ALLIES ADVANCE TOWARD TUNISIA

course, know that Vichy broadcasted now a German.

The naval communiqué also asserted that the 63,000-ton British passenger liner Queen Elizabeth, sister ship of the Queen Mary, had been torpedoed in the north Atlantic.

All these claims lacked confirmation from any allied source.

The communiqué also stated that 400 prisoners were sunk in the Atlantic.

Tunisia's strategic importance is emphasized by the fact that the British have lost one of their bases on Tripoli, the main axis base in Libya.

The chief port, Tripoli, is only 150 miles below the Italian island of Sicily and 300 miles from the toe of the Italian boot.

American and British troops under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower are reported to be in Algeria to combat any axis attempt to seize the key French colony and also to help trap the enemy.

Italy, the chief port, is only 150 miles below the Italian island of Sicily and 300 miles from the toe of the Italian boot.

As for Rommel's hapless allies, left in the lurch when Nazi mechanized columns pulled stakes in head-on flight from El Alamein, the German news agency DND reported that the Italian army had been engaged every day in bringing wounded Italians from the Ghatara desert to the axis stronghold at Tobruk, Libya.

While Hitler tightened his grip on the French coast, the French descended on the French Mediterranean island of Corsica, Napoleon's birthplace, a potential base for invasion of Italy.

An Italian communiqué said the Italian fleet just put to sea from the top of the Italian boot, was occupied while other fascist troops were working to break through the Italian front.

On the allied side of the ledger, a United Nations spokesman dropped a cryptic hint that a communiqué may be developing about Dakar, French West Africa.

"Horace H. Nathan," "I think they (Dakars) defenders" and in rather hopeless position," the spokesman said.

France Morocco, above Dakar, is a major base for the African Mediterranean coast, and now firmly in American hands.

The Russian war front, meanwhile, was virtually inactive, with bitter cold closing in.

Other "swill-breaking" developments:

1. Italian naval operations, reporting allied headquarters, are continuing in Yugoslavia and Hungary for 40 German divisions within the Balkans.

2. A Soviet news agency reported that Gen. Genoa said Hitler and Mussolini, meeting in Rome, had agreed on the establishment of a single command in the Mediterranean—under German general.

3. The Italian reported that mass disorders broke out at Lyon yesterday when German troops marched through the streets.

4. The French government reported that the former "Fret's" was named, and the Vichy radio said he had called for continued resistance to North Africa.

VAST PRODUCTION SOUGHT BY KNOX

McKEESPORT, Penn., Nov. 12 (AP)—Secretary of the War has declared that a second front was now "wide open," said last night that in America just in that way we begin and that there was a long hard road stretching beyond this American day to that year when we will celebrate, Doc Williams, not so armistice, but a victory.

Speaking at an American Legion Armistice day observance here, the navy chief called for vastly increased production of war materials to "defeat the armies now fighting all over the world and said he had been told by both production officials and workers that the increase would amount to 20 to 25 per cent without increasing hours of labor or reducing profits.

A 25 per cent increase in production would be equal to adding an army of millions of additional trained workers, Knox declared.

Three Conclusions Knox said he recently had read a "weighty and scholarly" analysis of the factors which, he supposed, were retarding production, and that the authors, whom he did not identify, had drawn conclusions as to those factors. He presented them but said that he had not thereby endorsed their sound conclusions.

First was reluctance on the part of management to make an investment and sacrifice, because it believed that management would not make a like sacrifice. In addition, it was demanding an increased value in war production as the price of increased effort.

Second, and equally important was the disarticulation of management over profits, and the fear that labor gains were of such growing magnitude that they threatened the very existence of management, itself.

Major Factors

"These are the major findings of factors which are retarding production.

The third was a distrust among groups of both management and labor of certain elements of our war leaders, particularly of so-called "brass hats."

How these objections and protests are all valid and important, according to the angle from which they are viewed. Labor's complaints are perfectly logical, he thought and management's to management."

The secretary added however, that the American soldier and sailor, who is now fighting and dying that we may live," can demand the best which the nation can give and must receive it.

