450 RAF Planes Spread Death in Ruhr Area Again

By ROGER D. GREENE Associated Press Staff Writer
Waves of British warplanes, perhaps 450 strong, visited another night of terror, death and destruction upon Germany's industrial valleys of the Ruhr before dawn today and also struck at targets in Nazi-occupied France and Holland.

Eighteen RAF bombers were acknowledged missing from the overnight assaults, which followed a British radio broadcast urging people of France to evacuate the coastal areas from the Belgian frontier to the Pyrenees.

The German high command reported that the Luftwaffe lost 24 planes yesterday and last night in raids on western Germany and occupied territories which it declared caused civilian casualties and property damage in western Germany.

Nazi Thrown Back In the Russian campaign, Soviet dispatches reported that German tanks, troops and planes attacked in a five-day-offensive against the Soviet long-bomber base at Sevastopol, in the Crimea, which had been thrown back in three days in two earlier attacks.

By contrast, German field headquarters asserted that the Luftwaffe, supported by heavy artillery and strong air squadrons, stormed Soviet defenses on a head-on attack in the Sevastopol and repulsed Russian counter-attacks with "bloody losses."

Dispatches to Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said the Germans were suffering terrific losses in the new drive after losing 50,000 men since the siege began seven months ago.

Red Cross River The Russian midnight communiqué reported an air raid on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, saying "our units forced a river crossing and destroyed the enemy's oil and two fuel tanks."

Soviet fliers demolished four enemy railway bridges and destroyed two anti-aircraft guns and smashed the headquarters of a German unit in the Crimea.

Cologne After Thousand-Plane Raid

This official British photo from an RAF reconnaissance plane shows part of the blasted business area of Cologne adjacent to the old cathedral (upper right) after more than a thousand planes had dropped 2,000 tons of bombs on the city during a raid on June 9. The cathedral, described in the caption as the shadow of its upper structure, appears to have escaped all but superficial damage.

Flier Watched U. S. 2 Fly East For Men Bomb, Sink Japs

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii, June 9 (AP)—A tough, fighting Texan who floated for 24 hours amidst the savage midday island sea battle, returned with a stirring eyewitness account of Japanese naval destruction as viewed from the surface of the sea—where he hid under a seat cushion from his sunken torpedo-plane to escape detection.

Shot down in the morning of the first day of the historic battle and rescued the next day by Ensign George H. Gay's vivid observations and descriptions of American successes were disclosed last night by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet.

The flier from Houston, Tex., is recovering from slight sunburn before he had a crack at the Japs.

Flying with his squadron on June 4, Gay and his two mates saw three ships at sea, including the battleship of the Texas class, USS Texas, and the cruiser USS Raleigh.

Gay's luck was with him. From the wreckage of his plane floated a life-raft, and a black cushion of his plane was floating nearby.

Sea Victory May Put U.S. On Offensive

By FRANK TREMAINE PEARL HARBOR, June 9 (UP)—United States forces may take the offensive in the next phase of the Pacific naval war, well informed quarters said today.

It was indicated that when final reports of damage to the Japanese fleet were assembled, they would show the enemy suffered even more heavily than Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported in his communications.

Informants said that the victory of the United States naval and air forces in a battle which started as a defense of Midway Island, it might prove to have been the point of the war at which the United Nations took over the offensive in the Pacific at large.

The navy's latest communique said: "There is nothing to report from the central Pacific area."

Tells of Sinkings The first eye-witness story of the Midway battle, the first of many stories of a historic victory which are to come, revealed that the Japanese fleet was sunk over Japan's largest sea far as official listings of enemy naval strength go.

2 BLMPS BRASH OFF EAST COAST

LAKEMOUTH, N. J., June 9 (UP)—Two blimp men today were arrested on an "explosive mixture" collected at a lake last night and three bodies were recovered from the wreckage of an aircraft, officers of the Lakemuth naval air training center announced today.

Nine persons were listed as missing in the crash, which occurred on the morning of June 8, at a lake near Lakemuth.

The only known survivor to come ashore was Ensign Howard Simpson, who was seen by a patrolman near the wreckage of the blimp.

All aboard the blimp GI were listed as missing.

The blimp was carrying a training type and had no connection with the air patrol of the Atlantic coast.

ATTENTION GAS RATIONING POSTPONED FOR RUBBER SURVEY

PRESIDENT WILL AWAIT RESULTS

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Postponement of any nationwide gasoline rationing until a comprehensive survey is made of the country's available scrap rubber was predicted by a congressional committee today.

