750,000 Germans Near Stalingrad From Three Sides

MOSCOW, Aug. 26 (AP)—A German battle force of 750,000 men, spearheaded by an estimated 25 armored divisions, was reported today closing in on Stalingrad from three directions despite fierce Soviet resistance.

Soviet reports placed Nazi advance guards less than 40 miles from Stalingrad, west of the Volga river. Industrial and communications center.

Front-line dispatches said the Germans were approaching Stalingrad from the northwest, west, and southwest with crushing pressure.

One of the dangerous thrusts—that moving down from Stalingrad from the northwest, west, and southwest with crushing pressure.

The Germans were placed about 75 miles northwest of Stalingrad, and 65 miles southwest of the city.

Fighting was said to be raging over a rectangular front area about 100 miles long and 10 miles wide between the Don, the Stalingrad-Novorossiisk railroad and the Volga.

Center-Attack Soviet reports reported that at some points Soviet counter-attacks were successful.

It was reported the Nazis attempted to capture some important positions in the city.

Huge German panzer and infantry forces had crashed through Russian lines, bulldozing their way through what Marshal Semyon Timoshenko was sending into line.

Nevertheless, the situation grew more grave by the hour.

Chairmanship Scraps Loom for Demos, GOP

BOISE, Aug. 26 (AP)—State chairmanship battles held the center of attention in both political parties in Idaho today as both camps found platform convention plans hampered by indefinite reports of scheduled speakers.

The Democratic platform convention is Friday in Boise and the Republican convention Saturday in Pocatello.

On the Democratic side, behind-the-scenes movements as a six-way contest for the state chairmanship continued, and an interest was reported running high.

Incumbent Chairman Bob Coulter will be opposed, it appeared, by C. B. Wilson of Twin Falls, Arthur Williams of Pocatello, Ross Haworth of Boise, P. M. Blundine of Pocatello and several other candidates.

Opposition withdrawn. Supporters of Gene Traylor, Democratic nominee for the U. S. senate, were reported mustering attendance to oppose Coulter, and Gov. Chase A. Clark's backers were said to have withdrawn previous opposition.

Meanwhile in the G. O. P. ranks, Kelly Atkinson of Boise, J. C. Sorrells of Camanche, Wm. O. Peterson of Hazelton and Richard H. "Dick" Wells of Pocatello were campaigning for the chairmanship vacated by Tom Heath of Preston.

The Republicans, who invited Rep. Frank Keefe of Wisconsin, to be their principal speaker, had not heard from him early today.

JAPAN "GREATER EAST ASIA" PLAN DETAILS TO WORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (AP)—The Japanese scheme for a "greater cooperative east Asia" plan, the first of the new order, is not working out, either politically or economically.

Morin, who was interviewed and quoted by the Japanese at St. Louis, French Indo-China, at the start of the Pacific war, returned yesterday on his way to Hong Kong.

"The scheme was never anything but propaganda for the new order," Morin said, "in some cases taken by the Japanese army during the war."

Chuoichi, the Japanese consul in London, said that the Japanese are cooperating almost 100 per cent with their allies.

DUKE OF KENT KILLED IN NORTH SCOTLAND PLANE CRASH

NO DETAILS FOR ACCIDENT LISTED

LONDON, Aug. 26 (AP)—The duke of Kent, youngest brother of King George VI, was killed today in the crash of a Sunderland flying boat in northern Scotland while en route to Iceland on active service as air commander.

The duke died on an official RAF business trip in his capacity as a staff member of the inspector-general of the air force. A brief announcement from the air ministry gave no details of the crash, and official circles maintained a strict silence.

The most air-minded of all the royal family, the duke was closely associated with the RAF and was seen frequently at fighter and bomber stations conversing with the men. He always wore his uniform of an RAF officer.

First Airplane Death

This was the first death of a member of the British royal family in an airplane accident.

Nine or 10 crewmen were believed to have been killed in the crash. The duke aboard the four-engined 20-ton flying boat.

King George and Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother Mary, and other members of the royal family were notified immediately of his death. The news also was cabled to the duke of Windsor in the Bahamas.

Prince George Edward Alexander Edmund Windsor, was born Dec. 20, 1902. He married Princess Marina of Greece in 1934, and three children were born to them. The children are Prince Edward, 8; Princess Alexandra, 5, and Prince George, who was born on July 4, last. The youngest son is heir to the throne, as the duke's father, King George VI, is the president of the United States.

The duke visited Canada and the United States exactly a year ago, stopping in Washington as guest of President Roosevelt, and making an extensive tour of warplants in both countries.

