Brazilians Hold Nazi Nationals For Ship Sinking

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 20 (AP)—All Germans except diplomats who had embarked on the exchange ships Bage and Cuyabá were ordered to hold as hostages today by President Getúlio Vargas shortly after the sinking of the sixth Brazilian ship in recent days was announced.

The ships already were filled with German nationals, ready to sail for Lisbon in exchange for Brazilian nationals. The voyages were postponed earlier in the week when a crisis arose over the sinking of five Brazilian ships by axis submarines, claiming the lives of perhaps 600 persons including Brazilians.

The sixth U-boat victim, announced today, the coastal steamer Jacy, was sent to the bottom a few miles off the northeast coast after all aboard were ordered off in lifeboats.

Spies Blamed One high official of the government navigation line declared today that the sinkings, which brought the axis to undertake operations with the axis, were the result of "brazen operation of spies who inform on planned troop movements."

While Brazilian authorities indicated this nation's intention of holding all Axis prisoners and releasing them on an outright declaration of war, a general roundup of Axis suspects was ordered in a social atmosphere.

Among those held was Wilhelm Koenig, head of the German tourist bureau in Brazil and regarded as one of the most important Axis operators in Brazil.

The naval ministry announced that all lightships, fishing boats and other navigation aids on about 200 miles of Brazil's coast were subject to blackout or changes without notice. The areas affected extend from the mouth of the Amazon to Victoria, north of Rio de Janeiro.

The plan was passed by Elock had offered the farmers the use of the machinery it had set up to recruit Japanese labor.

Wounded and Shell-Shocked Get Hospital Aid After Attack

By LEO R. DASHLEY IN A FIELD DRESSING STATION ON THE ENGLISH SOUTH COAST, Aug. 20 (AP)—The ambulances clung through the dead-end streets of this town in the air raid danger zone last night with the wounded of the town who raised Dieppe.

Stretcher bearers carried them through 20 feet of a dark corridor into the brightly lit dressing room. It was a man's show, there were no women nurses.

Preliminary treatment was administered to the Rangers, the Canadians, the commandos and the Fighting French and they were taken back to ambulances and on to base hospitals.

Soon the walking cases began arriving, their uniforms bloody, in tatters, ugly gashes rending their curly faces, arms and legs. Some still gripped rifles and Tommy guns. Some, while looking, were suffering from shock. Some hobbled, supported on crutches and crutches.

They finally inched him to get on a table, but he clung to his stretcher. The surgeons moved quietly and expertly among them, administering a hypodermic injection of morphine here, giving sulfanilamide there, bandaging a wounded face, arm or leg.

Allied Losses in Attack High; Axis Prisoners Taken

LONDON, Aug. 20 (AP)—German prisoners, some wounded, arrived at a south coast port today, living symbols of the complete success of the allied raid in force on the French coast which brought the second front in Europe portentously home.

Throughout the night United States rangers, Canadian shock troops, British commandos and Fighting French volunteers streamed back across the English channel and on through cheering English country towns and villages to their bases.

The last of the allied troops, most of them seriously wounded, arrived in mid-morning under an umbrella of Spitfire and Hurricane planes which attacked a broad path across the English coast which had been subjected to a heavy attack to Dieppe above warships and transports.

Among the prisoners who arrived today were 1,500 German prisoners. A United Press correspondent said that a group of prisoners in drab army-green uniforms and thin face-boots, their knees shaking in fear that they were about to be executed summarily.

British surgeons treated a German non-commissioned officer who had suffered a bad head wound. One prisoner, a Foot Soldier, was captured in a dugout or billet. He was taken to the hospital. The other foot was bare.

BARUCH PONDERS LEGAL ACTION TO CONSERVE TIRES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—The three-man investigation of the nation's rubber situation was reported today to have been inquiring into legal action covering possible drastic steps to conserve tires.

