Japanese Strike At New Town in North Australia

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Sunday, July 26 (AP)—Four bombers making the first Japanese thrust past Australia's northern boundaries last night attacked the Coral seaport of Townsville on the northeast coast...

"All bombs fell wide of their mark," the communique said. The Japanese planes swept in over Townsville, a hill city of 25,000 known as the "capital of the north," shortly after midnight...

Darwin on Australia's northern coast also was attacked, but there were no casualties reported and damage was described as light.

Meanwhile allied planes continued to attack Japanese positions and supply dumps in the Gona-Buna district of southeastern New Guinea...

Two Japanese fighters were shot down, the communique said, in the fighting over that area, and one allied plane also was shot down.

The allied reconnaissance unit flying over Rabaul, New Britain, shot down a Japanese Zero fighter and another two more when attacked by 15 fighters, the communique said.

Seek Sea Control The new Japanese landings at Buna and Gona were interpreted by trained observers with "firm-minded confidence" as an attempt to tempt to elch control of the sea...

But they don't expect the Japanese to try the mountain any time soon, the communique said. The number of men so far landed—probably about 2,500—was certainly not the face of such "offensive defense" as the U. S. bombers and fighters have been dealing out since their "troop" was first sighted in mid-week.

O'DANIEL TAKES LEAD IN VOTING

DALLAS, Tex., July 25 (AP)—Senator W. Lee O'Daniel and former Gov. James B. Allison were locked tonight in a desperate struggle for leadership in the Democratic primary election...

Alfred, who retained a federal judgeship, was held to be the victor in the contest. O'Daniel, look a rebel early lead in first returns gathered by the Texas Associated Press...

Majority is made to the nomination, which in Texas amounts to election. The vote in the Texas election bureau at 10 p. m. central war time, from 89 of 254 counties, gave O'Daniel 54,312; Alfred 45,445; Moffatt 23,774.

Hard Hitting Message on War Perils Will Be Given at Three Mass Meets

R. M. Logsdon, Boise, deputy state administrator of the war savings staff, will bring a hard-hitting patriotic message to three south central Idaho communities this week in an effort to awaken the people of this vicinity to the dangers with which we are confronted in the present world-wide war.

U. S. SUBMARINE TORPEDOES NEW JAP DESTROYER

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—American submarines recently sank a large new Japanese destroyer and four other ships in enemy-dominated waters of the western Pacific, the navy announced today, adding that a sixth vessel was damaged and probably sank.

The destroyer was hit by two torpedoes and went down in nine minutes. Shortly before it sank the submarine poked its conning tower above the ocean surface less than a quarter of a mile away and made the first combat picture ever taken in the U. S. navy from under the sea.

This photograph showed the destroyer heeled far over to port and down by the stern. The rising sun painted points on its forward turret for identification by air-planes was plainly visible and two men in white uniforms could be seen apparently in the act of scrambling off the ship.

Lieutenant Commander John Long, navy photographic chief, said that the picture through the periscope was made with a special apparatus which he described as "one of the largest U. S. submarines by the bureau of aeronautics which developed it."

The accounting of undersea operations in the western Pacific, first issued here since May 28, was given in navy department communique number 100 which listed the damage inflicted on the enemy: sank one modern destroyer, one medium sized tanker, three cargo ships.

Damaged and believed sunk—one medium sized cargo ship. While no information had been released on casualties in the western Pacific for almost two months, the activities of American submarines in the Pacific have been reported in the past.

The score of successful submarine attacks on Japanese ships as reported by the navy here now stands at 55 sunk, 15 probably sunk and damaged—a total of 84 vessels.

New York Editor Enlists in Army

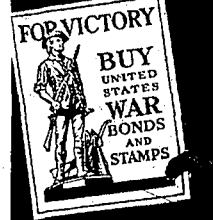

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Ralph Ingersoll, 41-year-old editor of the newspaper PM, who voluntarily enlisted in the army yesterday while still in the city, was today inducted into the service.

Major C. A. Pittenger, district recruiting and induction officer of the army, announced today that the World's Editor had successfully completed his tests for entry into the service.

Survivors, all uninjured, crowded into the hospital ward where they were being treated by an American naval unit. The sinking of the United States cargo carrier, particularly was given official Associated Press count on allied and neutral ship losses in the western Atlantic since Dec. 7.