Appointment Cancelled

The duke was named governor-general of Australia in 1938 to become effective the following year.

The war caused the cancellation of the appointment. In 1940 the duke was assigned to the RAF.

He was the first member of the royal family to fly to the Atlantic, crossing by air when he visited the United States in August last year. He had flown many thousands of miles under war conditions. One of the great delights of the duke's trip through the United States was his trip through the big aircraft factories there.

He was the fourth son of King George V of Britain. His eldest brother, the duke of Windsor, is serving as governor-general of the Bahamas. Albert, the duke of York, became King George VI upon the abdication of the former, and the duke of Gloucester is serving in the armed forces of Great Britain.

The duke, who was a group captain in the RAF, relinquished the rank of air commodore in 1940 when he joined the R.A.F., so that he should not be sent to the experienced officers with whom he had to work in his capacity as warfare officer.

Enthusiastic Flier

The duke learned to pilot a plane in 1930 and lost none of his enthusiasm for flying. In 1935 he was again involved in a plane mishap at Dyce airfield, Aberdeen.

The duke's first flying was as a "Mayfair playboy" because of his jaunts around London night clubs. Flying, hunting, motor racing and polo especially appealed to him, and his visit to Hollywood in 1933 caused a stir on the west coast.

Prince George was made duke of Kent in October, 1934, shortly before his marriage to Princess Marina, a tall, slim dark-eyed girl who later was to set the fashion pace in London and in continental centers.

The couple's marriage in November, 1934, in ancient Westminster was one of the great pre-war social splashes, a ceremony set in a circle of gleaming tulle, sable mantles, and gold.

The duke and his duchess lived in accustomed royal splendor in the year before the war. Marina was reputed to have spent $12,000 in 1937 for a spring wardrobe of 21 gowns.

After flying Hebra Changed

The war changed their living habits as it did all other Britons. They left their swanky London house for more simple quarters, removed their children to the country, and Marina last year was seen in a bargain basement. She bought a hat she had seen in the slim advertisement in a London newspaper. Price—$145.

For long months now Marina has been a volunteer nurse, known as "Kitty Key." She's had to make wash dishes, and care for London's wounded after air raids. She also has served on various war relief fund committees.

Britain received the first news of the death of the duke in a midnight news broadcast over the BBC.

"It is with deep regret," said the announcer in low tones, "that we announce the death of King George VI's youngest son, who was killed on active service this afternoon when a Sunderland flying boat crashed in the north of Scotland."

After reading a brief air ministry statement, the announcer turned immediately to news from Russia.

Money in Banks Gains $4,250,000

BOEING, Aug. 26—Annual report on conditions of Idaho banks and branches revealed a gain of nearly four and a quarter million dollars in deposits and a decrease of $322,925 in loans and discounts during the year; George W. Wedgewood, Idaho commissioner of finance, had reported today.

Thirty-three banks and their branches were covered in the report, compiled on conditions as of June 30. Assets of $1,720,000 in holdings of U. S. government securities was shown, while decreases were noted in holdings of state, county and municipal bonds.

Reserves of Idaho State banks as of June 30 totaled $39,226,227, as compared with $26,532,205 a year ago.

3 GIRLS LEAVING TO END TRAINING

Trained to assume roles in American war effort, three Twin Falls girls will leave Thursday for the NYA advanced training center at Georgetown, Wash., prior to entering war industry.

The girls are Mary Bertrich, 18; Elnor Atkin, 18; and Winona Cook, 21. They will take a two weeks' finishing course to prepare them for jobs in aircraft manufacturing or other war work. In Twin Falls they have completed 400 hours of shop instruction training in the NYA advanced training school at Kregg's.

They were given instruction in the operation of drill press, lathe, milling machine and other equipment.

At the advanced NYA center in Georgetown the young ladies will be provided with room and board and receive $7.50 per week in addition to their transportation costs.

When they return to Twin Falls at Georgetown they will probably go to work for Boeing aircraft, starting at $21 cents per hour. In about three months they will be earning full scale of 88 cents an hour.

Local NYA leaders pointed out today that there are eight students in the western division and Idaho is one of the few states that have students in the entire area. Idaho students have an impressive record as war trainees.

Adding More Women

Approximately 25 per cent of Boeing employes are women now and the total may reach 50 per cent by the end of the year.

Two other girls previously graduated from the Twin Falls NYA advanced training school at Kregg's. They are Barbara Harbour and Margarette Simonson.

Worry Over War Causes Decay of Teeth, Dean Says

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25 (AP)—War worry, not war diet, may shove you right into your dentist's chair.

