JOBLESS ACTORS REFUSE TO WORK

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1 (AP)—Director R. O. Wagner of the state department of employment said today he is trying, without much success so far, to get unemployed movie people off state assistance rolls and into war work.

Wagner said 20,000 persons in California are receiving unemployment insurance benefits of from $10 to $15 a week. More than half are in southern California, and 2,000 are listed at the Hollywood office.

He said the department disliked taking a "work or else" attitude but that some had dropped their benefits applications "after exposure to jobs."

But others, including actors and actresses, explain they have never done manual work and don't want war plant jobs. Wagner said.

He said movie workers who draw high pay for short periods and fill in the gaps with unemployment checks are the object of a campaign to induce them to take government-sponsored war work training.

His department, Wagner said, will try to change the "psychology" of those who prefer the state benefits to training for war jobs.

50 Japanese, Ill Of Tainted Food, Recover at Camp

More than 50 Japanese at Hunt, the recreation center, today were reported recovered, of nearly 50, from an outbreak of food poisoning which caused considerable concern on the part of camp and public health officials last week.

The medical department at the camp said the infection was identified as paratyphoid A, and that it originated in a container used for a Japanese process of pickling different vegetables in one of the kitchens. The illness caused by the infection was confined to our "block" of the camp. A "block" accommodates about 500 persons.

Fifty-odd persons were in the hospital at one time, it was said. The district public health unit here said it had heard of the food poisoning, and that its bacteriology department helped make the tests to determine the source of the infection. The health unit said the illness of the Japanese was caused by bacteria of the salmonella group. Paratyphoid A is a division of this group.

The Hunt medical department said today the food poisoning outbreak was under control and the source of the infection had been removed.

MORE IRRIGATION BEING PREPARED

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 1 (AP)—Reclamation Commissioner John C. Page said today that the bureau of reclamation is prepared to step up its irrigation construction in the west to meet increased war needs for food.

In a message read to a meeting of the American Institute of Steel Construction, Page said that more than 2,000,000 additional acres could be served with irrigation water by 1945 if funds and priorities for critical materials are provided.

"This land would insure added sugar, beef, fats, oils, fruits, vegetables and other commodities essential for feeding the armed forces and the men, women and children at home and under the flag of the United Nations," he said. "Irrigation is highly productive. The food output of irrigated land is two to three times that on land dependent on natural rainfall."

SALES OF USED TIRES "FROZEN"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The office of price administration today has frozen the sale of used tires and tubes and revealed that used tires soon would be rationed to provide for all essential uses in conformity with the War Relocation Authority's recommendation.

The order was issued to freeze the present supply of used tires pending completion of the new rationing program, which will govern the use of those tires just as present rationing regulations control the use of new and recycled tires, the OPA said.

It added that when used tire rationing is initiated, the freeze order will be lifted to the extent necessary to permit sale to certificate holders.

OPA said it was "important to have available for rationing not only the mileage that is represented by used tires with good tread thickness still remaining, but also the supply of recappable carcasses which are the starting point of any successful recapping program."

Shortage of recappable carcasses already has hampered recapping operations, the present rationing program, OPA explained, assuring there has been a growing volume of complaints that car operators who get recapped certificates are unable to use them because their own carcasses are not fit for recapping.

OPA said it would permit sale to a consumer of an automobile equipped with used tires and allow an automobile dealer to sell mounted used tires among his cars.

Sale of unmounted used tires or tubes by one consumer to another or by consumer to a dealer, is forbidden.

Peru, Ind., Merchants Open Yuletide Shopping Season

PERU, Ind., Oct. 1 (AP)—There are 16 days until Christmas, but the yuletide shopping season opened in this town today.

Merchants were putting holiday wares on counters and shelves and were making plans to decorate their stores in appropriate style.

The anarchistic advent of the December buying period was proclaimed by the Peru News-Herald in a 16-page special section containing advertisements featuring suggested gifts and pictures of Santa Claus—copy and art usually left in abeyance until Thanksgiving.

