Reclassifying of Unmarried Men Urged by Senator

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—Senator Taft, R., O., proposed in the senate today that men hurried before passage of the draft law who are living with their wives and children into Class III, calling them for duty only after all available younger, unmarried men had been inducted.

Following the senate approval of resolution to correct a minor clerical error in the family allowance bill previously voted by the house, Taft said that if President Roosevelt subsequently signs this bill into law immediate classification of selective service registrant with dependents ought to be undertaken under terms of the measure.

Lias Classes
Predicting that it would be necessary to call married men with dependents in order to build the armed forces up to a strength of 10,000,000 men, Taft suggested that existing classes be drawn upon in order: Men under 37 years old without wife or children, but with dependent parents, brothers or sisters. Men under 37 with wife but no children, but with dependent parents, brothers or sisters. Men under 30 years old with wife and children, or children only.

Class II registrants, including men over 30 with wife and children.

Should Decide
"I am sure that an additional 2,500,000 men would be selected for service in 1943 and 2,000,000 more in 1944."

"We should decide and decide definitely and in 1942 whether the boys of 19 should be taken before more than 30 years of age with wife and children, or children only."

"We should also decide whether voluntary enlistment should be allowed."

STEEL CONTRACT
WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—The Idaho Manufacturers Association to Washington in an effort to obtain a good chance to succeed, in the opinion of Senator Thomas, R., Idaho.

Thomas said he would support the contract for steel for the construction of ships.

Thomas said Idaho companies were interested in the contract, since steel for fittings for ships at Portland, Ore., and other work was being done in Idaho.

If such contracts could be obtained for Idaho, it would be a big help to the state.

The Idaho senator expressed belief that the contract would be considered by the senate banking and currency committee, of which he is a member, and passed by the President, would increase production for Idaho's small manufacturing companies.

Big Shifts Loom in Alignment for WPB

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—A war production board spokesman today predicted an "extensive organizational reorganization" of WPB within a month, which "inevitably will bring the abolition of some jobs."

The committee, which is probably would not be based on the latest congressional criticism of $1-a-year men, released today by Chairman Truman, D. M., of the special committee on defense investigation.

WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson declined to comment on the committee's demand for changes in men and methods at WPB, but sources close to Nelson indicated that the reorganization might effect some of the changes Truman asked.

"The committee has a 'damaging delay' in conversion of major civilian industries to war work, and Truman declared that the production has not fully measured up to the requirements."

Nelson told a group of men met from time to time in front of Harry Wally's tail or shop and talked of the weather, politics and the war, but in the winter, they sat inside. They called themselves the Squatters' club.

Walls would away and the men, afraid a new proprietor might void their company's claims, and rented his shop quarters.

Now there is no business there except talking.

OUT OF BUSINESS
LOS ANGELES—Daniel went to the Idaho highway department to get a 40-ton dirt carrier.

Burrows got out to investigate, but went another of the 10-2, 500 tons.

Senate Receives Bill to Alleviate Tanker Shortage
WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—House-approved authorization for improvement of Gulf and Atlantic coast oil pipelines was introduced today by Senator McNamara, D., Calif.

The bill authorizes appropriation of $20,000,000 for these projects, designed to permit a greater flow of gasoline and fuel oil to the nation's east coast.

EYE STOLEN
IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, June 18 (AP)—The Idaho highway department has lost one of its eyes.

State police today were seeking a thief who made way with an "electric eye," which had been operated on the Yellowstone highway near Boise City to make its traffic count.

Unfortunately it about as difficult to replace as the human eye, what with needles and such.

SNIPPER

PASCAQUILLA, Miss., June 18 (AP)—Everybody in town today was just as mystified over the motive of the "sniper" as they were about who he might try to clip next.

Without looking or otherwise disturbing his victims, he breaks into homes at night and snips the hair of the sleepers. He has given fifteen to three persons in the past week but not one has been hurt.

