Russians Smash Nazi Tanks On Kursk Front

MOSCOW, June 30 (AP)—Soviet forces on the Kursk front have cut off German infantry forces which pierced their lines in several sectors and more than 200 Nazi tanks have been smashed in two days, the army publication Red Star reported today in the first detailed account of the massive new battle raging in that area.

The frontline account said that Marshal Timoshenko's defenders closed in quickly the wedges driven by the Nazis before the final attack was brought up in this battle which perhaps represents the beginning of the German general offensive up the front.

With the enormous tank losses suffered by the Germans, the Red Star said much of the sting had been drained from the German attack and the tide was turning against subsequent German attacks.

In the two other violently active sectors, the German offensive was being repulsed by the heavy defenders rallied to beat back reinforced German shock troops to positions from which they launched a 48-hour assault and on the Kharkov front heavy indecisive fighting still continued.

Massive Concentrations Moved Elaborating its account of the fighting, Red Star said the Germans began their push there Sunday with artillery and air support and heavy concentrations of infantry, motorized and tank forces.

While entire streams of big tanks screamed over, German air force in groups of 20 or more blasted Soviet fortifications with bombs and bullets.

The use of hundreds of more planes than had previously been used in the past, the Germans made fresh gains.

More Tanks In Battle More than 200 German tanks and aircraft have been hurled into the 25-day-old offensive, the Soviet newspaper said, and the heavy losses the enemy succeeded in advancing the enemy.

After heavy losses sustained after three days of artillery, armor and infantry attacks, was reported as refusing to take any further offensive a bombardment from other units was reported.

In final message to headquarters, which spelled death for friend and foe alike, the German communiqué: "Fire upon our positions."

Attain Checkpoint in Egyptian Fight

LONDON, June 30 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill revealed in a speech today of stopping the German drive through Egypt.

Preparing to defend himself in a two-day full-stress war debate in the commons, Churchill extended the house for the first time since his return from his visit to President Roosevelt's camp in Casablanca.

As he revealed the change in command, Churchill said he was pleased by the full approval of the British cabinet, and that the British had been authorized within the last few days to give Egypt "additional assistance" beyond those already pledged.

Churchill's confidence in the new development of the fall of Matruh, followed immediately on the disaster of Tobruk, Churchill appeared in his usual confident mood.

Entering into action as soon as the season started, he acted in behalf of the British cabinet, which he had received various reports from Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, commander in chief in the Middle East, the loss of Malaya and Singapore.

It added that these reports were the result of the collection of material at his direction, and that they were unsuitable for publication in the commons.

This statement, in answer to a question by Richard R. Stokes, Labor, one of his critics, brought a burst of cheers.

Churchill revealed that Auchinleck had acted on his initiative to remove Ritchie and himself assume the responsibility for the fate of the British army in the Middle East.

Government Approves "As soon as Gen. Auchinleck informed the government of his intention," Churchill said, "he was immediately approved by the government."

In an exchange with Stokes on the subject of the "Singapore campaign," Churchill said Wavell's reports would "cause a great deal of trouble" throughout the British Empire.

JAPS SHOOT AT PARACHUTED ACE

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, June 30 (AP)—Lieut. Donald Mitchell, lone survivor of an American medium bomber shot down by Japanese Zeros over New Guinea, asserted from a hospital bed today that the Japanese tried to machine gun him after he parachuted into the water. Mitchell was co-pilot of the bomber which crashed and sank in the sea after a running fight of 80 miles with the Zeros. He was missing 30 days.

The Japs swept down over me firing machine guns when I hit the water," he said. "They sank my chute. I held on to my Mae West (lifebelt) and stayed under water as much as possible while the bullet whizzed close."

"None of them hit me and after a while the Japanese beat it. Probably they were out of ammunition."

He praised the pilot, Lieut. D. L. Rutison who gave his life in an attempt to save the crew.

The Japs filled our ship with holes and a cannon burst wrecked out after putting the plane out of control and making it fall rapidly," Mitchell said. "The pilot gave the order to jump. I pulled back my seat and grabbed my chute and tried to get out through the pilot's escape chute, but the plane was falling so fast I couldn't get out. So Rutison shoved me out."

