

Governor's Race Still Undecided; Clark Holds Lead

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 6 (AP)—Three days after the election, about the only thing that might be said with assurance today regarding Idaho's next governor is that he is no novice at the job.

So close is the battle between Democrat Gov. Chase A. Clark and former Republican Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen, beaten by Clark two years ago, that only the official count will decide it.

Clark held a 320-vote lead 72,010 to 71,620 in unofficial returns from 818 of Idaho's 846 precincts.

There is a plentiful margin for error there as a mistake of only one-tenth of one per cent in the total vote could change the lead easily.

Officials in each county must tabulate the vote within 10 days after the election and then forward the totals to Boise where the state canvassing board will meet Nov. 23 to go over the entire balloting.

Right all the way The Clark-Bottolfsen race has been tight from the earliest returns.

Clark began yesterday's counting with a lead of 138 votes, the Dem. county vote gave Clark an additional 135 yesterday afternoon.

The 138 precincts unreported were virtually all of rural areas, blocked roads or other factors. And there is little hope any unofficial figures would be available from them.

Clark began yesterday's counting with a lead of 138 votes, although losing a few at one time, never fell behind his rival.

Attorney General Bert H. Miller appeared to hold a safe lead over Ed Nelson, Republican, compiled 6,661 votes to 6,481 for Democrat D. Baird on the basis of returns from 708 precincts. Lieut. Gov. Charles C. Goetzelt did not seek re-election.

The 400-precinct non-precise measure for aged residents won 10,239 votes to 10,228 for Democrat as against 0.234 "noes."

DOES WORRY AT ARMED VENTURES

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP)—With Rommel's armies fleeing westward in Egypt under a thrust of annihilation by the British eighth army, the axis showed again today a wary and new-colded war strategy might imperil its position elsewhere in Africa and in the Mediterranean.

Axis strategists are showing uneasiness regarding allied movements to the south and west of Libya in the London Daily Telegraph commented.

For a third successive day the German radio talked of the possibility of a concentration of United Nations warships and transports at Alexandria, and that the Italian vessels had reached the small harbor there. Previous axis reports said that American troops had reached Gibraltar.

Discussions Plan Earlier this week the German commentator, Rear Admiral Luttwak, discussed on the Berlin radio the possibility of allied operations against north Africa, led by American, and a movement against Casablanca from the Atlantic.

Wichy France and Spain divide the control of north Africa. Casablanca is the only port of major importance.

The London Evening Standard summed up the current concern of the Axis as follows:

"All Africa may soon be at stake. Such is the fear in Berlin and Rome."

Non-Complete Destruction Anything less than complete destruction of Rommel's forces might be taken as an axis victory, the Evening Standard commented.

German observers are in the potential complete occupation of north Africa the possibility of establishing a base for second front operations, reopening the Mediterranean to allied shipping and thus saving three-fourth of the sailing time to Russia both by releasing more Gibraltar and delivering it faster.

Gibraltar Fleet Reported by Nazis

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP)—DNI reported today that a large allied convoy, accompanied by several large aircraft carriers and other warships, left Gibraltar last night.

It appears the British are re-trying their attempts to supply Malta in grand style," the agency said.

Stalin Assures 2nd Allied Front Soon

MOSCOW, Nov. 6 (AP)—Joseph Stalin told Russia's allies tonight that failure to open a second front would result in catastrophe for them and at the same time assured his people that there would be such an allied offensive "sooner or later."

He said that because of the lack of a second front the Germans had been able to break through the Russian lines last summer for their 300-mile eastward and southward drives which have carried them to the banks of the Volga, into Stalingrad, and deep into the Caucasus.

"I think no other army or country could stand up to such an onslaught," he said. Then, answering the question, "will there be a second front," he said:

"Yes, there will be one sooner or later because it is no less essential for our allies than for us."

Reds Well Organized The Soviet premier told a special meeting of the Moscow Soviet—convened to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution—that the German strategists have been as strong and well-organized on the home front.

The break-through in the west, he said, came after the red army had routed the Germans on the approaches to Moscow last winter, attacked and seized the offensive.

Returning a second time to mention the lack of a second front, Stalin said that the Germans had been able to concentrate on one sector and take the initiative because of the absence of a second front in Europe enabled them to do it without risk to themselves.

Got German Plan Stalin asserted that the Russians recently had won possession of a German document showing that the main plan—nowhere realized—was to take Stalingrad last July 25, then Saratov Aug. 2, Kolobzheer Sept. 13 and Baku Sept. 22.

The main aim of the offensive was to think in the winter by taking Moscow, Stalin added.

In their hunt for oil and for Moscow, the Germans had been "got into difficulties," he said.

