MORE MAY ENTER SOCIAL SECURITY

by congressional amendment to the social security act, every wage earner would be eligible for social security benefits.

It would mean that benefits would be available to any worker: (1) if he lost his job; (2) if he was injured or disabled; (3) if he became 65 years old, and his dependents if he died before that.

Most of those advantages are available, in varying degrees in the different states, to persons now covered by the social security act, but under the proposed amendment they would be expanded greatly and would be made available to all.

Rep. Thomas H. Egan, D. Mass., introduced the bill on Sept. 11, extending the act in many of the ways recommended by the social security board. However, Egan's bill, which has been referred to the House Ways and Means committee, does not provide for extension of federal funds for general public health services.

NAZIS PLUNDER NATIONS' FOODS

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP)—The German stocks of occupied countries to such an extent that people, many of whom formerly exported food, now are existing on a starvation diet, the inter-allied information committee declared.

Its statement was issued in connection with the German people that whatever happened in the rest of Europe this winter, Germans would not starve.

The committee gave this summary of the food situation in some of the occupied countries:

Belgium—The people are living mainly on bread and turnips. More than 2,000,000 Belgians did not even see a potato last winter, and the meat ration has been reduced to little over 15 grams (about a half ounce) a day.

10½ Ounces of Meat Monthly

Czechoslovakia—The meat ration is 120 grams (about 10½ ounces) per month compared with 500 grams (11½ ounces) in October, 1939. There is no fat or potatoes.

France—The meat ration is 100 to 120 grams (about 8½ to 10½ ounces) per week; butter, 20 to 30 grams (1½ to 2½ ounces). There is no fat or potatoes.

Greece—By agreement between the Greek and British governments, supplies of food staples have been sent to Greece and their supplies, mostly grain, have been distributed among the population.

Netherlands—Meat is difficult to obtain despite an official ration of 150 grams (13½ ounces) a week, because the Germans take what they need when their own supplies run short. Children are asked to eat chestnuts and acorns to extract fats used as a coffee substitute.

Norway—The Germans have ordered the Norwegians to slaughter another 200,000 head of cattle, one-fourth of the nation's war-time stock, to provide meat for the reich.

Poland—Although a large producer of grain, potatoes and sugar before the war, Poland has been reduced to starvation by German demands. Farmers are not allowed to dispose of the products of their farms.

Yugoslavia—Bread queues form at dawn. German occupied Serbia has three meatless days a week. Food prices are high because of German "occupation marks."

National Income At Record Level

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Larger farm income and higher payrolls in war factories and government agencies, swelled the national income in August to a new record level, equivalent to $110,400,000,000 per year, the commerce department announced today. This compared with $92,100,000,000 in 1941.

August income was estimated at $220,000,000, which was nearly one-fourth more than in the similar month last year. The August figure was slightly below the month of July, but the decrease was not as great as usual at that season of the year and the department's seasonally adjusted index of income payments increased.

Why your own car's Zero Hour comes at 00 miles an hour

ON THE OFFENSIVE you've got to be on the instant. Eager fighters, frisky jeeps, and all that's going along, must get going together—exactly at Zero Hour. But on the home front these brisk mornings, will your own precious car and its engine lubrication get going together—without deadly oiling delay? You can be so sure on shootin', with your engine OIL-PLATED for winter by patented Conoco Nth motor oil...oil that OIL-PLATES!

Even while the speedometer smoozes at 00 miles an hour—and you're still snug in your "divers"—the chilly insides of your OIL-PLATED engine will already be coated by lubricant. Protective OIL-PLATING is really sort of "magnetized" to piston rings, bearings, and straight up the cylinders, by Conoco Nth oil's strong "power of attraction"—created by an added modern synthetic. This keeps the OIL-PLATING from all draining down to the crankcase overnight—over week-ends—and longer.

No complete lack of lubrication then, at 00 miles an hour—starting up cold. No long needless risk till cold oil comes inching along through passages as slim as spaghetti.

