GERMANS TRAPPED IN DESERT CIRCLE BY ALLIED TROOPS

By EDWARD KENNEDY
CAIRO, Nov. 2 (AP)—A concentration of Allied forces on Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel's left flank was effected in a bold week-end night thrust by Australian troops who smashed across coastal sand dunes with bayonets, flashing and up until last night the enemy had made no effort to break out, although night appeared imminent.

CONGRESS FACES STIFF ISSUES ON ARMY HANDLING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Whether term-age soldiers shall be sent into combat, how they are to be trained and whether women enlisted in the navy and coast guard reserves will be permitted to serve overseas are among issues facing Congress when it resumes regular sessions next week.

Both Senate and House have decreed that 18 and 19-year-old youths may be assigned to combat duty, but have disagreed over the question of giving them a stipulated period of training before putting them under fire.

Both ships sank and sank quickly, the communiqué said. The Allied army swept across the Mediterranean, say station on the eastern coast of Sicily.

65 Japs Couldn't Kill Him

Private Eugene Oliver Moore, 22, (left) U. S. marine from San Francisco survived a single-handed fight with 65 Japs who swarmed over him when he emerged from a burning tank in the Solomons and here he enjoys a happy reunion with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Moore, former teacher Moore is recuperating from injuries in an Oakland, Calif., hospital.

G.O.P., Demo Chiefs See County Triumph

With both central committee chairmen confident of victory for their tickets 13 hours before the polls opened—but with individual candidates not so sure—Twin Falls county was apparently working itself up to a pitch that may bring a considerably greater vote turnout than harvest time predictions had forecast.

TURKEY EXPECTS GERMAN ATTACK

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The grave declaration by President T. Inonu of Turkey that his country is nearer war than at any time since the world conflict started from a cause he does not specify—may be taken as a warning to his people of the danger of an aid which would constitute a violation of the terms of the armistice which Turkey has signed.

What the aid Inonu has in mind seems clear. Long ago I called attention to the likelihood that Hitler was frustrated by his interlocking Caucasian and Egyptian campaigns, he likely would reach the middle east either by attacking Turkey or through bypassing Turkey and making an assault on Syria with aid and water-borne forces.

Well, frustration appears to be riding the (Turkish) shoulders like the old man of the sea. Undoubtedly he will make the further desperate effort to crack this middle eastern nut, for it represents his only hope of winning the war.

Turkey on Spot

That certainly put Turkey on the hot spot. It would make a real difference whether Hitler attacked the Turks direct or bypassed them at the outset, for they could hardly avoid being involved in any event.

Of course, Turkey might have her choice of joining the axis or the allies, but ever since the war broke out all indications have been that if she had to abandon neutrality she would fight for the Allies. That Turkey is the present Hitler has been so careful not to antagonize the Turks, but on the contrary to keep their good will.

Naturally it is problematical whether the real leader of such an attack in view of the terrible jam he is in on the Russian front. However, pneumonia, influenza, and other ailments which point to trouble.

If the Germans do attempt such an adventure it would mean that they would perform a holding operation on the Caucasian battlefront, thus bringing the army either at Syria or directly at Turkey.

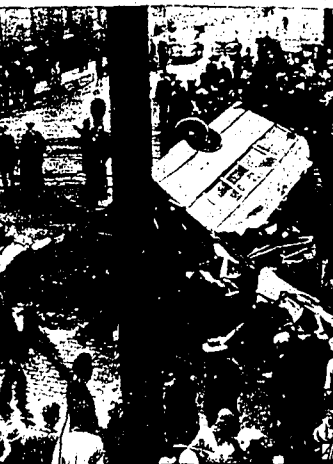

Syrian Gambit Better

From the standpoint of weather and perhaps of strategy, the Syrian gambit might seem more desirable if it were to be undertaken in the near future. If Hitler intends to wait until spring, then he might decide to go for the Turks.