From 3 o'clock in the afternoon until dawn Mitchell struggled to get to shore. He stayed two days on an island without food and then decided to try to reach the mainland.

"I got back into the water again and after struggling for what seemed hours, some natives in a canoe picked me up and took me to their village."

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

SOLVE—Within the last few months house-estate antagonism has reached a peak of almost unprecedented sharpness. In an era when there is grave need of peace, the two combatants are fighting with cats and dogs.

Their quarrel has been hidden from the public because it assumes violent shape in the courtroom, where reporters and photographers are permitted to enter, and in their behind-the-scenes bickerings. In their recent conferences to date, the two principals have taken important measures, the boys have come close to physical blows. The good news is that the boys have opened the upper for casting doubt on the legislative branch, the bad news is that the boys' pensions originated in that room and that it was the senior unit which defeated over-enthusiasm for a pious declaration against the acceptance of X cards.

The intrapartisan struggle has become so acute that some members are urging a committee which shall supervise and solve all difficulties. They point out that, if the congress does not take prompt action, the boys will be completely discredited in the eyes of the people.

SCHEMES—Business leaders who have discussed post-war problems with the President are disatisfied with his program for peacetime readjustment. They are afraid that his answer to the question of the inauguration of a grandiose and world-wide war.

Many financiers and manufacturers, who talked over this matter with Mr. Roosevelt, have suggested that good money and peak employment can be continued on the basis of old-fashioned capitalism. They explained that numerous forms will operate to maintain the present level of production and employment. (1) A tremendous supply of skilled workers. (2) A huge backlog of orders for durable goods. (3) A large backlog of orders for durable goods. (4) A large backlog of orders for durable goods.

THURSTON—Ned Field Marshall Erwin Rommel butted into the Roosevelt-Churchill conference in a big way. His 1943 victories, which threaten England's hold on the middle east, changed the world's opinion of the 1942-43 war plans of the American President and the British prime minister.

When the war was in Washington, things were looking up for the United Nations. We had smashed the Axis in the Coral Sea and at Midway. The Chinese were preparing for a land thrust into the Japanese mainland. The Russian army was pushing the Germans back in the Ukraine. The German general was with his amazing achievements in Africa and Europe. The British were pushing the Germans back in the Ukraine.

MUTILATION—Price Administrator Leon Henderson has offered members of congress with his bureau of economic warfare and gasoline rationing. BRITISH RETREAT AT MATRUH TO AVOID ANOTHER TOBRUK

TANKS MOVE UP TO HELP TROOPS

Richard D. McMillan, United Press staff correspondent with the British eighth army, in the following dispatch an eyewitness story of the British abandonment of Matruh and the reasons for it, as he did when he retreated with the British forces from Tobruk.

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN
(Copyright, 1942, United Press)

WITH THE BRITISH EIGHTH ARMY IN THE FRONT LINE, Egypt, June 29 (U.P.)—The British eighth army has abandoned Matruh to avoid another Tobruk.

It has withdrawn not merely to retreat but to fight.

As I write, British forces which had been threatened with disaster have fought their way through the enemy columns to join the main army.

There is a tremendous ebb and flow as the British army takes up new positions.

Tanks, going faster than I believed, could move, after racing along the road westward from Alexandria, hurrying into battle, cascading dunes.

They are brand new tanks, just arrived in Egypt.

With the evacuation of Matruh, the entrance to the corridor leading along the coastal highway toward Alexandria, falls into the hands of German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel.

Message Received

At the same time, the menace to big forces from the left flank of the Afrika Corps as it drove east has been removed.

The British eighth army command decided to abandon Matruh because it did not want another Tobruk, was a hard decision to make, especially in view of the present state of our opinion in Great Britain and the United States. But it was faced with facts.

The important fortresses of Matruh, along in itself, was located when the enemy cut the coastal road, the main railway and railroad crossing Saturday night.