There were two reasons for ignoring custom and calendar. "The first was to give the folks an opportunity to purchase and mail presents to soldiers at overseas posts before Nov. 1."

The second was the theory that a shrewd shopping season would be overcast by a time when help is comparatively scarce on account of the war.

The idea was originated by Glenn Berdel, advertising manager of the Peru News-Herald.

NATION'S AUTOS SLOW DOWN TO 35 MILES PER HOUR TODAY

ALL STATES JOIN IN SPEED LIMIT

By JOHN M. MECKLIN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Millions of automobiles and trucks slowed to 35 miles an hour today as the nation's highways were closed to the nation's speed limit.

The slow-down order, issued by Defense Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman, was one of the recommendations made by Bernard A. Baruch's rubber investigations committee to save rubber and tires on the estimated 1,000,000 tons of precious rubber owned by Americans.

A second recommendation was carried out last night when the office of price administration from the funds of present owners virtually every used tire and tube in the country, pending inauguration of a formal rationing program.

OTD officials promised that the new ceiling on speeds would be enforced. The council of state government reported to OTD yesterday that "we have been in touch with the governors of the 48 states, and we are happy to inform you that the states—all of them—will cooperate with you fully in reducing speeds to 35 miles an hour for the purpose of conserving in every way possible our existing supply of rubber."

The speed limit order will be integrated closely with other steps taken as a result of the Baruch report. Its other recommendations to conserve tires have been acted upon:

1. Nationwide gasoline rationing—OTD hopes to inaugurate a coupon plan about Nov. 22.

2. Compulsory periodic tire inspection—An OPA official disclosed that compulsory checks every 60 days will begin in about six weeks. They will be made by 300 inspectors now checking tires of persons applying for new or rechecked tires.

3. Enlargement of the present civilian tire replacement program to include a minimum of one tire free or driving—last night's tire freeze order was a major step in this direction. It was suggested by release of more synthetic rubber to civilians and possible other actions not yet ready for discussion.

4. An interim program of voluntary conservation pending start of nationwide gasoline rationing—Price Administrator Leon Henderson two weeks ago appealed to motorists to wear seat belts, to ration tires to limit their driving voluntarily. OPA officials reported that "spot checks" indicate this appeal has been effective.

5. Advice to supply.

OPA officials said they were unable to estimate how many used tires will be affected by the freeze since inventory of tires is not limited. The announcement said, however, that inclusion of used tires in the rationing program would add considerably to supplies of rubber available to assure motorists of their need for tires.

The freeze order prohibits sale or transfer of unmounted used tires or tires mounted on wheels in the following instances: Dealers may sell automobiles equipped with used tires and "used" tires, but only if the cars, consumers or dealers may transfer tires to processors for repair, repair and use. The exceptions may be granted by OPA state directors.

Tossing Another for Uncle Sam at Ketchum

In their pitching, the people of Ketchum rallied to the government's appeal for scrap metal by collecting 100 tons in their drive. Thursday and Friday. School children and Boy Scouts scoured the town. Business men closed stores to help, Officers "Dutch" Cox and Fred Turner gave valuable assistance as did the U. S. forest service which in one of its hands brought an eighteen tonner from the Galena region. Revenue received will be given to the USO. (Sun Valley Photo-Staff Engraving)

Farm Leaders Accept Senate Anti-Inflationary Measure

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Leaders of four powerful national farm organizations, in a statement today accepted the senate's anti-inflation measure law yesterday. They interpreted it as forcing executive consideration of labor costs in the establishing of ceiling prices on farm products.

Signing the statement were Albert S. Goss, master of the National Farmers Union; Edward A. O'Neil, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; G. C. Tague, president, and H. H. Johnson, secretary of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives; and Charles W. Hays, president of the National Cooperative Milk Producers Federation.

Farmers will be grateful for the bill, they said, because it will help them to stabilize their prices in the future. The statement said, "We were not able to obtain the necessary legislation to stabilize farm prices. We will continue to work for the passage of the bill."