Vessel Torpedoed; All Aboard Saved

By the Associated Press (Saturday) the torpedoing of an American merchant ship was reported today, although its crew and passengers were rescued. The ship was torpedoed by a submarine in the Atlantic coast, all 123 persons aboard were rescued and all were uninjured.

RECORD SALE OF HOGS PREDICTED

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Emphasizing that current shortages of meat in some parts of the country were temporary only, the agriculture department predicted today that a record supply of hogs would be sold and slaughtered during the marketing year beginning Oct. 1.

It said total hog slaughter in the 12 months from October, 1942, through September 1943, may be between 9,000,000 and 9,000,000 head.

Larger marketings of beef cattle were forecast also but a slightly smaller lamb crop was predicted.

The department said these supplies of livestock would provide a record quantity of meat, but because of heavy demands for leather and military requirements, supplies for civilians would not be plentiful.

Short supplies at the present time were said to reflect on abnormally high demand, particularly for leather and military needs, at the season of the year when marketings are normally small.

FLASHES of LIFE

THIRTIETH LESSON MCGREGOR, Ia., July 25—Farmer Charles Heiden has always taken good care of his automobile tires—super care.

When Mrs. L. P. Pearce got a letter from her son, a west coast marine, telling of his plan to phone home, she got busy.

The call came through on schedule and young Pearce found himself talking to his mother at home, his father at the office, his brother at the telephone exchange and a sister, Mrs. Martin Johns, at Statesville, N. C.

Mrs. Pearce footed the bill for the hookup—$16.40 plus tax.

Defenders Admit German Machine Making Advance

By RICHARD MEMURRAY Associated Press War Editor

A German drive into the outskirts of Rostov was reported by the Russians early today (Sunday) as the mighty military machine of Adolf Hitler threw reserves into the heavy fight for that Russian city and pressed against the Russians defending Stalingrad and the Caucasus.

The Soviet midnight communique officially acknowledged that the battle for Rostov had raged into the outskirts of the city but the Russians said they were fighting fiercely for that vital center.

Indicating no change in the other critical areas, the Russians this morning said their men were pushing the Germans back at Voronezh, the northern end of the 300-mile front, and at Tsimlyansk and Novocherkassk, in the Don battle.

Dispatches indicated this disposition of the fighting force. Rostov's fortifications were breached in sectors. A tentative German bridgehead was established on the lower Don near Tsimlyansk, 150 miles upstream from Rostov. The Germans reached the Don area conceivably could be within 45 miles of Stalingrad. The Reds still were attacking and gaining at Voronezh.

The Russian position was of such peril that the army's top-notch Red Star went back to the words of Lenin, to "fight to the tired and battered Russian people."

"Fight to the last drop of blood, comrades! We will not give an inch of land. Be firm until the end." On the Egyptian front, U. S. bombers were disclosed to have blasted damaged Axis ports and shipping at Tobruk, Benghazi and Suda Bay.

Crete in seven raids. The Allies added the destruction of more than 20 ground axis planes. On the Italian front, the British added to their list of artillery airplanes and bombing in the Mediterranean.

The balance of power was so delicate that London sources said that an allied ship train might be approaching was indicated by the Italian claim to have sunk a loaded troop transport in the eastern Mediterranean.

Across the world, allied fliers attacked ceaselessly the latest fruit of Japanese conquest—New Guinea, New Guinea at Buna and Gona. Experts were inclined to the view that the land on the island above Australia was a Japanese attempt to elch control of the sea to the Solomon Islands.

Another threat to the northernmost allied base of Port Moresby.

U. S. CRAFT BOMB AXIS LIFE-LINES

Remembering the amazing Japanese campaign down Malaya into Singapore, however, they did not rule out the possibility that the foe might attempt to break through the jungle-clad mountains to attack the base, 110 miles away.

The U. S. navy kept snibbling at Japanese naval strength and shipping, sinking a modern destroyer, a tanker and a cargo ship, and another freighter was damaged and believed sunk.

The Japanese navy was uppermost in the mind of Britain, where the communists swelled the demand for a more complete effort in the pressure campaign which will swell today (Sunday) into a huge battle for the Pacific.

Edward Beneš, president of Czechoslovakia and better informed than most of the world's leaders, said he thought the Russians would survive and that Hitler, lacking a decisive victory, would be rejected.