African Front Shows Allied Goal Is Cannily Encirclement

By THOMAS M. JOHNSON, NEA Senior Military Writer

The opening of what President Roosevelt calls "an effective second front" by American-British landings in North Africa, means to the general public what the military has known for some time—namely, that the best outlines of the United Nations' offensive strategy for winning the war, is a strategy of encirclement—of going around the back to get next door.

This means that plans for a frontal attack on Germany by a British-American crossing of the English Channel and landing in France probably must wait at least until the outcome of the invasion in North Africa is known. If that invasion turns into heavy fighting it will consume troops and equipment in such quantities that we usually will remain for a major effort in France or elsewhere for several months and perhaps a good authority has believed for some time, a year.

No Easy Task

Primarily the new campaign is a bold attempt to solve the United Nations' greatest global problem, which is logistical—reinforcement and supply.

As the war will be serious in North Africa, too.

Shorter lines have the interior and shorter lines: we are fighting out on a limb, far from our bases, perhaps the most difficult operation of the American troops ever have engaged.

If Vichy French land and naval forces make a real fight and are not really reinforced by the axis, there may previously be criticism of our not having followed the advice of our more orthodox strategists.

"This pointed out that a strategic line across the Sahara is the shortest distance between two points, base and objective. The direct attack line was shortest for the Axis, can plan partly because of the German strength in France (the Dnieper field was more valuable than the Sahara) and the axis using Africa to invade America.

The axis might have done that—some day. But as of today, shipping is the Gordian knot, and the Africa stroke is meant to cut that knot.

If we clear the Mediterranean of axis power we reduce by roughly two-thirds the time required for our ships and the British to supply the British-American forces in Africa. That releases major shipping to supply other fronts: The far east, Britain, Russia. Also we shut off the axis from notably strategic territory it has obtained in French Africa and gain those supplies for ourselves. We also gain some French equipment and other war French warships from the axis at least a light, thin, ship or two, grouped, as later we might have to do. Some French and native troops already have joined the British.

French whose movement will be greatly stimulated, not only in Africa, but in France. Laval may fall. Other Advantages

There are even brighter vistas. The northern coast of French Africa, once won, we have a string of naval bases, harbors, airfields and roads leading eastward to the Mediterranean coast of Tripoli in Italian Libya. That releases major shipping to supply our forces in the Pacific to attack the Japanese in the Philippines, Isthmus of Suez, only 600 miles from the Mediterranean. Italy will be expected home the latter part of the week.

U. S. LOSING TO JAPS, MAAS SAYS

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 12 (AP)—Rep. Melvin J. Maas, R., Minn., a member of the marine corps reserve who recently returned from active duty in the south Pacific, said last night "at America is losing the war in the Pacific and charged that Washington has misled the people in regard to some of our victories over the Japanese."

Maas, speaking at an Armistice day rally here, asserted the only way to victory is in a single, coordinated war plan backed up by one united command.

GMC OUTPUT NOW AT RECORD PACE

DETROIT, Nov. 12 (AP)—General Motors corporation, largest of the armament makers among the one-time motorcar manufacturers, now is delivering war weapons at a rate greater than the peak of its peacetime commercial output, according to O. E. Wilson, president, but it faces major problems in materials and manpower supply.

The company president told a group of army and navy officials, G. M. executives, and news writers last night that materials present the biggest, immediate problem, "but it is highly important," he said, "that the new materials control plan be worked out without too much delay."

Pointing out that General Motors is employing more than 400,000 workers than at any time in its history, he said: "We are getting to the point where we must employ men and women who never worked in industry before."

"We ought to go a little carefully on the question of freezing men in their jobs," he said. "But we must work in the armed forces where men can be assigned specific tasks and carry out orders. In industry it presents a different situation."

He added his belief that the freezing of men in their jobs would be reflected in a lowering of workers' cooperation.

The corporation since the attack on Pearl Harbor has delivered nearly $1,200,000,000 worth of tanks, aircraft engines, guns, shells and other war materials, he said.