The real chief's great difficulty in attacking Syria would be to muster sufficient air strength, since that would be his chief weapon at the outset and would also provide much of his early transport. He is short of warplanes, short of pilots and short of both gasoline and oil, according to my information from a reliable source.

Still, the German mind plans a long way ahead and it wouldn't be surprising to see the development which Inonu apparently has in mind as a possibility.

16 Killed in Bus-Train Crash

At least 16 persons, several of them school children, were killed in Detroit when a bus driven by William F. (left), 55 (left), was struck by a speeding passenger train and torn to pieces. Bodies were scattered along the railroad right-of-way and some were found on the front of the locomotive.

SOLON ASKS FOR NATION OF JEWS

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—United States Sen. Elbert D. Thomas, D-Utah, last night called for establishment of a "Jewish commonwealth in Palestine" that would be granted recognition as a member of the United Nations.

Speaking at a meeting marking the 25th anniversary of the Balfour declaration under which Britain is pledged to restoration of a Jewish homeland in Palestine, Thomas declared: "This should be one of our war aims and peace aims."

He said that Hitler's extermination policy had created a state of war for the Jews 10 years ago. It is the first time in history that the physical extermination of a whole people—the Jewish people—has become the declared policy of a powerful, if not a nation, Thomas asserted.

"What is our answer to that challenge hurled in the face of the democracies? Are we too timid or too weak to pick up what is challenged and state forthrightly what is the policy of the United Nations with regard to the Jewish people and its future? If we are honest and courageous, if we are clear about the basic issues of this global war, then I say the question of the Jewish future and the Jewish homeland is the last question on which we can afford to be silent or evasive."

"BOY SPEAKS AT RUPERT"

Star Castleford 4-H Team Given Medals by Fair

CASTLEFORD, Nov. 2.—Martin Koehn and Robert Willaker, the county and district champion 4-H demonstration team, have received medals for their work.

They are members of the Willowdale poultry club of which Mrs. Ed Harding is the leader. This is the only poultry club in the county and one of the few in the state.

Mrs. Harding received a check for $22 which they won in prize at Jerome. They won $150 at the county fair.

Mrs. Harding has been the leader for the past four years and each person who started in club work has completed it.

Last year the demonstration team placed second at Pier and won championships at the district. Last year the club was composed of 12 members, while this year there were only eight. Other members are Vern, Nettie, Thack, Harold, Isaac, Jean, Reacher, Betty Walpole, Blanche Nowack and Ardell Haager.

These young people are going in for extensive chicken raising. They are practical experience, calling flocks with Mrs. Harding as she culls and blood tests chickens for eggs for her West End hatchery. She also gives them written as well as oral lessons and written examinations.

Man Is Wounded In Cleaning Gun

RUPERT, Nov. 2.—The discharge of an automatic shotgun which was being cleaned in the lot of three fingers, for David J. Gardner, Plummer district. He had forgotten that the gun was loaded.

Gardner was lying to shove the barrel of the gun in the stock while both his hands were across the muzzle. The middle finger of his right hand and the middle and ring finger of his left hand were so badly mangled that amputation was necessary.

Today every healthy young man who has passed 18 and is not yet 20 has an opportunity to choose any one of thirteen branches of Army service.

This choice is open to you because the Army needs men of your age to build a balanced force.

You have the makings of first-class fighting men. You're quick — adaptable — you think and act fast. You're built to take the bodily toughening of Army life and thrive on it. And you've got plenty of courage and daring.

Your country today faces the greatest peril in its history. What part are you going to play in this battle to maintain America's freedom? Do you want to help decide this fight now and win your share of the glory in the mightiest adventure of all time?

Now is the time to decide — while you still have the opportunity to choose the branch of the Army in which you want to serve and which suits you best.

The sooner you get in, the better you'll be prepared.

You may choose the Army Air Forces (including Aviation Cadets), Armored Force, Cavalry, Chemical Warfare Service, Coast Artillery (Harbor Defense or Antiaircraft), Corps of Engineers, Corps of Military Police, Field Artillery, Infantry (you may request assignment for tank destroyer training), Medical Department, Ordnance Department, Quartermaster Corps or Signal Corps.