You're off safely, because OIL-PLATING safely stays on—ready to lubricate before any oil can circulate. This reason don't merely change oil. It's fully as simple and inexpensive to change to an OIL-PLATED engine. Just change to patented Conoco Nth oil at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calumet—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pump 2 pints of bile into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest, it may stay in the bowels. Then you wake up your stomach. You get constipated, you feel more and more tired, you lose your appetite.

Calumet is a natural, safe, and sure way to keep your liver and bowels working. It's the only thing that makes you feel like a new man in the morning. It's the only thing that makes you feel like a new man in the morning. It's the only thing that makes you feel like a new man in the morning.

WILL LIKE DEMANDS IMMEDIATE ALL-OUT OFFENSIVE BY ALLIES

ASKS FOR ENDING OF IMPERIALISM

CHUNGKING, Oct. 7.—Wen-willie vigorously demanded today an "all-out offensive" everywhere by all the United Nations more U. S. arms for China and Russia, and immediate "land-grab" against any western imperialism in Asia.

In a statement, late last night he said "we believe this war must mean an end to the empire of nations over other nations" and call for "firm line" whereby colonial peoples "can work out and gain governments of their own choosing." This should be done at once, he said, because "after the war, changes may be too little and too late."

Willkie followed up his statement by broadcasting extemporaneously over a national hookup to the Chinese people. "Mankind is on the march," he said. "The old colonial days are past."

Dedicates Life to Task

The one-man volunteer fact-finding embassy said he expected "to dedicate the rest of my life to bringing the world be conquered after the war on a basis where all men can be free and with governments of their own choosing."

His statement, issued after his fourth conversation with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, was in the same unvarnished style as the one he gave in Moscow appealing for a second front "at the earliest possible moment which our military leaders will approve."

The one-time, however, was broader and reflected impatience not only for the opening of offensive hostilities on a world-wide scale but also over the rate of delivery of material to China and Russia and what he called the lack of clearly-defined guarantees of post-war independence and democracy for the peoples of Asia.

Time for All-Out Offensive

"It is my personal opinion that the time has come for an all-out armed offensive everywhere by all the United Nations," declared President Roosevelt's volunteer fact-finding embassy.

"We are ready to deliver some knockout punches if I can believe what I have seen with my own eyes," Willkie pointed out that his travels have covered 13 "kingdoms," empires, republics, mandated areas, colonies and dependencies, and that he had found four things common to all of them.

"First, they want the United Nations to win the war."

"Second, they want the United Nations to get on the offensive now."

"Third, they all want in varying degrees the readiness of the leading democracies of the world to stand up and be counted upon for the freedom of others after the war is over. This should be their enthusiastic participation on our side."

Defense Cannot Win

Willkie emphasized that defense cannot win, either in the military or political phases of what he called a war not only of tank forces but also of "men's minds."

His statement revealed several times to what he called the "urgent" need for stimulation of the "active, aggressive, offensive spirit of nearly three-fourths of the people of the world" by assurances of what victory and the years after will mean to them.

"We have not done this," he said at one point, "and at present we are not doing this. We have got to do it. I think we've got to pin this idea in our hats and look at it often."

Willkie remarked that "in the United States we have talked a lot to the world about our production figures," but that some allies "have seen very little of our actual effort. It is only natural for some of them

And More Scrap's Rolling Merrily in

Determined that not a scrap of scrap shall remain in Queens borough, New York, Queens citizens have put their drive over in a big way. Given a quota of 13,000,000 pounds, they already have collected nearly 21,000,000 pounds; are still going strong. Here is one of their big salvage piles, rapidly spreading over what once was a gigantic World's fair parking ground.

to wonder how much longer they will have to eat, like children, at the second table."

Should Be First Steps

"Some of the countries I have visited look on the map like the last stop on the line," Willkie went on. "That in terms of the blows they are delivering to our enemies they should be the first steps."

"China and Russia have contributed to the defeat of the axis aggression some 3,000,000 of their finest men in casualties. Each has engaged and held with heroic tenacity powerful and ruthless enemies. It is both just and wise for us to see that they secure an equitable share of our arms production."

Willkie then turned to the psychological factor of what the future holds, declaring that even more than arms and men need enthusiasm and a conviction that the flag they fight under are in bright, clear colors.

