

Allied Air Power Forces Axis Into African Retreat

By The Associated Press

Allied air power, grown to such strength that bombers coursed over Tunis for four days, today tipped the scales against the axis today in the battle of North Africa as Marshal Erwin Rommel's Libyan army retreated from the Gulf of Sirte coast in central Libya.

The pace of the British eighth army's pursuit of Rommel was not disclosed, but some estimates placed British advanced forces in Tripolitania beyond the Marj el Athel airfield, 40 miles west of El Agheila.

Military observers were surprised at the weakness of the axis stand on the El Agheila line.

"Axis forces are continuing their retreat from the El Agheila position while maintaining weak rearguards which offer only slight resistance," the Cairo communiqué reported.

While the British are hindering our advance by means of large numbers of military aircraft, we are being methodically cleared up by our forward troops.

Observers in London said that after the defeat in Egypt, Rommel should have been able to muster sufficient forces for a more spirited defense in the favorable El Agheila area, some of which, they added, might not have been secured at all.

The Morocco raid, in a broadcast of a dispatch purportedly from Cairo, said that the British forces had captured four German divisions, including two armored divisions, and that the British had captured the Tunisian supply ports at the other end of the African front. British and American planes were taking a terrific toll.

Successful Attacks

The Cairo communiqué said "the most successful attack yet reported" was made on the axis position of "Toma and its base of La Goulette, and its base of La Goulette, all of which were set on fire."

On the four day raid, the British and American forces were taking a terrific toll.

ROMMEL DEFEAT NO BIG SURPRISE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)
CAIRO, Dec. 14 (Delayed)—Marshall's withdrawal from El Agheila is not a matter of vast surprise since it was a foregone conclusion that a terrific weight of air power could be thrown against him.

The battle is still too young to give much clue as to what stand the Nazi marshal may make in new positions. As for the British and allied forces, I returned only a few days ago from the desert front, where I found the highest possible confidence among all ranks.

What is more to be noted, the troops were eager to fight and you have an army with morale like that you can perform wonders with it.

Losses Tough
On the other hand, the Nazi marshal seems to have lost the touch which, prior to his recent defeat at El Alamein, had restored him from uncomfortable spots and brought him victories.

It is no longer the laughing matter who rode his troops through battle and worked his tactics out on the field of battle with a theatrical display which he obviously enjoyed.

Marshal Rommel, famous Africa commander and his Italian ally, some days been displaying extreme nervousness; behind their defenses at El Agheila, Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's bombardment and persistent prodding of the axis line weak spots were used to the point that he was set for action and would strike the moment he discovered the right moment. Axis fears were registered clearly in wild bursts of artillery fire and continual use of flares to light the desert by night.

Reason for Fears
The boogie had ample reasons for their fears. Indications that the Nazi marshal is weak in all parts of his fighting machine.

As explained in previous articles, the fact is that Hitler assigned Rommel to do a holding operation which may be suicidal. Somewhere in Tunisia the marshal is supposed to make a stand in an effort to halt the British army, which is now British and American air units. His task is to hold until his master can realize that forces for the defense of Europe, Nazi hopes, meantime, it will be possible to pierce the Nazi aerial and land blockade and provide reinforcements for the land-based axis in both Tripoli and Tunisia.

Air Weakness
One of Rommel's greatest weaknesses is in the air. He has been able to spare warplanes because of the tremendous pressure being put on him from the British and American air units. He has been able to spare warplanes because of the tremendous pressure being put on him from the British and American air units.

Greatest Strain
The greatest strain is of course on the Russian front, where the amazing red army has intensified its offensive and is driving German units into the conflict. This we have a grand example of what co-ordination among various theaters can achieve.

Here's Route of Proposed South Idaho Air Connection

This map shows the proposed postwar route for Western Air Lines' contemplated network of mail, passenger and transport service. As the map legend shows, the new line as compared with the present runs would be far more extensive, would put Magic Valley on the aerial map and would include stops at Twin Falls, Burley and Ketchum. Postwar Air Line Mapped to Twin Falls, Burley, Ketchum

The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce has been asked by the Western Air Lines, Inc., to keep it informed as to new airport construction and facilities here that might be useful to the company in making plans for the proposed operation of an airline to this city.

