Clark Gains Narrow Lead Over Bottolfsen

Governor's Edge Climbs to 134 in Hot Vote Contest

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 4 (AP)—The days when knowledge of election results was delayed while men on horseback brought in the tallies from scattered precincts appeared to be coming back today in Idaho's gubernatorial race.

With congressional incumbents safely reelected, Gov. Chase A. Clark, Democrat, was leading his Republican opponent, former Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen, by only 134 votes with 36 of the state's 846 precincts unreported.

Because of block ed roads in Idaho county and poor telephone facilities in other isolated districts the unofficial returns appeared unlikely to be completed.

On the return from the 810 reported districts, Clark had a total of 11,770 votes to 11,636 for Bottolfsen, making the contest even tighter than it was 10 years ago when Clark barely edged out his present opponent, then governor.

The 113 precincts unreported include three Bonner, 4 Bonneville, 3 Boundary, 1 Caribou, 1 Cassia, 10 Clearwater, 4 Lemhi, 2 Nez Perce, 1 Owyhee and 1 Washington. Estimates based on returns from 113 precincts in previous years indicated that not more than a total of 1,000 popular votes probably have been outstanding—enough figures in most elections but sufficient to alter the result entirely in the close race.

Canvass Nov. 23

Regardless of how the unofficial returns go, Clark appeared unlikely either man would concede before the official canvass Nov. 23. If the official returns are close, Clark appears (it will be) likely a recount will be held.

The late legislative contest, United States Senator John Thomas, Republican, was conceded Tuesday by his Democratic opponent, Glen Taylor, and with 765 precincts reported the unofficial count gave him 11,700 to 6,891 for Taylor.

Former Gov. H. C. Baird, Republican, conceded the reelection of Gov. Clark, and with 765 precincts reported the unofficial count gave him 11,700 to 6,891 for Taylor.

Public Representative Henry C. Dvorak in the second district.

With 419 precincts out of 446 reported, Dvorak had 41,810 votes to 31,911 for Masters, in the first district White had 29,913 to 25,186 for Baird, and 399 precincts out of 400 reported.

In the other state office contests, with 765 precincts reported, the unofficial tallies stood: Secretary of State—Clark (D) 68,404; Keating (R) 67,645; Treasurer—Bakula (D) 72,732; Attorney General—Miller (D) 66,358; Alliance (R) 65,241.

Other state office contests include: Commissioner—Roberts (D) 7,176; Chatham (R) 58,425.

Other contests—Campbell (D) 70,137; Weber (R) 59,285.

British Claim Enemy Plight Is Desperate

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP)—An authoritative British source said tonight that the position of German forces in North Africa is "desperate" and predicted the destruction of the vast Afrika Korps will be accomplished in a matter of a few days.

(Columbia Broadcasting system quoted Gen. Bernard Montgomery as declaring in a message to the eighth army that "complete victory is almost in hand." Montgomery said "we have the chance of putting the whole panzer army in the hands of the British."

The British spokesman said that the axis forces in North Africa are "badly pinned up against the coast."

Return Retreat

"We are just beginning to give the enemy a taste of what it is like to be on the defensive," he said. "We wouldn't do that sort of thing to civilians but we will do it to them. This is the first time since the war has started that German troops are retreating."

Must Squeeze Army

The source said the 8th army was not interested merely in occupying the area but in squeezing the enemy. "We are interested," he said, "in killing German soldiers."

FDR CONTROL OF CONGRESS, FADES UNDER GOP GAIN

BY LLOYD C. WILSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt's control of congress on labor and other domestic issues was jeopardized today though nearly complete general election returns show the Democrats won a bare majority of the house of representatives.

The Republicans gained 43 house seats and will have at least 208 seats in the new house containing the first week of January. The Democrats have won 218 seats, a majority. The Progressives have two seats and the Farmer-Labor and American-Labor parties have one each. Five seats still undecided.

With one contest in Montana still in doubt, the Republicans gained nine seats in the upper house for a total of 38. The Democrats will have 56 seats in the new senate and the Progressives will have one. The new 78th congress meets the first week of January. Control of the senate was not at stake in this election.

Heavy Reduction

Democratic majorities have been unexpectedly reduced. Democrats in the house will be cut off about of the comfortable working majorities they have enjoyed since the first week of January in 1937.

Republicans on Tuesday elected more senators and representatives than in any year since 1914.

The G. O. P. made important gubernatorial gains in New York, California, Michigan and Connecticut, although they lost a governor to the Progressive party in Wisconsin.

Wall Street is watching the Republican party with interest because it determines who shall be President of the United States.

Carey Wins

That does not necessarily mean that those states would have gone Republican. In the presidential election, but politicians will have their say.

Fuel on Flames of Soper-Musgrave "Scrap"

Here is Musgrave's version of a scrap from Soper's truck for Harold Soper, whose criticism of the scrap drive response moved this Twin Falls merchant to quick action. Musgrave who is on the right in the photo above, has another tractor similar to the one shown here, which he will put on the pile soon. This is the beginning of a new pile in front of the Fidelity bank building, across the street from the original one. The other man in the picture is Carl Hoffmeister, who was waiting to help unload the tractor.

Scrap Survey Plans Will 'Scrap Scrap' Flares—With 2 Piles Now

Oh, oh. Now we've started something!

When Harry Musgrave took up the challenge with a very definite "Harold Soper can't do that to me," a "scrap scrap" got under way, in which anything might happen but the end by November 11.

Soper recently threw eight tons of scrap into the USO scrap pile in front of the Twin Falls bank and "Scrap" committee, sharply criticized Musgrave's action.

Musgrave, after his remark that "Harold Soper can't do that to me," things began to happen. With the cooperation of the advance committee and city officials, he is starting to pile up scrap. The wood pile dented, and no audacious offer to let it to the three piles.

A one-day news was called. The students chopped enough wood to last through the winter.

Swarm of British Infantry, Planes, Tanks in Pursuit

By LEON KAY

CAIRO, Nov. 5 (AP)—Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's routed axis forces fled westward toward the Libyan border today, pursued by swarms of British tanks and infantry and allied planes that were making a heavy toll from disorderly and demoralized columns.

Today's first communique from British headquarters indicated that there had been no slackening in the flight of German and Italian legions whose sudden and stunning defeat was disclosed in a special communique yesterday.

The axis forces were speeding toward the more friendly sands of western Libya without their second and third in command, and perhaps without Rommel himself.

The Italian communique today admitted that the axis forces were falling back to the west after suffering heavy losses in their fighting between El Alamein and Fuka. Rome said that both Tobruk and Benghazi had been "seriously damaged" in allied air attacks.