Chief A. W. Ewell said he didn't have the slightest idea why a man would want to do such a thing but because the complaints have been coming in hard and heavy, his department has started a search for information leading to his capture. He also gave patrol permits to six volunteer officers and ordered the regular police force to be on the alert.

Bloodhounds, given a man's footprint to start on, have failed miserably. None of the victims could give a description of who they stumbled on oblivious of the lawless attention they were getting.

Air Strength Recognized as Naval Weapon
BY FRANK TREMINE
ALBANY, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—Naval experts charted their plans for the next phase of the Pacific war, and today they emphasized the importance of air power in the Pacific theater.

At the same time, he emphasized that the changes probably would not be based on the latest congressional criticism of $1-a-year men, released today by Chairman Truman, D. M., of the special committee on defense investigation.

WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson declined to comment on the committee's demand for changes in men and methods at WPB, but sources close to Nelson indicated that the reorganization might effect some of the changes Truman asked.

Walls would away and the men, afraid a new proprietor might void their company's claims, and rented his shop quarters.

ALLIES DEMAND "EYE FOR EYE" IN CZECH SLAYINGS

MOORE DENOUNCED SLAYINGS
LONDON, June 18 (AP)—Allies demanded today an "eye for an eye" retribution against the killing of innocent Czechs in the Prague slayings.

Moore denounced the slayings, saying that "in the future, an undefended German town or village will be regarded as a target for every innocent person murdered by the Nazis in an occupied area."

Moore said that the number of executions in Prague and Brno for the slayings of Czechs had reached 47, excluding an estimated 100 more in the German-occupied areas.

The Czech resistance in exile today demanded that the German government should be held responsible for the slayings.

Under the leadership of Edward Beneš, former Czechoslovak president, the resistance is demanding the release of the German war criminals.

Reports from the coalition industrial and agricultural groups were taking an increasing toll of the German military.

Stimson Reports Nippon Losses in Pacific Run High

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today the losses inflicted on the Japanese in the Pacific had temporarily but substantially reduced the threat of an attack on the Pacific coast which he has repeatedly said might be expected.

War and navy department information, he said, that the Japanese thus far had made only a "very small landing" in the Aleutian islands of Adak.

Stimson said that the fog and unfavorable weather obscured developments in the north Pacific.

Information is still incomplete, the secretary also told the press conference. In the earlier part of the engagement of Midway.

"But after three days fighting the Japanese were driven off all over the Pacific ocean, hustling away as fast as it could in the opposite direction without a rest," he added.

In the Aleutians, Stimson said, the American and Japanese forces thus far had only fleeting glimpses of each other through the eyes of airplanes.

Will Give Information
He predicted that the government would make available "every bit of information we can," about the course of the war and the management of Midway Island in the Pacific and in the Coral Sea near Australia.

Stimson was asked whether the air and naval losses inflicted on the Japanese were such as to have diminished the threat to the Pacific coast.

"Temporarily, I should say the threat was much less," he replied.

Still at Sea
One reason why the threat was still incomplete on the Midway fight, the secretary said, was that many naval vessels were sunk at sea, although carriers which were protected by radio silence fled from forwarding positions.

Outlining the difficulties of obtaining a clear and complete picture of the course of the war, Stimson noted that the only contact between the American and Japanese forces was by means of hundreds of airplanes.

"They were shooting in many places, but we were unable to know that the other fellow was shooting at us," he said, "prying at the situation, there is little time for observation."

Immense Confusion
"The reports that we receive come from a few islands scattered in the Pacific. At Midway, where the weather was so bad, the reports were very limited. It gave us a good general picture of the outcome but there was much confusion with the state and national agencies."

"I feel that all effort must be made to get the reports as soon as possible," he explained in making his announcement. Any momentary possibility of a government not necessary for essential governmental functions or for the prosecution of the war should be abandoned for the duration.

Maintaining such non-essentials lessens the effectiveness of the war effort. For instance, WPA, NYA and CCC should be closed and their personnel released for productive work. Those unable to work or maintain themselves should be cared for with a minimum.