The company advised the chamber that it had made application to the U. S. Civil Aeronautics board for a permanent certificate of convenience and authority to operate a line to transport mail, passengers and property over the proposed new airway. The terminal point will be Ketchum, Idaho, and intermediate points, Burley, Twin Falls, Boise, Nampa, Redlands, Idaho Falls, Malad City, Preston and Montpelier.

The letter reaching the chamber was from L. H. Dworkette, executive vice-president of Western Air. It also said: "The filling of this and other similar applications is part of the plan which the Western Air Lines has considered for several years, namely, to furnish air service to additional cities adjacent to the present Ben Dicks-Laurie route as soon as the operation of additional service was economically justified."

"We believe that post-war aviation will have progressed to such an extent that a feeder route service such as we have proposed is warranted, and we take pleasure in being able to offer airline service to your city at some future date, subject to its being approved by the civil aeronautics board."

LAVAL TO AGREE ON NAZI 'AIDES'

LONDON, Dec. 15 (UP)—Pierre Laval is going to confer with Adolf Hitler in the next few days to agree on Nazi "aides" being stationed in all Vichy government departments and to negotiate for the creation of a new Vichy army by German "experts" advised from the consultant said today.

Dispatches which reached Paris from France said that hundreds of Vichy civil servants, informed of Laval's plan, had locked their doors, thrown away the keys and gone home, closing their offices on other doors. Closed facilities.

Officers Refuse
Likewise most army officers, in view of the refusal of the German army under German-Imperial command indignantly refused, the dispatches said.

Germany yesterday began broadcasting intimations that Laval would start soon for Germany to confer with Hitler.

A later broadcast said that Laval was still in Vichy, but he was predicted to preside at a cabinet meeting today to give last instructions before his departure abroad.

The broadcast said that it was uncertain whether Laval would leave Paris, after arriving there from Vichy, today or tomorrow.

May Meet Outside Germany
The constitution of "abroad" for "Germany" indicated that he might confer with Hitler outside Germany.

Spanish, advised said Laval was finally and irrevocably determined to effect close collaboration with Germany, regardless of any opposition and that he had expressed himself as both disappointed and averse to the French nation for refusing to cooperate with him.

WAR DEMANDS TO TEST FARMERS

CHICAGO, Dec. 14 (AP)—Roy F. Hendrickson, director of the food distribution administration of the U. S. department of agriculture, had declared today it is clear that the total demand for United States food is greater than we need and can meet—that sacrifices here and there must be made for the nation.

Hendrickson addressed a food processors conference attended by representatives of the canning, frozen food packing, dehydrating and preserving industries. He told of the need of feeding the military and naval forces and the allies, and the responsibility of providing food for people in the countries freed from the axis, and added:

To Test Farmers' Mettle

"This is the job facing American farmers and their partners, the American food industry—a top war job that will try the mettle of both groups."

To do this job, food production all the way along the line must be placed on a war footing."

Hendrickson said that as a result of President Roosevelt's order placing the War Relocation Authority in charge of the nation's food program, virtually all phases of the food industry, except prices, now can be brought into coordinated government.

"It will be the department's aim to simplify wherever possible and to avoid any more confusion, conflicting or complicated system to the greatest possible extent," he added.

Simplification Needed

"I believe that simplification is one of our greatest needs today," C. C. Hoffman, director of the OPA's office of farm special OPA's food price division, announced in a statement following the conference, which would be extended within a few weeks to butter, cheese, eggs, milk, poultry, and meat.

He also told the gathering "we are going to do something about" the many war and emergency food laws affecting the average retailer.

First Eye-Witness Story of Rommel's El Agheila Flight

El Agheila, Libya, Dec. 13 (AP)—Advance elements of the British Eighth Army moved into El Agheila at dawn today, smashing into the northern anchor of Marshal Rommel's famous 131 Afrika Korps without enemy opposition. El Agheila is 30 miles northeast of El Agheila.