Gen. George von Stumme, senior staff officer who held command during Rommel's long absence from the front, has been killed in action. Gen. von Thomsen, commander of the Afrika Korps and one of Germany's leading tank experts, was also killed. The British reported that 100 German tanks were already taken, including many other German and Italian armor.

Rommel whereabouts unknown

It was not known definitely whether Rommel was with the British several weeks ago, had returned to his troops.

A German military commentator said it was "quite probable" that Rommel was not in Egypt at the beginning of the retreat but it is "uncertain." He said Rommel might have arrived either just before or after the retreat (the latter started).

The British continued their advance into the desert front. The joint communique of the royal air force and the military command declared that the "8th Army" destroyed the Afrika Korps' eighth army tanks and troops were annihilating a large force of German armor. Bombers, planes, many manned by Americans, blasted at the fleeing axis forces, forcing them to scatter.

The communique was phrased in conservatively tentative terms.

Enemy Withdrawal

"In the north," it said, "the enemy retreat of Axis forces is withdrawing before our advancing forces. In the south, the enemy is holding its ground in certain positions. Allied bombers, fighter bombers and fighters yesterday throughout the day, pointed the enemy withdrawing along the coastal road."

The communique said Soviet forces were to be cut off by the ranks of encircled invasion forces northwest of Tripoli and one unit of German tanks was destroyed. The British reported that the Axis forces were suffering enormous losses suffered by "their troops."

The British tanks in the central Caucasus. Although still on the defensive, Soviet forces were credited with having destroyed 40 German "armored machines in bloody combat before the mountain passes southeast of Nalchik."

REDS BREAK UP NAZI ATTEMPTS TO MAKE GAINS

BY HENRY C. CASHIDY

MOSCOW, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Russians have broken up all the latest Nazi efforts to expand the invading front in northern Bessarabia and in some places, have forced the Germans to abandon several basic positions in their drive.

White bitter attacks and counterattacks developed about the ruble zone. The 100,000 German troops were credited with local gains north of the Black Sea, but the Black Sea front and in the Moscow sector of the central Caucasus.

A successful Soviet holding action was indicated before the Caucasian slopes and passes south of Nalchik.

Recently said the battle of Stalinград was characterized by a growing maneuverability of red army units.

Nazi Losses High

Observers stressed the heaviest of the German attacks, however, and that at least 6000 planes (the latest German loss reported was 4000) were destroyed.

The Nazi air force bombed the city's defenses steadily in support of the ground operations.

As German bombers flew over the ruins in groups of three to five, they were met by Soviet fighters. The ground forces were reported to have broken through a counter-attack.

OPA OPENS 2-DAY STUDY OF PORK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—The office of price administration today opened a two-day meeting with distributors of pork to wholesalers and retailers for the purpose of discussing the geographical distribution of hogs in the nation and pork price differentials in various areas.

Officials declared that the meeting was the result of a report received from the hog industry in connection with the new dollars and cents rationing system set up by rationing points.

They described the meeting as one of a series begun to help the government to keep the OPA informed on conditions in the industry. Previous sessions have been held on packers and producers. Men in attendance today include hog buyers, commission men, and a number of representatives of producer associations.

The national association of independent meat packers meantime has announced that an "acute shortage" of pork has been held on packers and producers. Men in attendance today include hog buyers, commission men, and a number of representatives of producer associations.

In one coal mining area, the association said, there is a hampering of work stoppage under the miners are allowed to obtain 75 percent of their own coal. The association said there is also a shortage in certain areas manufacturing.

The association said it would "strongly recommend" that the OPA regulation be amended to permit a more even flow of meat from the farmer to consumer.

"BOT" PICKS UP 15 BALLOTS HERE

Needing every vote he is able to overcome the narrow lead held by Clark in the board of county commissioners. The "BOT" (Board of Taxpayers) today picked up 15 additional votes in Twin Falls city.

The canvass will not be completed until Friday, the Republican candidate for governor was assured of cutting down Clark's lead by 15 votes when the board of county commissioners found that final unofficial results announced earlier for precinct No. 2 in Twin Falls, but not included a block of 43 ballots.

The "BOT" has announced the count but included them in their final tally as shown in the county canvass followed the 43 ballots as follows: Bottolfsen, 29; Clark, 14.

At noon the canvass of tally sheets had proceeded not quite half-way through the 30 precincts of the county. Chairman C. B. Lindsey said he had a check of voting on the constitutional amendments and on the senior citizens' grant act was still to be made.

Wickard Asks Full Deferment For American Farm Laborers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Claude I. Wickard today recommended before the War Relocation Authority that all farm workers be given occupational draft deferments and that war plants have left the farm contracts be prevented from such persons.

Speaking before the committee, which is considering four bills designed to grant Roosevelt broad power over the nation's manpower, Wickard revealed that during the past year more than 1,600,000 workers have left the farms and that further depletion would cut considerably the agricultural output.

He said that because of the large number of laborers going into these plants and into the armed services, farmers are being forced to rely largely on "older and less capable workers."

Wickard refused to endorse or criticize any of the pending bills, but he said the committee that he favored particularly for all farm workers, particularly those now in civilian.

WALLACE HAPPY A DEMO MARGIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Wallace today said he was "happy" after a White House visit, told reporters today that he considers it "fair" to say that the Republicans were not elected under the circumstances of this week's election.

Wallace said he was "pleased" with President Roosevelt regarding a forthcoming speech, but that he did not see any opportunity also to discuss the elections.

"I told him I thought the election was a fair one," Wallace said. "I think the President is doing a good job in the extreme popularity of the President in the circumstances of this election, and I think the President is doing a good job in the extreme popularity of the President in the circumstances of this election."

He added that he had given the President a newspaper clipping concerning the Gallup poll which showed that Wallace had a 10 percent lead in the election.

Asked how the President reacted to this interpretation, Wallace said: "I think you will find it is in excellent spirits."

Wallace said that few young persons are interested in the election and that there also is a large gap in voting strength because so many were in the armed forces.

FDR Studies Plan For Food Director

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt today said at the White House today to be still considering and discussing the possibility of appointing a food director to handle the war time problems of feeding Americans and her allies.

White House Secretary Stephen Early asked whether the President would appoint such an officer now, said "I don't think any decision has been made yet," however.

Radio Berlin said "great developments" could be expected on the Egyptian front during the next few days, and emphasized that the British there had been left to Rommel. It said British losses had been huge—more than 100 tanks and 100 planes—and that the British had not achieved a "decisive" penetration.