Can't Shut Duty
"The United States cannot ignore the place and influence of the world of today," he added. "It is a place fraught with grave responsibilities and momentous possibilities for the peace of the world in the years to come. However, our efforts must be directed to the fact that our first duty is to see that our country is adequately equipped to defend itself."

Stimson said that he and his colleagues will do their best to stabilize the rest of the world.

Subsidy to Keep Price Ceilings Intact Forseen
WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—The administration today announced a subsidy to obtain legislation permitting payment of government subsidies for the price ceiling on the price of wheat in the face of rising production and transportation costs.

CHINESE STORM PROVINCIAL CAPITAL; JAPS MOVE TROOPS

DEFENSE FORGES REGISTER GAINS

By ROBERT F. MARTIN
CHUNGKING, June 18 (AP)—Chinese forces had battered the outer defenses of Nanchang, provincial capital of Kiangsi, and forced the Japanese to withdraw troops from nearby offensives to reinforce the Nanchang garrison, it was disclosed today.

A military spokesman said a large Chinese force had battered its way to within 15 miles of Nanchang itself and that the Japanese obviously were disturbed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's counter-offensive.

While the Japanese have concentrated at least 75,000 men in a three-prong drive south and east from Nanchang, Chinese guerrillas and regulars slowly have been penetrating the city's outer defenses in a thrust at the enemy's rear.

Japs Still Drive
This heightening, however, was offset by official disclosure that the Japanese still were driving two columns along the Nanchang-Huang-chow railway in western Kiangsi in an intensified move to seize the entire line, an important central China communication link.

The Chinese, the spokesman said, still control about 68 miles of the railway—roughly between captured Shiangjiao and threatened Yingting. He predicted an all-out enemy effort to close the gap, but continued previous reports that Chinese demolition squads had rendered much of the line "medically useless."

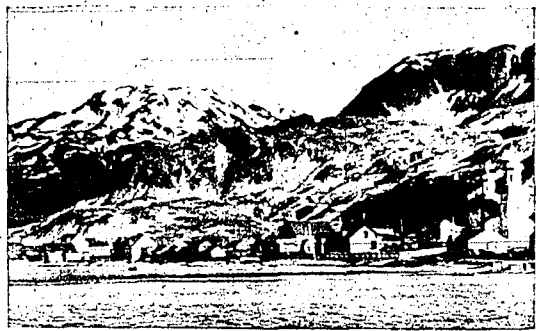

North of Kiangsi in Anhwei province, the Chinese have recaptured four important points on the outer defenses of Anhui, provincial capital, and now are concentrating their attack on a strategic point known as "lion hill," a central news agency dispatch reported. The Japanese were said to be rushing reinforcements from the nearby city of Wuhu.

New Enemy Attack
A new enemy drive was reported developing against Yingting from the south, and the spokesman said latest advances from the Kiangsi front indicated the Japanese were less than nine miles from that city.

Yingting, about 80 miles east of Nanchang, is the western terminus of the rail section still in Chinese hands. A Chungking communication last night acknowledged the loss of Shiangjiao, important rail station on the 450-mile line. Shiangjiao, 123 miles east of Nanchang, was abandoned Monday after an all-day battle in which the Japanese suffered 8,000 casualties, the high command said.

There was no confirmation or denial of Japanese claims that division headquarters already had moved on westward to Kewiki, 50 miles beyond Shiangjiao. The high command, however, reported that the Chinese had recaptured the city of Yingting on the Chekiang-Kiangsi border.

Where Japs Battle for Foothold in Aleutians

Here's Atsu village, on Atsu Island, at the western tip of America's chain of Aleutian Islands, where the U. S. navy reported Japanese had made a small-scale landing in the first effort to gain a foothold in the enemy hemisphere. In breaks of bad weather, however, army and navy airmen succeeded in driving the enemy from the populated regions back into the rocky, snow-covered mountains. (NEA Telephone)

U. S. Planes in Turkey Leave Rumanian Oil Field in Blaze

ANKARA, Turkey, June 18 (AP)—Four United States army bombing planes which landed in Turkey six days ago were part of a force of 15 which left the Rumanian oil fields in blazing chaos, it was learned authoritatively today.

