75,000 Tons of Bombs Are Dropped in Wake Isle Raid

AMERICAN CRAFT RETURN TO BASE WITHOUT LOSSES

HONOLULU, Jan. 1 (UP)—The navy announced today that the Wake island early on Christmas eve, dropping more than 75,000 pounds of bombs and returning to its base without loss.

The attack apparently caught the Japanese completely by surprise. The army planes swept in at low altitude and sank their bombs on the island, while the navy bombers dropped from a higher altitude.

The returning pilots reported that the island was in flames and that the Japanese were in a state of confusion.

The army planes, delivering their attack in the early hours of Dec. 24, also dropped bombs on Pele Island, the announcement said.

Score African Hits

By The Associated Press

Allied submarines and planes scored new successes in the Tunisian battle of supply today as patrols on both sides tested battle lines, possibly as a preliminary to the decisive test of strength.

Two more axis supply ships and perhaps a destroyer have been sunk by British submarines off the gulf of Tunis and off Bizerte, the British admiralty announced.

From Cairo, British headquarters announced today that a large aircraft carrier, the Uganda, was sunk off the east coast of Africa by a British bomber, a heavy bomber, a torpedo bomber and other planes.

The carrier was hit Wednesday night and Thursday.

A letter received by the military said that the Uganda was sunk off the coast of Tunisia.

An investigation revealed that the Uganda was not a German submarine. Consequently, the rumor was killed then and there.

Crowd Grooms New Year in 'Quiet' Night

The first day of 1943 dawned on Twin Falls today—and was welcomed by a downtown crowd which numbered 1,000 at 8 a. m.

Celebrations of Father Time's birthday gathered at dances, movie theaters, churches, and in private homes to sing their Auld Lang Syne and greet in their New Year's resolutions.

The degree of hilarity in crowded downtown cafes at a late hour today would indicate the celebration was a success, but police reported it one of the quietest New Year's eves in local history. Only one complaint had to be put away for safekeeping in the city jail.

Virtually all stores and other business places in the city were closed today, as were all city, county and federal offices, with the exception of the police station and sheriff's office.

New Year's Eve Deaths Decline

By The Associated Press

The nation's celebration of New Year's eve was marked by a sharp decline in the number of violent deaths as compared to the toll exacted on the same holiday last year.

A nationwide survey showed that the number of deaths from traffic accidents, which had been 1,000 in 1942, had declined to 600 in 1943.

The survey showed 15 violent deaths, 10 resulting from traffic accidents, 10 from fire, 10 from other causes.

NAZIS 'THREAT' FAR FROM COLLAPSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (AP)—The board of economic warfare described Germany last night as "economically formidable" and Japan definitely stronger in war materials than a year ago, but with a major shipping weakness.

While conceding that our enemies are still a long way from economic collapse, Milo Perkins, BEW executive director, made these observations with some degree of hopefulness.

A sharply increased air attack dueled on Hitler's industrial Europe can materially weaken Germany's present economic position.

Diagnosing increased attacks on the Japanese merchant marine, both by air and sea, can materially increase the chance to make full use of the raw materials she has looted in her conquest.

In a "balance sheet" of axis strength and weakness at the beginning of the new year, BEW summarized the European axis position in relation to its enemies as follows:

Germany has passed its peak production. The United Nations have not reached theirs. The United Nations can produce at rates of production much higher than Germany's in all classifications of important war materials. Nevertheless, should Germany adopt a defensive policy to present economic base for the support of that type of war, it would be formidable.

While Germany may be able to continue its present rate of production in 1943, BEW predicted that she would be unable to increase it. Economic break-up is expected.

"Without greatly increased bombing damage or developments which would force Germany to a higher rate of military activity, as in Russia, there is no reason to expect an economic break-up of Germany this year," BEW said. "The German diet is superior to that of 1937-1938, though most scarce and food and oil available are less than one half of requirements. The 1942 grain crop was better than average, and the potato crop may have set a record, permitting a marked increase in the potato ration.

"Other civilian supplies, while low, are well organized and efficiently distributed.

Blockade Must Continue

"Because Germany holds much wider areas than in 1937-1938, it is much less susceptible to blockade. Nevertheless, enforcement of the economic embargo against Germany must be continued. The blockade forces Germany to waste raw and inferior supplies for many raw materials, clothing and some foods."

Economically, Italy was called "not an asset to the axis" because Germany must strain rail transportation facilities to ship huge quantities of coal and iron from the northern part.

"The Italian diet today is much worse than the German," BEW said. "The government is unable to control black market trade. The economic situation is likely to 1943 from economic causes cannot be expected to improve."