FDR CONTROL OF CONGRESS FADES

due weight in estimating 1944 prospects.

All aspects of the returns indicate an administration trend. But majority party losses are normal in off-year elections. They are important in proportion to their extent.

Congress remains solidly behind the administration on fighting and winning the war. Big war appropriations will continue to flow—both through the House and Senate. In other issues it looks like the President is in for legislative trouble.

There were heavy Democratic casualties in the northeast and midwest but the south came through with its customary quota of wins over victories for the Democrats who frequently line up against the administration in domestic questions although voting for all-out war.

More Opposites

Labor, social security and administration tax policies apparently are in for more opposition than heretofore. The House will probably be compelled to change his pattern somewhat under new legislation.

Manpower problems and the issue of inflationary controls also will tend to divide the Democrats, especially over occasional coalition with those elements of the Republican Party which have been in the 78th congress to buck the White House on other than strictly military issues.

And there is, of course, a hangover of suspicion in congress that the administration's domestic opportunities is unsatisfactory. This was particularly noticeable in the southwest Pacific was discouraged and there were intimations of embarrassing investigations to be developed after the election.

While the ground advance continued, allied planes sought to blast away obstacles on the way to the Japanese Buna base. The air assault which strafed the beaches and landing areas at Buna, itself, also found success in the Japanese base of Lae and Salamaua up the coast.

The attacks, executed to hinder any Japanese efforts to bolster Buna by sea, set many fires and probably destroyed an enemy medium tank, the raiders reported. Medium bombers also announced "heavy damage" inflicted on Buna and the Japanese-occupied villages of Maubesse and Aile in Portuguese Timor.

THE TREND IS CHANGING

Results of the election are often evidence of a changing trend in American public opinion. The voters have rejected their disapproval of bureaucratic tendencies under the present administration. Undoubtedly, confusion, delays, indecision and quibbling in the management of our war effort have helped to crystallize that changing opinion.

It is significant that in the case of the most outspoken critics of the administration there were taken so far as to see dictatorship in the making. The American people have demonstrated very conclusively that our democratic form of government still stands on firm ground.

The following excerpts give a cross-section of editorial comment on election:

"Louisville Courier-Journal (Dem)"—"There is nothing depressing, necessarily, about having a long winter of gloom in writing. Everything depends upon what is the character of the opposition. If it is high-minded, resolute for the prosecution of the war, its services can be immense.

"San Diego Union (Rep)"—"The American people have commended the administration and congress to get on with the war and put into effect the recent presidential plea that politics be adjourned for the duration."

"Spokane Spokesman-Review (Ind-Rep)"—"The most wholesome thing that could have happened in the United States."

"Los Angeles Times (Rep)"—"A smashing rebuke to the fiddling in Washington."

"Indianapolis News (Ind-Rep)"—"The President must feel obliged today to take counsel with his associates on what is the best way to carry on the war."

"Akron Beacon Journal (Rep)"—"Very obviously a slap at the Democratic party in general."

"Seattle Post-Intelligencer (Ind-Dem)"—"However, the results may be analyzed, they should afford no satisfaction to our enemies overseas."

"Chicago Tribune (Rep)"—"The people of this land have turned back the most terrible threat which has confronted them in their national history. The victory at the polls on Tuesday means that the last remaining land of freedom will remain free."

"Chicago Sun (Ind)"—"We do not interpret the result as a blanket condemnation of what is loosely called the conduct of the war. Yet it is certainly true that the people have expressed a sense of dissatisfaction with the administration."

"Washington Post (Ind)"—"An administration which has demonstrated a lack of complete faith in the American people has found their complicity returned in the demonstration of the polls. Mr. Roosevelt has been mandated to repair the glaring deficiencies which this war has exposed."

OTHER POINTS OF VIEW

800,000 MEN OVERSEAS
An announcement that the United States already has 800,000 men in the line of duty overseas, although we are entitled to encouragement at this evidence of activity in the first 11 months of war.

Eight hundred thousand men concentrated on one front, are a mighty army capable of striking devastating blows at any time. They are the men who would be capable of turning the tide of battle.

Unfortunately, they are not so concentrated. Probably 400,000 are in the Pacific, 200,000 in the Atlantic, and the rest in the Hawaiian Islands, smaller forces are in India, Egypt, Iraq, Italy, France, Ireland, Greenland, and other places too numerous to mention.

The only force large enough to strike a major blow is the 300,000 men in the Pacific. They are 75 per cent of these 800,000 overseas soldiers, most of them on Guadalcanal island, are actually engaged in the fiercest fighting, and goodness only knows when they will be really doing something.

The concentration of forces at the vital point. This principle America is violating from the necessity of guarding so many points in a vast theater of war by sending troops all over the map.

The result is that our immense overseas force of 800,000 men is spread so thin that it is no longer a force.

HASTY WAR MARRIAGES
This war, like earlier conflicts, is increasing the number of hasty marriages. Many a girl who has rushed into the arms of a soldier, many a girl who has rushed into a hasty marriage, is now regretting it. Others are happy, but many are not. The hasty marriages are now replacing them on the ground that soldiers generally have only short furloughs and short leaves. Many of these marriages are now being annulled. This is a sad reflection in a post-war increase in the divorce rate. The most effective way to curb the divorce rate is to stop the hasty marriages. People from "getting hitched" without giving serious thought to this serious action. The war should cause people to be more thoughtful instead of giving excuse for their removal.—Dallas News.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

RAVAGES—Army-navy medical authorities do not subscribe to Dr. M. J. Minors' arguments pro or con that American health is being ruined by the rigors of a long war. Remembering the fact that in 1917-1918 they are taking every precaution to forestall epidemics.

Disease chart indexes already are mounting in the United States. Nervousness, tension resulting from conflict together with abnormal living conditions, are the factors which account for the increase in disease. Accounts for public health diagnostic.

Since Pearl Harbor, both through illness and through death, many thousands of our soldiers have been lost. Private and public health officials are planning now to prevent this from happening again. A serious study here of the ailments which afflict so many European nations.

At least a dozen laboratories in Washington were technicians and nutritional experts are flouting ways and means of strengthening our people. In the first World War, Main answer is plenty of food, sleep and recreation, as the doctors will soon set forth in longer and longer articles.

MERIT—The army's promotion system has pre-empted not only private spawks from combat officers on various fronts. Favoritism which Washington shows toward military officials as a result of their who have been under fire is definitely hurting morale. Here is the inside story.

