals by his daughter, Diana, and his brother, Lionel. There have been times when he was unable to recognize them, but last night he recognized Lionel and they spoke briefly.

Barrymore was taken to Hollywood Presbyterian hospital Tuesday night, but his illness was not known generally until yesterday.

His daughter had spent the night at the hospital.

Chronic Allment

Kenan said Barrymore was suffering from a chronic lung and kidney ailment, complicated by hypostatic pneumonia. He said the disease resulted from a chronic infection.

Inactive in films for several months, Barrymore had been in poor health for a year. Shortly before Christmas he suffered his latest serious illness. He had suffered from similar ailments for six months previously.

Although his health prevented work in films, Barrymore has been making regular appearances on Rudy Vallee's radio show. As in previous illnesses, Lionel substituted for Barrymore on last night's broadcast.

'Worked for Creditors'

Barrymore liked to say he worked for his creditors. The funny "great profile" has turned over most of his earnings to a bankruptcy referee to satisfy old debts and to help his attorney, and to support his third wife, Dolores Costello, the former actress.

None of Barrymore's four former wives was with him during his present illness. Elaine Barrie, his last wife, who visited him in December, was reported to be in Hollywood.

Barrymore's first wife was Katharine Harris, who divorced him in 1917. His second, the mother of Diana, was Mrs. Leonard Thomas, the author who writes under the name Michael Strange. Miss Costello is the mother of Barrymore's other two children, John and Dolores.

The Burley report said: "Rain all week delayed farming operations; six inches of wet snow caused heavy damage to trees."

Sportsmen of Ketchum Area Organize for Home Defense

By CHARLES SUMNER
KETCHUM, May 22—While everything in this famed little old mining town takes a trend towards defense work and military protection, along with sports activities, and general outdoor affairs, and a good many of the boys have gone into army service to assist Uncle Sam on the world wide program, there still is a smidgen of familiarity left undone to further the big cause.

A short time ago Ketchum perfected D company, of the first battalion, fifth infantry, Idaho, and its officers, of the enlisted members, a dozen or more are former service men, others have had military experience, and nearly all have more than a smidgen of familiarity with firearms and outdoor life.

Take Training Seriously
In maneuvers, gun performance and general company alignment and floor movements, D company does not intend to make many false bluffs. If one may judge from average observation.

Company D is officered by Capt. Paul Anderson, 1st Lt. Tom Reed and 2nd Lt. Walter Pyrak, and it is a unit of the Idaho state guard. The company is well equipped to some extent with rifles, and shortly a full complement of shotguns, as approved by the department, will be on hand. Regular weekly drills are held in the high school auditorium. A special day will afford an event in which the boys will be part of the parade, along with Legion, Troop and Veterans and the bodies.

There is an application list of some twenty and all hope in the ranks will be speedily filled by enthusiasts. One of the interesting facts is the strong desire of youths from 15 years up to enlist in the organization, which the officers sincerely have to decline for the present at least.

All Men on Call
Every man in the company has pledged his willingness to leave his job and to enter service when he is called, and the type of patriotic military fervor and assistance in any movement of patriotic character is something which Ketchum is just proud in viewing the work of the D company boys.

"Our men and company are entering into the business of perfecting themselves in military affairs, but in unobtrusive manner," states the captain, "and it is gratifying to note the personal sacrifice and the spirit of time in carrying on everything backing up a progressive light to the community, but in every manner of things of national import. There are no flunkers in this organization, and we will do our utmost to prove of aid in matter of importance to the state, the nation or the community."

Among those who are actively sponsoring the new Idaho unit is Major John Arden, a veteran of other wars, and now a resident of Ketchum. He has been granting his experience on every occasion to D company and its members.

Stop All Idaho Non-Essentials, Says Defenbach

"Every dollar wasted now on non-essentials is a dollar given to Japan," says H. M. Defenbach, Idaho tax commissioner, former state tax commissioner and one-time candidate for governor, stopped here in Twin Falls on his way through this area on behalf of the Idaho Taxpayers' League. Defenbach said the new naval base now being constructed at Lake Pend Oreille, near Coeur d'Alene.

"My goal in Idaho is similar to that of Sen. Harry Byrd in the nation," said Defenbach. "While America is now turning from defensive to offensive, we've got to cut out every project that doesn't contribute directly to the war."