With two other Matruh defense perimeter a short while before the Afrika Corps cut the road.

The main British force came out immediately went into action against the ideas of the main armored and infantry formations which allowed were allowing their way through the gaps in the British mine field south of Charing Cross, the road through a few miles southwest of Matruh.

Battle Waged

The battle waged south and southeast of Matruh, which resulted in its loss, long off in the night.

The Germans broke it off by concentrating up their forces to march onward in sufficient numbers to take Matruh.

Coming down the road, I saw the retreating British tanks and armor, visible for miles to the east by the dust clouds they raised, went into action.

Grave days obviously are ahead for the British in Egypt. If they win it will be like an echo from the battle of the Marne. If they lose it will be a heavy blow.

My tank officers said to me, of this critical hour:

"We will get him yet."

NEWSPAPERS TO AID IN SALVAGE

NEW YORK, June 30—More than 11,000 newspapers in the United States will cooperate in a new national salvage program which will use the full force of national advertising in an effort to collect scrap metal for war production. Dr. Miller McClellin, general manager of the advertising council, had announced today.

The campaign was conceived by the council which is a volunteer, emergency group formed to cooperate with government agencies to employ the full force of advertising in the war effort. The council represents newspapers, magazines, radio broadcasting, outdoor advertising, national advertisers and advertising agencies.

Crosby to Sing

A special feature of the campaign will be a new song, "Junk Will Win the War," to be introduced by Bing Crosby.

The campaign, which will be started July 13, will use the largest list of daily and weekly newspapers in the history of newspaper publishing. In addition, magazines and radio will be used to spread the idea that the salvage campaign should be an all-out effort for the duration of the war.

The campaign will be the first in the war effort to utilize national advertising agencies and will cost the government nothing. An appropriation of $2,000,000 has been obtained from 302 industrial leaders, who compose the American Industries Salvage committee, which is financing the program as a patriotic contribution to the war and the war effort.

The campaign will be a national drive to collect, use and junk collected.

Olson to Help

The petroleum industry, which already is collecting rubber through various means, also will cooperate in the collection of needed junk. There also will be a central office with an advisory committee, cooperating with the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the Salvation Army, war clubs and other civic organizations.

WHEAT SURPLUS LOWERS PRICES

CHICAGO, June 30 (AP)—Lowest prices since before Pearl Harbor for wheat and wheat flour were reported today when grain they were willing or forced to sell on the eve of a new contract in the market, ever-normal supply.

Wheat for July delivery quoted at $1.15 on the Chicago board of trade, the price was the lowest since Dec. 1 when $1.13 was paid for wheat. A year ago wheat was around $1.00 but in January this year it sold as high as $1.15.

Tomorrow a new crop year will begin and, if present prospects materialize, it will be the sixth consecutive season in which the United States will produce more than it can use.

Wheat Surplus on Hand

This surplus of big crops, coupled with a World war that has cut off practically all the normal export market, has given the nation a carryover surplus of old wheat estimated at about 630,000,000 bushels, exceeding any ever accumulated during bumper harvest periods before.

With harvesters working their way north, having reached Kansas, the largest wheat producing state, preparations for full scale operations in the fertile Ohio valley, farmers throughout the United States are urged to do with their problem of what to do with their new grain.

One solution was offered by the government loan program, in operation the last several years, and largely responsible for the U. S. farmer receiving a much better price than do producers in other exporting nations like Canada and Argentina.

Loans to Boost Revenue

By storing wheat collateral and receiving government loans, farmers obtain from 20 to 25 cents a bushel, or more in some cases, above market prices. A year ago this premium was about 10 cents a bushel. The loan rate in Chicago, for example is $1.32 for No. 2 grades; in Kansas City $1.27.

Many producers planned to do this, but a scarcity of storage space, due largely to the big crop, threatened to spoil their plans.

More than half the carryover supply of old wheat already is stored in the government program, most of it owned outright by the commodity credit corporation. Grain men estimate possibly half the new crop, estimated at more than 630,000,000 bushels, may be held off-the-market under loans.