It is often happen war—and this is particularly true of operations in the Pacific—that a lieutenant or captain carries on after his superiors have been killed in action. In one instance reported to the effect that the youngsters exhibit the same or even higher qualities of leadership than those of their predecessors. They are younger, more aggressive and better trained. Departmental files are jammed with records of such excellent behavior and performance.

But instead of advancing a substitute as a reward for his valor and resourcefulness, Secretary Stimson is more likely to fill the vacancy with a white-collar lieutenant from the city on the banks of the Potomac. The most unbalanced the replacement has had no actual experience on the battlefield and must be given the position of instructor. From a tactical standpoint, this is a disaster.

POLITICIAN—Edward Flynn of the Bronx will probably act as chairman of the Democratic national committee which will meet in New York City on Dec. 15. Flynn is a politician, not a statesman. He has been a member of the White House as a Thanksgiving or Christmas present. He would have stepped out before the election if he had not been so busy with the Democratic machine.

The New York Times has not been an ideal boss. Flynn is a politician, not a statesman. He has been a member of the White House as a Thanksgiving or Christmas present. He would have stepped out before the election if he had not been so busy with the Democratic machine.

DESPERATION—Anglo-American military experts have agreed that the situation in the Pacific is desperate. The only way to win is by a surprise attack on the Japanese. The only way to win is by a surprise attack on the Japanese.

COMMUNIST CO-OPERATION
The Daily Worker, official organ of the Communist party in the United States, complains that when Henry Kaiser went east for 20,000 shipyard workers, he left untapped a reserve of 50,000 California Negroes looking for jobs.

By its treatment of the article, the Worker infers that Kaiser was discriminating against Negroes. The established fact that Kaiser is willing to use Negroes, but has been prevented by the union with which he has a contract, was not mentioned.

The Worker's approach gives a typical Communist picture of a big business man discriminating against a race. The truth is that Kaiser is not a big business man, but a little industrialist who is keeping his hands out of the better jobs in Kaiser shipyards.

SPUDMEN'S UNION EFFORT REVEALED

IDAHO FALLS, Nov. 5 (AP)—Heard of charges against Idaho potato farmers by an Idaho member continued today as attorneys pondered testimony by Ray Hansen, I. U. O. of America organizer, who told yesterday of efforts to organize a union among the spud workers last winter.

The potato dealing firms are accused of anti-unionism. Hansen said that at one meeting, called by the Idaho Traffic Association one of the respondents, he heard accusations against union organizers as "being racketeers, trouble makers and scoundrels."

Hansen admitted he was given permission to speak at the meeting to outline purposes and operation features of the union. Other testimony related to other meetings taking place between union representatives, employees and potato dealers in effort to reach some agreement through negotiations, which failed.

At another meeting, Hansen testified E. T. Taylor, state Grange member, accused the union of trying to place a collision in products through its activities and was quoted as saying: "The Grange is interested in the potato and will fight them to the limit." The Grange was not named as a respondent in the complaint, but the charges accuse the respondents of promoting Grange opposition to union activity.

"Method Not Practical" Under cross examination Hansen stated that at one meeting the farmers expressed a desire for an independent union and advised that he rejected a suggestion for organizing by mail because "such a method was not practical." Trial Examiner William A. Barton of Washington who is hearing the case announced that upon completion of testimony, he would read several days of an interim report, after which the parties may submit exceptions and final decision will be handed down in the fall. This may take a month or more, he indicated.

Stimson Raps Restriction on Use of 18-19-Year Army Boys

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Secretary of War Henry H. Stimson today vigorously criticized proposals in congress to place restrictions on the use of 18 and 19-year-old troops in combat. He said the senate-approved amendments imposing such a restriction would shake the hands of the commander-in-chief.

The House is expected to be fought to allow them when congress resumes work next week. The senate amendment would require that 18 and 19-year-olds be given at least a year's training in their country before being sent overseas. The House had refused to consider such an amendment, but now the vote on the senate proposal is 230-170.

BRITISH SUGGEST "TURNING POINT" OF WAR HAS ARRIVED

ITALIANS EXPECT MAINLAND DRIVE

BY EDWARD W. BEATTIE
 LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP)—British military observers today suggested the turning point of the African war may have arrived and the London press quoted Italian reports that the allies were in the initial phase of preparations for an attack on the European mainland through Italy.

The London Evening Star quoted the Rome radio as asserting the offensive of the imperial eighth army was designed as the first move of a general attack on the axis.

The Italians suggested that the allies hoped to oust the Germans and Italians from all of north Africa and then concentrate for a drive across the Mediterranean into Europe. The most likely target of such an offensive, said radio Rome, was Italy.

Designed to Clear Way
 British military opinion agreed with the eighth army's opinion that was designed to clear the way to elimination of the axis from Africa.

It was believed that the operation had started auspiciously and it was hoped that the constant pressure of mobile British forces and air bombardment would cut up the retreating axis columns and turn their withdrawal into a rout.

However, they warned that heavy fighting still lies ahead. The situation of Marshal Erwin Rommel was regarded as the most serious he has ever faced in Africa. He was expected to be methodically proceeding his retreat with a screen of armored units and his own tanks, indicating he still hoped to make another stand.

Retreat a Good Order
 It was reported that German units were falling back in fairly good order but that some Italian troops were in disorder.

As the fighting moved back to open desert, it was said, some would be forced to guard against a sweeping British flanking drive, designed to force him to give up the line.

King George sent a special message of congratulations to Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, British commander in chief in the middle east.

The eighth army, magnificently supported by the royal air force and units of the royal navy, is pushing the axis a blow the importance of which cannot be exaggerated," the king said.

ALLIED GAIN IS HITLER'S WORRY

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
 WIDE World War Analyst
 LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP)—The allied triumph in Egypt gives strong hope that we are witnessing the final stages of the war for distant end to Hitler's hold on north Africa.

The next all-out effort is expected to be the attack on the Axis in the west. The Vichy government is reported to be in a state of confusion about north Africa and from Rear Admiral Luttwak of the German naval staff we get the impression that the Axis is in a state of confusion.

"U. S. Agents"
 "Africa swarms with United States agents whose gaze turns to Casablanca."

Is Hitler conjuring up big bears to torture his sleep? He will know in due course and so shall we. Remember: it is a most comfortable feeling to see him sweat.

We must temper our natural optimism with caution because there is still a long way to go before the axis armies are annihilated. That is the task before us—the destruction of the axis in north Africa and the completion of the European war.

Threat to Italy
 Restoration of British domination over the Mediterranean area would remove a threat to the strategic mid-east.

It might result in the complete collapse of Italy.

It would really strengthen Spain's position of neutrality and this would ease a situation which has been constant worry.