Action and thrilling adventure await you in any one of them. You'll have thorough training not only as a soldier but for a future career. You'll get good pay, food, uniforms and equipment — and a chance for rapid promotion. Qualified men of your age are encouraged to apply for Officer Training and many have already won commissions.

Come to the nearest Army Recruiting and Induction Station today. Get all the information you want about the branches that interest you. Talk it over with your parents, make your choice, and get into the proud uniform of an American soldier!

KEEP 'EM FLYING!

"It is not enough for our Army to be as big and as well equipped as the enemy — it should also be as well balanced in age groups. The Army invites American youth to answer that challenge."

"The privilege of selecting their branches of the service can rarely be given to the men in the possession of their own bodies. The Army needs them — their adaptability and ready response to training."

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

CAPTURED—Recent revelation of details of the Doolittle mission in this column, which was published before the facts were forced from Secretary Hinson by Tokyo's disclosure of the details of the mission...

RAY TUCKER In this regard, it is amazing that the human ravel system can bear what we friends have seen this morning without even so much as any boying the war department for the facade concerning her. The mother who made this sacrifice is entitled to know...

TRUTH—"Jimmy" Doolittle's daring feat now threatens to become a national scandal despite its being the bravest individual bit of heroism since Hobbes' attempt to battle up the ship in the Japanese harbor. Washington's claim of complete success last April contrasts shabbily with belated descriptions of the feat...

Doolittle told the unhappy facts to his friends upon his return to the capital to receive medals and congratulations at the White House. But this announcement which he was "permeated" to make was deliberately misleading. He did not say, as so many contended from casual reading of his statement, that all planes and fliers had landed safely in China. He did proclaim that no ships had been lost over Tokyo...

Constructive results may arise, however, from the disclosure. The publication of this statement covered that the mothers and fathers of boys serving overseas want the truth without delay, provided it does not endanger national security. For that reason, Franklin D. recognizes this attitude is the explanation about the loss of the Wasp released only a week before the attack...

WARNING—President Roosevelt is quite satisfied with Wendell Willkie's report to the effect that his wife, Vera, has left, regardless of its several subtle implications. The president's chief of staff believes that the two old rivals are still acting in concert, although the diplomatic nature of the speech was not admitted. It may be that the president is not so sure of his reference to F.D.R.'s job as "typewriter straightener." Mr. Willkie said nothing which would lead one to believe that the chief executive had admitted several times that our supplies of food and arms were being cut off by Japan and China...

HOLDS—The office of price administration's handling of the original buyers run on coffee has aroused criticism. A man who had been revealed that he was making with respect to America's favorite breakfast drink. Here is the slightly amusing story. It occurred in St. Louis, where rumors of shortages apparently frightened housewives. Although even the canned variety will sell at about six cents a pound, the women began to lay in stores of that particular kind. So, in order to check advance buying, the local grocers began to limit their stocks of coffee to a few days after purchase. The hysterical race to fill pantry shelves ended at that point.

THE O.P.A. intervened in what many experts regard as a masterfully bungling way. Washington officials ruled that the coffee in question, which contained no longer be advertised as "vacuum-packed coffee," and they ordered a five cent cut in price. The result was a general panic among the public, and a renewal of the stampede against the fact that, as with gasoline, there is no scarcity of this commodity in this country.

SO WE DID LOSE A PLANE So we did lose a plane in that raid on Tokyo last April, though our government assured us for months that it had been captured by the Japanese. In Russia, we were told but none were lost otherwise. Now it develops that this wasn't so, and we have had to pay for the plane, not a very happy experience for a proud people.