Minds Not Made up

The truth is that we as a nation have not made up our minds as to what kind of a victory we want to speak for when victory comes," he contended.

"Especially here in Asia, the common people feel that we've asked them to join us for no better reason than that Japanese rule would be even worse than western imperialism."

"We believe this war must mean an end to the empire of nations over other nations. No foot of Chinese soil, for example, should be cut can be ruled from now on except by the people who live on it."

"And we must say so now, not after the war."

WARTIME 'PHONE CONDITIONS TOLD

The reasons why telephone service cannot be maintained on a "business-as-usual" basis were outlined by Mrs. Berle H. Schurr, chief operator at the local office of the United States Telephone and Telegraph company, in a talk which featured the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club at the Park Hotel yesterday.

Not only has the company new local conditions to put up with but also has wartime regulations and restrictions, Mrs. Schurr declared.

Bigger Job Now

The 50 girls in the operating department of the company here must handle 31,000 calls during an average 24-hour day, she said. But they must also be trained to handle a switchboard which is directly opposite to that used before the war.

She moved to the company's new building on Shoshone street, but each must also be taught to handle both local and long distance calls. Three months, she said, are needed to train a girl in this work, and what makes the situation more vexing is that there is a 30 to 40 per cent turnover in personnel.

Mrs. Schurr said that the armed forces have priority on all long distance calls and often it is necessary for a civilian customer calling Washington or one of the metropolitan centers to wait as long as two hours to get in his message.

For this reason, she said, the company is discouraging the making of long distance calls and, in cases where it is necessary, asking that these calls be made as brief as possible. She recommended that a person desiring to place a long distance call first make note of his probable conversation so that he can get it over without hesitation.

More Party Lines

The chief operator said that no telephone extensions were being made and that where a question of health is involved, for this reason more party telephone lines are necessary, she stated.

A person may not make a foreign call, even to Canada, without first receiving the telephone company so that emergency arrangements may be set up, according to Mrs. Schurr.

She added that several call parties through the office from a soldier in Honolulu in which the service kept coming off as he started to talk about such forbidden things as the weather.

Sid Smith, Shoshone, was a visiting Romanist, while Stuart Taylor, Jr., was the guest of his father, Stuart Taylor, Sr.

S. H. Graves was in charge of the program.

MINING OF GOLD WILL BE BANNED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The war production board has decided today to order all gold mining halted in the United States to make the miners and some of the equipment available to the nonferrous metal mines for more vital war production.

The move had been contemplated for some time and NEWSPAPERMAN, declining to be quoted by name, reported that the board finally decided at its regular meeting to take the action.

The order will be issued within the next day and the government said, and will direct all the gold mines to cease production at once unless in the near future, probably

The men said they had been in Britain for almost two years on special duty. They would not elaborate on their work there.

RAF MAKES NEW RAID ON ENEMY

LONDON, Oct. 17 (AP)—A strong force of RAF bombers made a concentrated attack last night on the German industrial and railway town of Chemnitz, the air ministry said today.

"Six of our aircraft are missing," the air ministry said. "One of them, a Halifanover province city, was last attacked by British bombers Aug. 17.

Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair told the house of commons today that 120 RAF bombers were reported lost over northern Europe during the nine months ended Sept. 30 but said the British were suffering a lower rate of casualties than the German air forces attacking this country.

Reason for losses were "30 much greater than those of the allied forces," Sinclair replied that no allied forces have had to face the tremendous strength of the German night fighter, anti-aircraft and searchlight defenses in western Germany.

Denying that the bomber command policy was to attack high level targets, on the contrary, "the losses are extraordinarily high."

The loss of six planes last night indicated a force of about 120 bombers made a considerable attack, and for the normal five per cent casualty rate.

This marked the fourth night raid out of six nights this month.

The Berlin radio broadcast a DNB report that the attack was directed at northwest Germany and some damage resulted from high explosive and incendiary bombs.

Wins Award

The operations followed daylight attacks upon the power plant in Germany by Britain's new mosquito bombers and a raid at dusk by a concentration of the Mosquitoes which fired a factory and a power station near Hengelo, The Netherlands.