Glenns Ferry Arranges Big Victory Fete

GLENN'S FERRY, Nov. 12—Glenns Ferry is all set for one of the most novel and entertaining affairs ever held here—the Victory carnival scheduled to be held in the Community hall at 8 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 14. The carnival is being sponsored by the local Commercial club and all expenses are to be borne by the Glenns Ferry businessmen, who have contributed some $250 and a large amount of merchandise to guarantee a good time.

The carnival is a plan to boost the sale of war savings stamps and bonds and in a sense everything is free to the public. The evening will open with a musical program that will honor the men in every branch of the services as well as those fighting here at home. Music, G. O. Wright, music instructor of the local schools.

Following the music there will be a auction of merchandise and other articles, including some livestock which have been donated by merchants and others. It is expected that W. J. Hollenberg, Twin Falls, will be in charge of this feature.

There will be the crowning of the carnival queen and a dance. The music for the latter is to be furnished by the Glenns Ferry orchestra which offers its services free.

The admission price, dance tickets and every cent spent will be done with war savings stamps. These will then be turned in by the purchaser's individual stamp book and remain his property.

Eight young ladies have been nominated as contestants in the carnival queen contest and are busy soliciting votes. One vote is allowed for each 10-cent stamp or multiple of five, also 20 votes for each dollar of any bond purchased up to the crowning of the queen. A prize of $25 was donated will be presented to the winner of the contest. Stamps are for sale by local business houses and a purchase is made of stamps are taken as change the number of votes represented is entered to the credit of the queen contestant designated.

FOUR AREAS PICK AAA DELEGATES

Delegates to the county AAA convention which will be held at the AAA office here at 1:30 p. m. Saturday have been selected by four committees in elections held earlier this week. Don Albin, county committee secretary, announced today.

The committees already making selections of delegates, as well as naming their own committees for the year, are Castleford, Murtagh, Filer and Twin Falls. The Twin Falls meeting was held in the private courtroom of the county courthouse last night.

Three more committees have still to name delegates. They are the Salmon area, which will hold its meeting in the Hollister high school building at 8 p. m. today; the Kimberly-Manson community, which has set its meeting also for 8 p. m. Friday.

The Kimberly-Hansen community held a meeting earlier in the week, as which committee members were named, but the delegate election brought a tie vote. Consequently, the other meeting was called.

The final meeting, set originally for Tuesday night, was postponed because of the lack of a quorum.

The Kimberly-Hansen meeting will be held in the agricultural building of the Kimberly high school and the final meeting at the Grange room in the city hall.

The county committee, which will have charge of the AAA program for the coming year, will be named at the convention here Saturday.

LEGISLATURE IN IDAHO TO BE GOP

BOISE, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Republican party will have a majority of 21 to 13 in the Idaho senate and 23 to 24 in the Idaho house of representatives at the 1943 session of the state legislature, complete unofficial returns from the 44 counties of the state showed today.

The legislature during the 1941 session had a Democratic majority in the senate of 22 to 20 and 23 to 26 in the house. A reappointment of representatives reduced the number of house seats to 29 for this term.

There was seen a possibility that the official returns, expected after the canvass of ballots is completed in all counties of the state, might show a slight variation from the unofficial results, since many of the contests were determined by a margin of only a few votes in the unofficial returns.

NAVY DISMISSES MAURICE AROFF

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Lieut. Marvin McCarthy, naval press relations officer, said tonight that Maurice R. Aroff, who held the rank of lieutenant commander in the navy, has been dismissed from the service.

He was tried by a courtmartial at San Francisco last summer on charges of misconduct and falsehood.

One of seven charges on which the 45-year-old courtmartial tried Aroff was that he had accepted a $250 automobile from Tony Martin, the agent, to facilitate Martin's enlistment in the navy.

Lieut. McCarthy, who said in response to inquiries that Aroff had been dismissed, declined to give out any other information regarding the dismissal action or say what disposition the courtmartial had made of the charges.

Aroff was an assistant to the 12th naval district director of naval officer procurement. He denied most of the charges against him, including that relating to the automobile which he insisted he had arranged to pay for.

He gave the court a check to the balance in full on the car, having previously paid the singer a $375 war bond.

The courtmartial findings were sent from San Francisco to Washington for review.