Rommel's army is withdrawing again, just as Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery drew up his forces to defeat the crushing blows against positions which were expected to defend stoutly.

Nazi Refuge to Fight

The battle of El Agheila, which has been widely heralded as the next great encounter in north Africa, thus can be labeled as a British victory even though the Germans refused to stand up and fight.

Probing columns of the eighth army, operating from 12 British tanks, moved into the town from the south to the pink hills below Wadi El Fureigh found no opposition, with indications that Rommel's withdrawal was general all along the El Agheila front.

Where he may elect to make his next stand nobody knows, but the strongest position would be just west of Birte where a bottleneck of tank matches and rough country would give him a good defensive position. On the other hand, he may stop suddenly and fight. That remains to be seen.

U. S. WILL LEND SILVER TO ALLIES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau had said today the Treasury is ready to lend-lease silver to America's United Nations allies for currency purposes.

The secretary told his press conference that England and Australia had indicated they wanted to borrow some of the nation's silver hoard to supplement their currency supplies.

The silver would be loaned, Morgenthau said, with the understanding that a comparable amount is to be returned to the United States by the borrowing nation after the war.

Morgenthau said that the presence of United States troops in foreign countries had aggravated the demand for more silver coins.

While England and Australia are the only nations which so far have indicated a desire to borrow silver, the secretary said it would be available on the same basis to China, or any other United Nations ally which desired it.

Morgenthau discussed the silver question at a press conference during which he reiterated opposition to law requiring the Treasury to buy and store silver and gold, and favored "keeping the state clean" of silver.

"I strike it off and start with a clean slate," he said. "Then we can get our production back on some similar interested agency like the rules for the use of silver for industrial purposes."

Sappers were busy cleaning up mines and traps in the town. Explosives were left in water bottles and in litter left by the enemy.

It is comforting to see U. S. flag on the plates floating over the town. I didn't see an enemy plane all day and indications are that Rommel has withdrawn his fighters from the area.

One bomb landed 400 miles west of El Agheila.

Child, 5, Tastes Food for First Time in 3 Years

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15 (AP)—Five-year-old Wilma Lee Crumbly tasted food for the first time in three years yesterday.

On Christmas, said her nurse Alma Schaeffer of the bronchopulmonary hospital, "she began to have trouble."

Wilma, daughter of a Fruitproof, Pa., farm hand, ate a quantity of food three years ago. Her blundered cough started to close and she began to starve.

Last spring she was taken to a hospital at Barton, Pa., where she was brought home a tube inserted in her stomach, and that September she was brought here through the aid of the American Red Cross.

A treatment developed by Dr. Chevalier Jackson, famed bronchopulmonary physician of Temple University, was applied. It consists of stretching the esophagus with a catheter, an extremely painful process.

Wilma weighed only 24 pounds when she was brought here in November. Now she weighs 32, and with abandonment of the stomach tube and catheter, she is expected to gain rapidly.

PROTECTION FOR SHARE-RIDE CARS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—Motor companies, which write almost all automobile liability insurance in the United States, have secured protection for policyholders who participate in car-sharing plans.

Policy Administrators' Legal Fund, Inc., announced today.

Company executives notified Henderson that policy provisions precluding coverage where a car is driven by a person other than the insured, will not apply to car-sharing in connection with car-sharing plans.

Henderson came time ago asked the companies to take such action, since car-sharing arrangements frequently involve employees at shares expenses. At that time Henderson said one motorist lost these financial arrangements might jeopardize liability coverage in their cars.

The companies agreed to make their policy on car-sharing apply to all accidents occurring after July 15, 1942.

Mayor Voting City's 1,400 Canal Shares

Mayor Joe Koehler will vote the city's 1,400 shares in the board of directors of the canal company, which is to be formed by the city and the state.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the canal company, which is to be formed by the city and the state, Mayor Koehler said that he had been asked to vote for the city's shares.

Many officials for recent criticism of an increase in the acre assessment for 1943 from $1 to $1.50, but indicated that he was standing by his vote.