That was the view expressed in an interview by Dr. J. Ben Robinson, dean of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery and vice president of the American Dental association.

If more Americans suffer tooth decay as the war goes on, it probably will not be because of nutritional deficiencies occasioned by restricted food, he declared. In England, diet streamlining actually has brought about better health.

As much as an other factor, Dr. Robinson said, systematic disturbances brought on by war nerves may boost the already alarming incidence of dental decay. Soldiers, like civilians, face the possibility of increased tooth trouble, he added.

"It has been demonstrated," he related, "that emotional disturbances tend to build up hypertonism and an acidity of the mouth which is conducive to tooth decay."

Grid Star to Wed Girl Who Handled 'Razberberies'

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 26 (AP)—Mystic cadet George "Sonny" Frank, the former All-American basketball star, yesterday gave up the girl who in 1929 gave him the razberberies.

The girl is Miss Marjorie Ball, Battle Creek, Ia., a former co-ed at the University of Iowa.

The romance stemmed from a press picture published on the eve of the 1929 Minnesota-Iowa game. The picture showed Frank, star football back, holding a football and meat craver. The caption quoted him as being set to "cook Iowa game."

When the Hawkeyes, sparked by Nile Kinnick, came through with a 12-6 victory, Miss Ball wrote to Frank that he better concentrate more on flash passes and less on flash bulbs.

Frank was infuriated and managed an introduction to Miss Ball at the Drake relays here the following spring.

RAIDS KNOCK OUT BIG FRENCH PORT

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 26 (AP)—Private advices from authentic sources in unoccupied France said today that allied planes had knocked out the port of Le Havre, in peace time the third ranking port in France, this allied troopie blitz and warships had inflicted heavy damage in the raid on Dieppe and that United States army flying fortresses had smashed the big locomotive repair shops at Rouen.

"Two allied raids on Le Havre destroyed the last workable lock gates, according to the advices, with the result that the entire port is useless to the Germans."

In last Wednesday's raid on Dieppe, the advices said, the allied forces destroyed the fortified Grand Hotel Regina and tobacco factory and started more than 40 fires in other centers with incendiary bombs.

The flying fortresses, in their raid on Rouen, 33 miles inland from Dieppe, which was a prelude to the raid because it struck at the nearest big railroad reinforcement center, scored a direct hit on the Solesville locomotive repair shop, the advices said.

The allied air forces are centering their raids in occupied France on railroads and railroad repair and factory centers in order to destroy rolling stock which Germany needs desperately.

1,300 WPA Quota Fixed for Idaho

BOISE, Aug. 26 (AP)—The September quota for WPA workers in Idaho has been set at a maximum of 1,300, Dean W. Miller, Idaho work projects administration director had announced today.

Enrollment at present is about 1,500, Miller said, of whom about 600 are women.

Miller said he believes the 1,300 quota will be ample to meet all requests, since the demands of farmers for harvest workers are expected to cut heavily into the WPA rolls.

"Our present problem is to complete a large number of public work jobs with the labor that is available when it is not needed in private employment," he said.

THE SPIRIT OF MAGIC VALLEY. The attendance at Jaycee park for the USO benefit baseball game between the Twin Cowboys and the South Central Idaho All-Stars demonstrated once more the wholehearted support this section of the state is giving the various activities pertaining to our war effort.

Today and tomorrow, the people of this locality have another opportunity to aid in a variety of war-related activities. "Kukan," an incredible film that was smuggled past the Japanese, will be shown at the Roxy theater as a 100 per cent benefit for American China relief.

Whether it's in the purchase of war bonds, participation in the various scrap campaigns, or any other activity linked with the war effort, south central Idaho will continue to do its part.

Congress is trying to draft a new tax schedule which will achieve two principal purposes: to raise the rate of income tax from 25 to 30 per cent on income in excess of $10,000.

Obviously this war cannot be supported on the taxes from the one-sixteenth of our people who fall into the $5,000-and-up bracket.

That is not the way we heard it—from the office of Price Administration's research division.

On that basis the $3,000-and-under workers will get almost nine million dollars more this year than last, while the $10,000-and-up class will get less than four billion more—before taxes.

Japs Maltreated U. S. Bankers

Used in Liquidation of Assets

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—Fourteen members of American banking staffs escaped internment in Shanghai, China, but they were shipped around and seized at and generally made as wrecked as the Japanese could make them. Vernon Metelung, former Associated Press correspondent at Hong Kong, reported yesterday upon arrival on the exchange ship Orizohno.

These men were kept out to assist the Japanese in liquidating the assets of American banks in Hong Kong, and they were confined to a small building where they were working," Metelung said.