ADDED INDUCTEES GO INTO RESERVE

Wednesday was an Armistice day, commemorating the end of hostilities of World War I, but a number of registrants of Twin Falls county selective service board No. 1, B, administered the beginning of training. They were the men from the local board who were inducted into the enlisted men's reserve in Boise and spent several days' furlough before beginning training at Fort Douglas. Fifty-nine registrants departed at 9:30 a. m. for Boise via bus, while others of theirs made the trip private automobiles. Others in November call were inducted at other points in the country.

The local board, meanwhile, placed 12 more registrants in the J-A, in immediate service, classification. Ten of these were placed in I-C, having already joined the service. 13 were put in 2-A, 14 in 2-D, 64 in 3-B and five in 4-F.

The cases of 50 in the 3-A classification were continued for consideration, while 10 registrants were called up for training.

When the final railroad fatal occurred in China, the whole rail road was torn up and junked.

Fighting Hot Night Trip

Despite the long night trip the troops arrived fighting fit. The longest known previous airborne troop movement was in the Norwegian invasion when the German flew paratroopers from Norway to an island less than 400 miles. Nazi paratroopers attacking Crete had only a short jump.

Crew Saved Pilot. This is the first time the young officers crew led by Pilot Lieut. John C. Summers, Lexington, Tenn., saved Doollittle and his staff officers from capture. Doollittle was shot and killed in a fight with the co-pilot field to the same of the plane. The pilot was wounded in a routine plane and Doollittle was placed in the fighting ship.

When the four enemy planes were shot down the crew jumped to their posts. Most of the staff officers in the bomb bay were unaware of the approach of the planes. The pilot turned and the enemy came. Alarming the waves, the fortress was not at its best operation height and it was not ready to peel off on the speckling plane, whose guns now were rattling fire.

Meat Plan Hit. The lead German plane dove and beat a burst from the fortress top. It wobbled and staggered off, badly hit. The staff officers held their breath for the attack. The little and Phillips, who had seen the planes, they said nothing. They said they thought the crew was "practiced."

Doollittle Takes Sick. Officers heard the co-pilot's call. Opening the door to the pilot's cabin, they saw him on the floor, pulled him out while General Doollittle, his floppy flier cap cocked tighter around his head, climbed in and took the co-pilot's place.

AFRICAN ATTACK PRINTED BY FBI

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—What was interpreted as a hint of American colonies is contained in a letter President Roosevelt wrote last Thursday to Dr. Alexander Kooye, secretary general of the Ecole Libre Des Hautes Etudes. Dr. Kooye had disclosed today.

In reply to a letter from the tall, quiet spoken, red haired Frenchman, who is a teacher of philosophy, the President wrote: "I believe that even now the hour is beginning to strike when France may once more have an opportunity to resume her place in the world. She will owe a debt to all her children who were not frightened into silence or misled into assisting their barbarian captors."

Dr. Kooye said he received the letter last Saturday and was shocked that the President mention, but on the next day, Nov. 8, when he read the letter he said he was in Africa, he understood. In answering the President's letter last Saturday, Dr. Kooye stated that he had never seen the letter and that he had never seen the letter and that he had never seen the letter.

GERMAN AIR ACTIVITY NEAR STALINGRAD OVER STALINGRAD

OLD-TYPE PLANES LEFT IN BATTLE

By HENRY C. CASSEY
MOSCOW, Nov. 12—A sharp reduction in German air activity over Stalingrad front was reported by the Soviet military press today, which noted that the raids were using outdated planes and dropping only small bombs. This might indicate a shifting of first line units to other fronts, perhaps into southern Europe.

During the past twenty-four hours, barely two hundred flights over Stalingrad were reported, the newspaper Pravda said, by comparison with a previous daily average of 1,500 to 2,000.

German garçons, clinging to precarious footholds on the outskirts of Stalingrad, were reported dipping metal nets over the windows of occupied houses for protection against Russian incendiary bombs.

Weather tightened its grip on the front. The Volga was choked with floating ice and whipped by bitter winds in sub-zero temperatures.

No major developments were reported from the other sectors.

In the Caucasus, the Russians said that their troops had repulsed a tank-supported attack by German and Italian divisions of German infantry south-east of Nalchik, killing 200 of the enemy.