Italy's Germany, BEW said, Japan has not reached peak production, although possession of the island for a greatly expanded economy. Japan, however, "has neither the shipping nor processing facilities to handle fully the newly acquired raw materials and conquered manpower of southern Asia."

THE WORLD AT WAR—1943

UNITED NATIONS	THE AXIS
United States Great Britain Soviet Union China France Australia Canada New Zealand South Africa Brazil Mexico Cuba Guatemala Costa Rica Nicaragua Dominican Republic	Germany Italy Japan Hungary Rumania Bulgaria Czechoslovakia Slovakia Poland Norway Denmark Netherlands Belgium Luxembourg France Yugoslavia Greece Lithuania Latvia Estonia Finland

First dawn of 1943 finds the greatest number of nations in world history engaged in one common conflict—with 80 per cent of the area and 60 per cent of the population of the earth on the United Nations side. Even the 21 remaining neutrals—some of which have broken relations with the axis—are greater in area than the axis and occupied areas, but Germany and Japan control some of the world's most populous regions. The maps show the world at war as it entered 1943 and as it looked on previous New Years.

WALLACE WARNS OF ANOTHER WAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (AP)—Vice President Wallace warned last night that a "new, less crazy and therefore more dangerous" Hitler may come to lead a third global war of aggression unless the United Nations secure the peace that follows the current conflict.

The vice president, who recently outlined his post-war ideas in a speech on the anniversary of Woodrow Wilson's birth, amplified these statements in an interview with Raymond Clapper, columnist, recorded for broadcast by the Mutual Broadcasting system.

"There are many in high positions in the axis today," Wallace said, "who know that military defeat is certain for Germany and Japan. Therefore, as soon as defeated, the axis will turn its attention to winning the peace and laying the foundation for World War No. 3."

Germany and Japan will win the peace and also World War No. 3, if we follow the same methods as we did last time. Even if Hitler and the top criminals are all blasted out, the complete brains down the line in the German army would still remain to plan economic and fifth column work as a preliminary to the next military aggression under a new, less crazy, and therefore more dangerous Hitler."

Hundreds of German prisoners in the night clubs and cabarets of Africa's larger cities are refugees from the Italian countries of Europe—interned for the duration.

CLEARING IMPRESSION GIVEN BY TAX STORY

Editor, Times-News:

The reporter who wrote the story which appeared in your issue of Dec. 22, under the heading "Date Enforced for Tax Paying," has, perhaps innocently, accepted the statement of some person not informed prior to the law, and by such acceptance has seemed to give the impression that a ruling by the prosecuting attorney's office barred the tax collector from his duty. The law, however, is not true, as the many friends of the present county treasurer would be loath to believe that she violated the laws relating to her office, laws of which her long experience in that office had given her a thorough understanding.

In justice to a public official, the impression created by the story referred to should be corrected, for it is not fair to tell the public in effect, that any public official would violate the laws governing her office, unless barred from such act by a ruling of this office.

SAYS GROSS INCOME TAX IS FAIREST

Editor, Times-News:

In the search for more sources of revenue, sooner or later both state and federal governments will adopt some form of sales tax or gross income tax. Of the two systems, the gross income tax is the most equitable because it is based on earnings capacity, while the sales tax, based on the necessity of spending money, is based on the necessity of spending money.

To illustrate: A family or person whose income is $500 a year spends it all for necessities of life, and

COST OF STATE AID $7,114,932

BOISE, Jan. 1 (AP)—A total of $7,114,932 was expended by all forms of public assistance in Idaho in the period between Oct. 1, 1940, and June 30, 1942, the biennial report of public assistance Commissioner Albert Lee showed today.

This compared with $2,294,430.82 spent in the period covered by the last previous biennial report, the period between Oct. 1, 1938, and June 30, 1940.

Old age assistance payments accounted for $4,537,890 of the total, compared with $1,292,111.12 in the earlier period.

Other expenditures of the department on a comparative basis, with the total for the earlier period, in parentheses, were:

"For aid to dependent children $1,948,500 ($1,500,145.45); for aid to the blind $139,825 ($125,121); and direct assistance $102,471.92 ($61,275.81).

The average monthly payment in each category during the period of the new report was $27.19 for dependent children, $12.68 for the blind, $10.00 per family, and $12.11 per child for recipients of aid to dependent children.

Recipients of old age assistance increased steadily in number from 9,037 in October, 1940, to 9,503 in June, 1942, the report showed.

Greatest number of recipients of aid to dependent children was 3,106 families in February, 1942, and 7,000 individual children in April, 1942; October, 1940, when 7,268 children in 2,352 families were aided.