At last week's meeting of the council the mayor said he understood that the canal company needed additional revenue, and was making an assessment that would bring in more than $100,000 additional revenue. At that time he recommended that the city's assessment—$21,000, compared with $1,400 for 1942—be paid under protest.

The mayor and Councilman O. H. Colburn and Truman Greenhalgh were the only members of the city governing body present at last night's meeting.

Richter is receiving treatment in the veterans' hospital at Boise, and is expected to be discharged in the next few days.

The Twin Falls squadron of the civil air patrol, which has established headquarters at Mountain Home, is helping in the search for an army airplane missing between Boise and Boise with two officers aboard.

FRENCH COLONIAL UNITS JOIN U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—The office of war information states that the north African campaign has added tens of thousands of French colonial troops—the "dreaded" sharpshooters, who are called "tirailleurs"—to the forces of the United Nations.

Meunier, Secretary of War, announced today a press conference that the "red work" will be ahead in Tunisia. The allies, he said, must complete the task of winning control of the air. Then a three-objective campaign can be undertaken. It will be intended to:

Work Ahead

Destroy or expel the axis forces in Tunisia.

Attack Tripoli, and strike at the army of General Rommel from the rear.

Celebrate with the British in making the Mediterranean a safe supply route to the Egyptian area.

The OWI called the "tirailleurs" the "most feared and effective soldiers of modern warfare." They were used as shock troops against the Germans in the first World War. Their presence in the campaign has not been announced, OWI said, but at least 50,000 were believed to have been in the campaign since the port was handed over to the allies.

Stimson said that at present the Tunisian campaign found the forces of both the allies and the axis engaged in "feeling out the strength of the opposition."

Ahead of Schedule

Complete surprise, extraordinarily good weather in a normally sunny area, and the reaction of French resistance at the order of Admiral Jean Darlan combined, Stimson said, to place the whole Tunisian campaign ahead of schedule.

There is a lack of air fields to provide protection from German planes, Stimson remarked, American light forces raised ahead into Tunisia.

"We know that if we didn't succeed in getting the port, we would have a narrow part of the Mediterranean in full force and die in it." But he added that the allies would not let their vulnerability from the air, could slow down the enemy drive, while preparations for massed air strikes are being made.

"That," he said, "is the state we have reached today."

Rationing's Rough On Your Battery

Along about six weeks from today a lot of folks are apt to find that they have a dead storage battery—unless I miss my guess.

You see, storage batteries discharge even if they're not being used. Meanwhile, if you are only driving 240 miles a month, your generator isn't getting much of a chance to build your battery back up.

I'm advising my customers to let me check their battery every 10 days. If it drops below 1215, I recommend a re-charge. If this happens more than once, perhaps the generator charging rate should be increased.

Don't wait until your battery gets way down. If you do, a hard coating may form on the plates, which makes it harder to charge again and tends to shorten the life of the battery. Better drop in and have your Standard Service Man check your battery, this week.

OLD DOC PERKINS SEZ:

Did anybody ever hear of a storage battery going dead or a shortage breaking when you weren't in a terrific hurry to get somewhere???

Have You Seen Our Victory Houses?

Perhaps you haven't seen one of Standard's Victory Houses, but a lot of other people have. There are two of them—one a permanent building, and the other a Mobile Home that rolls all over the West. Standard donated them and their staffs to the Treasury Department—and between them, the two houses have sold more than $5,000,000 worth of stamps and bonds since Pearl Harbor.

YIP COBE OPENED IN SINKING OF HUGE U. S. TRANSPORT

SHIP WENT DOWN NEAR SOLOMONS

When Modern and Ancient Meet

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—Secretary Knox said today that a naval board of inquiry was making a "very thorough investigation" into the loss of the 21,336-ton former liner President Coolidge while it was operating as an army transport in the Solomon Islands area recently.

Knox was asked whether the vessel, since it apparently was operating close to shore, might have hit an American rather than an enemy mine.