The mystery of why the planes were forced to land in Turkey was dispelled; it was apparent that they stayed so long over a perfect target, determined to make America's first direct blow against the axis on the European continent.

It was learned that the great Consolidated B-24 four-engine planes caused enormous fires and damage, which it will take the Germans months to make good, in the Ploesti oil fields 100 miles north of Bucharest.

Four Land in Turkey
Four of the 15 planes landed in Turkey; one dropped out over the Balkans of the Black sea, as the result of enemy fire or fuel shortage. But 10 returned to allied territory, including some which landed in free French Syria.

One of the planes which landed in Turkey had 10 bullet holes in its fuselage and three of its crew members had slight wounds.

Another pressed through its attack despite motor trouble which it reached its target.

IDAHOANS OPPOSE GASOLINE RATION

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—The diversity of protests against the much-discussed possibility of nationwide gasoline rationing has impressed Representative Knowlton, R-Idaho, who has received from his home state hundreds of letters opposing such a move.

"I never have seen an hour," the congressman says, "where so many people in such varied walks of life have taken an active interest. Not only the special interests, such as filling stations and auto cent operators, have written against nationwide rationing, but farmers, mechanics, students and other private citizens whose businesses would not be immediately affected are sending a deluge of letters on this proposition."

Dworshak has been fighting inexcusable rationing, he said, since before the recent protest caucus of 100 members of the house, which he attended. He has relayed protests to the office of price administration, and has kept in touch with the situation both with his colleagues and various government departments.

Dworshak expressed confidence that surveys now being made and the campaign to ration gasoline fields do not merit looking gasoline and rubber.

Boise Architect's Widow Succumbs

BOISE, June 18 (AP)—Mrs. Marie Hummel, 78, widow of pioneer Idaho architect Charles F. Hummel, died at her home Wednesday. Services will be held in St. John's cathedral Friday preceded by a requiem at her home tomorrow.

Mrs. Hummel had lived in Boise 47 years, coming here with her husband from Seattle and Everett, Wash.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Byron Nelson of Gooding, and three sons, Col. Frederick C. Hummel, former commander of the 11th engineer; Maj. Frank K. Hummel, both of Boise; and Ernest Hummel, of Gooding, Calif.

FARM PARITY IS KEY TO ECONOMY

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, in a radio address on "The Farm Front Against Inflation," warned last night that congressional prohibition of sub-parity sales of government-owned farm surpluses would force a "choice between falling short in war production or heading toward inflation."

"Either course would be ruinous," he stressed.

He referred only indirectly to the congressional farm bloc fight to prevent lowering price ceilings on farm products below the present 110 per cent of parity, but he said one of the key points of the national economic program is getting farm prices down to parity.

"There is no warrant for farm profiteering," he said, "and the farmers don't want to profiteer," he said. "They don't want to force up their prices out of line with other prices and so slow down the winch war program."

Many Pay Honor To Mrs. Goodman

RUPERT, June 18—Many friends assembled Sunday at 3 p. m. at the Rupert Methodist church to pay final tribute to Mrs. Mabel E. Goodman, wife of Alan Goodman, who died at the Rupert general hospital June 11 following an accidental fall down a stairway June 6. Rev. Albert Parrish officiated.

Music was furnished by a quartet, Mrs. Louis Dopain, Mrs. Ralph Nyblund, John Mitchell and Arthur T. Smith, and a duet was sung by Mrs. Dopain and Mrs. Nyblund. Mrs. Gertrude Dellinger was organ accompanist and also played the processionals and recessional.