"If there had been a second front, the German drive would have been stopped at the German war, the position of the German."

GERMANS ADMIT "VIOLENT" FIGHT

BERLIN, (From German Broadcast), Nov. 6 (AP)—Allied tank formations, striking with "continued" pressure, have been engaged by the axis in violent battles in the region of Puka and Matruh, the German high command reported today.

(60,000 miles west of the original E. of Alam el Halfa, was the deepest of the German offensive yesterday by the axis. Matruh is 62 miles further west.)

The Berlin broadcast said the battle of Egypt had entered a phase of "movement on a large scale," with Field Marshal Rommel retaining "full freedom of action."

"If he now, again, had adopted the tactics of a war of movement in which he is a specialist, he will certainly have gained very considerable advantages," it said.

PORTLAND FACES MEAT SHORTAGE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 6 (AP)—Portland was expected to face a meat shortage as new workers arrive and threaten to stop the city's hams, today faced the prospect of meatless days—no one a week, but for the rest of the year.

Whether the cause—a dispute over the city's meat supply—will be resolved at that point—only about one week's supply of meat remains in the city's stockpiles.

Richard Montgomery, Oregon OPA director, blames the shortage on the city's meat supply.

14,000 of Enemy Soldiers Captured as Eighth Army Pushes Forward in Africa

CAIRO, Nov. 6 (AP)—The imperial 8th army drove the battered Afrika corps back toward Libya today, knocking out one-half or more of the Nazi armor's strength and threatening six Italian divisions with complete encirclement and capture.

The imperials drove relentlessly forward, cheered by the words of Lieut. Gen. Bernard Montgomery that "complete and absolute victory" is being achieved.

Already the fighting front had swept west of Sidi Barrani and the imperials were believed to be in action against retreating panzer columns about 100 miles west of the Alam el Halfa battle with the leading sweeping columns of the 8th Army on the Egyptian-Libyan border.

The British gap of prisoners was closed, 14,000—mostly from the German and Italian were streaming back too rapidly for a quick count. And six casualties in dead and wounded were believed to have been exceedingly high.

Front Line Fighters German Marshal Erwin Rommel centered the battle with 130,000 to 140,000 front line fighters. It was a bitter fight, with as many as 100,000 of this group five or six Italian divisions which had held the line at Sidi Barrani and positions appeared to have been abandoned by the Germans to fight their way out of the desert. But they could not without water, ammunition and oil supplies.

There were indications that wide-swinging British desert columns already had crossed the line of the Italian armor and positions appeared to have been abandoned by the Germans to fight their way out of the desert. But they could not without water, ammunition and oil supplies.

THE PINCH DRAWS NEAR

We civilians are just around the corner from those shortages about which there has been a lot of talk. It will not be long now before we shall be unable to buy items from an increasingly long list of luxuries and delicacies.

Official spokesmen have warned that 300,000 retail stores will have to go out of business before the end of next year, and that we consumers will find ourselves back in the dark days of 1933, when the nation's worst depression was at its lowest point.

Competent business economists say that even this gloomy prediction is too optimistic—the fact, in fact, we are going back to the pre-World War I era before many of our now accustomed gadgets first went into mass production and became available to the rank and file.

We have been warned about this prospect time after time and then have gone to the stores and found it possible to buy anything for which we had the money. After so many apparently false alarms some of us are a bit indignant now that the pinch begins to be felt.

We shouldn't be. The alarms were real. The warnings were legitimate. They may have been a bit premature, but the intention of that was to break the bad news gradually. We can't complain, up to recently, we found plenty of everything in the stores, that we were drawing upon a huge reserve stock, made before factories began converting to war production. But the stock was not being replenished, and now it is getting dismayingly thin.

There still are a lot of labor-saving, comfort-producing, even luxury items to be had. But as each store cleans out its own reserve it cannot replenish, and so for more and more items we are unable to shop from the store. The goods that by good chance, we shall find one that still isn't sold out.

Fortunately the pinch is going to be worse in the commodity fields where it do the least real harm.

There is no overall shortage in the raw materials for food and clothing. Some items are scarce, and some will disappear entirely, won't have the wide selection of brands, sizes, containers, etc., to which we have become accustomed.

What we do catch retail outlets disappear and shelves become bare in those that remain, we can console ourselves with the thought that—however we are deprived by contrast with 1939—everybody in the United States still can get more of necessities, and will have more comforts, than the average man had in 1914.

KNOW WHERE THERE'S ANY SCRAP?