No wonder the fuhrer's boasted intuition is making him see pink clouds in the distance. He is right. It looks as though his intuition might be on the right track this time.

British Write New History in Handling of Desert's Warfare

BY RICHARD D. McMILLAN
 WITH THE BRITISH IN THE WESTERN DESERT, Nov. 4 (AP)—The British have written a new chapter in the history of desert warfare.

They are out in the open desert now, driving steadily against the Afrika Korps along the desert tracks, parallel to the railroad and the highway along the coast.

The enemy's armored forces, artillery and anti-tank guns are still fighting back grimly but each day and night our troops have hacked their way through and each day our guns have mowed more thickly and our planes have hit harder.

The enemy's strongest positions are far behind us.

We know Marshal Erwin Rommel from old and he has often shown himself able to get out of bad holes and swing back for a new attack.

But this time it appears to be different.

I have spent the day watching our superior armored forces pound the axis. It is worth the trouble of the United States.

At last our boys have got the tools and they are using them to defeat the axis.

Here is a picture of the front line. Imagine a dozen tracks across the desert, winding through mine-fields and tanks roaring through the deep dust, throwing up cascades of sand and belching flames and the guns and the transport.

We pass heavy siege guns hooded by their camouflage. Hitting at the enemy miles away. We drive through the blinding, choking dust.

It is the rum of American men and machines at work—24 hours a day.

Five men and women—working hard and fast because they want to stay free.

Superb machines—powered by the world's greatest supply of electric power—pouring out weapons of war in tremendous quantities.

Your people talk with handcrats at their backs—your machines are working as hard as they can—your power production is far less than ours.

Since you get the jump on us, Adolf. But you can't take money, you are against the most highly mechanized nation on earth. Your system of state slavery can't compete with a way of

ALLIES SEEN ON ROAD TO VICTORY

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, prime minister of the Union of South Africa, suggested today that allied successes in Egypt might assume the proportions of a victory which would be "the turning point of this war."

Smuts, whose confidential conference in London preceded the current allied onslaught in which South African troops are playing an important role, said the suggestion in messages of congratulations to officers in Egypt.

King George VI described the rout of Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps as a brilliant victory and his phrases set the pace for elated comment by normally restrained British military observers.

The British radio hammered the story home to the peoples of Germany, Italy and the Nazi-occupied and neutral nations of Europe with broadcast after broadcast in many tongues.

Political commentators said Prime Minister Churchill would report to the house of commons on the fighting in Egypt in a new review of the war when parliament reassembled.

Farewell Party Given for Pastor

HARRISBURG, Nov. 5 (AP)—John C. Cox, who celebrated his final sermon at the Assembly of God church Sunday, and Mrs. Cox will occupy a new church near Ogden, Utah.

A full house greeted the Coxes at the church for their last service. Mrs. Cox is a member of the church. Many lovely gifts were received by Mrs. Cox and a beautiful gift from the church to both in recognition of their services during the past two years.

The program included musical numbers by the children's chorus and vocal duets by Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Cox, J. D. Smith, Casaville, and several numbers by the children's choir. Mrs. Cox is a member of the church. Many lovely gifts were received by Mrs. Cox and a beautiful gift from the church to both in recognition of their services during the past two years.

School Yearbook Won't Be Dropped

According to Miss Gladys White, Corvallis sponsor, Twin Falls high school will continue to publish its yearbook.

"Because of war and rationing conditions it was feared at first that it would be impossible to print the annual."

Students were appointed in all four periods of the yearbook.

Those students were: Pat Goodyear, Betty Hoover, Don Baker, Celes Hoyt, Margaret Parker, Nonna Pank, Margaret, Georgia Burgess, Bob Wallace, Lenell Taylor, Roger Warner, David Dingman, Ross Marie Hammon, Grace Wegener, Betty Lu Dick, Helen, Virginia McElroy, Junior Hansen and Leroy Elliot.

The Babcock Cover company, Los Angeles, was awarded the contract for covers, but the engraving contract has not yet been decided.

Bill Haley is editor of the "Covote."

Stainless Steel Use Is Prohibited

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—The government today has prohibited the use of stainless steel in more than 75 products ranging from coffee pots and light fixtures to ammunition boxes and airplane engines.

At the same time, the production board banned the use of highly mechanized nation on earth. Your system of state slavery can't compete with a way of life that respects the rights of individuals.

What have your folks got to fight for? Goodies, Goering & Gang get all the gravy. Over here, men know they'll be rewarded for initiative.

That's a powerful incentive. It has helped all our great industries to grow, it has made the electric industry, for example, to give folks just prices as much as they can get. It's money as they get 10 to 15 years ago. That's our system of practical business management under public regulation.

American business management is behind that electric hum, doll— that electric hum that will rise and roll and beat upon your brain—until you hardly hear our bombers overhead!

It's the hum of life, Adolf!

Clifford Retains Post in Grange

HAGERMAN, Nov. 5.—The Hagerman Valley Grange has re-elected Clifford as manager.

Charles Fancher was elected secretary, Dick Pope Charles Fancher, Floyd Marsh, assistant steward, and Raymond Carpio a member of the executive committee.

Installation will be at the last meeting in December. Mrs. William Glauzier and her committee served refreshments. On Nov. 16, Mr. I. W. Blaker, agricultural agent, will also give a talk to Grangers.

ISSUE MAY AWAIT BALLOT CANVASS

BOISE, Nov. 5 (AP)—Idaho citizens, for the second time in the Oregon state's 52 years in the union, may have to wait for the state board of canvassers to decide who will be their governor for the next two years.

Secretary of State George Curtis said that "undoubtedly, the official canvass will determine the outcome of the current battle between Gov. Chase A. Clark, Democrat incumbent, and former Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen, the Republican boss.

The gubernatorial election of 1916 was in doubt until the state canvasser was completed. Most recently, Democrat, defeated his Republican opponent, D. W. Davis, by only 572 votes last year.

The canvassing board, which includes the governor, attorney general, auditor, treasurer and secretary of state, will meet Nov. 23 to take the official tally.

HANSEN 7,000 U. S. MEN LAND IN EGYPT

Rev. and Mrs. John C. Cox left for the front near Ogden, Utah, where they are planning to organize a church of the Assembly of God, and secure other equipment. The couple have ministered at the local church for the past two years and delivered their final service Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Smith and son, J. D. Smith, Casaville, Mo., arrived recently for six weeks' visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Bennett.

Leut. Donald E. Smith, and his son and brother, stationed with the army at Camp Roberts, Calif., is also spending his furlough with his parents. The entire group were feted at a venison dinner at the Bob Peterson home in Kimberly.