Many beautiful floral tributes were in evidence, members of the Epworth Star, of which she was a member. Mrs. Goodman also was a past president of the Rupert Women's club and also played the processionals and recessional.

Interment was in Rupert cemetery.

RUSSIAN COUNTER-ATTACKS HOLD NAZIS AT SEVASTOPOL

GERMANY LOSES MANY MORE MEN

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW, June 18 (AP)—Front line dispatches said today that Russian counterattacks had regained an outer line of trenches at Sevastopol and snatched a German attack to cross a strategic river (probably the Donets) on the Kharkov front. The defenses of Sevastopol remain unbreached after 13 days of savage enemy onslaughts which continued with undiminished intensity, according to a dispatch to the army newspaper Red Star.

In one sector, the dispatch said, Russian counter-attacks re-secured a line of important trenches that had been seized by the enemy. (Berlin reported that the northern defenses of Sevastopol had been breached and the main Russian base set.)

Pressure Slackens
Dispatches said the pressure of the German's big drive on the Kharkov front appeared to have slackened as a result of fierce Russian counter-attacks, but sharp fighting continued on the other sector.

A Pravda correspondent said the red army had repulsed "repeated air attacks and artillery." The attack of the enemy to cross a strategic river with huge forces of infantry, tanks and artillery. Two attack units of the Germans another 1,500 dead, 15 field guns and one anti-aircraft regiment, the dispatch said. The Russians seized the initiative on some sectors of the Kharkov front.

Whether the offensive, said to be in progress on "some sectors," would develop into another German bid for the recapture of German-held Kharkov, was problematical. Charette saw being seized by the Russians' ability to stop the Germans in their tracks, then take the offensive against them.

No Important Changes
The first Russian communique today said there were no important changes along the front, as a whole, during the night. Six hundred Germans were killed, it asserted, in tank-supported infantry attacks on an undisclosed sector. All the attacks were repulsed.

It informed, Turkish sources in Ankara estimated the combined losses of Germany and Rumania at Sevastopol thus far at 8,000—about one-third of the German 11th army with which Col. Gen. Fritz von Manstein began the assault two weeks ago.

The midnight communique reported that in a "three engagements" yesterday around Kharkov, the Russians destroyed 15 German tanks and killed almost 1,500 Germans. Radio Moscow said, however, that a total of 2,600 Germans were killed.

BRITISH FIRE ON U. S., RAF PLANES

AT A DESERT AIRFIELD IN EGYPT, June 18 (AP)—Ships of a British Mediterranean convoy fired by mistake on both United States army and British planes which flew unharmed over it on the way to attack the Italian fleet. It was made known today.

Col. Albert Kallher, who led the American planes, launched a raid on a two-mile piece of shoreline which had penetrated his plane.

The American planes passed over the convoy in the early morning hours. The convoy was some distance off its expected course and the planes were not due to pass it. The guns fired before the planes could be spotted.

Later the same series of circumstances led to firing on British planes.

No Personalities In Campaign-Bott

BOISE, June 18 (AP)—C. A. Bottolun of Arco, who again seeks to be Idaho's governor, promises to refrain from personalities in his campaign for the Republican nomination.

His opponents thus far are W. H. DeWalter of Hazelton, mayor of the state legislature, and Thomas C. McDougall, housing administrator, whom Bottolun defeated for the nomination in 1940.

"My campaign will be based on my record and not on personalities which would work against party unity in the general election," the former governor told an interviewer.

BLAZE EXTINGUISHED

The cause of the fire, apparently caused by the fire, according to firemen.

NO REASON FOR GLOOM OF ALLIES

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
World War Analyst
The violence of the fighting in the various theaters of combat, as the axis strains to get its war-machine into top speed for a killing, is producing the usual heavy fluctuations of emotion among the allied peoples, and for no real reason there has been a fair amount of gloom knocking about the last day or two.