THE EFFECT of this sort of thing is disastrous. The ordinary American citizen knows that he can't depend on the government for anything. He knows that the government has lied to him long after its publication would have aided the enemy, but it has not always been true even when it was given out. There just isn't any sense in this sort of thing. The only way to get the truth is to get it from the people who don't trust the people, and whose attitude is fully reciprocated.

THE HANDWRITING ON THE WALL The writing on the wall is everywhere now, for anyone who has been reading the news of the world of income, of living conditions, of time, thought, and action. This is one of the demands of total war in seeking the greatest efficiency and production from available resources. It is not so easy to get out of the main "American" and our armed forces will be supported by the most unprecedented needs of global warfare.

HEAT IN WASHINGTON Federal Works Administrator Fleming has decided that federal buildings shall be heated to 65 degrees this winter. All buildings assigned to householders on the basis of a 65 degree temperature. Probably there is an argument in justification of the spread. Is it a war secret, or may we inquire its logic?

While Millions Die for the Right to Vote ANALYZING CURRENT NEWS FROM NEW YORK

MEMBERS of the New Deal line are on pins and needles over facts divulged in a survey of sentiment in the United States among ranks. The census was made by an important analyst and the result that only one-half dozen original copies were printed and distributed to the administration's upper echelons. The poll uncovers a growing discontent among the fighting men. Perhaps the most significant fact is that this tendency is found...

TRIBUTES—Willkie's fulminations concerning British, Dutch, French, Portuguese, Belgian and Spanish military forces are being taken away over colored people. But not in all. A few days ago one of the most serious of the British East Indies, now on New York, privately broke the news that the British government is on its way to return to the status quo in the East Indies. The official offers an idea that when the war is over, the British government will be controlled by a state-general with members elected by both the Netherlands and citizens of the Indies, irrespective of race. This would mean that one year in Europe and the next in Java.

CARE OF YOUR CHILDREN POT SHOTS IN THE THIRD ROW

FAMILY SECRETS WILL OUT. No family is without its secrets, at least without the hope of them. The strength of the family is its ability to keep its secrets. The world and its troubles and the four walls of home come confounding about the little group within. Among themselves they can talk about the difficulties that beset them, but more that outsiders are doing so, hurts.

SHIELD THE CHILDREN The troublesome question here is: Should the children be told? Children are likely to understand, enough about the family situation to be able to help in their own way. If children are adopted, tell them so right at the start so nobody else will know. If a member of the family is in jail, and the older children are likely to be told, tell them and shield them. No family is without its secrets, but it is better to tell them and shield them than to let them find out on their own.

CLAPPER'S OBSERVATIONS ON POLITICS AT WAR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—For a long time we have been hearing a good deal of talk about the price of victory. What they will have to do before this war is over is to get the price of victory. The price of victory is not a matter of money, but a matter of the spirit of the people. The price of victory is the spirit of the people.

Albion Man Shot By Son on Hunt

ALBION, Nov. 7.—Edwara Smith, 24, was shot and killed by his son, John Smith, 17, while hunting for a squirrel on the farm. The father was shot in the chest and died shortly thereafter. The son was arrested and charged with the murder.

HISTORY OF TWIN FALLS

AS GLEANED FROM THE FILES OF THE TIMES-NEWS. 27 YEARS AGO, NOV. 2, 1915. John and Arthur Shibley, Twin Falls, and Lee Flora, Eden, went to the Salmon river country to hunt for game. They were traveling in a wagon drawn by a four-horse team. The wagon was overturned by a log jam and the men were killed.

ALL MIXED UP

The news columns quoted Draft Director Hershey telling a senate committee that married men with dependent children would be called into the army during the final quarter of 1943. This was after Chief of Staff Hatcher had said that only 100,000 out of an army of 7,500,000 instead of the 10 to 13 millions previously mentioned.

Both estimates presupposed that congress would authorize the conscription of 18- and 19-year-olds. General Hershey is saying a good administrative job with the draft that it seems too bad to pick flaws. But this was only one recent instance of the general's tendency to say publicly things which later have to be corrected.