Several of the Hansen families have moved recently to Twin Falls. The group included Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boatright, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Warburton and children and Mrs. Mrs. Constance Ross.

Bert Bennett has entered the army and is now at Salt Lake City.

The final in a series of eye operations was received by Miss Elizabeth Neuman at the Twin Falls county general hospital. Miss Neuman is back at her home and convalescing satisfactorily.

California Votes Retention of Tax

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5 (AP)—California, with a $500,000 surplus in its state treasury and faced by increasing federal income taxes, declined to relieve themselves of their own state income tax.

A proposition which voters turned down in Thursday's election would have repealed the existing state tax and provided any future state tax would be levied on the basis of the individual's earnings, the tax, which Californians want to keep, is identical with the old federal income tax law but Congress began increasing the tax and lowering exemptions.

Honor Asked for Wasp Hero's Son

BOSTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—As his first official act on being elected to congress, former Gov. James M. Curley today had asked President Roosevelt to make arrangements for the future appointment to Annapolis of little Jackie Shea, five-year-old son of Comdr. John Kimberty, reported missing after sinking of the carrier Wasp.

GEORGE M. COHAN, ACTOR, WRITER OF "OVER THERE," DIES

You'll Get a Universal Ration Book Soon

WADEVILLE STAR SUGGESTS AT 64

By MARTIN KANE
NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—George M. Cohan, the Yankee singer, actor and writer, died today of a heart ailment, after a long illness. He was 64 years old.

He died this morning in his 15th apartment, surrounded by his wife, his son, George Jr., and his daughters, Mary and Helen. Cohan, according to an official statement which forced him to undergo an operation, had been suffering from a heart ailment since he never fully recovered from the flu which he contracted in his own country as the most fitting summer of his 54 years in the theater.

Still was entitled to the rank of major in the United States Army. He was struck at Pearl Harbor. He wrote another song, "Over There," which was the old Cohan hit, and the words rang true, but it was not the perfect song which he had made "Over There" the marching song of a million.

At the eve of publication it was decided to let the song rest on the altar. The decision to let the song rest was expressed two years ago, when he said:

War ration book No. 2, an all-purpose book which can be used either for coupon or point system rationing, will be issued by the government soon and is expected to be distributed to the public about the first of the year. It is a two-page book.

U. S. Pilots, Planes Take Major Part in Allied Desert Advance

U.S. CRAFT BLAST MAJOR JAP BASE

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, a delayed United States bomber and attack-bomber unit last night occupied the high altitude, they could see the enemy running wildly for cover in the new Guinea forest.

Two-engine Martin "marauder" B-26 medium bombers and Swift twin-engine Douglas "Boston" A-20 attack planes made two daylight sweeps against the base which the Japanese occupy. The result for bombing attacks against allied positions on his island.

Two bombers were shot down by Lt. W. J. Laugier of Boise, Ida. It really did it in a lot of good to have the first attack of the war. The Japanese are reported to have lost a number of planes and a considerable amount of equipment.

The B-26 went over first, dropping their bombs, and were followed immediately by the A-20s.

(This apparently was a new-style job against the Japanese in New Guinea. The B-26s were equipped with an air assault combining speed and power. The Marauders are reported to be the fastest planes of their type in the world and the A-20s, built to work at low altitudes and in rough terrain, when used as bombers, were the British "Havoc" night fighter plane.)

The raid was a new, thrilling experience for two A-20 pilots, Capt. Albert J. B. Jones of Shreveport, La., and Lt. J. B. B. Jones of Shreveport, La.

General, allied planes have not been bothered by axis planes or anti-aircraft fire. More than 100 U. S. army air striking force units have taken off in the last few days in the pursuit of the fleeing enemy.

American fighter and bomber squadrons, with hundreds of other allied planes, were taking off almost every minute day and night. In the last few minutes, as this dispatch was written, two all-American squadrons of allied fighters took off in an enemy attack yesterday morning. It is the kind of work at which the Americans are wonderful at. The enemy transport rushing westward in long, snake-like columns. The first day bomber formation of allied fighters followed. An enemy attack yesterday morning on an even bigger bomber unit. The first day bomber formation of allied fighters followed. An enemy attack yesterday morning on an even bigger bomber unit.

RITE TO HONOR CIVIL WAR VET

PAYETTE, Nov. 5 (AP)—Funeral services will be conducted today for Taylor Charles Egan, 85, an Idaho veteran of the Civil War, who died Sunday at a Payette hospital.

He was born Feb. 18, 1857, at Harpersville, Mo., and served in the plains in a covered wagon at the age of 16. Among his extensive travels he participated in the gold rush to the Yukon, and he homesteaded in the Indian Territory of Oklahoma in 1892. He came to Idaho in 1917 where he since has resided.

In 1918 Egan attended the G. A. R. encampment at Gettysburg. Survivors include the following sons and daughters: Cody Lyon of Pruffland, Williams town of Oyster, and Nellie and Lotie Lyon of Payette.

Loss of Plane, Squadrons Told

PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 5 (AP)—Three American squadrons of carrier-based torpedo planes were virtually wiped out in the battle of Midway, but their sacrifice enabled the carrier force to deliver blows on the Japanese fleet, headquarters of the United States Pacific fleet revealed today.

Squadron number six, commanded by Lt. Comdr. E. E. Lindsey, was the only one to return to Pearl Harbor. It had 12 planes, and only four returned, while squadron five, headed by Lt. Comdr. E. E. Massey, lost 10 of its 12 planes.

Construction of squadron eight, from which only six planes were salvaged, previously was reported. The course of the three squadrons in attacking the enemy in the face of fierce anti-aircraft fire and swarms of fighter planes, accounted for a considerable number of the 12 Japanese naval craft sunk or damaged in the battle. Only one American aircraft carrier and a destroyer were lost in the engagement. The Japanese also lost at least 272 planes.

BERLIN TELLS OF AXIS WITHDRAWAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—A Berlin broadcast said today that German and Italian troops on part of the Alps front have been ordered to be drawn to a prepared second line.

The broadcast declared, however, that there can be no talk of a breach of the German-Italian front by the British troops, and said the Germans are continuing their resistance.

German radio beamed broadcasts to the east from Berlin, saying the Americans in an effort to picture the retreat as a normal move of the defense under heavy assault pressure.

BOSTON COLLEGE ONLY BEATEN EAST GREY TEAM

Penn and Army Are Next in Top Rankings

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Packed with power, Boston college ruled eastern college late gridders today, and only overconfidence apparently can stop the Eagles short of an undefeated season.