While the Mosquitoes were attacking, the RAF bombers were attacking at an altitude of 50 feet, directed the Hengelo thrust.

RAF fighters on offensive patrol were reported to have set fire to a German minecrauer off the French coast and caused it to run aground.

Grange Gleanings

Wendell Grange held its thirteenth annual Sept. 26, a good crowd attended.

Mr. Fred Cason played a musical program. The opening song was "The Grange Anthem," followed by the roll call of the officers.

The speaker then gave an address of welcome to the visitors. It would be interesting to know just how many farmers and families attended the Grange.

On Friday night, Sept. 25, they had a pot-luck dinner at the Grange home, honoring the former master, Bill Wieman, and his wife, Mrs. Wieman.

And as a climax, a fine booster night meeting was held Wednesday night, Sept. 23. This was an open meeting and was attended by many of the Grange members and their families.

At a fine booster night meeting West Point Grange told of having taken in 34 new members during the last year, and now they have a membership of 100 determined members.

SERIAL STORY OF BRIGHTNESS GONE BY HOLLY WATTERSON

YANISHED DREAM
CHAPTER XXI
CANDACE was busy enough to find Dr. Patterson in the office. He pushed forward a chair for her. "How are you, Miss Bech?" "What can I do for you?" "She said directly, unwilling to waste any of his time, "Dr. Patterson, I've come to ask you please to take me off the Harper case." "I hesitated. "Not you too, Miss Bech?" he asked. "I've been thinking of you for some time, even though all the others tell by the way, you've managed worse patients for me before. You really mean you're giving up on this one?" "I'm sorry, Doctor," Candace said. "Yes," firmly. "I'm sorry, Doctor." Dr. Patterson sighed. "You mean it. I see. Wherever is the matter with all you big strong girls that you can't manage a bad old woman?" She saw that his eyes were twinkling. She said, "I can manage her all right, but there's a complication, Dr. Patterson. That gentleman, Mr. Harper, he's been sending me things right along to the place where I live, though I don't know how ever he learned where it is—boxes of flowers that I throw out until I decide that was just wasteful since he wouldn't throw them out or not, tons of candy, and, lately, clothes. Intimate things. I've had the nuisance of sending them back."

"This approach is pretty bad, eh?" Dr. Patterson asked. "But he was amazed, she saw. It wasn't funny. She said with distaste, "Yesterday afternoon when I went off duty the Harper chauffeur was waiting for me. Mr. Harper sometimes sends me on errands in the car, and I thought it was something like that, something she'd forgotten to mention to me. I started to get in the car. "Where to?" I asked Jackson. He was grinning. "That's up to you, Miss, this year is your car." I noticed the initials on the car, then, "C. H. Jackson didn't seem to see anything odd about the affair; Mr. Duty had sent him, he said, and I gathered that sort of thing happens quite often."

Dr. Patterson threw back his head and laughed. A great hearty laugh that threatened to shake him.

"It's not amusing to me, Dr. Patterson," she protested stiffly.

He roared grandly. "No, I know it isn't," he admitted contently. "But I've seen the boy, and the thought of that pinfeathered youth, with the approach of an old man."

"You admitted that part of it's funny, you?" Candace felt herself relaxing a bit. "I suppose it is, sir." She held out the box to him. "He slipped this in my pocket just now. I left word at the house that all packages are to be refused to me."

Dr. Patterson took the box and looked at it. "I'm not bringing you this apple because I expect any favors—it's just one of my little experiments in psychology!"

He handed her the box. "I'm not bringing you this apple because I expect any favors—it's just one of my little experiments in psychology!"

He handed her the box. "I'm not bringing you this apple because I expect any favors—it's just one of my little experiments in psychology!"

He handed her the box. "I'm not bringing you this apple because I expect any favors—it's just one of my little experiments in psychology!"

What was it Dr. Patterson had called him? "A glorious fool!" That described him exactly. They'd mope, her thoughts ran on, and his wife would scribble and scribble Peter slaved down in the hospital and other less able men walked off with the plums of easy, well-paying cases; but they'd be happy working together, they'd be in love.