Senate Democratic Leader Buckley, D., Ky., said he understood that the survey was being contemplated and other informed legislators added that it was likely President Roosevelt would await the results before deciding whether it was necessary to put all private automobiles on short rations.

Buckley told reporters there were all kinds of estimates of the amount of rubber that could be reclaimed from the scrap pile, ranging from the 10,000,000 ton estimate of one business executive down to a war production board expert's guess that only 700,000 tons could be obtained.

Meanwhile, Price Administrator Leon Henderson reported to a Senate committee that it was likely that slightly more than 300,000 tons would be reclaimed in 1942. Henderson informed a special committee investigating the gasoline situation that 100,000 tons could probably be made from this amount.

Henderson expressed the opinion that the combination of a conservation measure which did not include rationing gasoline and the use of the top-rapping of 6,000,000 passenger cars this year and in 1943 would be sufficient to meet the nation's needs.

He said these capped fleets, made of 74 per cent reclaimed rubber, were good for only 6,000 miles of wear after which they had to be replaced.

While asserting it was possible that sufficient synthetic rubber would be produced in 1942, Henderson said the manufacture of some passenger cars, he voiced the conclusion that the rationing of gasoline was the only satisfactory method of reducing the unnecessary use of privately-held automobiles.

Methodist Church Pastors Selected

NAMPA, June 9 (AP)—Selection of Nampa as site for the 1942 conference of the Methodist church in Idaho was announced today, following conclusion Sunday of the annual Methodist conference.

Ministers assigned to the eastern district of which Rev. W. H. Hendricks is superintendent, included: O. H. Hannan, Buhl-Castlerford; Brooks Moore, Burley-Albion; E. L. Trefen, Kimberly; A. B. Barrett, Rupert; J. O. McCallister, Twin Falls; Dallas Mitchell, Wendell-Hagerman.

Not yet announced was the minister selected for Hansen-Murrough.

CIVILIANS FACE GREAT CHANGES

Shoes—Plenty of shoes in retail stores now, but immediate demands, but future developments may eventually affect civilian supplies.

TRANSPORTATION, HEATING GAS—Already being rationed on east coast. Discussions for nationwide rationing as rubber conservation measure going forward.

Automobiles—No more being manufactured, those in the stockpile being rationed to essential users.

Planes—Already restricted to essential users. Sightseeing buses, for instance, are being rationed.

Construction—Victory slumped except in war-bombed communities. Unoccupied houses—Will not be unoccupied, as in Britain now.

Cross-Blocking Device Seen As Big Labor Aid Next Year

The grim best labor situation for next year—when war call will have further depleted civilian manpower—was considerably alleviated in south Idaho today by the invention of a Magic Valley man.

It is a new cross-blocking machine now being given actual try-outs in the Burley area.

The Late T. W. Taylor, inventor is G. H. Self, Twin Falls manufacturer. He said today that the machine, intended to eliminate a large share of hand labor in the beet fields, won't materially help in this year's labor shortage.

With the labor shortage outlook for next year even worse than this season, the machine probably will see much practical use, the inventor predicted. If it proves satisfactory in all types of soil it will probably increase the normal cultivation of sugar beets as many farmers now refrain from sugar beet culture because of the uncertainty of transplant labor, he said.

Green is the color of hope, joy and youth.

LET'S WHIP JAPAN NOW

For five years, come July 7, China has fought her losing war against Japan without a whimper. Now, for the first time, she sends an SOS to her occidental allies.

Both decency and common sense dictate that the United Nations—specifically the United States—give China what she asks: direct, bombers and pursuit planes; third, bombers and pursuit planes!

She doesn't ask for men. She has five millions—brave, hardy, experienced, moderately well equipped at long last—capable of punching the hated Japs into the Chinn sea.

But going beyond decency, gratitude and the finer emotions to the first instinct of mankind—self-preservation—how about making it 2,000 planes?

Brig.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault, chief of the Flying Tigers, says that with 2,000 planes the Japanese air force can be utterly destroyed.

It may be wrong, but his record as both fighter and strategist entitles him to a lot of credence.

Again we speak too little too late, Dr. T. F. Tsiang, Chinese spokesman, warns that "the immediate future of China is very grave."

These matters are being attacked designed to knock China out of the war, could easily succeed.

Theroupan victorious Japanese forces, which already have taken everything between Manila and Australia away from Americans, British and Dutch, could turn their undivided attention on Australia, India, Siberia, Alaska, Hawaii.