Bernard Baruch, chairman of the committee today by President Roosevelt two weeks ago, conferred Tuesday with Attorney General Clegg, who is in charge of the war-time Assistant Solicitor General Oscar Cox. Cox is not only an outstanding lawyer, but probably knows a good deal about the United Nations' rubber situation, the director of the war with the lend-lease administration.

Among the basic questions which come before the committee were discussed by the special committee and the justice department officials today.

How far the President could go in using his war powers as chief executive and how far he could rely on his authority as commander-in-chief.

The possible need for new legislation, or executive orders.

These questions were believed to have arisen in connection with the general proposals such as national rationing of tires and the rationing of tires, limitations on use of automobiles, the rationing of tires, limitations on use of automobiles, the rationing of tires, limitations on use of automobiles.

GERMANS FORCE RED WITHDRAWAL

MOSCOW, Aug. 20 (AP)—The Russians announced today that they had been forced farther south of fallen Krnanador by masses of German tanks and infantry penetrating dangerously close to Novorossk, the last remaining Soviet naval base on the Black sea.

The Soviet radio, communique indicated, however, that Russian forces were "holding" on all other fronts and reported the destruction of 32 German tanks and the killing of 8,600 more Germans, in addition to many enemy captives.

South of Krnanador, the enemy massed his strength on the most important sectors of a range of hills and started a ferocious attack. The Russians withstood it for 24 hours, but finally had to retreat into the valley beyond, where the fight still raged as the Germans tried to penetrate to the north coast.

On neighboring sectors, the Russian had beaten off two attacks and still held strategic heights. The noon communique reported that the German attack had failed and that the number of counter-attacks around Kizlyarsk, which is 75 miles north-west of Simferopol, was increased.

They finally inched him to get on a table, but he clung to his stretcher. The surgeons moved quietly and expertly among them, administering a hypodermic injection of morphine here, giving sulfanilamide there, bandaging a wounded face, arm or leg.

INDUSTRY HAS MET THE TEST

We are beginning to reap the sour fruit of our long refusal to recognize the obvious. Even after we actually were in the war as allies of Great Britain, Russia and China, we insisted publicly and privately that we were not entering the war.

This nation's industry has done an unbelievable fast and efficient job of converting from pianos to planes, from baby carriages to ships, from automobile to tanks, from corn to shells.

In all probability industry will prove itself capable of making, before the calendar year ends, the stupendous aggregate of several billion dollars worth of armaments and munitions of other war material each month.

We won't accomplish that because there isn't enough of several vital raw materials, of which steel and copper are best publicized and perhaps most important.

We are short of steel and copper, rubber and tin, at least partly because we insisted on kidding ourselves, for so long, that we could keep out of this war and serve merely as a non-belligerent granary and factory for our anti-axis friends.

When Pearl Harbor tossed us overnight into belligerency, we had no idea what sort of war we were going to fight, or where, or what we should need for the purpose.

We wasted valuable time seeking to make analyses that could have been made well in advance. We guessed what we should need in the way of raw materials, and too often guessed wrong.

Now, facing the crisis, we have a productive plan of incredible versatility and potentiality, increasingly idle for lack of raw materials.

This war has produced many failures, excusable and otherwise. They do not include the institution of free enterprise. Our "socialist" "national" "money-grubbing" capitalist industry has met every test.

FIRST GENERATION AMERICAN

Elsie Papajohn probably never has seen her name in the newspapers before. She isn't rich or social register. She isn't especially beautiful or, so far as the record indicates, remarkably intelligent.

Elsie is just a first generation American. Her father, an artist, came here from Greece 45 years ago. Her brother Walter is an army private attending the school.

Her mother is a Greek. She firmly believes they still are fighting Hitler, though she hasn't heard from them in a year.

Why mention Elsie now? Well, by designation of the President, at her request, she is interested in note how broad a field Mr. Lewis conceives gas, coke and chemicals to cover.

Under its charter the district is attempting to organize public utilities, matches, paints and varnishes, dairy farms, alkalis, explosives, activated aluminum, lime-stone, cosmetic, perfumes and sea fowl droppings.