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The possibility that three-quarters of the science of sabotage may be at large in the United States led the federal bureau of investigation today to broadcast a general request today for officers and the public to be on the lookout for them.

The FBI began distribution of hundreds of thousands of "wanted" notices bearing names, addresses and descriptions of the men, two of whom lived in this country for years.

F. Ernest Hoover, FBI director did not say the men were in this country. They merely announced that all persons who receive these notices should be on the lookout for them.

They merely announced that all persons who receive these notices should be on the lookout for them.

The FBI believed the men are not here, but the law is not absolute. It is certain, the warning was broadcast, and the job started of thinking of the nation with the pictures and descriptions.

The latest information showed them all to be in Europe, it was learned. One of them was at the German submarine base at Lorien, the FBI said, at the time the eight alleged Nazi saboteurs now on trial for their lives before military commission left aboard two submarines which landed them on Long Island and Florida coasts.

The men named by Hoover were: Walter Koenig, alias Walter Kappel, 31, a lieutenant in the German army.

With the third weekly tabulation showing combined sales of $207,223,3 through July 26, it became apparent to all county executive chairmen in the valley that concentrated effort on the part of everyone will be necessary to reach the $400,000 bomber quota by the end of this month.

"Because of the enviable record Magic Valley has held in Idaho in the purchase of war bonds and stamps, no one in these eight counties would like to see us fall at this time," said the county executive chairmen.

"It still is entirely possible for Magic Valley to reach its July quota, but to do so everyone must do his part," he added. "For the smaller towns it will mean buying a few war bonds or stamps."

They were convinced that President Roosevelt would not compromise on delivery of additional war supplies to Japan.

In the month that I reported developments in the war leading up to the war and during six months of internment following Pearl Harbor, the picture shaped up as follows:

Japan's military leaders made full preparations for this last September, before Saburo Kurusu was sent to Washington, to mobilization was ordered, and after freezing the Japanese army at full strength, the war lords established a six month's deadline in which an agreement would be reached with Washington or war would result.

The army leaders figured that was the longest period they could wait for assurances that they would receive supplies from America for the Japanese war machine.

Then they decided that Mr. Roosevelt would not compromise even the army leaders advanced the war schedule for the sake of surprise, partly because newspaper correspondents were predicting that the deadline would come in six months.

There still are many facts about the Japanese situation that cannot be disclosed.

Raiders of Tokyo Receive Awards

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Three army air corps officers who participated in a bombing raid on Tokyo April 18 were awarded the military order of China today by Major General Chu Shin-ning, military attaché at the Chinese embassy in Washington.

They were: Captain H. W. Watson, West Hartford, Conn.; Captain T. W. Lawson, Los Angeles, and First Lieut. Charles McCleure, University City, Mo.

U.S. SUBSIDIER HONG KONG JAPS

By RICHARD C. WILSON
Former United Press Manager at Manila

LOURENCO MARQUES, PORTUGUESE EAST AFRICA, July 25 (AP)—The Japanese forced increasing difficulties in operations around Hong Kong this spring, partly because of United States submarine attacks on enemy convoys.

These difficulties have been reflected in reduction of enemy transportation of the port sealed at Hong Kong, where a great amount of food and material, including even the flooring of imposing buildings, was being away.

All business in Hong Kong was stagnated before J was removed from that island for each week. The main concern of the population is the daily struggle to obtain food supplies.

The Japanese authorities have said that they desire to reduce Hong Kong's 1,200,000 war population to 500,000 and great numbers have gone to inland China.

During the battle of Hong Kong the herds of the 2100 Canadian troops who arrived 10 days before war began was outstanding. They were not familiar with the terrain but they fought magnificently against impossible odds.

Thereafter, constant aerial bombardment and heavy artillery fire that made the 16-mile square island reachable. Some 100,000 persons lived all day in air raid shelters.

I was lined up with 88 others, including women and children, when the Japanese took Hepulse bay hotel. We were searched and robbed of watches and other valuables by the soldiers and then marched to the commanding officer who kept us lined up with hands in the air while he lectured us.

Later he ordered us back to the hotel and the next morning we were marched nine miles over the jills to the city, with women and children as well as men burdened with their own baggage. We had no food or water during the entire day of marching.

Hear Valley of the whole day. Once we saw nine Indian soldiers and five British soldiers captured. Later we heard a volley of shots, indicating what had happened to them.