Blind Recipients

Greatest number of recipients of aid to the blind in the period was in October, 1941, with 284, and fewest in May, 1942, with 251. Greatest number of recipients of direct assistance was in January, 1941, with 2,336, and fewest in June, 1942, with 1,017.

Lee also reported school lunches were served to many Idaho students under the department's supervision, the greatest number being served in March, 1942, when 26,232 children in 473 schools received the food.

Surplus commodities distributed under the department's supervision included $23,922.20 worth of food items and $94,762.20 worth of stock-food items.

Nazis Claim 1,308 Ships Sunk in '42

LONDON, Jan. 1 (AP)—The navy-controlled "Fitch" radio reported Berlin today that the German navy and air force sank 1,308 allied merchant vessels totaling 9,000,000 tons during 1942.

It claimed also the British aircraft carrier Eagle, which was damaged today, and the German navy and air force sank 1,308 allied merchant vessels totaling 9,000,000 tons during 1942.

'BOTT' APPOINTS HIS FORMER AIDE

BOISE, Jan. 1 (AP)—Gov.-elect O. A. Bottleneck today had announced the appointment to major offices for the next biennium of two men who served him in important capacities during his previous administration. He named James Spillert, assistant state liquor dispenser in Bottleneck's previous administration, as his replacement as commissioner, thereby returning Spillert to a post he held in 1939 and 1940.

In another appointment, he announced that O. O. (Burr) Wright, Idaho Falls, would be his purchasing agent. Wright was superintendent of the state liquor dispensary in Bottleneck's previous administration.

The two appointments brought to 26 the total officers announced by Bottleneck for his administration.

Spillert, who recently has been associated with the federal bureau of reclamation, is known throughout the state as an expert on irrigation matters. He succeeds E. V. Berg, Idaho Falls, commissioner under Gov. Chase A. Clark.

Wright, a prominent daytimer and stock breeder, succeeds Ed Brennan, Pocatello, as purchasing agent.

Mental patients from Alaska are maintained in a federally-owned hospital in Oregon.

U. S. FLIERS FACE DANGERS IN INDIA

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wilda World Wire Service
New Delhi, India, Dec. 31.—(Delayed)—Our grand Yankee airmen, Lord love 'em, are operating under many, many trying and unusual circumstances, from the Arctic to the tropics the world-over, but probably no unit is experiencing stranger or more dangerous adventures than are the boys of the 10th American air force here in northern India.

Daily, in order to operate against the Japanese in Burma and western China, our fliers are fitting their lives on their sleeves and venturing out over a primordial wilderness of gargantuan mountain ranges which tradition calls "the roof of the world."

Nature Worst Enemy
Here nature is perhaps a worse enemy than the Japanese barbarians, for she strikes in mysterious ways. Maybe it's ice on your wings way up there in the thin, cold atmosphere. It might be a forced landing in one of those deep, unpopulated gorges from which there can be no escape.

The primary job of the 10th air force, which is under the immediate command of Brig. Gen. Clayton L. Buehler, is the maintenance of China's lifeline of air transport to the outside world through India. This route, which wanders over and among towering mountain peaks through practically its entire length, was made necessary when the Japs overran Burma and thus severed the famous Burma road upon which the Chinese had depended for supplies from America and other countries.

FOOD STAMPS TO END ON MARCH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—(AP)—The government's food stamp program, a subsidy system under which $245,000,000 worth of food was distributed to low-income persons had been ordered suspended today by the agriculture department, effective March 1. It will probably remain suspended until after the war.

The act was taken, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard explained, because the situation which brought the plan into operation in 1939—that of unemployable food surplus on the one hand, and large numbers of unemployed on the other—no longer exists. Food shortages have been replaced and most of the unemployed have returned to work, he said.

Millions Aided
The department estimated that between $200,000,000 and $250,000,000 needy persons received benefits of the program at some time or another. At its peak the program gave assistance to 4,000,000 persons. The plan is now being operated in all states except West Virginia. The latter state did not provide aid for its operation, officials said.

Reasons for Plan
The stamp plan was designed to increase consumption of surplus food and at the same time to improve the diet of low-income families. The program operates through regular channels of trade. Two types of stamps good for the purchase of food are distributed among eligible needy. One type, orange in color, are bought by the client and are usable for the purchase of any food item at grocery stores. These stamps are bought by the client and are usable for the purchase of any food item at grocery stores. Printed Forms Like These, Produced by the TIMES-NEWS COMMERCIAL Printing Dept., Will Simplify Your Bookkeeping Problems in 1943.