"They were part of an international group of allied bankers and their families were kept by Japanese gunboats in the Sun Wah hotel, a small two-hour (Hongkong) situated on the waterfront slums—

Marched to Work
The bankers were assembled each morning at 6 o'clock and a half to the banks, then returned in the late afternoon for lockup in the jail. They were not permitted to leave their cells until they were taken to the bank for their work.

"There were also a few slapping parties inside the National City bank, where guards had taken over the ground floor and resented the Americans' looking down from the mezzanine floor.

The bankers often felt they were being sniped at at the hotel.

LET'S DROP MINOR ISSUES FOR THE DURATION
Editor, Times-News:
During these trying times when we as individuals and as a nation are called upon to make the ultimate sacrifice in the prosecution of a war, the outcome of which means our very existence as a free people, it is regrettable that many good American citizens permit their minds to become befuddled and worried with minor issues and prejudices.

It is not the enemy alien that I am concerned and writing about (the FBI are very efficiently handling this problem). It is a minority of the people that are most concerned and in every other town, on my main street and every other main street in the land.

These people are good citizens and would prefer to be classified otherwise now for the most part they are still good citizens but just do not see that coming to the end of a life and death struggle.

These people are still talking about their debts, taxes, mistakes of the WPA, FHA, low interest returns and the like and ends of this and that, knowing these things to still be major issues with them. On a business trip to a nearby town recently overheard a conversation between two business people that deplored the state of affairs as it affected their interest returns on their investments.

Mrs. Cook and I have a very big investment in this war, we have our sons, both in the service, we are proud because of this, we are not concerned with interest rates that we may get our principal back or the way.

The newspapers of our country, and more particularly our Times-News that serves the people of the Magic Valley so well, are doing a wonderful work by the dissemination of the war news and news of our government and molding public opinion in the right direction. May you continue to be successful in this great and useful work to the end that all of these minor issues that many consider so important at this time be put in discard for the duration. We recognize our government and our fighting men have made many grave mistakes, many things we know are wrong, these will be taken care of later after the war is won and it will be long.

The way we have to do now calls for loyalty, faith, sacrifice and unlimited effort on the part of every one of us in trying to analyze the condition I find the explanation in the words of Christ, "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do."

Here's Tip on Those Things to Send Wacks

By MARGARET KERNOOLE
Wide World Features
FORT DES MOINES, Ia.—Is your girl friend a WAAG? Or your daughter? Or your wife?

And do you want to send her a gift she'll really like? Then here's how to go about it.

Hennette Horak, San Francisco, former newspaper writer now a Wack writer, talked to 125 members of the women's army auxiliary corps so she could tell her hometown newspaper what sort of presents the Wacks would want. Here's her list:

Show shine kit (she'll use it daily); white broom to sweep off the top of the bed which cannot have a speck of lint for army inspection; sewing kit including thread since new Wacks coming to camp to know irons no longer are prohibited. Two.

While cleaning fluid for exercise shoes (otherwise the girls have to get water for polish and they don't have time); a small electric iron because it's easy to plug in some place other than the laundry; to keep from blowing fuses when everything must press a uniform.

The Wacks especially want new Wacks coming to camp to know irons no longer are prohibited. Two.

Jaycees Schedule Cowboy "Record Night" on Sunday

It will be "Cowboy record night" at Jaycee park next Sunday evening, Aug. 30—and the program will offer a triple-barreled feature as the Junior Chamber of Commerce aims at 1,400 attendees to smash the record.

Here's the three-way highlight announced today by Jaycee leaders in cooperation with the Cowboy management:

1) It'll be Tony Robello night, with the Jaycees presenting a wif of appreciation to Manager Robello.

2) There will be a baseball track meet with nine members of the Jaycees competing against a c chosen from the Idaho Falls Tuxens by Manager Ed Harrington.

3) Two $25 war bonds will be given away to fans.

Jaycee executive committee members said that the gift to Manager Robello will be just a slight token of the respect they have for his long record for fielding a winning Cowboy team in spite of handicaps.

SERIAL STORY

WHEN A GIRL MARRIES

BY RENE RYERSON MART

COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THIS STORY: End Sharon, a student at the art school, is attracted to Tom, a young man who is a member of the WPA art school. She has been married to him for several years.

MARRIAGE POSTPONED

CHAPTER II

END SHARON walked thoughtfully across the darkening campus toward the building where the art classes of the WPA Evening School were held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

She had been attending the classes ever since they opened three years before. At first she had gone to them thrilled with enthusiasm. Ever since she could remember, she had wanted to be a fashion artist, and had spent hours copying the sophisticated figures she saw in fashion magazines and the newspaper ads of the department stores.