We were taken across the bay to Kowloon where we were interned from five to 14 persons in each room of the antiquated Kowloon hotel. Our daily food ration was two small bowls of rice, augmented by food purchased from the hotel boys who bootlegged goods by carrying them under their robes.

In mid-January, a small quantity of soybean milk was introduced for the children. We walked the corridors for exercise but were not permitted outside. We were warned we would be shot if we were caught attempting to look out the windows, which were covered with paper.

Too Hot? You Might Imitate the Kids

Bothered by the heat? Well, as a matter of suggestion, you might imitate the "kids" shown in the three photos above. If you can't get away from home, just rig up the hose and sprayer and slick your face in the spray, as Nancy Latham, 8, and Darlene Pfeiffer, 9, are doing in the top picture. If you've more or less lay just like to lie around (in the water, of course) then hike out to the municipal pool and enjoy the classes. In the middle picture, the boys are having fun in the water, while the girls are doing their best to keep their heads above water. And then, it suits better you, maybe you'd want to follow the example set by the two youngsters in the picture at lower left, who were snapped in Rock creek but who made a "kelpier" request that their names not be used. # The Swim's the Thing These Hot Days if You'd Cool off

By O. A. KELKER

Water is where you find it—and in this hot weather where you find it doesn't make a bit of difference as long as you are there and get into it.

With the mercury kicking the 100-degree level around quite steadily nowadays, a cool dip in the water is the thing to do. The municipal pool or just out in the front yard with the hose sprayer working full force is right in style.

Swim's the Thing

All up and down Rock creek or out to the lowline canal the swim's the thing. But while scores of "cool-offers" are noted along the banks and in the water in those two areas, hundreds are counted out at the Municipal swimming pool. Plans daily—except Monday, of course, when they drain all the water to clean it.

So far as the cooling effect is concerned—you don't have to go far to get it. If you have a hose—or have access to one—your problem is solved. Simply turn the faucet and step under the outdoor pump that moment on your little hose was dis-appears.

Hot weather? You said it, and fellows who operate the city filter plant, out south of town know it to be a fact. It's cool, of course, inside the filter building so you don't realize it so much that way. But when they check up on the drain at the storage reservoir, and find that from 2,000,000 to 4,000,000 gallons of water are going out daily, then they know that domestic water users are hot and are doing something about it.

As the accompanying photos show, this matter of keeping cool on these hot days isn't a question of where you go, but what you do about it when you get there.

Assistance Asked In Record Drive

WENDELL, July 25—Importance of the cooperation of every citizen in the Wendell and Hagerman areas in the broken photograph record collection campaign was stressed by Fred Cuhnhagen, Hagerman, commander of Hagerman Legion post today. # Farmer Doesn't Get Fair Break, Detweiler Finds

HAZLETON, July 25—William H. (Bill) Detweiler was back on his farm near here today after a campaign through the southern and northern Idaho in the interest of his candidacy for governor in the election primary on Aug. 11.

After spending several days here, Detweiler will campaign through southeastern Idaho.

"My trip so far," he said, "indicates to me the farmers are not being treated fairly with reference to wages. Defense projects pay such enormous wages that the farmer just cannot get help."

One man offered me three-fourths of his 450 acres of good alfalfa if I would cut it and stack it. He couldn't get the men to do it.

There are hundreds of acres of hay that will remain uncut because help will not be available to do this work."

Detweiler, discussing his proposed trip through southeastern Idaho, said:

"When I finish that trip, I will have visited every county in the state."

Detweiler is opposed for the nomination by former Gov. C. A. Bolloffen, Arco, and Thomas D. McDougall, Boise.

BOARD TO SPEED NEW CLASSIFYING

Selective service board No. 1 will begin the immediate classification of 18-19-20-year-olds, and will hurry the completion of classifying registrars in the draft (25-60-year-olds) as the result of an announcement today by Brig. Gen. M. C. McConnell, state selective service director in Boise.

Brig. Gen. McConnell called upon all boards in the state to hurry the classifications in the draft in order to exhaust the supply of eligible men before drafting started.

McConnell said that Idaho's September draft quota, just received, was at least 400 men greater than any previous call. However, the local board has not received its quota for September.

About 40 per cent of the total number drafted in September will be 18-19 men, registrants not qualified physically for army combat duty but who may be able to do office work.

The local board office said it had just about filled its quota of 81 men for August and would start making plans for the September call.