Here is only one of many ways our Commercial Printing Department can assist you in the operation of your business under wartime conditions. These two printed forms provide a complete record of all items pertaining to wages and hours in the new federal regulations. The accompanying explanations tell you how simply these forms will relieve you of what otherwise might be a complicated detail. At reasonable cost, we can supply you with such printed forms on relatively short notice; revised, if necessary, to meet your particular requirements.

The above record is conveniently bound with original and duplicate receipts. The original is performed and a duplicate copy sent to the duplicate. Reason for having this book is to keep a record of all items pertaining to wages and hours in the new federal regulations. The accompanying explanations tell you how simply these forms will relieve you of what otherwise might be a complicated detail. At reasonable cost, we can supply you with such printed forms on relatively short notice; revised, if necessary, to meet your particular requirements.

This form, 8 1/2 inches wide by 11 inches long, may be punched to fit any loose leaf ledger of this approximate size. It will be posted each pay period from the ORIGINAL WAGE AND HOUR SHEET displayed above and will give the employer all the record he needs to comply with both Social Security and Victory Tax laws, in addition to giving the employer a complete and permanent record for payroll data. Using this record, the employer need only add the various amounts in the Victory Tax column to give him the data he must have in furnishing the employer the receipt "For Victory Tax Deductions," a copy of which the employer must also send to the Internal Revenue Department with the Annual Victory Tax return. This form will also give the employer the data necessary to make his QUARTERLY Victory Tax report to the government at the time he remits his collections from the employees. By "cross-adding" the totals in the Deductions column plus the Net Amount Paid column the resultant total should agree with the Total which appears in the Gross Earnings column, thus giving the employer an absolute proof against his postings.

You'll Save Yourself a Good Many "Business Headaches" This Coming Year by Ordering a Streamlined Set of Records Immediately. Our Commercial Printing Department Can Provide You With Any Kind of Forms You Need. Ask for Estimates. There's No Obligation.

93. WILL SEE GEORGIA AND UCLA CRASH IN ROSE BOWL

Sinkwich Will Not Start in Bowl Classic

By Russell Newland
PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 1 (AP)—Against backdrop of war time and world conflict, the Georgia Bulldogs and the UCLA Bruins helped ring in the New Year today on the tough but friendlier field of football—the Rose bowl classic.

Whether there will be another college bowl game until the fight for democracy is settled is debatable, but the 1943 renewal of the granddaddy of all the post-season gridiron sports has captured the attention of some 53,000 fans.

Franklin's Won't Start
Two feet and a pair of sprained ankles led one of thousands mauling in what amounted to double talk.

The fragile ankles and imperfect kicking arm of Georgia's star, Franklin Sinkwich, kept him out of the game. As the climax to the Bulldogs' practice preparation, Coach Wallace Butts announced last night that Franklin Sinkwich would not start the game.

The equally Georgia mentor seemed serious as he stated, "I am not particularly good yesterday and did not work out at all today. I don't look like now we will have to call him only for some part of the game. And I don't think he is the most valuable player on the team."

There were some who did not believe Sinkwich with a sprained ankle, however, Sinkwich himself said, "I am not particularly good yesterday and did not work out at all today. I don't look like now we will have to call him only for some part of the game. And I don't think he is the most valuable player on the team."

Reaction at the University of California at Los Angeles camp was as flat as a mashed potato sandwich. The Bruins, from head coach Edith Horrell down, were prepared for the southern star to play the most spectacular game of his career.

The picture, as the team lined up, was polished in this fashion: Georgia (Sinkwich in or out) to face three or four UCLA. Georgia, No. 2 in the nation, to win by 12 points or more.

Georgia's single wing, multiple punter and lateral leader, Sinkwich, if and when playing, to outpace UCLA's Bob Waterhouse, the best player in the yard.

UCLA's G-T formation (a hybrid T-formation) to attack the two touchdowns against the formidable Bruins.

The two lines shaped up on money even terms. UCLA was all Georgia, money and few, if any, UCLA backers in sight.

2 Unbeaten Teams Meet in Sun Bowl

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 1 (AP)—Stan-Simmons university and the second air force bombers, two of the nation's undefeated teams, met today before approximately 10,000 fans in the eighth annual Sun Bowl.

The speed and deception of the bombers, with several All-Americans and former college stars, was the highlight, as what southern football was counting upon to offset the power of Stan-Simmons. They met on a fast field, offering each team an opportunity to loosen its belt.

BOISE, Jan. 1 (AP)—The Boise Junior college basketball team came up winner by a 41 to 30 score last night in a nip and tuck game with the Nazarenes college of Nampa.