In the midst of all the silence he can command, Mr. Lewis is busy organizing those fields and perhaps others. When next his voice booms out, there is some who think he is making a big thing of a third national union set-up—as if the C. I. O. A. F. of L. warfare were not enough.

Henry Ford says women will resume their place in the home after the war. And, with the machine gun experience, they'll be able to fix that leaky faucet themselves.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

CLAMOR—The smoldering quarrel between old-line aviation corporations and alleged "interlopers" is out in the open at last. Breving official recognition and the right to fly.

The west coast magazine, who has designed and built some of the most modern fighters and transport ships, was not motivated in his criticism by enmity. He was just a realist.

RAY TUCKER, chief, was it not for bottlenecks, there would be no more of them. These practiced fabricators of bombers, fighters, trainers and other types are now having a backache.

FOCH—A sweeping reorganization of several key agencies will be inaugurated soon in an attempt to introduce greater efficiency in an admittedly flagging war effort.

Four different bureaus now bicker about allocation of industrial priorities, flow of weapons and dispatching of military units.

SUPPLY—Rationing of home heating oil and gasoline has been announced. The area between the Alleghenies and the Rockies already has lost 5,000 tank cars.

For economic as well as political reasons Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Hicks does not want to impose rationing on this region.

But dwellings, industries and automobiles in the east must be kept in operation. It is necessary to safeguard the health of workers in key plants.

CUSTOMS—Washington's optimism about future conquests of territory wrested from the United States has been tempered by a realistic appraisal.

Except in the Philippines and other possessions of colonial status, the United States has no large or expert staff of colonial administrators.

From the type of studies at the colleges it seems clear that we expect to move into sections of the world where the British, Dutch and French once reigned.

DOG—The army's relaxation of its physical standards has provoked an amusing comment in lobbies at the capital.

COTTON ED ON INGREY: "Why, they even tell me that they're taking the profits of the public and giving it to the man who won the war?"

It would seem that all we have to do, then, is to let Senator Smith take over and run this show, and "indefinitely" will be at an end.

Why, they even tell me that they're taking the profits of the public and giving it to the man who won the war?

MILITARY ASKS GREATER ATTENTION TO U. S. LABOR SUPPLY

DISTRIBUTION OF CONTRACTS CITED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—War manpower commissioner Paul V. McNutt said today that 19 per cent of the total war production contracts awarded between May 1 and June 20 went to areas where the labor supply already was inadequate.

An additional 56 per cent went to areas with prospective labor shortages while only 17.5 per cent was directed toward areas where there was a surplus of workers, he reported, declaring that much greater attention must be paid to the labor supply factor in awarding contracts.

Should Shift Areas

“Effective utilization of the national manpower requires that attention be directed toward areas with adequate labor supplies, where there are labor shortages exist or impend,” McNutt said in a statement.

“The increase in demand and labor demand in shortage areas will inevitably result in excessive migration, aggravated by the necessity for increased transportation and other community facilities.

Cautious Against Movement

At the same time, McNutt cautioned against any large movement of war workers currently laid off because of raw materials shortages and allied difficulties, and said these layoffs had not received the benefit of a developing labor stringency.

“The expanding production requirements have not changed, nor has our expanding need for labor,” he said. “The present situation indicates the necessity for greater production and for the fullest and most careful utilization of the work force we have.”

“It is more important now than ever to stop labor piling up and hoarding and to make certain that every individual who is capable of doing his job is given a chance to work whether he is white, black, male or female, native or foreign born, physically perfect or handicapped.”

Three Army Fliers Tell of Great Alaska "Duck Hunt"

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 20 (AP)—The story of a mammoth duck hunt by three United States army pilots who substituted Japanese patrol planes for ducks—had been revealed today by officers of the air force defending Alaska.

The hunt took place in the cloud-belted forests down behind the bombers which were flying so close together that Long's first burst of fire struck the right-hand Jap plane in the windshield and cockpit and the plane on the left in the bell.