Without possible doubt we're going to get a lot more of the awe and blood and tears that British Prime Minister Churchill promised long ago, but there are no present signs that we shall see anything worse than the war already has produced. After all, the collapse of France and Belgium, the crimson sands of Dunkerque, the sweep of the Hun forces across the Russian steppes last summer, and Pearl Harbor were touchy spots.

Some Netbacks
The allies are encountering some setbacks, but from my observation the conflict has appeared to be moving along fairly well for our side. We've taken some heavy knocks and handed out some, but after all, war is that way, you know. This is with some concrete, that one read Premier Churchill's gloomy warning to Australians yesterday.

Mr. Curtin said that the news from Libya wasn't good and that the Russian situation held dangers for the allied cause. "Australia is irrevocably lined with the wars in Libya and Russia," he continued, "and it is the fall of Australia, a possibility always to be remembered, would open the way for a Japanese attack on Hawaii and the North American coast. This was particularly disturbing since a fortnight after the premier declared: 'Something Happened'.

"I defy the enemy to land large forces in Australia."
What could have happened in these two weeks to alter the premier's viewpoint so radically?

It's true that the news from Libya isn't good. Nazi Marshal Rommel—one of the great generals of this war—has staged a spectacular offensive which today is threatening the important British position at the port of Tobruk. However, the allied forces have been in much worse position in Libya before then. Tobruk has been in axis hands, and even if it falls now, it's not a matter of despair.

There undoubtedly are many grave dangers ahead of us, and the crisis calls for every ounce of effort we can give, but taking the situation as a whole there's nothing to cause despair. Personally I like the line given to the French people yesterday by old Marshal Foch:
"I do not lose faith."

British Airplanes Attack St. Nazaire

LONDON, June 18 (AP)—British warplanes attacked the main submarine base at St. Nazaire on the occupied French coast last night, laid mines in enemy waters and attacked military targets in France, Belgium and the air ministry announced today.

One fighter plane was lost, a communiqué said.
There was no German aerial activity over Britain last night, but two main planes dropped bombs on the southwest coast early this morning, causing some damage and several small numbers of casualties, the government reported.

Gooding Grange Fills Vacancies

GOODING, June 18—Gooding Grange at a regular session accepted resignations of the chaplain and Ceres and named Mrs. Ralph Smith as new chaplain and Mrs. Otto Carico as Ceres.

When the President called for scrap rubber to aid America's war machine, Hyrd Walter, a farmer residing northwest of Twin Falls, decided to aid the program. So, he sold the Standard Oil company about 40 tons of tires he had collected for use as smudge pots in his peach orchard. The oil company will send the rubber into various industries. A few of the 40 tons of tires are shown above

Patriotic Motif Featured in Many Ways At 'Morale Booster' Spring Flower Show

By LUCILLE KNIGHT DUEBIG

The intermingled fragrance of hundreds of flowers is delightful to the nose (unless you're subject to hay fever), but the colorful displays of choicest blooms from Magic Valley gardens is an even greater delight to the eye at the annual spring flower show now underway in the basement of the Twin Falls public library building.

Patriotic Motif

The patriotic "centerpiece" in the room first to catch the eye of those entering to inspect the displays of hundreds of blooms entered by 142 Magic Valley growers.

On either side of the red, white and blue flower-and-drapery arrangement are large American flags in tall white floor stands, and on the low table in front of it are innumerable "new and unusual" varieties of blossoms.

A white basket of red carnations, white anemones and blue delphiniums tied with red, white and blue ribbons, draws attention to the corner of the room, and the patriotic motif in a further note in the corse entrance.

Novel Covers

Winning entry was of a single red rose, bachelor buttons and sprays, but an entry that attracted much attention was the "war stamp" arrangement of white carnations in the shape of a V, with individual stamps "fitting in" the center.

Attracting much attention is the single Angia Panthus plant, nearly two feet tall, colored by Mrs. J. Weaver, Filer. She has the rays of all gardeners, for it is considered safe to eat to take one of the "blue lilies of the Nile" and make it bloom. The plant is a member of the novel is the "flower picture" displayed with miniature arrangements in one of the library tables.