The former tax commissioner stopped briefly for conferences at Gooding, Wendell and Jerome. He said he had talked with a number of farmers.

"I generally find this reaction," he said. "They tell me—'Byrn, you're doing a fine thing—but you don't by any chance mean our road money, do you?'"

He warned that Idahoans, and the rest of the nation, must "quit grabbing" if federal resources are to be diverted from the war effort. Chuckling, Defenbach declared: "I've made more enemies with this campaign in the past year than the

WAR-VITAL ORE FOUND IN IDAHO

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Tests of drill samples taken from a deposit of mercury bearing ore in Valley county, Idaho, indicate a high-grade mercury ore. The ore, 15-foot section averaging 22 pounds per ton.

Exploratory work of the mines bureau, Secretary of the Interior Ickes said, also has increased mercury ore reserves several million tons, uncovered a substantial reserve of tungsten and located more than 2,000,000 tons each of chromite ore and antimony.

JAPANESE SHIFT IMPERILS CHINA

By FRED WANDERSCHMIDT (Wide World)

There is more evidence today, in so far as the axis is concerned, that this is where Japan came in. The Japanese have gone back in earnest to their gigantic effort in China. After entering free China by the back door, penetrating Yunnan province by way of Burma, they have thrown some 125,000 troops into action in the eastern provinces of Chekiang, Fukien and Kiangsu, which they have never really occupied in the strict sense of the word.

The east China drive goes further than an attempt to eliminate allied air bases within bombing range of Tokyo, although that factor has undoubtedly lent urgency to the move. Primarily, however, it seems to be the beginning of a second offensive in which Japan picks up where she left off before Pearl harbor—a major endeavor to complete the "pacification" of China, which, after five long years, remains Japan's No. 1 problem in Asia.

Chiang Kai-shek's government, which for a time seemed to have assumed that the Japanese Burma campaign was directed mainly at India, has been forced to turn its attention to pressing for more aid, particularly large numbers of aircraft.

Such an attack places on the Chinese developments by some close students of the Jap war strategy.

Tries to Consolidate
Japan is beginning to consolidate its gains following her sensational victories over thousands of miles of the west Pacific area. She is trying to try to knock China out, no trivial undertaking, rather than attempt new major conquests.

This precludes any large-scale invasion of India or Australia, although the latter is being attacked in order to break the last allied communications with China, and there may be sizeable naval action in the Coral sea for the purpose of blockading Australia from U. S. aid.

Therefore, so far as Japan is concerned, the greatest danger to many is finished and the axis is no longer a real factor in Japanese military strategy. Germany may do nothing now for Japan; why should Japan do anything for Germany, which she has until it suits Japan's own selfish ends?

There is nothing in this analysis to suggest any great danger of collaboration among the United Nations; indeed, the fact that our enemies are separated in origin and strategy may well mean a longer war, for the collapse of one will no longer tend to pull the other down.

CAR REQUISITION MOVE PREDICTED

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Government requisitioning next year of several million more automobiles was envisioned as a distinct possibility by the Brookings Institution today.

The private research organization in a survey and report by Charles H. Feingold, its president, is urging immediate nationwide rationing of gasoline to save tires and other essential war uses.

The administration is studying the question of extending to other parts of the country the gasoline rationing now enforced in the east and northwest. To save more than 100,000 pounds of crude rubber, it already has ordered a ban on lightering and unessential charter buses after June 1.

The Brookings survey said immediate rationing of gasoline on a nationwide basis offered the "only reasonable prospect of maintaining the civilian economy without serious disruption; between 30 and 40 miles a week for 10,000,000 cars, and immobilizing 2,000,000 extra cars by limiting each family to five tires.

Estimating that the existing supply of tires would not be sufficient to meet essential requirements by mid-July, the report said "habits" continue and that the supply could be completely exhausted by 1945.

Here's What Another Housewife Has to Say
About BUTTER-KRUST Bread—

"About the only way any woman can tell definitely which bread she prefers is by comparison, and then her selection will be determined largely by the individual taste. I know there are a number of good breads on the market and I have used many of them. I think BUTTER-KRUST has an excellent flavor, and there is something about the way it is baked which I much prefer. I would say that as far as I am concerned, BUTTER-KRUST is better by comparison than any bread we have ever used."