The state No. 1 board is only partly through its classification of the registrants in the third draft. There are 80 registrants in the first draft, but only the 20-year-olds can be taken under the law.

Packer Warns Smaller Firms Facing Ouster

L. F. Fluk, president, and C. W. Pullman, secretary-treasurer of the Idaho-Packing company, Twin Falls, warn among the packing house representatives who met with J. M. Thurston, Denver, regarding food price control of the U. S. office of price administration, in Boise yesterday.

"If present conditions continue we will be forced out of business," Fluk declared before leaving for Denver. He said that his company had curtailed killings of hogs and cattle from 25 to 50 per cent.

SENATE EXPECTED TO REJECT INCREASE ON INCOME TAXES

TREASURY PLAN MAY BE IGNORED

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Chairman George D. Lea, predicted that the senate will ignore the treasury proposal to increase individual and corporate income taxes. The house-approved $421,000,000 revenue bill, but would explore possible fields of taxation.

George told reporters that he believed a majority of the committee would like to increase the treasury's goal of an $470,000,000 net increase in taxes. He felt certain that members would be willing to go that high only if they could agree on some form of levy not now in the pending bill.

"I am of the opinion," he said, "that the committee will not carry definite goal but will be disposed to raise additional revenue above that provided by the house bill if sources are found other than those heretofore suggested by the treasury."

The committee chairman said such viewpoint obviously would bring about a discussion of a sales tax or the possible conversion of a house-approved payroll deduction into a direct tax instead of merely an advance payment on regular income tax liabilities.

Remembering that both of these methods must be chosen as entirely controversial, he said he was not at all sure the committee would agree on any form of new tax.

Hills Low Bracket

Senators Tamm, R. O. and Clark, D. Mo., complained that the five per cent payroll reduction—applicable to all income above certain basic exemptions—would in effect require tax payments of 24 per cent of net income in 1943 by low-income individuals.

(The five per cent deduction, beginning next Jan. 1, would apply against taxes falling due March 15, 1944. At the same time they were subject to it, individuals would be paying taxes on 1943 income at the rate of 10 per cent in the lowest brackets subject to normal and surtaxes.)

WILL BEQUEATHS ESTATE IN POEM

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—With charming for the language of legal cast, Mrs. E. H. Barnes wrote her will in rhyming phrases.

The will, written by the late Mrs. Cecelia M. Barnes, 52, was admitted for probate yesterday. Leaving her $100,000 estate to a niece, Judy E. Courney, Miami, Fla., she said: "I'm not getting old, at least so I'm told."

"But I have thought out and do suit."

"That while in my prime, I should to form and make out my last will."

"So therefore, here goes, for nobody knows."

"Just how or when one may go, 'Tis God's business, light to death's somber night."

"I want to be ready and so 'Let this make it clear that Judy E. Courney."

"My niece, shall come by all things 'That I may possess, be it more, be it less."

"When I'll be time for me to fold its wings."

"Soe exercize ahe, without bond, without fee."

"I wish to die that very cheer, 'She'll do what is best, then my soul shall rest."

"In peace."

Mrs. Barnes died June 18. Eight days before her death she added a clause to the will, providing for the care of her estranged husband, William F. Barnes, Jr., to have maintenance and support as a pension or token, having done nothing for me in all the years of our marriage—and less since."

As Camera Glimpsed Colorful Hagerman Pioneer Celebration

It was a real "grunt and groan" affair down at Hagerman Friday when the dust had cleared—shortly after the above picture was taken—the men on the right, representing Jeromes in a tug-of-war

Sign of the times were much in evidence as shown in the picture above snapped at Hagerman during the annual Pioneer day parade. ## 8,000 Jam Hagerman's Fete; Clark Calls for Christianity

HAGERMAN, July 25—Gov. Chase A. Clark told hundreds of people jammed into the Magic Valley hall Friday to witness a part of the annual Pioneer day program that "America is not a free fall."

The governor was speaker of the day at the annual L.D.S. celebration, which this year attracted a crowd estimated to be between 7,000 and 8,000. He gave one address in the morning and then spoke briefly during the afternoon program.

The morning program at the hall opened with Bishop Pugh, introduced Gov. Clark, followed by Mayor Orlens Ferry, pronouncing the invocation, Bishop Emerson Pugh presided.