Warning—President Roosevelt is quite satisfied with Wendell Willkie's report to the effect that his wife, Vera, has left, regardless of its several subtle implications. The president's chief of staff believes that the two old rivals are still acting in concert, although the diplomatic nature of the speech was not admitted.

HOLDS—The office of price administration's handling of the original buyers run on coffee has aroused criticism. A man who had been revealed that he was making with respect to America's favorite breakfast drink. Here is the slightly amusing story.

SO WE DID LOSE A PLANE So we did lose a plane in that raid on Tokyo last April, though our government assured us for months that it had been captured by the Japanese.

THE EFFECT of this sort of thing is disastrous. The ordinary American citizen knows that he can't depend on the government for anything.

CALENDARS FINISH POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS, A WAIT OUTCOME

PARTY LEADERS PREDICT VICTORY

By JOHN CORLETT
BOISE, Id., Nov. 2 (AP)—Idaho's 1942 general election campaign was under way today with most office seekers at or heading for their homes to await casting of their ballots tomorrow.

Congressional and gubernatorial candidates were anxious to see Prediction is that the contest for these offices will be close. Little interest has been stirred in the contests for the remaining state offices.

Our state ticket will win by margins ranging from 5,000 to 15,000 votes, said Robert Cook, Democratic chairman. "Glen Taylor" will beat John Thomas for the U.S. Senate by a wide margin.

The sentiment is definitely Republican, and if the people get to the polls—as they will—the result of the election will be Republican landslide.

Winning reports indicate we will carry the state by a small margin, and that practically every county in the southeast and southwest will give the Republican candidate a majority.

A poll of representative Republican and Democratic leaders of the state, conducted by Idaho Statesman, revealed Glen Taylor, Democrat, has the greatest support in north Idaho.

A Democratic source in eastern Idaho predicted the election of Sen. John Thomas, H. Rep. Charles A. Clark, and Gov. Chase A. Clark, Democrat.

See Close Race
All sources filed in the Statesman agreed the contest between former Gov. C. A. Hosteltter, Republican, and Gov. Chase A. Clark, Democrat, is a land-slip goal of "rising sentiment" and "strong management" and "effort" by the Roosevelt administration.

During the lecturer's hour, a farewell party was given, honoring the Pictorial and "Jobless" families, who are leaving the community center. Dinner was served, including peanut and candy trays, marshmallow string eating, guessing the owner of eyes, a spelling contest, and as a last game, slang expressions.

The Grange gave the departing families each a gift and was at the close of the party. WEST POINT

TURKEY CEILINGS WORRY-GROWERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP)—Because of the looming chopping bid and uncertainty about price ceilings, there are many an uneasy note in the nation's turkey farms today.

"Turkey prices, like those for almost everything else, are higher than a year ago. But what effect government ceilings will have on growers willing to raise their birds for a net profit is causing some anxiety. There also is concern about possible labor shortage and transportation difficulties.

The market for turkeys, as well as other types of poultry, is good. Dealers said today, considering wartime demand for all meats. Prices for live birds are quoted in quality, with a total of 20 cents per pound for young turkeys and 30 cents for hens.

JOHN THOMAS Should Be Re-elected U. S. SENATOR from IDAHO

When Sen. John Thomas first came to Idaho in 1909, he cast his lot with the others who saw a great future in the state's sagebrush prairie.

More recently, since the death of William E. Borah, he has served the state as a member of the United States senate, and in that capacity he is now a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket.

Much to his credit, with our country now at war, Senator Thomas has remained at his duties in Washington while his political adversaries at home were campaigning against him.

SABOTAGE

Chapter XVII

The news that Lincoln's great charging center, 210-pound Heavy Underwood, had suffered a serious injury, was enough to upset the whole city and halt the state. The news that the center, who, on the contrary, was hailed. If Underwood was out of Thursday's game at State U., then State U. had no cause to hope!