The bill was passed 82 to 6, on the eve of the deadline established by the President for enactment. The house had already approved a similar bill. Further necessary legislative procedure, however, made it evident the legislation would not reach the White House until later in the week.

The legislation probably will go next to a conference committee, made up of members of both house and senate. Their duty will be to bring the differing provisions of the house and senate bills into conformity. Then the house and senate must approve their work.

Broad Differences

"The job of the conference may not be easy, moreover, for there are broad differences of language and intent in the two measures."

In particular, the house, with its farm bloc in command, inserted a requirement that parity farm prices be increased by the inflation of farm labor costs. No ceiling prices for farm products could be established at less than parity, 60 cents.

Under the provision finally adopted by the senate, farm prices could be fixed at parity, as it has been computed, or at recent market levels, whichever was higher. Then, if it should develop that the price of any commodity failed to rise in line with the increase in 1941 in farm labor costs and other farm expenses, that price must be adjusted accordingly.

General Order Directed

The senate bill directs the President to issue a general order by Nov. 1 stabilizing prices, salaries and wages on the basis of 1936 levels so far as practicable. The house bill contains the same direction to the chief executive. It does not set a Nov. 1 deadline, however, and stipulates that the prices prevailing on Aug. 18 shall be the base level of stabilization.

Under the senate bill, any voluntary increases in wages and salaries must have Presidential approval, and the President may adjust wages or salaries to "correct gross inequities." The senate specified fines up to $1,000 for "violations" which the house bill and approved customary annual bonuses.

Like the house measure, the senate bill provided that price and wage controls shall terminate June 30, 1944, unless ended earlier by congressional or presidential action.

Ball Amendment Loses

Before the vote on passage, the senate rejected 65 to 12 a proposal to write in a definite formula for limiting wage and salary increases. It turned down an effort by Senator John H. Hays, of Minnesota, to incorporate the war labor board's "little steel" formula, which would place a ceiling on any increase at a point 10 per cent above the Jan. 1, 1941, level.

As a floor under farm prices, both bills authorized an increase in government loans on major crops from the present 85 per cent of parity to 90 per cent.

Late in the day the senate rejected 65 to 12 a similar amendment offered by Senator Clark, Mo., which would simply have directed the President to limit the general order by Nov. 1 stabilizing all wages and salaries at the highest levels which existed between Jan. 1 and Sept. 15, 1942.

The Minnesota confederated the administration bill was "whipped, jawed, lapped and cross-eyed," and would probably result in "more turmoil" before.

The bill also contains a provision barring any increase in common carrier or utility rates over those prevailing Sept. 15 unless the President approves of the increase.

The provision, inserted in the form of an amendment sponsored by Senator Norris, Ind., Neb., declares, however, that the authority of state and federal regulatory bodies to order decreases in the rates shall not be affected.

The Italians lost 5,000 more guns at the battle of Caporetto, in 1917, than the allies lost in Belgium in the present war.

Cause of the explosion, which rocked a large portion of Boise, was being investigated this morning by Fire Chief Frank Puskas.

All available fire-fighting equipment was called out under the general alarm turned in first firemen to reach the scene. Firemen rescued Herlihy, night service man, from the building and rushed him to a hospital, where he died at 6:05 p. m. Oil-fuel flames and clouds of black smoke mounted high in the air, attracting scores of persons awakened by the blast. Numerous smaller explosions hampered work of firemen. Capital News in Boise Suspended

BOISE, Oct. 1 (AP)—Announcement was made late yesterday of the suspension of the Capital News, a newspaper in Boise since 1920. The management of the suspended publication said that declining advertising revenue due to war restrictions, and heavily increased labor and printing costs made the move necessary.

At the same time it was announced that the name, good will and sets of the Capital News company had been purchased by the State-News Printing company, which would continue serving the Boise area with the recently established Idaho Evening Star. The Capital News, owned by the State-News company, said the Capital News name would be dropped. The purchase price was not announced.