"I have no information that it hit one of our mines," Knox said. He added an explanation that the location of the sinking was not absolutely evident but that the mine was of an American field type he said it "might" be planted by Japanese submarines in the same waters in which our mines are directed.

All but Four Saved
The loss of the Colidge was announced Saturday.

There were 4,000 troops and United States army crews on board when the vessel hit the mine, the navy said, and all but four were saved.

A questioner at Knox's press conference suggested there should be a "thorough investigation" into the sinking, and the secretary, agreeing, said that the full story eventually would be given out, but at present "there is no question of possible fault" which "made it inadvisable to release further information at this time."

In Solomon Area
Knox disclosed the fact that the ship was operating in the Solomon area, the previous navy announcement having said merely that it was lost in the south Pacific.

As for the actual loss of the ship, Knox said it was "a very reasonable inference" that the ship was close to shore when it went down.

The secretary was asked about conditions in the Solomon and Alaskan Islands.

Nothing More
He said that he knew nothing more about the situation in the Solomons than had come out in the previous press conference, and that his planes having been destroyed and their ships sunk, Grinling, Knox said, "that was a very interesting speculation."

RAF Officer Says 1,800 Died In Torpedoing of Big Vessel

AN EAST COAST PORT, Dec. 15 (AP)—A royal air force officer who survived the torpedoing of a big British ship carrying more than 2,500 persons said on his arrival here that "swarms" of Italian planes tried to rush the life boats.

The RAF officer, whose name can not be used, estimated that some 1,800 persons, including 1,200 Italians and 500 British, lost their lives in the sinking of the ship which occurred in mid-September off the west coast of Africa.

The vessel was en route to England from Sicily, where 1,800 Italian prisoners of war had been taken aboard. The ship carried a crew of over 200 and 400 passengers. The passenger list was composed of British army, navy and RAF personnel and 50 women and children.

Squered Through Portals

The RAF officer told newsmen here that before the women and children could be placed in lifeboats, "swarms of Italians tried to rush the boats and others squered through the portals and climbed into the boats as they were lowered."

Blown to Surface

"The master of the vessel, a Liverpool man, went down with his ship," the RAF officer said. He said he saw another man who went down alone, but once more was blown to the surface by a second explosion and was hauled safely aboard a raft.

GROUP IN SENATE WILL PROBE OPA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)—An investigation of the whole field of operations of the office of price administration, and the committee on agriculture sub-committee immediately after the next congress convenes.

Senator Wheeler, D. Mont., who was expected to take an active part in the investigation, and the committee which authorized the inquiry yesterday wanted to learn how the price control act was being interpreted and applied and what plan, if any, had been made for the payment of subsidies to maintain control.

"I personally feel that there is an authority for the law for the payment of subsidies," Wheeler told reporters, "I think we ought to investigate the whole price control act to see what they are doing, as well as the operations of the department of agriculture, particularly their construction of the law in absolute contradiction to the intent of the act."

Wheeler alluded to action taken by Economic Director James P. Wilson, Dec. 10, when he issued orders to count government benefit payment as part of farmers' income for the purpose of determining the establishment of price ceilings but low parity levels in some instances, such as wheat, in which the law charged this was contrary to the intent of congress, told reporters.

Wheeler said that if action were taken to cut off funds for the payment of subsidies to that farm income, it would be a "very serious matter to obtain sufficient food production."

COOPERATION OF WHITES IS ASKED

ATLANTA, Dec. 15 (AP)—Representative southern Negroes today proposed a broad band for inter-racial cooperation in the south to meet the war-challenged issue of Negro-white relations.

The war, a committee said, "has resulted in increased racial tensions, fears and aggressions and an opening up of the basic questions of racial segregation and discrimination. Negro minority rights and democratic freedom as they apply particularly to Negro-white relations in the south."

"These issues are acute and threaten to become more serious as they increasingly build, through deeper fears aroused, common sense consideration for racial improvement in the Negro-white relations in the south."

The committee's statement grew out of a conference of Negro leaders of 10 southern states convened in Durham, N. C., last fall. It was released here by Committee Chairman P. H. Young, president of the Norfolk, Va., Journal and Guide.