A hard, experienced line and a loaded backfield have carried the Eagles to five straight victories simply by creating the opportunity to lose Boston college as the only undefeated and untied team in the section.

Crowding B. C. top honors, although both have been defeated, are Pennsylvania and Army. Penn lost only to Georgia pre-flight and was tied by Princeton, but regained prestige by knocking Army out of the unbeaten class Saturday.

Great Line Play—The tip-off on the great play by the line at Boston college's victory march comes in statistics of their five games. In victories over West Virginia, Clemson, North Carolina pre-flight, Wake Forest, and Georgetown, the Eagles have scored 222 points and gained 1,821 yards on the ground. The air route has been the most effective against them, allowing only 200 yards in five games. The ground has gained 432 yards in air. This gives a total of 1,821 yards against 202 for the combined opposition.

Only North Carolina pre-flight, a collection of pro all-stars, made it tough for the Eagles as it did on Oct. 25, the air ended, victors over Harvard, North Carolina State, Temple and Syracuse, gained 27 yards with only 238 for the collections.

Strong Poles—West Virginia, conqueror of South Carolina and Penn State, was topped 21-0 and outscored 127 to 128 yards. Clemson, beaten 14-7, got only 25 yards on the ground. A. C. Wick up 343 yards. Wake Forest, winner over Duke and Clemson, was outscored, 27-0, getting only 142 yards while the Eagles gained 492 for the combined opposition.

Only North Carolina pre-flight, made it tough for the Eagles as it did on Oct. 25, the air ended, victors over Harvard, North Carolina State, Temple and Syracuse, gained 27 yards with only 238 for the collections.

Four games remain, against Temple, Princeton, Boston U. and Holy Cross. The first two figures to be the toughest and past them, Coach Dean Myers said, "Only overconfidence should beat us."

Penn's offense, carrying it to the top of the yardage list, has gained 1,821 yards in six games, with 601 yards against Yale and 619 against Columbia. The team, however, it has given up 1,821 yards, being outplayed by the pre-flighters.

South Bend, Ind.—Hank Mauer of Army ones was rated by Frank Leahy, Notre Dame coach, as the best prospect all-around back he had ever seen.

Montgomery, Ala.—"It's a small world," opines the Alabama Journal.

SERIAL STORY

PLAY BY PLAY

BY PAUL DAVID PRESTON

BYE GETS A PRESENT

There are many about opportunity, Blythe Miller reflected.

Some say it knocks only once, and the implication is that there's the door to go if you don't open the door. Blythe was ready to believe it. Yesterday just after lunch, chance had led her to a perfect opportunity to tell her father and Duane Hogan all about Nancy. Her heart was throbbing with excitement. There had been a tender moment between the three of them, a privacy there in the Miller living room, when almost in the two men would have understood her, and together they might have worked out a plan.

"But there," Blythe said now, thinking, "everybody had just been praising Nancy. And—saw in effect comparing her and me. I couldn't have told that awful thing about her here! Anyway I—the simple-minded girl—didn't want to tell with her coming and a friend."

Remembrance of baby Scooter Hale had been the last factor again. Scooter's father had been slain trying valiantly to defend Prof. Hester, King of the University. If she were—impaired or anything, it would just about wreck her present life.

And, too, Blythe had realized in her little-51 belief that she could work out something along the same matter didn't suit itself in some intricate way. But there it was Wednesday morning, and she had done nothing and no miracle had occurred. Right now she sat in college in Pop's office, her hands gripping the gambler, she didn't think like being here alone, but on this morning, the State U. game she couldn't be really alone or lonely for hours. Too many people kept calling her "Blondie."

There was the press to answer, the papers to be read, the fan letters to be answered, the long distance from State U. office, 300 miles away, the colored papers, the State U. game she couldn't be really alone or lonely for hours. Too many people kept calling her "Blondie."

She was glad Pop didn't have to be alone. Pop was danger, and she was danger. Yesterday, Duane Hogan had offered his help, without knowing much about the trouble. Pop had been touched by it, but had merely said he would surely call Duane if needed.

Good old Pop had suddenly put in an act of high-brainpower, scoffing at the matter of the papers as a bit of private fun, had, that was the same little fun I'm sure as to keep the football players from being too football players on an even keel emotionally.

Henry Underwood, star center, was already out of tomorrow's line, injured when his plane was involved, so only sobriety. Pop couldn't afford to let his mind back, Duane Hogan, carrying any news on any other.

"But that doesn't mean Pop is out of danger!" Blythe breathed now. "Those gamblers—they'll do anything!"

She had reason to hope they would not be able to approach Pop now until after Thursday. For now, the papers had frightened him, and he was almost constantly in a crowd. That amounted to protection. And the same gamblers, she realized, would make their showing again tonight in Nancy Hale's apartment upstairs. By then, Blythe felt she would have worked out a plan to trap them. Some kind of plan.

"Five just got to get right down to it!" she told herself. "I'm sitting here at Pop's desk. As quick as I can, I'll have to—"

The phone rang, and took to Duane Hogan. Blythe looked at the phone. She wanted to run about and things. Blythe liked him, a grand old man, a father figure, a grandfatherly figure, and for the time being, she was glad to have him.

Then it came, and in for their faces and instructions for the future tomorrow in the stadium. They hurried to talk small talk just because Blythe was the coach's daughter and a dark-haired, violet-eyed girl. The moment they left she heard someone outside calling.

"Hi! Hi! Hi!"

She had to go out and help baby Scooter Hale, mature gentleman of the bathroom doors had all blown shut and were too heavy even for his maturity. Also, his mother needed readjusting his sweater was unbuttoned, and his puppy Link was shivering in the November cold. She brought them both inside to play soldier and staid guard over the radiator. Scooter was faithful, but Link the pup, staidly seen to sleep on duty.

There was a moment's interval again for planning. Tonight—this was Sunday—Nancy was to live Duane and Norman to her apartment and drive them, as carefully planned. Indeed, the "change" had already been accomplished. It had been done yesterday under Blythe's own eyes at the Miller home, and calling that fact into Blythe's mind—and she rather grasped at the scene of fury it helped offset the love and sympathy for the little boy, Nancy's little boy. It would be easier if she could only hate Nancy Hale!

She might have made a contribution. Nancy was to live Duane and Norman to her apartment and drive them, as carefully planned. Indeed, the "change" had already been accomplished. It had been done yesterday under Blythe's own eyes at the Miller home, and calling that fact into Blythe's mind—and she rather grasped at the scene of fury it helped offset the love and sympathy for the little boy, Nancy's little boy. It would be easier if she could only hate Nancy Hale!

with Nancy herself. They held packages.