Prediction of Things to Come in '43

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—This year we are publishing our little slant sports almanac, that invaluable, incredible and usually reliable handbook of predictions for the coming year.

The reason is obvious, chief among them being our in thunder, knows what is going to happen in sports in 1943. It is not a guess, it is a fact. It is the only thing that we can do right now. Always taking our bearings from the wrong stars, no doubt.

However, there is no harm in saying what we hope will happen in the next year, these pleasant dreams including:

The early news that Tokyo has been bombed into smithereens and the Japanese army and navy thoroughly and permanently dented in the waters of the Pacific, and a couple of lucky Navy doughboys have been left standing.

After such eventualities, it might not be long before the doughboys trying to guage the outcome of the major league races would be trying to figure out which team would be the first to win.

Joe Louis would walk into Mike Jacobs' cabana, on Jacobs' bench, and say, "I am not particularly good yesterday and did not work out at all today. I don't look like now we will have to call him only for some part of the game. And I don't think he is the most valuable player on the team."

Too Many Bury Young Men
The college campuses would be swarming with bury young men, and the football coaches would be trying to find a way to get them back.

The football coaches who leaves of absence would return to take up where they left off, and in some instances would find their substitutes had set a pretty high mark for them to step into their shoes.

The nations of the world would be turning up their best athletes for the winter games, and the sports fans would be referring to their heroes with "there he is" and "there he is."

Well, a guy can dream, can't he? Anyway, a happy New Year!

Capacity Crowd For Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 1 (AP)—Boston college's one-beat-punch, college champions of 1942, set third in the eighth annual Orange Bowl today against Alabama's bowl-time Crimson Tide, the hard luck team of the Southeastern conference.

A capacity crowd of 30,000 filled the stadium. Alabama, beaten three times during the season, were in A-1 shape. The U. S. Marine Corps, captured by injuries with their star footballer, Mickey Connelley, and two other team members nursing various ailments.

"HEAT IT!" CHAPTER XI

Fay and Maria rose early next morning, realizing with regret that the waiting year was bringing their vacation to an end. Outside it was snowing lightly but steadily. Inside the house the occupants stirred about in a realization that this would be a busy day. They had promised the Finnish children who were guests at the farm a jolly, though belated, Christmas party.

The morning was spent in preparation for the strenuous afternoon that was inevitable. The girls spent busy hours finishing up preparations for the party. They all sat around the fire after supper and made the necessary arrangements for the party. They were ready and willing to face and greet the boys who would come a little later.

Branny's role was touched off. His heart and wife were latched onto the representative of the ceremony. He was to be the first to greet the party. He had arranged to elope with Leona when she came the way of necessity, and she had agreed, feeling that a girl would be foolish to pass up an opportunity that might come once in a lifetime. If it should come again one could always take it again, but if it came this time, well, one never knew.

Ross lay with his head against Fay's knee, feeling like a little boy. Fay ran her fingers through his hair, pulling out every now and again a very thin hair.

"You know," he said, looking up at her, "you'll make a perfect wife for me. You're just what I need."

Fay looked down at him, her lips breaking into a smile. "You're a very difficult husband, I'd hate to be the girl you marry."

"You're too good looking and you have a wonderful eye."

Then they were distracted because Branny wanted Ross to rehearse their act and Maria wanted Branny to rehearse his part. Between Branny, Fay and Maria had him in a headlock. They were all laughing and shouting.

Then there came a sound of young voices up the driveway and the same was heard. The boys rushed into the house with a riot of excitement. Crackers were thrust upon them to show the first shock the room became littered with papers and party hats and trinkets. Branny, who was appointed M. C., ministered to stem the tide but it swept past all his calls to order and attacked several dishes piled with nuts and candies. As before a swarm of boys, bristling with excitement, everything edible or pocketable seemed to vanish. There were some three more boy struggles during the lack of the clock and Branny's impudently piled for order and they converted upon the fire with flushed faces and eager eyes.

There was a moment of peace. Branny wiped his brow and paused for breath.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he began, with a trembling eye on the boys. "It is my great privilege to be called upon to officiate at the introduction of the famous, that world famous, that unique and immortal gentleman, Santa Claus."

Branny entered, catching Branny's last words. It brought back the lights of the wrestling arena and he tested in with his two hands clasped, shaking them in an imaginary audience of thousands.

A loud and prolonged raspberry greeted him. It was given as applause from the excess of high spirits in the boys but it cracked Branny hard, reminding him of that time in Chicago. It was a painful memory and a disconcerting reception. He was already in a slightly nervous condition owing to an uncomfortable feeling that he was cutting the safe margin for departure too fine.