She felt suddenly hollow, with a sick, empty loneliness. She felt a awful jealousy of the Unknown who would live out with Peter the lovely dream she had once dreamed with someone else.

Her footstep grew hurried, as though she were trying to keep ahead of her own thoughts.

When she went back into the room after Duty finally had left, she found Mrs. Harper looking at her. "So I was right," she said. "No Duty has been making a bit of a nuisance of himself. Why didn't you tell me?"

"I was supposed to be rich," Candace said lightly. "Remember! And spare our patients all bother, wherever possible."

Mrs. Harper said surprisingly, "I'm rather pleased, on the whole. This is the first time the boy has shown any sense."

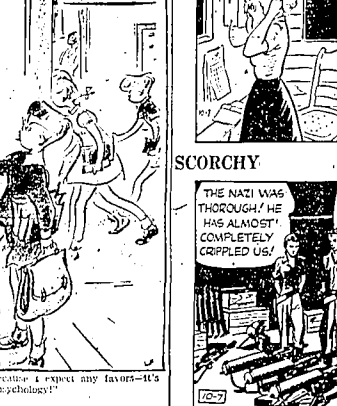

"About the sort of girl he falls in love with." She saw Candace's eyebrows ringle. "Oh, I'll concede he's been in and out of love fairly frequently, but this time—"

She looked thoughtful. "For once, your background would have to be looked into and so on, but I must admit I wouldn't be too displeased if this proved to be the real thing with Duty."

"For a minute Candace was speechless with surprise. Then she said deliberately, "My dear Mrs. Harper, it's you who are really interested. Our only possibility in each other can be as between patient and nurse, and even that won't be for much longer, since I've already asked to be taken off the case."

IDAHO HIGH WITH SCRAP RESULTS

By The Associated Press

It was like a roll call of the nation with states, cities and little white spots chanting: "Look what we did."

America, deep in the job of gathering every bit of steel and iron for the nation's needs, today poured in heartening reports on progress in the 21-day scrap metal drive.

Idaho and Utah were near the top among the salvage gatherers.

The reports, although unofficial and incomplete, showed the country really leading an effort to get scrap metal started on the way to its essential place in plant, ship, gun, tank and car.

This was part of the story: Ten states alone have collected so far in the campaign about $1,000,000 worth of scrap, or 17-1/2 million pounds of scrap, or 225,000 tons of scrap, or 225,000,000 pounds of scrap, or 225,000,000 pounds of scrap, or 225,000,000 pounds of scrap.

Tremendous Drive
These figures were reported by the national newspaper's united scrap metal drive committee in New York which said it was receiving hourly information showing the total metal salvage was becoming tremendous.

Pennsylvania was leading the 10 official states, with 245,000 pounds per capita, but Idaho and Utah, which have not reported in the national committee, topped the average.

John D. Orr, chairman of the Idaho salvage drive, said his state had turned in 100 pounds of scrap per capita since July 1. On the basis of 1934 population, this would mean about 52,000 pounds of war-needed material.

Orr gave "unfolding" credit to "every man, woman and child engaged in this patriotic effort."

Weldon, Idaho, was a star performer. Its high school of 106 students gathered 145 tons of metal in the campaign. Per capita, the proceeds, about $600, went into the student body fund.

Utah had gathered about 255,000,000 pounds of scrap, or 46 pounds per capita, but much of the way material "spotted" has not been collected due to a truck shortage.

HELP DELIVER CERTIFICATES OF APPRECIATION

Editor, Times-News

I am having one devil of a time delivering those appreciation certificates issued to all the boys from this community who are now serving in the armed forces. I am having no difference to us how they got in the service, via the national guard, enlistment, drafted or they have you, just as long as they are serving their country and they know that they are entitled to one of the beautiful certificates which shows that the community appreciates the sacrifices they are making.

To all mothers and fathers we want you to know that if you have received a certificate for that boy or girl in the armed forces that you have to do is either to go to the city hall and get it, tell Mr. "Bill" Eklund the boy or girl's name and your address and you will receive the certificate.