BARS

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—The heavy steel bars and grid during once confined some of the nation's most notorious criminals in old Tombs prison, being read for contribution to the scrap metal drive.

Crops of workmen from the department of public works are scrapping the bars, gridded windows and angles that decorated the top of the outer prison walls.

The steel is of a higher grade than most metal being read during the scrap drive. It was especially forged to resist any attempted break-in by prisoners, city officials said. The old Tombs, known to newspaper readers everywhere, has been replaced with a new prison.

War Stamp Drive Opens at School

Students at the Twin Falls high school went over the top in buying war stamps and bonds when the campaign was opened at the school yesterday.

According to Rose M. North, dean of girls, the girls purchased $1,000 in stamps and $100 in bonds. John Platt, vice-principal and dean of boys, reported that the boys purchased $1,000 in stamps and $100 in bonds.

Boys' and girls' figures give evidence that this year's sales will exceed last year's. "We hope to reach $25,000 in stamps and $2,500 in bonds," said Mr. Platt.

Youth Confesses He Put Screws in Engines for Navy

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1 (AP)—A 17-year-old Italian born apprentice machinist admitted in federal court yesterday that he put screws and nails in naval engines at a war plant where he formerly was employed but insisted "I didn't mean to do it. I just got mad."

A federal agent told the court that damage may have been done to motors already installed in vessels now at sea and "we may hear of some of the boats blowing up."

The boy, Michele Verretti, was committed to a federal institution until 21 under the U. S. delinquency statute.

SOLDIER VOTING PLAN ANNOUNCED

BOISE, Oct. 1 (AP)—Many Idaho men and women serving in the armed forces will be assured of a vote for state and congressional candidates in the Nov. 2 general election, Secretary of State George E. Curtis had said today in an announcement procedure for distributing absentee ballots to them.

In announcing the plan, Curtis disclosed that first request for a "war ballot" provided for in a new Idaho law has been received by his office.

Although the federal law provides that the members of the armed forces be allowed to vote for congressional candidates, Curtis said he is instructing the county auditors throughout the state to forward a complete state ballot to all soldiers and sailors requesting them who are registered in their home precincts.

In instructing the county auditors yesterday, Curtis advised these officers to check requests for a war ballot that come in and ascertain whether the person requesting it is registered. If the person is registered, a regular state ballot, containing names of all congressional and all state candidates, will be forwarded. If he is not registered, only the "war ballot" containing candidates for congressional seats will be sent.

Curtis further instructed auditors to dispatch the ballots by air mail to applicants "situated at a considerable distance from Idaho." The ballots must be received back by election day for counting.

It has been estimated that some 20,000 Idaho residents are now in the armed forces.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are frequent, don't just say you are tired. They may be danger signs of kidney trouble. The kidneys are the body's filters. When they are weak, they cannot filter out the waste products of the body. This causes a buildup of toxins in the blood, which can lead to various ailments, including backache, leg pains, and general weakness.

Press Keeps Light of Freedom Burning, Says Censor Director

(Written for Wide World Features) BY BYRON PRICE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Whether newspapers are important in this time of war is like asking whether light is important in a dark world.

Even in the totalitarian countries which are our enemies, newspapers continue publication; and you may put it down in the book that such publication would not be permitted unless it contributed definitely to total warfare.

To be sure, not all totalitarian newspapers according to our American standards. But they do contain a certain amount of news. There are things in this modern world which even the most brutal of our enemies do not dare to keep from their own people.

In free America, this light must and does burn far more brightly. It is difficult to imagine what utter chaos would result if the newspapers of this country unanimously suspended publication for a period of a single week.

The peculiar importance of a newspaper in a totalitarian state is reduced to a negligible minimum along with news publication. For the sources of information upon which broadcasting so largely depends would have disappeared. The country on mass would be at the mercy of rumor mongers. The loss of morale and of national purpose on the home front would more than cancel out the bravest ventures of our armies and our ships of war.