There is one way nearly everyone in the Twin Falls vicinity can help in the roundup of scrap metal on Armistice day. With approximately 500 volunteer workers and trucks ready to devote the entire day to the collection of old iron and steel for war purposes, this assistance on the part of everyone is vitally important.

It is this—the big job is to collect as much scrap as possible on Armistice day. This is to do a thorough job of collecting, the volunteers will have to know where all this metal is available.

The volunteer rescuers will take the responsibility for surveying all the farms in this territory, the Kiwanis club will determine in advance where old metal is available in the Twin Falls warehouse district, and the Rotary club will do similar work along the outskirts of town. In each instance where metal is scarce committees have been organized, advance workers will post a red card in advance, to assist the volunteer collectors when they make their rounds on Armistice day.

But there will still remain those out-of-the-way places that may be overlooked unless everyone volunteers what information he may have—locations in or along the canyons, in the desert and along the by-ways.

The Times-News is now publishing a conventional scrap blank daily. If you know of any scrap metal place, let us know in vicinity for that matter, which you feel may be overlooked, fill out one of these report blanks and mail it to the Times-News immediately. Such blanks will be turned over to the three committees investigating as a means of providing additional information for the trucks and volunteer workers on Nov. 11.

Don't assume that the salvage committee knows the whereabouts of all scrap metal, or that the Twin Falls area is the only place. From the volunteer reports that are made, many additional tons of scrap may be uncovered.

AXIS DESERT FORCES FLEE SO FAST ALLIES CAN'T KEEP UP

ENEMY COLLAPSE BLAMED ON OIL

By Henry Corbelle

ON THE MOVE WITH ALLIED STRIKING FORCE IN WESTERN DESERT, Nov. 5, 10:49 a. m. GPH reported—The axis armies are fleeing so fast today that the allies are having trouble keeping up with them.

A little while ago, allied infantry was reported west beyond Puka. Six west of El Alamein, and driving on fast under cover of lighters and bombers. Just now a messenger arrived with news that the enemy was well west of Sidr Hamish, 17 miles beyond Puka.

Today's race is being the fleeing axis army at 9:30 a. m. with "delousing" units and armor cars clearing evacuated air fields, booty and mines.

Preliminary intelligence reports attribute the collapse of Marshal Rommel's armored reserves largely to a lack of gasoline, oil and ammunition.

Trucks bog down

Scores of German trucks are reported bogged down between El Alamein and Puka, emphasizing the tremendous supply problem allied air offensive which prevented them from supplying his forward units and forced him into headlong retreat.

The entire allied air force is on the move westward behind armorless tanks, motorized infantry, ground crews upon tanks and unaided troops trucks to join the chase.

The roads are not solid mass of vehicles, beside which hundreds of jeeps are uncoupled in the other direction, toward camps in the rear. Burned out trucks marking the line of German-Italian retreat are being slowly hauled as our army pushes on. Fires dot the horizon for miles on all sides where gas equipment is going up in smoke.

The main force is on the north, taking care of the Germans, while Greek and fighting French are chasing Italians in the southern sector.

Americans at Front

Americans are right up with advanced units of the allied army. They are engaged in widely scattered fighting, and they will have an opportunity to inspect first hand the wreckage of trucks and tanks American bombers left on the coast-to-coast road.

Water indy become a serious problem, because the retreating army is reported to have poisoned wells and water holes. This convoy includes scores of water purifiers.

The allies are moving ahead so fast, this correspondent is hardly in one spot long enough to write a dispatch.

MOTORISTS SLOW IN TIRE TURN-IN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—The nation's motorists seem to be slowing down to the war-time speed limit. But are not doing so well when it comes to selling their "war tires" to the government. Rubber Coordinator William M. Jeffers had reported today.

Jeffers said sectional reports indicated the 35-mile-per-hour speed limit was being observed, but added that only "spotty" results had been obtained in the program for buying all tires in excess of five per cent above the government limit.

However, other officials predicted the turn-in rate would shoot sharply upward about Nov. 12-14 when motorists must register for gas rationing in midwest and western states. They can not qualify for motor fuel rations without certifying they have disposed of their idle tires.

A blast of the vast potential reservoir of mileage which the turn-in plan might release in some areas was given in a report from Akron, Ohio. Officials there had expected 2,000 to 3,000 "war tires" to be turned in. Instead, they got 10,000.

Jeffers said the entire rubber program depended to a large extent on buildings up a government stockpile of usable tires.

DESERT TRIUMPH
THURTS AXIS

By GLENN BARR
Wide World War Analyst

The three-power axis alliance, dedicated at Berlin to the remaking of a new world ruled by force and terror, is being subjected now for the first time to such a combination.

Little bit remains that the victory of the eighth army has brought to the war the great crisis. History may nominate these days the turning point of the whole global struggle.