This attack so surprised the Japanese that Long roared on past without drawing any return fire.

Long and Ambrose dived immediately, floating down behind the bombers which were flying so close together that Long's first burst of fire struck the right-hand Jap plane in the windshield and cockpit and the plane on the left in the bell.

This attack so surprised the Japanese that Long roared on past without drawing any return fire.

Ambrose attacked the left-hand plane almost simultaneously, concentrating fire on the port engine. His first burst missed, due to distance, but his second ripped the wing between the motors, and started a fire.

The shock of shells from the bombers' tail cannon shook Ambrose as he roared on, but missed his plane.

Both Japs immediately attempted to escape into the forest below, but the Americans had time for a second, and frontal, attack.

The duck hunters went home in triumph, and were decorated for their gallant deed.

Another Quarry Flashed

Twenty-five minutes later, Mac Williams finished another quarry, Straight toward the two army interceptors came a westward flying four-motored Japanese bomber, concentrated their fire on his engine, and the Jap immediately dived for the forest below.

But as it disappeared, it was rolling wildly, mostly on its back, and appeared about to crash from 2,500 feet.

Then the duck hunters went home.

DISMOUNT STARTED ON WEST COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20 (AP)—The shadow of war settled over the west coast at 12:01 p. m. today with a blacked-out of lights visible at sea from Puget Sound to the Mexican line.

The bombers held their final fare, air raid wardens and volunteers appeared out last night along the coast, and at midnight the great glow of coastal cities and highways must have been a sight to behold.

The dimout, in various stages, extends over 100,000 square miles of the three coast states, and in places reaches 150 miles inland. It was ordered by the western defense command, and was effective at 12:01 a. m.

Billboards, marquees, advertising signs, brightly lighted signs and neon signs were all out and not shielded throughout the area.

Larger cities affected include Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego.

Householders must prevent any light from escaping their windows and shades must be drawn on all windows visible from the sea.

Motorists must limit driving to those of less than 250 beam candlepower (parking lights normally used) and must use low beams in view of the ocean, and in some instances must limit speed to 20 miles per hour.

Flare windows with lights of "normal intensity" are not affected unless they can be seen from the sea. Flashlights, lanterns and night bonfires, too, are barred in the outdoor areas.

Street lights throughout the dimout are shut through the immediate coast must be extinguished.

Fluents Also Banned

Even great industrial plants operate their clock are instructed to eliminate "illumination as great as ambient."

Motors of the dimout order said the plan was essential to prevent such illumination from aiding operations of the enemy.

2.75 MILLS TAX LOOMS IN IDAHO

BOISE, Aug. 20 (AP)—Idaho's 2.75 ad valorem tax levy will be 1942 mill, lowest in the state's history, sources close to the state board of equalization said last night.

The board, which has been in session for more than a week, is to announce the levy officially Monday.

The previous low levy was three mills, in 1938. Last year's levy was 2.75 mill.

The levy this year will include one mill for bond redemption and interest and 1.75 mill for general purposes, and will be based on an assessed real and personal property of approximately $400,000,000 compared to last year's valuation of $323,000,000.

Members of the board of equalization include Governor Clark, Secretary of State Clarence Curtis, Attorney General Bert Miller, Treasurer Myrtle Ekin and Auditor Calvin E. Wright.

Mass Evacuation Of Aliens Ended

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20 (AP)—The western defense command had announced today it does not intend any further mass evacuation of enemy aliens or other groups from the Pacific military area, but will exclude "dangerous or potentially dangerous persons" as individuals.

The evacuation of aliens from the area has already been round-ed up.

DIEPPE LANDING IS PREVIEW OF ALLIED INVASION THRUST

UNITED NATIONS GAIN EXPERIENCE

By GLENN BARR (Wide World Staff) — We have had our preview of the second front. Yesterday forces of the western United Nations, the United States, Canada, Britain and the Fighting French, broke into the defenses of naziland. Dieppe maintained themselves for nine hours on the soil of Adolf Hitler's new Europe and returned to their own beaches.