The program, in addition to the governor's address, included a vocal solo by Mrs. Harry Lefkovic, a reading by Helen Stevens, a violin duet by Billy and Merle Cunningham and a vocal solo by Arthur Brunell. Benediction was asked by Bishop George Jenkins, Gooding.

The governor pointed out the dire need for Christianity in the world today and declared that without Christianity the cause of the United Nations would be lost.

He also praised the work of the early Mormon pioneers for their part in "settling this great western country which today has grown to be a land of their foresight, until it means home to hundreds of thousands of people."

Following the program at the hall, downtown parade, formed one of the most colorful ever staged in the history of the Magic Valley. The parade was staged under the direction of Jay Furner, Gooding, and Governor Clark, together with a military escort and color bearers headed by the line of march.

BRITAIN'S REDS DEMAND ACTION

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—The small but highly vocal communist party of Great Britain drummed up instance for a second front tonight with a noisy campaign of leaflets and placards. The party, led by Communist Party leader, Earl Dimes of Czechoslovakia, pressed Hiller would see peace by Oct. 15 if he had not won a decisive victory by then.

The communists prepared for a great demonstration tomorrow in Trafalgar square and Dimes added his potent voice to the uproar for a second front to relieve the hard-pressed Russians.

Dimes, one of the best informed demonstrators in exile, said Germany would be exhausted by spring if the Russians held out and, he added, "I think they will."

The length of the war, he told Czech soldiers, would depend on how soon the British and U. S. troops massed in these islands spring across the channel at the German.

The efforts of the 35,000 British communists were thrown into their drive to "open the second front from the sea" by the mass meetings and distribution of hundreds of thousands of leaflets and posters.

The campaign includes sending deputations to homes of members of parliament demanding that they fight in commons for a second front, a postcard campaign addressed to Prime Minister Churchill, factory meetings of workers, a nationwide chaining up of slogans, and a wide distribution of pamphlets.

What Kind of World for Him?

Since time began, men have fought unceasingly for one objective—that their sons and daughters should inherit a better life.

Today, on two fronts, that battle is being waged with valor unsurpassed in the history of the world.

First is the fighting front—the battle lines which now encircle the globe. On and over the land, on and under the oceans, the legions of liberty are fighting for those standards which are becoming known, the world over, as the AMERICAN way of life.

Second is the home front—the battle lines which free men and women have drawn up in order to defend, within the limitations imposed by the needs of the armed services, the hard-won advantages which their children enjoy now. This struggle, too, is becoming increasingly difficult, for it must be waged always with the thought in mind that the FIRST front comes FIRST.

For fighters on both fronts, the home furnishing industry is doing its best. We are proud that in addition to filling all government contracts, our industry is still able to help Americans "Keep Up the Homes We're Fighting For."

Utah and Idaho Pioneers Paid Tribute at L.D.S. Picnic Attended by 650 Celebrities

Ancestors' Dances Revived

The Virginia reel replaced swing dancing at the Pioneer day picnic Friday night, several of the women participants wearing old-time costumes. The two in the foreground with backs turned to the camera are Mrs. Nettie Montgomery and E. E. Alford. Mrs. E. B. Freeman and E. B. Freeman hold high their hands while Mrs. Leslie Hyde and E. M. Guest, first couple, and Mrs. H. H. Stokes and H. H. Stokes dance through the Utah-Davidson, left rear, and A. T. Ward, not shown in the picture, were other Virginia reel dancers. (Staff Photo-Engraving)

Pioneers of the Great Salt Lake valley in Utah, and the early settlers of the Snake river valley of Idaho, were paid tribute at the Pioneer day picnic Friday night at Harmon park, attended by 650 guests.

Bishop J. E. Alford spoke appreciatively of the Latter Day Saints' trek across the uncharted plains to Utah, and of their undaunted faith as they pushed on to reach the now-famous valley.

The settling of the Twin Falls tract, and its transformation from agricultural productivity, as dreamed about and planned by such men as I. D. Perham and John W. Roper, was recounted by S. T. Hamilton, one of the first pioneer attorneys to locate in Twin Falls vicinity.

Arranged by the M.L.A. presidency of the Twin Falls first and second wards, the outing had as the attractions of an old-time picnic, including races, contests, speaking and music and the Virginia reel, danced by several couples of the women in pioneer costumes.