British reports, twice burned in previous moments of apparent triumph in Africa can be counted on to be false.

At this juncture Japan has summoned all her diplomats in Europe to conclude in Berlin.

Every definite result of the Egyptian victory should be the laying out of the new world.

Every Home in Historic Jarbidge Has a Slanting Backyard

This is the mining camp of Jarbidge, Nev., 80 miles southwest of Twin Falls, which soon will be a ghost town. Its two rows of buildings facing on Main street as silent as the rocky heights of the steep canyon walls that rise on either side.

The Egyptian disaster already has produced premature discomfiture in Russia and his Roman empire. The United Nations leave no room for doubt that the Egyptian victory will be the prelude to the summer campaigns to rid the whole African continent of the Mediterranean sea to Britain and her allies.

Ghost-Town Jarbidge, Even in Demise, Strikes Blow at Axis

The single street that forms the backbone of Jarbidge, Nev., is the pointed base of a "V" for victory with an unusual twist. The sides of the "V" are formed by the canyon walls that rise steeply to give a slanting backyard to all the houses that front on Main street.

Jarbidge, the 20-year-old mining camp about 80 miles southwest of Twin Falls, is going the way of all mining towns where mining stops-it is becoming a ghost town. And as it wraps its shrouds about its abandoned mines and machinery from its gold mines to take copper, manganese, mercury, and other essential raw materials from the earth, in its decline it strikes a blow at the Axis and most productive days of this region.

This was a city of tents in 1909, and for some time thereafter. Within its narrow limits scope of attention. It aroused the same high hopes of quick riches that drew thousands of men in 1849 and it fulfilled a part of its promise of great profits.

Jarbidge soon was inhabited only by employees of a few big companies, and those who made their living off the mineral wealth. The prospectors moved in to hunt for the rich veins which had been camouflaged on the townsite in 1910 and says he clearly remembers how tents dotted the floor of the canyon and rose high on the walls on either side.

It is today's global conflict the function of Jarbidge is revived. There is a war of production going on here who ignores money and spends human life, the machinery that produces gold is more important than the metal itself.

FIGHTING ENDS ON MADAGASCAR AS FRENCH ASK ARMISTICE

BRITAIN FINISHES ISLE OCCUPATION

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Hostilities between the British and Vichy French forces in southern Madagascar have ceased, an authoritative source announced today.

Vichy forces asked for an armistice and hostilities ceased at 2 p. m. (Madagascar time) yesterday, the announcement said.

The only recent fighting on the huge island in the Indian ocean has been in the southeastern section, so the armistice, in effect, terminated the Madagascar campaign.

The British launched their successful campaign against Madagascar six months ago.

On May 5 a joint admiralty and army office communique announced British forces had landed on the island where it was charged, the Japanese for months had been plotting to seize the vital Diego Suarez naval base. Lying at the northern tip of Madagascar, the east coast and only 200 miles from the African coast, this sheltered base is of great importance to control of the Indian ocean and shipping around the cape of Good Hope.

Diego Suarez fell to the British on May 7. Four months later they launched a drive, on Sept. 10, to occupy all of the island and Tananarive was taken in 13 days.

The armistice request which brought an end to fighting in the southeast was the second made by French Governor General Armand Amet. The first was on Sept. 10 when the British were closing in on the capital, but Vichy found the terms unacceptable and French resistance, such as it was, continued.

GERMAN GENERAL SEIZED IN TANK

CAIRO, Nov. 6.—Gen. Ritter Von Thoma, second in command to Nazi Field Marshal Rommel, was captured in the British desert drive when his armored car was set on fire by British guns in a minefield, an official observer who had just returned from the front disclosed last night in giving first details of the incident.

Thoma and his crew jumped out of their blazing reconnaissance car, and a British tank leader immediately realized he had a topflight captive when he recognized the general's uniform.

Zion Thoma, a tank expert, succeeded Gen. George Von Glimmer, senior aide to Rommel who was killed early in the British breakthrough of the Alam el Halfa line.

A dispatch from an Associated Press correspondent in the field with the British eighth army commander, Gen. B. L. Montgomery, said Von Thoma had spent the night in Montgomery's headquarters after his capture.

MURTAUGH

Bishop and Mrs. R. C. Tolman have received word of the birth of a daughter to their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Tolman, Pocatello, Utah, Oct. 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Johnson and son, O. W. Johnson, have gone to Boise, where they will be fitted with glasses. Both report splendid results following their recent eye operations.

Mrs. D. B. Moorman is at the Twin Falls county hospital, where she is under medical treatment.