For the first time an allied landing on the continent has been called out under the conditions that will obtain when the commandos and tanks are followed by the great transport fleets filled with the army of Europe's liberation.

Dieppe's propaganda machine trying to convince the Germans and their slave people that Dieppe was the real thing and that it failed disastrously, pictured a mythical transport fleet lying offshore in the channel yesterday. But this was only a figment of the Goebbels' imagination; when it becomes a reality the Nazis will have to invent new myths to explain the opening of a new and dreaded phase of the war.

Warning of Future

This preview of the second front to be made an institution and a warning of the onset of the grim task that must be undertaken and carried through. The United Nations have done what Hitler has never dared attempt—even when Britain receded into helplessness after Dunkirk—they have crossed the channel and landed with all the weapons of invasion on the enemy coast.

Dieppe was Dunkirk in reverse, with a mighty convoy of planes covering an offensive operation, not a retreat. It showed vividly how great the war situation has changed since the black days of June 1940, for not even the dangerous position of the British in the Caucasus or the threat to Burma can obscure the growing accumulation of evidence which shows that the fate of Hitler's hands to the forces bent on his destruction.

Different Conditions

United States troops have fought on the continent for the first time since 1918. This landing, of course, was under different conditions from those under which the stream of 2,000,000 Americans flowed through the channel of the great St. Nazaire and Bordeaux a quarter century ago when nearly all France was in German hands and the British and Americans. This time the reestablishment of the continental beachhead is a necessary preliminary to a march to the Rhine and beyond.

Needed Knowledge

The layman may ask for the justification of this expenditure of life and costly weapons. It is simply that so tremendously important an operation as the invasion of naziland cannot be undertaken without every bit of knowledge and experience that can be gathered—knowledge of the enemy's permanent fortifications and tactical dispositions and plans, and the experience of what the operation requires in the way of weapons, manpower and training.

The Dieppe landing was invaluable in its contribution to the allied's fund of military wisdom. It tested their ability to land in the face of a hostile shore, to maintain themselves throughout the day of bitter fighting on a hostile continent beach-head, most important of all, they proved the ability of their air forces to maintain over the narrow seas the powerful cover of fighter planes without which the invasion will be impossible.

PEACE URGED ON LAW OF HISTORY

A peace after the present war based on "immutable laws of history" was advocated by Raymond H. Snyder, president of Albion Normal, in an address before the noon-day luncheon of the Rotary club Wednesday.

The normal school president pointed out that history has shown laws which are just as exact as the laws of mathematics and nature and cannot be changed. He said that reason the Versailles treaty ending the first World War failed was that it was based on idealism and not on facts the world had come to know.

Two philosophies

The present war, he said, is one between two philosophies, not between two groups of nations, just as in all wars in the past. The philosophy of the axis nation is that the state is everything, the individual nothing, while that of the United Nations is that all government must be based on the consent of the governed and individual freedom.

He pointed out that one of the aims of the Rotary International "a worldwide peace and that Rotarians could make a contribution to such a peace by constructive thinking."

President Snyder preferred his address by pointing out that lack of appreciation of geography limited our knowledge the way we see the task confronting the United States in its Pacific war with Japan. He said the group of islands over which the war is being waged at the present time covers a surface five times as large as the United States.

Support Benefit Game

The Rotarians urged their support of "Twin Falls Cowboys-BOT all-star game at Jaycee park next Monday night and backed this up by purchasing 120 tickets and taking 100 more to sell to their friends.

John Sigelman, Indianapolis, was the guest of Dr. Snyder, who is a member of the Burley Rotary club.

NEW DRAFT ORDER TO HIT TOO HERE

The order by national selective service headquarters in Washington which abolished the "limited service class" is the group with minor physical defects, thus making all but the totally unfit available for military service...

"I would say off-hand," said Capt. George... that the order will add about 100 more registrants to the immediate service class...