E. B. Freeman won the dancing contest and Mrs. Vera Holland the smiling contest. Children who won the most racing and other events, were:

Ronald Carter, first; Zoe Garret, second; Donna Alves, third; James Crandall, fourth; John Cameron, fifth; Jay Grant Freeman, sixth, and Mrs. A. T. Ward, seventh.

The picnic supper was served buffet style at 8 p. m. and was followed by a program of contests and stunts. There were many novelties as to the outcome of the picnic.

The first school building was erected by "passing the hat" to obtain the money. The building was deemed too large but was soon found to be too small to accommodate the number of children.

Following community singing, several pioneer guests were introduced, including Mrs. A. T. Ward, Mrs. W. Ward and Mr. Allen, early settlers of the Twin Falls tract.

Mr. Christensen led the community singing. The choir was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Carter and daughter, Nola Jean. J. W. Richins pronounced the benediction.

Under-Ten Set Keeping Young Look by Braiding

By JEAN DINKELACKER. It was just too, too much getting photographs. The girls were, six little Blue Birds all grouped together to witness the Camp Fire Girls' grand council fire ceremony last evening of a "Happy Summer."

The girls say of their hair styles, "It's easier to wear braids than curls when you go swimming every day. Cooler, too."

Easier for whom—not the mothers. Most of the girls can't braid their own hair, a story of "youngest set beauty secrets" has revealed.

The "aimed back" look. It's our hunch that these ever-so-young women have another reason. They know the braids are downright cute—and young-looking! And you know women—they never want to look their age at any age.

Nelson Shoots Birdie, Eagle, Hole-in-One on Successive Holes

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—The Tam O'Shanter 15 (6000)—one golf extravaganza became a one-man show today as Byron Nelson shot one of the most spectacular rounds of his fabulous career.

On two successive holes, the Toledo top-notch player went five under par with an amazing birdie, eagle and hole-in-one. Needless to say, Lord Byron, defending champion of the money-crazed TAM Open, was so far ahead of the field that his companions were saying, 'School's out.'

After eating his way through three golf of ice cream and clearing his head, Nelson said he just can't get keyed up over this tournament. Nelson went out on the gallery—by course and posted a sensational 34-31-65, to equal the course record and draw up at the 34-hole mark with a 203. This 11-under-par figure was five strokes better than Clayton's Heaters' 203. The new low from 1929 was 204, set in with a 60 today for the second position.

Others In Race Nelson and Heafner were followed at 211 by Lawson, Little, Montrey, Dick, Metz, Chicago and Chick Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich. Dutch Harrison of Harrisburg, Pa., and Alan Cummings of Madison, Wis., were next with 213.

National Amateur Champion Clark Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., was the champion of the overwhelming Wilford Weir's "Eagle, Wis." 7 and 6. Ward held a 2-1 lead over the field in the 18-hole playoff when he matched one of the best—all-Americans this circuit offered.

Ward was four up on his Wisconsin rival after 18 holes and boosted his 90-84 to 174. The match ended on the 30th after they had halved the last three holes.

Record Entry List in Magic Valley Tourney

When qualifying in the Magic Valley golf tournament is completed tonight all records for number of players will have been broken.

That was the opinion of Fred Stone, course starter, who men had already posted 40 scores and that at least 50—and possibly as high as 60—will be ready to compete when the deadline closes.

That means at least from 100 to 150 men will be gunning for championships. Prizes will be $5 in war stamps for first and $3 in war stamps for second place in each flight.

When play starts this morning, the remaining qualifiers will be shooting at the 75 mark posted by Mel Cozziff. The local man holds a narrow margin in the medalist.

SERIAL STORY
MURDER IN FERRY COMMAND
 BY A. W. O'BRIEN

Copyright, 1942, NEA Service, Inc.

TRAGIC NEWS
CHAPTER XIII
 THE three days after Carole Fiske's escape to St. John's were the longest Clive Dawson had ever known. A billboard was falling in over northeastern Newfoundland and it was already "ceiling zero" at the airport where he must land.

Shortly after 3:30 in the morning of the fourth day, the telephone awakened Dawson. An Eastern Air Command officer informed him crisply that the weather was clearing and a plane was ready to take off.

By noon Dawson was interviewing the veteran captain in command of the St. John's port. The officer's face was grim.

"The Fort Glangery was torpedoed off Cape Race, Newfoundland, two nights ago."

Dawson grasped the arms of his chair, his knuckles showing white.