Mrs. H. C. James entered the hospital the first of the week for observation and X-rays.

Mrs. Ed Walker entered the hospital where she underwent surgery for removal of a tumor.

3-Week Vacation Insufficient for Excelsior Pupils

HANSEN, Nov. 6.—The three weeks' harvest vacation of the Excelsior school evidently was insufficient for students. On the first day after the vacation period only six pupils were present in the upper grades and but four for the remainder of the week. However, the school continued to hold its doors open, according to the principal, Mrs. Charles Prior.

The potato harvest is practically completed in the Hansen area, but a large percentage of the sugarbeets are still in the fields.

NAZIS RUSH HELP IN TROOP PLANES

ANKARA, Turkey, Nov. 5 (Delayed)—Information received here from Greece today said that the Germans, in a desperate attempt to bolster Field Marshal Rommel's retreating forces in Egypt, were using upwards of 500 planes to transport troops from near Athens, Greece, to an unknown German African base.

This information said the troops had been removed from the Russian front to near Athens.

Another report in the Turkish capital was given circulation today by an informed Japanese quarter.

It said that a week ago Berlin had realized the perilous situation of the axis forces in Africa and Reichsleiter Hitler had appealed to Tokyo for indirect aid in the form of a Japanese naval attack on Madagascar or south Africa which might compel a shift of strength southward.

The report added that Tokyo had done the appeal, stating it did not possess the required na-

School Working At Book Binding

HANSEN, Nov. 6.—A new project book binding in the four upper grades of the Pleasant Valley school has been under way for several weeks. The books will be used to hold the drawings by the grades during the year.

Practically all of the students have been in attendance while other schools in the area were closed for the harvest vacation. Three children of the Bradshaw family have been transferred from the Pleasant Valley school to the Excelsior district, where the family has moved.

HANSEN, Nov. 6.—Lieut. E. D. Crockett is spending a furlough at the home of his mother, Mrs. Carrie Crockett. He came from California where he arrived from the Aleutian Islands. The naval officer was joined here by his wife, Mrs. Crockett, who has been in Logan for the last two months.

100 Jap Warships Sunk During Year

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—One hundred Japanese warships, comprising battleships, aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines, have been sunk by United Nations forces in the Pacific, compared to the announced loss since Pearl Harbor of 29 American naval vessels in three categories, a survey showed today.

Japan had an estimated 200 fighting ships prior to Pearl Harbor, the best available figures indicate, in addition to approximately 38 more still on the ways.

Halloween Party At Bickel School

HANSEN, Nov. 6.—The Bickel pupils presented a Halloween program for their parents and then enjoyed treats and games. Prizes in defense stamps were presented to Mrs. Austin Moore, Margaret Gray, Pearl Harbor of 29 American naval vessels in three categories, a survey showed today.

The program consisted of the following numbers: play "Three Kittens," lower grades; song, inter-mediate girls; recitation, "No. 60," Mrs. Melvin Stanger, and accordion solo, Wanda Salice.

The upper grades presented a play, "October 31st, Edition," followed by songs by the primary grades, a recitation, "Make Believe" by Mary, and Negro songs, upper grade boys in costume.

LOCAL YOUTH JOINS MARINES

Robert Ward McCoy, 19 year old son of George L. McCoy, 247 Heyburn street, Twin Falls, has been accepted for enlistment in the U. S. marine corps at the Salt Lake recruiting station, according to information received here. He was sent to San Diego, Calif., where he will receive his basic training.

An American heavy tank costs approximately $75,000.

GOOD THINGS GO FIRST!

Here's Why Your Grocer May Sometimes Be Out of Morning Milk—

DURING THE LAST few months thousands of Idaho families have accepted our invitation to compare the flavor of Morning Milk with any other evaporated milk on the market.

As a result, every day sees more and more families switching to finer-flavored Morning Milk.

Good Things Go First

So today, even though our purchases of milk from Idaho dairy farmers reached an all-time high of 8,808,946 pounds during the past twelve months, and despite the fact that Morning Milk production is soaring and shipments in this territory are the highest in history, your grocer is sometimes out of Morning Milk.

Many homemakers are commenting on the fact that Morning Milk is usually the first to be "sold out"—a tribute, indeed, to Morning Milk's popularity, its finer flavor, creamier texture and delicious taste.

So please understand your grocer's problem—he's buying more Morning Milk for you than ever before, but he is also selling it faster.

Our Pledge

The popularity of Morning Milk has been built upon quality and finer flavor. We give you our solemn pledge that these high quality standards will be maintained—that quality production will never be sacrificed to quantity production. So always look for, ask for your favorite—Morning Milk!

Good things go first!