The flowers here are arranged in a hammered copper picture frame, with an inch and a quarter in height, with a thin wire figure in front of a small copper tray completing the scene.

Finest Entry

Victors marveled at the finest entry in the show, a pitcher not over three-quarters of an inch in height, with a striking floral arrangement in miniature contained in it. Show attendants confided they had to water it every hour or so because the pitcher is so small the water evaporates rapidly.

Contrast... At the Spring Flower Show

The "large and the small of it" at the third annual spring flower show which got underway yesterday at the Twin Falls public library is graphically portrayed in this photo. The "large" of it is the white pony, Jubilee, held by little Miss Shirley Hoerner, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Roemer, and the "small" of it, opposite Shirley's chin, is so tiny it's almost invisible in the picture. It's a tiny pitcher containing a single forget-me-not and contrasting miniature white blooms. A blue ribbon was awarded the pony, and a third place ribbon marks the tiny pitcher arrangement. Other miniature arrangements are seen in the background. (Staff Photo-Engraving)

SPORTING BLOOD

BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

THE SPORT Hunter Dent, who was wealthy, had inherited the sporting action of Ballard's dead father, Mr. Dent. On the night early drunk broke a neck, and Hunter Dent, being a sportsman, was wounded and robbed of a large sum of money. Hunter Dent put on his hat and went to bed. He was not to see his father's near death. And he made the mistake of leaving the door open, which only he knew the combination.

In the early afternoon Hunter telephoned the hospital to find out how Junior Ballard was. The voice reported there was no news yet. He went about his duties but his mind was not on his work. He was toward the middle of the afternoon when he had a glimpse of a car down in the big wood next to the river. His impression was the car was inside the stone gate there. His first thought was, naturally, about Junior's wrecked car. His next was an instinct to keep out intruders, for Strickland Hall was death on trespassers. He dipped down, so as not easily to be seen, and crept along until he could get inside the cover of the woods. By a path not much used he was able to steal right up to where three people were standing.

The most notable of the trio was Ned Ballard. She was in light points with puttees, toward jacket. Outdoors girl. Her red hair made a bright blob of color in the autumn sunlight. The smiling fat man garbed pretty much like a farmer in the locality was the constable, Major Doolittle. The other man, here of four-foot, six-foot-four, red-faced, rough, was Sheriff Anderson of Midland County. The three were examining the tire of a car lying in the soft, moist earth just within the iron gate. They had not managed so far to trace the tread to any other car they had wrecked his car the past night.

Doolittle's voice was cracked with excitement. "That's the tread of the death car, beyond any shadow of doubt!"

The sheriff spoke with dry voice, disillusioning the J. P. "It wasn't the 'death-car,' Major. We believe it was the car in which the killer escaped. From what I can gather, after the attack-up and shooting the killer leaped in his car, drove furiously out of town, and came by back roads in this general direction."

"But for him to get in here, Sheriff," Ned protested. "That would mean," he concluded, "that the one who entered here did it probably just before dawn, perhaps within five minutes after I went to the barn."

He took up his wallet, drew forth a small card. The card contained in code the combination to the safe. There was but this one card. No one except the dealer, and Hunter, and the manufacturer of the safe naturally knew of the card, knew in fact how to decipher the code so as to read the combination.

AT NOON when he came in for dinner a radio was going somewhere. Perhaps it was in the butler's private domain. Hunter listened, his attention caught by the theme song of the Ballard Benedicts. The Major Benedicts were singing their cowboy and hillbilly numbers. They had beautiful, unimpoverished voices—just right for playing melodies to rural audiences.

"And now, friends," the announcer said, a voice that was bubbling over with neighborliness and good health, "we of the Ballard Benedicts have a most unusual offer to make you folks."

"Simply go to your drug store tomorrow and say, 'Give me a 6-cent bottle of box of tablets, of Ballard's Bitters, for your sour stomach.' Send us the top of carton, and within short hours you will receive your generous sample of Ballard's Prolife Corn. Could anything be more generous than that?"