SUBS SINK FOUR ALLIED VESSELS

By United Press

Four more United Nations vessels have been sunk by all the submarines, bringing the total of ships lost in the western Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico to at least 232 since the middle of January.

The newest sinkings include a large American sea-going tug, sunk by an underwater explosion of "unidentified origin" which sank the lander on June 24. A medium-sized American merchant vessel; a small Norwegian merchant ship, and a Yugoslav merchantman, all three torpedoed by submarines. The tug sinkings were announced by the navy last night while the torpedoed vessels were revealed earlier in the day.

All Killed

A total of 21 men were killed in the sinkings.

The tug obviously struck a mine. Fourteen of 18 crew members, including the master, Capt. Roy Allen, Quonset, R. I., were killed, survivors saved at an east coast port.

Two men were killed and one missing in the sinking of the American merchant vessel. Thirty-three survivors were landed at an east coast port.

Two Norwegians Lost

Two men were lost when the Norwegian ship was torpedoed. Nine hours later, the 31 survivors were rescued by the Yugoslav ship, and a few hours later a submarine—apparently the one that sank the Yugoslav ship to the bottom. Two of the crew of 41 were lost.

Nine days later survivors of both sinkings were rescued and taken to a Caribbean port.

Store Teeth

BOISE, June 30 (AP)—The Boise war recruiting station today had examined a set of store teeth to be used in the dental examination of Idaho's rugged Teton mountaineers—could qualify as a sailor.

The examining station had the store teeth said.

Enclosed are my teeth, please examine them and send them back by return mail. I will sure I'm strong enough to fight Japs in all other respects.

If the report is good, I'll report personally next Monday for a complete examination and I'll be ready to go.

The writer said he had previously tried to enlist but had been rejected on account of his teeth. He said however that he had heard the navy had modified dental requirements and wanted to try again.

CHURCHMAN ASKS U. S. OCCUPATION

LOS ANGELES, June 30 (AP)—As war's end, "the first thing will be to occupy Germany, Japan and Italy and see that these nations really know who is master."

The speaker was Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, secretary for the Carnegie-endowed World Alliance for International Friendship through the Churches.

Victims of War

"The soldiers who had fought (World war I) became themselves the victims of the victory they had won," Dr. Atkinson told interviewers. "This time we can and must avoid that colossal blunder."

The United Nations have shown the axis who is master, the churchman said, they must "begin to feed the people with law and order, with foodstuffs made available. Then the larger task of reconstruction can be undertaken."

"As the enemy nations become stabilized and conditions are such that the people can choose for themselves, they should be given the opportunity to join the United Nations group."

Delayed Peace Urged

"The peace conference should not be held for at least two years after the war."

"In carrying on the war we are using up all the resources of mankind. There is disease, hunger, sickness everywhere. When the fighting stops, these hungry, disillusioned people in the various countries will turn to revolution as a way out, unless some systematic effort is made to provide at once the food, clothing, medicine and other materials necessary for reestablishment of normal life."

PAID

Police Commissioner O. H. Coleman used to be a grocer many long years ago.

When he quit that business he had many accounts outstanding.

Yesterday a woman approached him on the street and asked him to pay her an old grocery bill. It just happened—that Coleman—will had a note signed by the woman and her husband. He had never collected it.

Caution Urged in July 4 Festivity

BOISE, June 30 (AP)—Residents of Idaho were urged to use caution in the observance of Independence day next Saturday because, said Law Enforcement Commissioner J. L. Henderson, they "cannot afford the luxury of this annual jamboree of carelessness."

"There is much irony," he said in a statement, "in our custom in celebrating Independence—day-by-day through wholesale disregard for bloodshed and needless sacrifice of life through common sense, care and caution."

"This is one year that an intensive July fourth safety campaign must be followed by American people."

Coined "Airry" Possible Name For Air Forces

DENVER, June 30 (AP)—A Denver man had suggested today that America adopt as the official name of its air forces the phrase "United States airry."