Another effect of the war has been to intensify the struggle for the Negro, the protagonist of every other minority in the world, the report continued.

The Negro leaders said "we are fundamentally opposed to the principle and practice of compulsory segregation in our American society, whether in races or classes of creed."

U. S. MODEL FOR WORLD NATIONS

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Dec. 15 (AP)—Sen. Elbert D. Thomas, D. Utah, told the Institute of World Affairs last night that the United States system of government, with its guarantee of individual liberty, offers a model for a post-war world organization.

"The League of Nations was never wide in concept," he said. "There was no place for the individual person in it. The Atlantic charter and the four freedoms both imply world organization. The four freedoms mean nothing if they are not for men, women and children."

"The new world order must be democratic in its nature if the freedoms promised or at least set forth as aims are attained. America long ago decided that its government should be an agent of its people. The United Nations government, no matter what form it shall take, must be one serving the united people. It must be a government of development and growth of people and not of exploitation of men, women or children."

Declaring that "we have weathered the most critical year in all our history," Adm. J. W. Greenleaf, commander of the 12th naval district and commander of the western sea frontier, asserted that "if we proceed with industry and faith and courage another year will bring us victoriously to the beginning of the end."

Block Mothers' Program Nears Full Alignment

The red, white and blue window sticker "protecting children" is becoming a symbol of "open-house" for hundreds of Idaho children. It is a part of the block mothers plan of the Parent-Teacher association.

"This symbol," said P.T.A. leaders today, "means aid and comfort to children and assistance to all in working out civilian defense problems or aid in time of emergency."

The block plan now near completion in Twin Falls is a plan of organization established to assure total coverage of all homes for civilian war services.

The P.T.A. is announcing, in cooperation with the evacuation committee is arranging for children to go to the nearest block mother in case of an air raid during school hours.

Block mothers acting under instructions of the civilian defense committee also will canvass each home to ask residents to join the voluntary meat rationing plan. Each worker will report how many volunteers there are.

This project is under direction of Mrs. Roy J. Evans, chairman for the county unit for defense committee.

The Black, Washington and Junior and senior high school districts now have all their block mothers and the Lincoln district is nearly through organizing.

Georgia, B. C., Tech Picked in Bowl Tilts

THIENS, Ga., Dec. 15 (AP)—Gridiron personnel at the navy's pre-draft high school — football coaches and scouts — were engaged in toughening up navy pilots—believe it or not—books for Georgia, Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Boston colleges to become bowl champions Jan. 1. A poll of 61 of these past and present headliners of football, representing virtually every section of the nation, installed the University of Georgia Bulldogs as an overwhelming choice to topple U.C.L.A.'s Pasadena's rose bowl. The vote of confidence in Frankie Sinkwich and his company showed only one dis-

The vote: Georgia over U.C.L.A., 33-21; Tennessee over Tulsa, 35-25; Georgia Tech over Alabama, 35-21; Georgia Tech over Texas, 39-22. Lieutenant James Walker, until recently coach at Virginia Military Institute and an end on one of Alabama's Rose bowl winners, expressed the consensus favoring Georgia, "a team on the coast could touch which and company," he said.

The lone diverter was Ensign Edward D. Wood, one-time Ohio University tackle.

GRAIN REGISTERS
2-CENT ADVANCE

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 (AP)—An unspectacular but persistent advance fractured by a scarcity of offerings lifted wheat prices about 2 cents today. All contract-established new highs for the season. Other grain reflected the action of the bread cereal and closed on substantial gains.

Continued strength in the cash market, where wheat prices are the highest since 1927, led to a favorable increase in futures trading. Despite the comparatively high level of cash wheat, which is above the government loan price, there has been a material pick-up in shipments from the country.

Wheat advanced 2-2½¢ higher, December 11.34½¢, May 11.35-135½¢; corn advanced 1-1½¢, December 87½¢; oats were ahead 1-5½¢; rye gained 1½-1½¢ and soybeans were inactive.