I just wish that you could read some of the letters from the "boys" that they received a certificate. They say that they are so glad to know that the people back home are thinking of them and really appreciate their efforts in helping to do what they can for freedom and liberty.

You owe it to that boy or girl to make sure that they get the official city of Twin Falls' certificate of appreciation. The certificate will fit right into that Christmas box they are going to send and the box must be sent this month.

After 5 p. m. you can phone 48 and give the name of the boy or girl and you are interested in. We will send them for any boy or girl from Flit, Kimberly or Hansen, that is from this community.

A final word: Don't put off a minute, please right now, or get the word to us somehow and we will do the rest. Please help me deliver honor appreciation certificates. Thank you sincerely in the faith for victory!

Dentist Advances In Naval Ranking

JEROME, Oct. 7.—Now a lieutenant commander in the United States navy, Dr. Earl B. Miller, formerly of Port Angeles, Wash., and son-in-law of John D. Nims, veteran newspaper publisher of the "Times-News," is stationed at Naval Point, Wash., a naval aircraft base and training center. He is under temporary assignment.

Miller has been a practicing doctor of dentistry in Port Angeles, Wash., and is the husband of the former Edith L. Nims, daughter of John Nims of this city.

Lieut. Cmdr. Miller soon after World War I enlisted in the U. S. navy and served four years aboard ship. Later he established dental practice at Port Angeles. This practice he now abandons to reenter the naval forces. He enlisted in the naval reserve dental corps with the rank of lieutenant, and was called to active service Aug. 1, 1942, and was promoted to his present rank on Sept. 17.

Judge Wants Parks Closed To Curb Girls' Delinquency

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—To help curb an alarming wartime increase in delinquency among teen-agers, Justice Jacob Panken of the children's court today had demanded the closing of all New York city parks at sundown.

Asserting that young girls—some under 14 years of age—were using the parks as a place of immoral rendezvous with sailors and soldiers, Justice Panken said in an interview: "It is sad to note that there is a greater increase in the number of delinquent girls than boys, and the most of the girls are sexual delinquents."

"I have but one slogan to offer. That is: 'Shut up the parks after sunset and keep the school buildings open for social centers.'"

To augment police protection in the parks after twilight, he also recommended that the army post military police and the navy shore patrol be detailed to the parks.

Justice Panken said there had been an increase of 41 per cent in delinquent children under 14 since war came, and an increase of 22 per cent among children from 14 to 17.

"The present mode of dress," he observed, "is a way of excusing service men for their relations with little girls."

"The mothers' dresses are as short as their daughters' are. Girls of 13 and 14 come to us with painted faces, make-up and adult hair styles that add several years to their appearance."

Film Star Sues Because Other's Legs Put on Her

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—Screen actress Anne Shirley has filed suit for $100,000 against the Gladys H. Rogers Productions, alleging another woman's legs were substituted for her own in a scene from "The Powers Girl."

Anne, who plays the part of a Hollywood model in the picture, claimed the substitution was made after showing her lifting her skirt and then changing to a second scene which displayed only the legs.

And what legal says Anne in her complaint, filed in superior court by Attorney Paul P. Schreimann: "Defendants used a double for Miss Shirley and said double's legs were of unflattering dimensions, belonging to a former burlesque actress, and were as large as plaintiffs legs."

Schools Ordered To Cease Salute To Cease Salute Rule by Court

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 7.—The West Virginia board of education was ordered yesterday by a three-judge federal court to cease requiring a flag salute by students who are members of Jehovah's Witnesses or any others who have conscientious religious scruples against such salutes.

The injunction was handed down in a test case brought by three Kanawha county residents on behalf of themselves and other members of the religious sect. They charged that the salute regulation violated the rights of religious liberty guaranteed by the first and 14th amendments to the constitution.

The three-judge court commented that unless restrained, the board could expect the plaintiffs' children from school, but said the "courts have nothing to do with determining the reasonableness" of the sect members' views.

The decision was directly opposed to a U. S. supreme court ruling in the case of the Minneapolis, Pa. school district against Walter Goss.