But if we send the planes with which Japan's air power can be destroyed, and five million more Chinese push 300,000 of our brown heathens off the mainland of Asia, we shall have Nippon on the run.

We shall have preserved the ideal jumping-off place first for air raids and later for land invasions by the Japs.

We shall be on our way to victory.

BEWILDERING UNITY "I make the following findings of fact... That the communist party of the U. S. A. is the time of its inception in 1919 to the present time is an organization the world over, in advice, advocates, and teaches the overthrow by force and violence of the government of the United States."

Earl Browder had been freed from Atlanta, two weeks earlier, by President Roosevelt in order to promote national unity.

Throughout the period when the communist party of the U. S. A. was advocating the overthrow of our government by force and violence, Earl Browder was an important member. For some 11 years of that time he was the party's secretary-general, its topmost leader in this country.

We're still unified, and terribly bewildered.

THE PAYOFF Now comes the payoff. A thousand bombers fly over Cologne—woe to Cologne, says the punster—and leave that city, the size of Boston, in ruins. Then they fly over another town, worst, was a haven for the neutrals. Another thousand fly over Essen; and leave that city, the size of Washington, in ruins.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WORKING

HARMONY—John L. Lewis told his aides at recent convocations here that he looked forward to a national labor movement which will swallow up personalities and differences involving his United Mine Workers.

Mr. Lewis said his followers on the idea of union representation at the post-war peace conference will be a political presentation at the post-war peace conference.

RAY TUCKER and his should participate in any settlement after the armistice as spokesmen for the miners. He is quoted as saying that the necessary should go as a proxy for the administration.

John's plan has caught on with such nominal enemies as Daniel G. Williams, one of the dominant figures in the American Federation of Labor, and with the practical men of the C. I. O. When or how many will come is debatable.

"PUPPETS"—Mr. Lewis' theme during these extraordinarily important discussions has been that organized labor should not permit itself to become a handmaiden to the White House. In his deep dramatic style he censured Mr. Green and Mr. Murray for placing their eyes in a presidential candidate.

John L. with Phil Murray at his side, noted that he had been pleased to see this attitude through direct negotiations with Milton C. Taylor, and that the benefit of Mr. Roosevelt's aid, he cited other examples in the simplest of terms.

"Your request for more money," John L. wound up, "is in the hands of a few 'presidential' puppets. And they will do what the bird man says."

MURPHY—Hamilton Fish is the one person in Congress who really is not afraid to become a liquidate next fall. A strenuous noninterventionist before Pearl Harbor, P. D. R. congressman has been a thorn in the side of the White House.

SCHMIDT—A few Democratic leaders in Capitol Hill assembled for a buffet supper and a party called "The Evening of the Future."

Other Points of View THE LITTLE BUSINESS MAN What's to become of the small business man and his business? That's what is bothering the New Deal down at Washington these days.

THE PAYOFF Now comes the payoff. A thousand bombers fly over Cologne—woe to Cologne, says the punster—and leave that city, the size of Boston, in ruins.

OPTIMIST We hate to pick on Senator Walsh right now, in view of the unfortunate experience to which he was subjected through no apparent fault of his own.

THE C. C. VOTE The house of representatives has gone on record for the abolition of the C. C. effective July 1 when the new federal income tax law goes into effect.

What's to become of the small business man and his business? That's what is bothering the New Deal down at Washington these days.

SERIAL STORY

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

BY EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

WEBBER DISAPPEARS

CHAPTER XXII
CAPT. SETH PRINGLE turned his eyes on his two visitors. A large, square man, the sea was stamped indelibly upon him. He gave the impression that nothing was secret to him.

"So much for your side of the story, Halsey," he said bluntly. "Talcott, I don't know who you are, but I know you by reputation and I know your boss. And Naval Intelligence gave me your story before we left Saint Thomas. But I'm damned if I'll let my ship be turned into a dumpling by your account!"

Talcott said, "There's none of it in my doings."

Pringle started. "Why didn't you come straight to me and let me see you were attacked on the boat deck, instead of waiting until this morning?"

"Because when I returned to my cabin to clean up I found that MacDowell had been murdered, and then I heard Webber captured in his stateroom but actually outside, talking to the steward. I recalled his having eschewed before, and then I remembered that he was Baron von Stampf."

"If you'd come straight to me then we might have caught him. I've got the steward in irons and he's more afraid of von Stampf than he is of me. Won't say a damned word except that he has relatives in Düsseldorf and von Stampf made him do it because he was afraid they'd be tortured. You say you and Halsey searched the ship?"