When the free evening school opened she thought her great chance had come. She had worked hard in class and the various professors had praised her work. Her confidence from their praise, she made the rounds of the local newspapers and stores, showing her sketches, and asking for work.

The first question was always, what school had she attended, what training had she had? She admitted that she was self-taught with the exception of the lessons at the WPA night school, but in most of the interviews she promptly died. It seemed that one had to have a college degree in order to obtain a job of work.

In fairness to them, though, End Sharon had never taken any one of the WPA art school training seriously. Its classes were so general. There was a constant turnover of students, old ones dropping out and new ones coming in and the professors set down into an easy rut, going over and over the same things. End had often thought of dropping out, too, but out of desperation deep in her heart made her keep on. These art classes were the last link with the dream she had once had. . . . dreams she had foolishly thought would come true if she tried hard enough and long enough.

THIS night when End arrived, there were only three other students present in the big barn-like room, and after a disheartened look around, the professor turned them over to their own devices. End worked steadily for a while at the figure of a very sweet young woman in a yellow opera costume. Tears welled into her eyes. She must have been born under an unlucky star, she thought, recently dating more yellow paint on the figure before her.

For there was another disappointment connected with this art class. She had expected to meet artists here, intellectual men and women interested in the finer things of life. Instead the women were either very young and silly, or old and queer. And the boys who attended were why-does-it-exaggerate mannerisms, and without one iota of talent. And as her thoughts wandered hopefully back to these disappointments a smoldering fire rose in her heart. Rebelliously she took her paint brush and began to do something different to the insipid pretty face of the girl in her sketch, a turned-up end to the nose, a smudge of shadow making the dark hollows stand out, an elongating of the eyes.

And then she kept staring at the face in a sudden and curious understanding. Yes, the face was ugly now, but it looked old. It had character. So that was it! You had to be very beautiful or very ugly, to stand out in this world. Just ordinary people, like she was, were never noticed. That's why they never got any place.

But knowing it didn't help. She couldn't change what she was. She couldn't change her life. She looked toward the building where on the other side of the street when she came out of the building. He looked at her with a penetrating gaze and she crossed the street and opened the door of the Ford convertible and climbed in beside him. "It's a nice night. Let's go some place and get a beer and dance a while," she suggested. "All right, Tom."

They stopped at a popular night club up along the river. The place was crowded. The waiter told them that he had no alone table, and led them to one where two women were already sitting. As they approached, End recognized Grace Dingline and Norma Senkin, two girls from the office where she worked.

Grace was head stenographer and no longer young, but she was distinguished-looking, with prematurely gray hair and fine dark eyes. She wore her clothes with an air and was decidedly attractive. End had often wondered why she had never married. Norma shared an apartment with Grace and the two were always seen together.

End saw the eyes of the two women going over Tom from head to foot as she made the introductions and she knew that tomorrow the office forces would get an exact description of End Sharon's fellow. Her face began to burn. She knew that the string tie Tom had tied to him, that he shouldn't have worn a green tie with a blue suit. She was unhappily conscious, too, of his hands on the white table cover, broad, strong, and unmanicured. Then she lifted her head. She had no call to be ashamed of Tom.

SIDE GLANCES

"What if we can't buy new parts for the washing machine? Didn't I make our old flivver run for years with twine and tape?"

at least she had an escort and didn't have to pay her own way. Let Grace and Norma talk.

Tom's bright blue eyes were unaccountably sober as he stopped the roadster before her house an hour later. His arm dropped heavily across her shoulders and drew her up against him. She could feel the warmth of his healthy young body.

"Remember what I asked you the other night, End? What's I going to be—yes?"

He bent his head and his lips found hers, warm lips, eager lips. Their touch was like a potent wine. She closed her eyes. When he kissed her like that she thought it would be very easy to fall in love with him.

"Yes—Tom." Her voice seemed to come from far away. "I'll marry you."

He kissed her so hard and so long, she couldn't say anything more. Then his voice urgent. "Let's get married right away, tomorrow!"

Marry Tom—tomorrow! The finality of it frightened her. She drew back into her shell of reserve.

"Oh, not so soon, Tom. Let's say three or four months."

"Why?" She cast wildly about for some saving excuse. And something she had overheard that day at the office came to her mind.

"Mr. Stanton, one of the engineers, is going down to the company mines to make some changes. And he told me today I was to go along to take his dictation. He may be gone a month or six weeks make if he was going to marry Tom?"