TUNISIA NOW IN WAR SPOTLIGHT

By GLENN DARR
Wide World War Analyst

The focal point of this global, lightning war shifts hundreds of miles in a single day. Yesterday was in Morocco and Algeria. Today it is Tunisia. The indications grow that a race for the Mediterranean is developing between the formidable air fleets of Hitler and the newly launched American-British combination of mechanized land forces and air and sea power.

The war thus moves to one of history's most sanguinary and decisive theaters. Modern Tunisia was built near the site of ancient Carthage and along that ancient was fought out the last bitter struggle of the Punic wars. Then, as now, two forces contended for mastery of the known world clasped one another in a war with a completeness that has few parallels.

Hitler There First

Hitler apparently has reached the Tunisian battlefield, first, dropping a few hundred or few thousand air force troops on his chief air bases while marines of his Italian allies have sought to seize the big naval base at Bizerte. This doubtless is only the vanguard of the forces the victors will seek to launch into Tunisia before the American armored columns plunge across the western coast of the British island to bring overbearing strength against Bizerte.

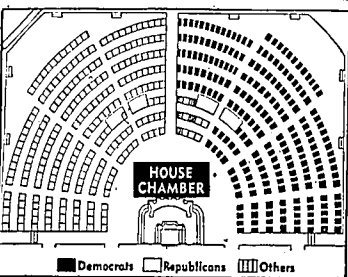

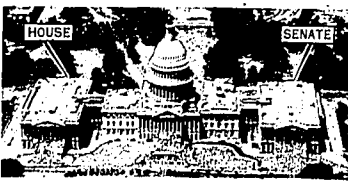

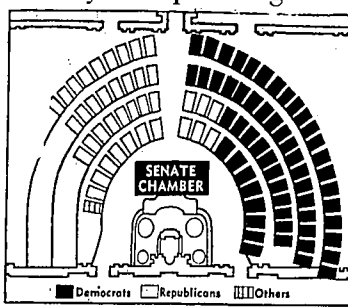

Some strategists suggest that Hitler, compelled to fall back on his air power since he can not contest allied command of the seas, has mobilized to the fall his luftwaffe first to seize the air fields, then his infant and armor, his armored units, then seek mastery of the skies against the big fleets of bombers and fighters the Americans and British are moving both eastward and westward along the African shore toward a mighty convergence in Tunisia.

May Be Nazi Dummer

Hitler's drive to France and Mediterranean coast clearly shows he realized that a decisive new phase of the war was opening, one he can not afford to left go by default.

There is a parallel between the north African campaign and the taking of France and Britain's tragic effort to aid Greece a year and a half ago. The British knew that if they sent an army across the Mediterranean, that the odds were tremendous in their favor of the British and dictated the choice of battlefield. So, if all goes well for the United Nations, somewhere along the African coast there should be an axis version of the British disasters of Greece and Dunkerque. Tunisia is as likely a place as any.

Party Line-up in Congress

Here are how the political parties are represented in this new Congress. At top, the senate has 37 Democrats (black seats), 38 Republicans (white) and one other. At bottom, the house of representatives contains 230 Democrats (black), 210 Republicans and five others. This compares with the last congress which included: Senate: 60 Democrats, 38 Republicans, 2 others. House: 258 Democrats, 162 Republicans, 5 others.

RAID DESTROYED 50 JAP BOMBERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—White U. S. marines were launching the Solomon Islands campaign Aug. 7, thirteen army Flying Fortress were blinding the eyes of enemy air power by destroying at least 50 heavy Japanese bombers and seven zero fighters in a raid on Vatukoupa, airfield at Rabaul, the war department disclosed today.

Utah, Idaho and Montana men played prominent roles in the action. The bombers were destroyed on the ground and the zeros were shot down in an attack which Lt. Col. George C. Kenney, commander of all United States aerial operations ever carried out in that theater.

WANK PUBLICISTS WINNING BATTLE

By DON WHITEHEAD
CAIRO, October 12 (Delayed)—Other David boys are meeting the enemy in the middle east and giving them a licking in the first round of a great propaganda battle.