The suggestion came from Horace A. Kessler, who said he coined the new word after hearing about the introduction in the state of a bill to establish a department of aviation and create a separate air force.

Kessler said Sen. Pat McCarran, Nevada, author of the bill, had expressed approval of the word "airry." The Denver man said it would be silly to call the air force war air force.

"You join the army, not the land force and you join the navy, not the sea force," he said. "In the future, boys will be joining the airry, not the air force."

Uncle Sam has far more POWER for War Production than all these three together!

Adolf, Hirohito and Benito probably aren't sleeping well these nights. They know that America's great and growing war production must inevitably turn the tide against them.

America can do it because America has the electric power to do it. Electric power is basic to production. Electric power multiplies man-power and drives the machines that make tanks, planes, ships and guns.

How much power has America? More than the three unscrupulous dictators and all their conquered countries combined—Albania, Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria and the rest of the long, tragic list. Five times more than we had in the last war.

No other nation even approaches America's power resources. And this has largely been accomplished the American way—by electric companies owned by millions of Americans and managed by American business men.

The practical experience, the people and the plants of all these companies are dedicated today to making Uncle Sam so powerful that Axis aggressors will soon be nothing more than three bugs in the Hall of Infamy!

COYBOY DIRECTORS OPEN NEW DRIVE TO GET FINANCIAL AID

Local Fans Show Interest In Maintaining Franchise; Team Plays Boise Tonight

Baseball in Twin Falls was given a new lease on life last night when a group of loyal Coyboy fans told directors of the Twin Falls Baseball club that "we want to see baseball kept here and we think we can obtain support for the club." The directors deferred any action in relinquishing the league franchise until the end of the first half, which closes July 4.

Sport Squibs

By Bob Leighton, Pinching Hitting for Hal Wood

Baseball was assured here last night—until July 4; which means that Coach Ross may have only three chances to get a Twin Falls ball club in action. The Coyboys opened a home series tonight against the Boise Pilots in what may determine the fate of the great American sport here for the rest of the year.

A group of loyal fans, who prefer to remain anonymous for the time being, are interested in taking over the financial aspects of the Coyboys and this series against Boise may "make or break" the drive to retain the league franchise.

Once organized baseball is gone from Twin Falls it would be another 10 or 12 years before interest in the sport begins to show. The Twin Falls ball club to get back into a league. The same thing happened when the old Blue-Idaho league was defunct in the late 70s. It took this group about 10 years to regain adequate interest in the sport to reorganize a league.

Indians Get 17 Safeties to Defeat Sox

CHICAGO, June 30 (P)—Roughly treated at the start, Al Milnar, veteran Cleveland left-hander, stood in the late innings yesterday to take advantage of the Indians' 17-hit attack. The Sox were 11 to 5. The victory enabled the Indians to remain in third place.

Al Milnar, with 11 strikeouts in four innings and a pass, and Roy Weatherly, with a triple and two singles, led the Sox. Alvin Dark and Joe Medwick scored the victors.

Weatherly injured his left leg in the seventh when Shorty Lyles, Cleveland right-hander, struck him with a pitch. Weatherly will be out of the game for 10 or 12 days.

Reiser and Gordon Hold Batting Lead

NEW YORK, June 30 (P)—Brooklyn's leaders began to come back to the crowd last night, rising hopes in some quarters that the club will suffer the same fate.

While Pete Reiser, the National league's 1941 batting champion, and Joe Medwick came up with somewhat lower averages after Sunday's games than the .356 and .353 they had posted the week before, big Ernie Lombardi, Boston, and Rookie Stan Musial, St. Louis, both improved their position in the race.

Reiser, who hit at times in 23 at bat last week, wound up with a .347 mark and Medwick, with four hits in 21 times up, dropped to .320.

Lombardi picked up six points for a .325 third-place average and Musial, after a week ago moved into fourth at .320.

Dodgers Beat Phillies; Increase League Lead

PHILADELPHIA, June 30 (P)—Scoring six runs in the ninth, the Dodgers turned a close game into a runaway last night, to wallop the last place Phillies, 10 to 3, before 8,066 at Shibe park.