"Are there any survivors reported?" His voice sounded strange to his own ears.

"Yes, but not many. There was only one woman, in fact—a major's wife en route to join her husband."

A numbing sensation of tragedy enveloped Dawson as he rose, with a mumbled word of thanks, and left the office.

If only he had revealed his identity sooner, Carole Fiske would not have continued to Newfoundland and her public search for Darwin Lemoy and her brother. It was useless for Dawson to argue that Carole's actions had left him no other choice than to regard her as an enemy agent. Somehow he should have guessed the linking of the facts before Paul Dexel, in his confession, had disclosed that Bernard Skroler really was Fiske's brother and the Dexels were her half-brothers.

However, the invasion of Poland and the temporary halation of Germany and Russia had a shattering effect on Darwin's beliefs. This became more noticeable as the war drifted steadily toward the brink of war. His change of heart became known to the Dexels and many stormy scenes developed which Darwin asserted their first duty was to America.

When the lend-lease program let bombers flowing in increasing number to Britain, a secret Nazi sabotage system was devised to secure all possible data on plans and weather through a chain of reporting posts. Darwin was in on the preliminary planning, but later rebelled.

Carole Fiske had appealed to Darwin to save her brother from being drawn deeper into the spy ring. The Dexels knew this, Paul revealed, and shadowed her to an airport where she was seen bidding farewell to Darwin.

They then lost track of him until a coded cable from Pvt. Bernard Fiske, alias Skroler, told Darwin was in St. John's and had already been talking to him along the lines definitely opposed to their "work."

Paul Dexel had rushed to St. John's and arrived the day after the murders. Darwin had found Fiske was cultivating the friendship of a Ferry Command official in an important post. When approached by Darwin, Fiske boldly admitted he was after some technical data that the official had along with him. Obviously Lemoy was shadowing them without seeing Dexel on the same mission.

In his confession, Dexel stated that Darwin could not have been more than halfway up the stairs when she sounded from a second one-floor room. A moment later he saw two figures—whom he identified as Darwin and Fiske—struggling against the drawn shade. Another shot was heard and Fiske dropped.

The rest Dawson knew already. Darwin had run from the speakeasy into the arms of a constable. On him was found the gun that had killed the two, and the official's wrist. In face of other disclosures it was evident to Dawson that Darwin had indeed returned the plans to the Ferry Command, and that Dexel had given Fiske to clear Carole's brother of a murder-suicide stigma.

In view of all this there was only one course for Darwin Lemoy to follow on being captured—absolute silence. Otherwise the whole story would come out, including his own association with the ring.

Back in Chicago, consternation had followed the discovery that the highly secret filing cabinet had been tampered with, a fingerprint was found, and it was decided to investigate the spy ring personnel to find its owner.

Dexel was ordered to secure a set of Lemoy's prints, but his only opportunity came after the hunting, when the body went to the vault. He had to work fast, and he found it impossible to unband the fingers and work in the cramped, ghostly quarters. So he hacked off the hand. But, as Dawson had deduced, Dexel had been forced to hurry off when the investigator left St. John's suddenly.

Back in Chicago, John Dexel hadn't dared tell Carole Fiske about her brother and Darwin Lemoy. If she had known that Bernard was dead and Darwin was in prison awaiting execution, she might have confessed everything in the hope of getting Darwin out with a jail sentence. So, to explain Darwin's silence, John had faked a story that Darwin had killed Paul Dexel in an argument over the spy ring and was hiding from the police.

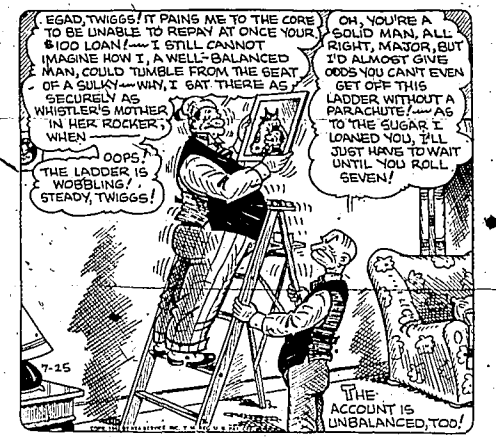

There it was—a superb case, thoroughly ironed out, Dawson had started with a snapshot of a girl and a piece of headstake on a hanged man's head, and uncovered a major spy ring. But there was no satisfaction now.