"The gambling game," coach Fin Miller in his journal column next morning, "are reviving their bets all over town. Your scribbles here last night might have cost me a hundred thousand in cipher, 100,000—dollars had already been bet on that game. I would win! That's a right well-rounded sum, Lousy as it is."

"The whole thing is lousy, the Journal and all decent people hold, because a stadium is supposed to be a place for amateur sports, not a casino for stinky-guy gamblers too lazy or too dishonest to work for a living. Especially about the game we clean when it involves aviation gadgets. Gambling on them in this way is a real contemptible habit. I'm rejecting it, is the lowest sense of it."

His words were wound up about it and he let go in vehement style. Toward the end he hummed.

"The truth is," wrote he, "Heavy Underwood's absence will just about swing the balance. It was Heavy who, among other made the holes for Norman Dana and Dunne Hogan, Coach Miller's two great backs. It was this heavy who spoke up the big play that the Astors tried last Saturday. Loss of any one of the three at this late hour would wreck the morale of the Whole Lincoln team, especially with Pop Miller himself barely out of bed from an illness."

"By the Miller end it Tuesday morning and almost cried. It was all so real. Yesterday afternoon she had stayed at the athletic field. In Pop's office with Nancy until late in the night, and she had cried desperately to be cheerful and say, hoping it would be contagious. The heavy was still in the valley."

"I have that,"

"If a man is in trouble, he—"

"You just mind your own—aw, honey, I don't want to be harsh with you, but don't go asking questions like me now. . . Mind!"

She kissed him, and Pop held her close and kissed her back.

"I'm going with you," she said. "You belong to your own school."

"Not this week. I took off."

"He knew enough not to buck that. His daughter could be as wild as he. Together they rode a trolley to his office. Nancy Hale was not due until 11. By being there they were and began opening his stock of mail, as she had done yesterday morning. She noted that Pop took the pistol from his overcoat and kept it on his person as he sat down. She decided to speak quite frankly.

"Pop, there's something you ought to know. Something I know."

"Dump! What?"

"This. She opened his center drawer. From concealment in a folder she drew the unopened mystery note. "You can't get by with that. Say nothing. And be ready." Pop came in yesterday morning and added, "And Pop—I didn't show it to Nancy. Or any body else. I was waiting until you were out of bed. I just guess you understand it." You wanted a gun."

He stared at the paper a long time.

"Yes," he said then, quietly, "I understand it. But understand now why you've been so worried. You knew more than I thought. But I was still fretting home. Your old Pop has been taking care of things for over 50 years. Just wait, and be sure."

"They had sudden steps in the hall, then, and both started a little in voluntary. Somebody knocked on the door. Pop glanced quickly at Alythe. "Open it," he breathed, and stand back as you do, just in case."

Strangely confident of him and of herself as well, she obeyed. But first there was a thud.

"Oh. . . Normap!"

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbriith

"Pop," she said, "you know you have a lot of friends."

They swarmed out to practice in that mood. Their spirit as false as that of a forced march rally. And the rally of it began at once to show Nick O'Day, the sub center, snatched the ball consistently over the back-field line. The kids and guard, bawled out Big Duane Hogan, who never in his life did anybody a wrong. Duane—like a lion—just kept silent and pleaded, with his eyes, for the gang to carry on.

By the night, it was like that all afternoon, no matter how much the players and the assistant coaches bawled. Alythe, who never thought thoroughly, went home with her heart in her shoes.

And now, at breakfast Tuesday, even the faces were grave tremble indeed.

"I'm going to head Pop Miller's announced flaps. "And don't you two women try to stop me! Two days is enough to nurse any blankety-blank cold!"

He didn't say blankety-blank, he said something quite a bit stronger. Strong enough to warn Mom Miller and Pop to let him have his way. Deliberately they went back into his bedroom with him after eating. She stood against the closed door, silent as he sat on the cot, his overcoat and hat. He glared at her in defiance when he pocketed Duane Hogan's suit.

"Pop," she began tentatively, "you know you have a lot of friends."