The victory increased Brooklyn's lead over the Cardinals to 1 1/2 games. Frank Matton started for the pitcher but gave way to a pinch-hitter in the second. Earl Young pitched well until the ninth.

Head was constantly in trouble, but with the exception of the fourth and seventh, he let the Phils runners stranded. He faced Finckler, Ron Northey with the bases loaded on 10th.

In the fourth the Phils scored two runs on doubles by Al Glosop and Nick Eiten and Mickey Livingston's single.

Two errors by Danny Mortung and Lloyd Waner coupled with Lew Riggan's error on the mound put the Phils in the first. They got two more rallies in the second on Head's infield hit, but they were out.

SERIAL STORY

SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR

BY BLANCHE ROBERTS

COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Judith Kingsley and Tom Burke, employee of an aircraft factory, are the main characters in the serial. Tom is a pilot in the organization. Tom is the one who is in love with Judith. Judith is a girl who has been working in the factory. She is a very attractive girl. She is the one who is in love with Tom. She is the one who is in love with Tom. She is the one who is in love with Tom.

Instantly, the foreman came alive and stood up in a daze. In his hand covering Burke from the back. "Come along," he ordered curtly, nudging Tom with the point of the pistol.

He shook his head slowly. "Can't say. It looks like a bad congestion. He was hit over the head—a nasty blow."

SKYWAY HOLDUP

CHAPTER III

JUDITH noticed most of the passengers were nodding in sleep except Tom, the foreman and the large man in front of her. Everything was peaceful, with nothing to indicate her fears.

Then suddenly the plane rocked and her spine grew rigid with fright. Everybody on the ship came awake instantly. Someone screamed. The hostess came rushing through the aisle.

"The man spoke again. 'I wonder what these fellows wanted? What they were after?' Judith pretended not to hear. 'I think I'll go outside and have a look. I really don't believe anyone is around now.'

To listen your safety belt's, please. Stand up. Her voice called. She hurried to the front of the plane, but when she tried to turn back, she found the control panel was locked. She turned to face the frightened passengers, but just as she opened her mouth to speak, the plane leveled into another flying glide.

One of them said, "Here—let me. I'm a doctor."

The stars twinkled overhead, but there was no moon. Someone playing a flashlight over the ground discovered the car tracks on the hard sand, winding in and out among the sage brush. Judith followed the tire marks with no definite purpose in mind.

When a man exclaimed: "Why are you landing?"

"I believe so," smiled the girl in the uniform, trying to ease the tension. "Please be calm. I am sure everything is all right. Forced landings are not uncommon."

Then in the distance, a light suddenly appeared. Her heart stood still but she did not cry out. In a moment one of the others saw the glow and exclaimed: "They're coming back! Get back to the plane everyone. Don't give them an excuse to shoot!"

Judith glanced a glance at Burke. He was sitting erect, his right hand hidden beneath his coat. The foreman, too, was waiting expectantly. She shifted her gaze quickly to the man in front of her, and as she did so, he stood up. Her heart rose in her throat.

But for the moment, Judith was far from comfortable. Her confusion had deserted her now. She kept thinking of the papers her fingers grasped in the seat beside her. When the spies discovered the plane was missing, they would return and make a thorough search for Tom's accomplice.

When Judith did not follow, Heroby turned back for her. She pulled away from his hand. "No, I can't. Please return with the others, and just forget where you saw me last. I will be much safer that way. Please!"

"You heard the lady," he roared gruffly. "Take it easy. Just a forced landing. He backed toward the control room, ignoring the pleas of the hostess to return to his seat. When the door with the back panel had closed, he drew a gun. There were gasps of terror. A woman screamed and willed in her seat but to no avail a move to help her.

For a second Judith stood undecided. Then she found a large bunch of sage near the wheel tracks and crouched behind it. (To Be Continued)

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

THE big light rolled to a bumpy stop and the door to the control room opened. The co-pilot stepped out. His eyes darted over the people.

"Good work, Heavy," he said to the man with the gun. He strode down the aisle and disappeared through the door.