"Hello, hi, By!" Norman halted her. "Quinta be out, it's beginning to snow!"

"Norman has been from the store," Blythe said. "I'll have to go out in a minute. Everything was in a stir. Scooter suffering happily. Link the pup demanding attention from everyone. A good-looking Norman talking and laughing and opening packages as Nancy directed. It was altogether a gay moment—except for By. She had to bite her lips to keep from showing the pressure within her head. It hurt, hurt terribly, to know the treachery of this sweet-looking Nancy Hale.

All at once there was an appealing-looking package which Nancy brought to Blythe in a hope as perfect as if it had been genuine and sincere.

Blythe opened the package mechanically, saying nothing. She took out a handsome hand-tooled leather purse. Blythe knew it cost $25 if it cost a dime.

"Wow!" breathed Norman, impressed.

"I had my pay check," Nancy was saying, smiling, "and I wanted to get this for you, dear. You've been so awfully kind to Scooter and me, Norman, if I ever had a sister, I'd want it to be Blythe."

4 STATES LEAVE RANKS OF DEMOS

By JOHN H. BEAL
 NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—New Republican governors in four key states assured important minority influence in the conduct of the war by pulling out of the party until striking distance of national dominance was again reached.

Tuesday's gubernatorial contests in 37 states gave Republicans control of state administrations in New York, California, Michigan and Connecticut, all now ruled by Republicans. The Republican lost Wisconsin to the Progressives. Two state governorships were still in doubt—Wyoming, now Republican, and Idaho, now Democratic.

Republican candidates were elected to replace nine senators who, with only one exception, were strong supporters of the New Deal. The exception was Sen. William J. Bulwer, R. D., a pre-war isolationist and opponent of some of the administration's domestic policies, who was previously defeated in his state's Democratic primary.

GOP Gains
 The Republican senatorial pick-ups came from Nebraska, where the Independent Sen. George W. Norris; New Jersey, where Sen. William H. Smith, D., had held the seat since he was proud to be President Roosevelt's wartime "rubber stamp"; and Delaware, Iowa, Michigan and North Dakota, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Only one senatorial contest was still in doubt. That was the race in Montana between Democratic Sen. James H. Murray, a strong New Deal supporter, and Republican J. Wellington Murray held a slight lead.

Senate lineup
 If final returns send Murray back to his seat, the political lineup of the new senate which will meet Jan. 3, 1943, will be: Democrats, 57; Republicans, 33; Progressives, 1. This compares with a present lineup of 58 Democrats, 39 Republicans, 1 Progressive and 1 Independent.

While control of the populous area of New York, California, and Michigan gives the Republicans a wide base from which to operate in preparation for the 1944 national political campaign, the minority party's influence on national affairs is particularly that of the war—will be enhanced chiefly through its substantial increases in senate and house.

DEMOS CONFUSED BY GOP UPSURGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—Congressmen, some of them turned into "game ducks" by Tuesday's elections, were returning to the capitol today for the few remaining weeks of the 77th congress.

Many Democrats still were confused about the reasons behind the upsurge of Republican power.

Republicans on the other hand, generally joined in a view expressed by their senate leader, Charles McNary of Oregon.

"There were a number of perfectly understandable reasons why the Republican party made the gains it did. But this election is only a breeze compared to what will happen in 1944—if the new members of congress make the changes, reforms and amendments to the policies of the administration which are so badly needed now."

Margin Cut
 The present Democratic house membership of 265 will be cut to not more than 225 and the Republicans will gain nine senate seats when the 78th congress opens in January. Until then, there will be many "game ducks" still in office.

Some Democratic leaders agreed with McNary that there were "perfectly obvious reasons" behind the shift in voting strength, but many, like Sen. Burnet R. Maybank, D. S. C., who was re-elected without opposition, couldn't find even one reason.

Similar sentiments came from Sen. Chas. McNary, D. Ind.

"We Democrats don't mind being kicked a few lines, providing the kicks are administered in different places. But this time we got kicked so many times in the same place that we are getting sore."

Norris Persevered
 Veteran Sen. George W. Norris, Ind., Neb., who was one of the victims of the Republican sweep, said simply that he did not "know what on earth happened," but that apparently the Republicans would soon be in stronger positions than in many years.

"All I really know is that I am out," Norris told reporters. "I have been repudiated by my people—the people whom I have loved and served for half my life."

Norris, aged 73, took the first time in his life, his own efforts have been thrown in the dust and trampled by the will of his state. My work is to make Nebraska one of the nation's leading states and America the leader of the nation of the world have been thrown in my face, repudiated by the voters."

CHILE ROUNDS UP AXIS SPY RINGS

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 5 (AP)—The government, having arrested 12 Germans and Italians expelled from Chile for spying, reformed today its efforts to smash the organization to which they belonged.

A dispatch from Valparaiso said seven of the arrests included one woman, Catalina Werg Hartmann, were in prison there.

Minister of Interior Raul Morales announced late last night that the government had issued a decree expelling them. Several are Germans, and one is an Italian.

They were accused of "crimes of espionage for the totalitarian governments," and Morales said the hunt for their accomplices was being pressed, "because here Chilean government wishes to exercise all diligence in establishing all connections and ramifications of every nature of the spy ring."

Criffles Memorandum
 Morales criticized the publication of a memorandum by the Inter-American emergency committee for the political influence of the continent, meeting in Montevideo.

The memorandum included a report on the espionage which was furnished to Chile last June 30. It consisted of evidence largely gathered by United States agents, revealing about a spy ring headed by Ludwig von Bollen, German air attaché in Santiago, and many decoded messages to Germany, which had been responsible for the sinking of United Nations vessels.

Happed by Welles
 The memorandum, Morales said, precipitated action "which the ministry of interior tried to avoid in order to produce the greatest success, considering the net results of the investigations."

The United States Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles recently criticized Chile and Argentina, the two remaining neutrals in the western hemisphere, on the ground that they harbored six agents who were informing German submarines about shipping.

Subsequently, Chile and Argentina formally protested Welles' remarks and President Juan Antonio Rios of Chile, indignantly postponed a visit to the United States at President Roosevelt's invitation.

PASTOR TO MOVE
 HANSEN, Nov. 3 (AP)—Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Brunell, who have resided south of Hansen for the past six years and who have served the Hansen Calvary Baptist church since its organization two years ago, are planning to move to Kimberly, Nev. Brunell will continue in charge of the pulpit at the local church.