Hunter Dent swore. Already Strickland was cackling in on Hunter's life work.

Now, it's perfectly clear the rusey chain had not been disturbed. That is not a bad thing. Sheriff Anderson examined the findings. On the contrary, the tire tread, the clearest evidence to have been used quite recently.

Hunter stepped from the cover of the trees where he hid himself. He smiled around the trio. "Pardon me, but I couldn't help overhearing your conversation. I'm glad at the deep picture of the tire in the earth. The tire marks were made by my car, gentlemen. If you will get into your car there in the road and drive around, coming in by way of the front, I'll be glad to show you the exact pattern. And Sheriff Anderson is correct when he says the gate has been opened recently. I came in here myself last night."

He took a large key from his pocket. It closed like a jack-knife. He walked over to the huge, old-timey lock. "This key fits the antique lock, as you can see, Sheriff, and the only key to the lock on the place, and, of course, it would be out of the question for any one else to have some through here in a car."

"I see," the sheriff stroked his chin. He'd shaved since noon. There were many pink veins in his almost childlike cheeks. The way he kept saying "I see" got on Hunter's nerves, but he continued to smile. "Good thing," he thought, "Junior and I got a new set of car tires at the same time before returning started." The officers crossed the stone fence and drove around. Hunter nodded for Ned to follow, and walked quickly back, cutting through to beat the car. He got the key past the place where the car had come into the brush. More and more he felt the absolute necessity of protecting Junior, and saving the girl. At the garage Hunter locked his car out. Anderson and Doolittle checked the tread. The sheriff did something Hunter did not like. He took a small camera and made photographs of the tires. Hunter thought there was no dirt in the tread at all.

"Why, this is private ground, that gate was locked as you find."

NEW SIEGE FOR TOBRUK NEARING

CAIRO, June 18.—(Withdrawal of British troops from desert positions at El Adem and Goli Resazh) was announced here today and Marshal Erwin Rommel's axis divisions apparently immediately threatened a new siege of Tobruk.
 British headquarters reported the removal of the garrisons of El Adem, 18 miles south of Tobruk, and Sidi Rezah, 25 miles to the southeast, indicating points of their realigned defenses along the Ain El Ghazal Sir Hweishan line, was shattered by German-Italian attacks.
 The troops set up new lines between Tobruk and the Egyptian frontier, British observers said.
 (The Italian high command asserted aerial reconnaissance showed the British had carried a general withdrawal toward the Egyptian border.)
 Axis troops apparently were still manned. It lies about 20 miles west of Tobruk, Mediterranean deep water port which the British have held since they captured it from the Italians on Jan. 22, 1941.
 "Our mobile forces are continuing to harass the enemy in the area south and west of Tobruk," a communiqué said.

Red Cross Sewing Popular Activity

CASTLEFORD, June 18.—Red Cross sewing is now being done in the domestic science rooms at the high school the first and third Thursday of each month and on Wednesdays of other weeks.
 Mrs. Charles Storchhouse is in charge.
 Permission for use of the rooms and sewing machines during the summer was granted by the school board and any organization or person who wishes to help is invited to do so.
 W. S. C. S. of the Methodist church is doing Red Cross sewing exclusively this summer and has dropped all other activities until autumn.
 The Baptist Ladies' Aid is also doing Red Cross sewing and the Relief society of the L. D. S. church is making plans to do so.
 Mrs. Storchhouse reports that if an organization desires to work on some day other than Wednesday, she will be glad to make the change.

Flag Day Services

FRYER, June 18.—Mrs. W. D. Davis gave an interesting talk on her boat trip from Panama canal to San Diego Hall, at Flag day services held Sunday at the L. D. S. church. Also included on the program were a duet, Mrs. Lester Johnson and Mrs. Stanley Romney; a talk on the flag, Howard Schwab, and patriotic songs by the group.