Judith's eyes were fastened on the foreman. He was the one she feared most, but so far he had made no move. He sat very straight in his seat, his eyes fixed on Tom. An electric excitement that she had never felt before enveloped Judith.

Heavy drew on her courage and said brightly, "This is very exciting. Heavy, the man behind the gun, grinned at her while the passengers turned and stared. When Tom Burke looked at her, there was a light of understanding in his glance.

"The co-pilot put his head in at the door. 'All right, Karl.'

"Keep smiling, son! Your father looks so serious because he's proud—and don't mind me—you know I cry when I'm happy!"

Judith drew on her courage and said brightly, "This is very exciting. Heavy, the man behind the gun, grinned at her while the passengers turned and stared. When Tom Burke looked at her, there was a light of understanding in his glance.

COURT MARTIAL SEEN FOR NAZIS

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP)—There were increasing indications today that the eight German saboteurs who were captured in New York and Chicago would be court-martialed.

Justice and war department officials continued consultations on the case for the second day but declined to discuss the possible type of prosecution that will be followed. They emphasized that there was no precedent.

Many in Discussion
Court martial was foredoomed, however, by the discussions, engaged in by Attorney General Francis Biddle, Secretary of War Henry Stimson, Maj.-Gen. Myron C. Cramer, judge advocate general, and other officials of each department. The only statement forthcoming was a brief one by Biddle who said last night that the two departments were "in substantial agreement upon the steps to be taken in the prosecution of the eight German saboteurs who were apprehended by the federal bureau of investigation shortly after landing on our coast from Nazi submarines." He said a further and more detailed announcement concerning this matter may be expected within the next 48 hours.

Complications in Case
There are several complicating factors in the case:
1. Whether all eight can be tried by a military court, inasmuch as two are American citizens—Ernest Peter Burger by naturalization, and Herbert Haupt by the naturalization of his father.

2. Whether Burger and Haupt can be "denaturalized" on the ground they transferred their allegiance to Germany, thus placing them in an enemy alien status and subject to court martial, rather than civil court trial.
Regardless of the type of trial Burger and Haupt they would face the penalty of death just as certainly as their fellows in the sabotage mission. If tried in a civil court, they probably would be charged with treason, which carries the supreme penalty of death.

Northside Traffic Drops 70 Per Cent

KEOTON, June 30—Traffic has dropped off 70 per cent in Blaine, Lincoln and Camper counties, State Patrolman L. W. Dufur, State highway engineer, said today. He indicated that there appeared to be much less use of rubber and gas in the area.
Road conditions in the area are good, although in the Warm Springs section, little work has been done during the past two weeks. Although the road work was done earlier this season but the road crew has been withdrawn and sent to the trail creek area, leaving the summit road in a torn up condition as the result of rock slides and winter run off.

COUNCILMEN BAN TRASH SPREADING

The days when anyone could hook an uncovered trailer to his car, fill it with junk, then drive down the streets with the junk dropping off all over in Twin Falls.

Last night, at suggestion of Commissioner Truman Greenhalgh, the council approved adoption of ordinance 100, which amends article five of the code of 1933 by adding a new section to the garbage law.

Under the new section "it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to remove and haul any garbage and rubbish from the city of Twin Falls, except in vehicles so constructed as to prevent leakage therefrom of garbage and so covered as to prevent escape therefrom of rubbish."

The ordinance will go into effect 10 days from now. It was adopted by the council under suspension of rules.
At conclusion of last night's session the council recessed until Thursday night in order that the payroll could be taken care of at that time and workers receive their checks before the July 4 holidays.

CHUNGKING, China, June 30 (AP)—Private advice reaching here today said that the Japanese ambassador to Moscow, Hirotake Sato, recently proposed a permanent Russo-Japanese neutrality pact when he called on Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, but that the offer was turned down.
These cables also said that Sato had attempted to glean some information from Molotov on the results of the latter's trip to Washington, being especially anxious to find out whether any arrangements had been made for United States bases in Siberia.