This decision, resulting in filling the draft quota with 1-A and 1-B registrants, has made the latter classification meaningless for all practical purposes of the selective service system...

When members of this group are reclassified, they will be sent to induction centers as local boards fill their quotas, and the army will decide after their induction whether to assign them to full or limited duties...

The change also will have a limited effect on some conscientious objectors... those previously classified 1-B-O, fit for limited service in non-combatant units, or 4-C-1, fit for non-combatant service...

McConnell's Service. In Boise, Brig. Gen. Al O. McConnell, Idaho selective service director, said the abolition of limited service classes will affect less than 1,000 residents of Idaho.

In other local boards throughout the state are being instructed in accordance with the new regulations but none that no changes in procedure are called for until Sept. 1.

ATKINSON MAY BE G. O. P. CHAIRMAN

BOISE, Aug. 20 (AP)—Republican party circles buzzed today with the report that Rully Atkinson, Boise local leader, might be named as the public state chairman, with the support of former Gov. C. A. "Hot" Holaday, Boise nominee. Holaday declined comment on the report. Other possibilities mentioned for the chairmanship have been J. C. Sorenson, Camas, and William DeWetter, Hazelton.

Atkinson has been active in the party for many years. Reports that Howard Hall, Boise, executive director of the state organization, would resign to enlist in the army likewise drew no comment from party leaders. Talk persisted, however, that leaders were attempting to persuade Hall to remain in office after the November election.

The state chairman is to be named at the platform convention in Coeur d'Alene Aug. 23.

At that meeting, as in the Democratic reform convention in Boise Aug. 26, one of the principal planks to be considered, it is believed, will be the initiative referent grant measure to appear on the ballot.

This proposal would allow $40 a month in old age assistance grants, plus medical assistance allowances, up to persons 65 years of age or over.

SERIAL STORY

LUCKY PENNY

BY GLORIA KAYE

A THREAT FULFILLED

CHAPTER IX
ONE day, after Penny had returned to the Courier office...

"Hello, Penny," Jim welcomed. "May I present Lou Macdonald, head of the County Humane Society..."

"I've heard a great deal about you, Miss Kellogg," Macdonald said. "It'll like to compliment you on your series of articles on the Kirk Mills. They're great."

"Kirk Mills has the worst record in the county," Penny observed. "Yes, unfortunately that's true," Macdonald admitted.

"There are some men who can't resist the gambling temptation or any other temptations that come their way. They suffer, but those who really are hurt are their wives and children. We do our best to find new interests for these men and to install in them a sense of responsibility."

"I'm not going to show this to you just yet," Jim said. "But I want to reserve a page of advertising space in the Courier, and a spot on the front page, including to pay a thousand dollars, either. You'll just have to trust me to pay for the space."

"Your credit's good," he said. "Provided you can give me two references, both of them millionaires."

"I could," said Penny, "but I won't. And don't push for this copy. It's for a circular you're going to print, when I'm ready."

"You're the big gun behind the campaign," she told him. "Without you I couldn't do a thing. Without you, in fact, I wouldn't be here."

"The date is next Friday. The place is the John Kirk Memorial Auditorium. Remember, Midge, I haven't said a single word to anyone. We've got to keep this plan absolutely secret, or it will blow."

"Check," said Midge. "How about turning the lights out. We'll have to get Bud with me to help."

"Sure, Penny. Bud will be glad to help. I know plenty of others who will, too. Whenever you say the word, we'll be ready," Midge assured her.

talked at length about Macdonald and the Humane Society report. Then Penny told Midge of her plan to kid Kirk Mills and his gangster menace. Midge sat upright in bed, staring in open-eyed wonder as Penny excitedly outlined her scheme.

"Careful," Midge warned. "You're playing with TNT." Then she said, as if talking to herself, "I wonder. It might work at that."

"My plan must work," Penny insisted. "I'll need your help. We'll have to get Bud with me to help him round up some friends he can trust."