In less than six months time, a little band of American pioneers from the office of war information has splashed the story of Uncle Sam's growing military might from one end of Africa to the other, through Palestine, Syria, Turkey, Iran, Iraq and India.

Millions of people saturated by three years of Axis propaganda are hearing for the first time the reality of American military might.

Unlike the great fighting, there are no jills in this camp. It's being waged rapidly in Palestine, in newspapers, posters, pamphlets, movies and word of mouth. Hitler's favorite newspaper, the Goebbels' "Der Angriff," has turned against him.

The axis still is following the line of stirring up fear and hatred to divide the people and turn them against the United Nations.

For example, in Palestine they play on the old enemy of Jews and Arabs. They tell the Arabs they are not people of their lands and that "as soon as we take Alexandria we'll let you kill all the Jews if you wish."

The American policy is to spread reliable information on what the United States and her allies are accomplishing, while driving home the message to the people of the middle east that they can expect from the axis only the miseries of Greece, Czechoslovakia, Poland and the other occupied countries.

Crash of Torpedo Ushered in First Day of African Attack

By WILLIAM B. KING
U. S. Correspondent with the A.E.F. in North Africa

ABOARD A TRANSPORT WITH U. S. AMPHIBIOUS BATTLE FORCE BY THE MEDITERRANEAN, Nov. 7 (Delayed)—The crash of a torpedo ushered in the first day of our convoy voyage carrying U. S. and British troops to a point from which landing operations could be carried out against Algeria.

A piercing alarm signal meaning immediate danger for our amphibiously loaded with American soldiers and their battle equipment—was heard and the battle equipment army and navy gun crews racing to their battle stations.

The ship which had been hit was smoldering heavily and began listing behind as the convoy ploughed through the Mediterranean in the gray light of pre-dawn.

"Repeat #41."

"Two seconds after a fire control officer said an enemy plane believed to be Italian had glided in, loosed two incendiary bombs. Our ship flicked out a query on the signal lamps and after a moment the stricken torpedo ship replied: "21."

Her casualties were light and she was taken tow.

"Two more alarms sounded before lunch time and as sunset approached the axis plane made a determined effort to attack. Fire from escorting warships kept them so high they appeared only as specks in the sky. Firing within the convoy was sporadic. On the horizon was a heavy opposing force of British battle ships and large carriers and they were putting up a barrage.

"As the day grew darker cannon flashes lit the horizon and tracer shells streaked the sky. Antiaircraft shells were bursting in clouds and exploding destroyers in our depth and a few hundred yards ahead of us in the night.

Resume Normal Life

"When the bridge ordered the ship to resume its normal life and the enemy ploughed on through the choppy Mediterranean.

Immediately after this tensest, a fire alarm blared and a searchlight beam was trained on the ship. A guard guard personnel manning the ship, "Happy landing, no report," it said.

"The day of excitement capped a trip through the straits of Gibraltar without a single serious threat. The intricate planning and cohesive cooperation of the United States and British navies and armed forces did the job.

"As the day and hour for landing on the beach just east of Algiers grew nearer the atmosphere bristled with evidence of the men's desire to get into action for which they had been trained intensively for almost two years.

Helps Allies SEVEN SHIPS ARE LAUNCHED IN DAY

Gen. Charles De Gaulle, head of the Fighting French forces, is co-operating with the U. S. and British drive in French north Africa. He is attempting to rally Vichy French elements in line with the Fighting French and the allies.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12 (AP)—The splatter of shattered champagne bottles interrupted the constant sputter of welding torches seven times in San Francisco yesterday as shipbuilders set to work to speed the quest for another auxiliary.

The others were merchantmen. At Henry J. Kaiser's Richmond yard, which hopes to put the liberty ship Perry affloat in world record time tomorrow or Friday; U. S. S. Morrison and the S. S. Nathaniel Bowditch, both freighters of the same class, slid down the ways.

The Moore Drydock Co. in Oakland also produced a doubleheader. The S. S. Titan followed the S. S. Messenger into the basin by only 45 minutes.

Marine Ship at Sausalito gave the William Kent a christening.

The Western Pipe and Steel yards launched the S. S. Sea Swallow.