Halsey replied, "Every corner. That is, we couldn't very well go in cabins. But he certainly wasn't in his own, and we combed all the decks and lounges for hours without a sign of him."

Orders were up for passengers to remain inside, but that many would have wanted to venture on the slippery, tossing deck. But, June Paterson was one of the few. Eyes sparkling in flushed cheeks she inhaled with excitement, "I'll not only see the world, I'll miss this for anything in the world!"

Halsey said, "Not for me. I'm going to utilize the time to prepare a document for the benefit of Old Man Winters. I think there are some things about his new secretary that he ought to know!"

Halsey said, "I would like to see you, agreed to accompany her. A reckless, reactive spirit had him in its grip, and as he battled down the passageway to C Deck his mind hung only great relief. The rest of the crew, Webber included, if still on the ship, would never escape the sharp eyes of the captain's trusted men. The steward was in the brig and his admissions made in order to avoid full confession were enough to clear Talcott. Things were beginning to break the right way at last.

His blood muddled with the joy of living when he reached his stateroom and retrieved his coat. A wonderful girl was waiting for him so that they together could buffet a storm. It was symbolic; they had come through one storm together with colors flying, moral and spiritual storm that made this action of the elements seem like a child's play. For through it all, even in that darkest moment when he had told of MacDowell's murder, she had believed in him.

Halsey was a rough tweed, ironic Christmas present from Old Man Winters the year before; it was like the Old Man to give Palm Beach suits to Eskimos.

An expensive garment, tailor-made; his arm was in the sleeve when an exclamation of pain escaped his lips. Angrily he withdrew his hand and saw an ugly scratch from knuckle to wrist. Sweating wrathfully he turned back the cuff and saw the offender, a common pin, lodged in the lining.

"That's damned funny, no murdered. "Wonder how that got in there?"

Herd won the coat only once in the lecture. It had never been there all the time and just now (worked?) He stuck at the scratch and spit blood in the wash basin. The wound was fresh, hung curiously he searched his jumbled effects for antiseptic; he could have sworn he'd brought medicine, but there wasn't any evidence of it.

"Mustn't keep her waiting," he said, and grimacing, stepped into the deserted corridor.

Like a shoebox in the hands of a schoolboy, that corridor tossed. "This is a lousy," he muttered. Maybe it wouldn't be such a good idea to try the deck in this pea. They'd better talk it over first—slendering advice motion threw him against the wall and he grappled desperately for the hand-rail, braced, caught balance and tried valiantly to get up. It was no go. Only by pulling himself along the hand-rail could he make headway.

He had come half the distance to the companion stair when suddenness assailed him. His head seemed swollen to the size of a basketball, his stomach was a leaden knot. "Funny," he thought, "Never been sick in my life. But they say there's always a first time."

The handrail had suddenly become as rubbery as an inner tube. He was holding it tight, could feel his own fingernails as they bit into the heel of his palm. But the rail was stretching like a snake. His legs wouldn't work, try as he might. And his stomach was on fire, blazing with increasing intensity, sending fumes that swelled his head to a point where he recoiled to leave his body.

The corridor floor was hundreds of feet below him and down there he saw a pale of enormous feet. "Are those my feet?" he asked. It was uproariously funny. Gurgling with laughter he reached for the rail, missed by a yard, and crashed to his face on the carpet.

OUT OUR WAY - By J. R. WILLIAMS

OUR BOARDING HOUSE... with... MAJOR HOOPLE

SIDE GLANCES

Pringle said, "I'm damned son of a gun if he's jumped overboard or not." Pringle got to his feet. "All right, Talcott, I'm placing you under technical arrest. That means you'll have your freedom, but any more funny business and into irons you go alongside the steward. I got enough trouble with hurricane warnings all around me without you bringing me any more!"

"FULL fury of the storm broke upon the Blue Petrel and drove her in progress. The ship shuddered, began a climb which seemed endless, hung momentarily as if drifting in a vacuum and then plunged downward with dizzying speed. A terrific crash of dishes was the first casualty, and the dining saloon began to empty rapidly.

June Paterson, Bill Talcott and Halsey endured it until the problem of keeping dishes on the table became too acute. The chief engineer had long since departed without Pringle, in all haste, hurrying by. "Barometer still falling," he reported. "We're in for a dirty time-- Sign no sign of that bald-headed-- He started to call him something else and at sight of June Paterson cutted himself by changing it to "hum."
