Bott Starts 2nd Term as Idaho's Chief Executive

By JOHN CORLETT
BOISE, Ida., Jan. 4 (UP)—C. A. Bottfoss, Arco weekly newspaper publisher, today began his second term as Idaho's chief executive.

In solemn rites, he and seven other state officials, three supreme court justices and 103 legislators were inaugurated at high noon in the house of representatives chamber. The oaths were administered by Chief Justice Edwin M. Holden.

The legislature completes its organization shortly after the inauguration and was to recess until tomorrow to hear the messages and draw of Gov. Bottfoss, who will suggest strict economy, financing of the senior citizens' grant, investigation of the state liquor dispensary and post-war planning and financing.

The house and senate members assembled in their respective chambers shortly before the inauguration and certificates of election from the secretary of state's office were read.

At 10:30, the senators filed to the house chambers for the inaugural ceremonies. The newly-elected state officers gathered in the governor's office.

Rep. J. B. Meeker of Bonanza Ferry, the first senatorial appointee to the house, presided at the joint session.

NO RELAXING ON OIL, GAS QUOTA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (UP)—Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes disclosed today that despite flood delays the new Texas-Louisiana pipeline probably will be in operation by Feb. 1, he warned that at the spot "only a very small relaxation" of fuel oil rationing can be expected.

Ickes told a special senate committee investigating the oil shortage that completion of the line has been delayed by difficulty in obtaining priorities on valves and pumps. Ickes recently washed out 600 feet of the new line and it has been replaced.

No Relaxation
But even if the line is in operation by Feb. 1, he said, "we don't hold out any hope of relaxing the very necessary rationing which is needed anyway to save fuel oil and to conserve it for relaxation of fuel oil rationing."

The outlook for next winter, Ickes told the committee, is darkened by an impending oil shortage. He said that the oil shortage is a very necessary rationing which is needed anyway to save fuel oil and to conserve it for relaxation of fuel oil rationing.

MacArthur Says Jap Positions in Guinea Hopeless

By The Associated Press
American and Australian jungle fighters who wiped out the last pockets of Japanese in the Buna area of New Guinea over the week-end were closing in today on the invaders' defenses in the swampy Sannaniana area to the north, where, a communique from General MacArthur's headquarters said, "the enemy's position is now hopeless."

Flying Fortresses and long-range Lockheed Lightning fighter planes carried the aerial attack again to the Japanese strongholds of Lae and Miding, far up the New Guinea coast, and the bombers raided Gasmata on New Britain island, settling a 10,000-ton ship ablaze.

Sannaniana, some two miles up the coast from Gropa and five miles from Buna, was described as the last stand of Japanese forces in the Buna area. The Japanese had been driven out of Gropa on Dec. 28, and of Miding on Dec. 29. The Japanese had been driven out of Gropa on Dec. 28, and of Miding on Dec. 29.

U. S. Flier, Downed in Desert, Dined by Arabs for 3 Days

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, Jan. 3.—delayed—A U. S. pilot, who was downed in the desert, was found by a patrol of Arab fighters today, his weight up considerably, to report on the three Arabian nights and days he spent in the desert.

Arab chieftains wired him and after him. They killed fresh and red wine in one hand, a bottle of red wine in the other. Every time Humbrecht took a sip from either of his two glasses the Arab would lean over and fill it to the rim.

RUSSIA'S ARMY PASSES AHEAD IN DON SECTORS

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW, Jan. 4 (UP)—The red army of the Caucasus advanced along both banks of the Terek river today, driving the Germans back to the northwest and west from newly recaptured Muzdok and breaking a salient the nazis had thrust forward more than four months ago to the Gromy fields, Russian reports said.

The swift Russian capture yesterday of Muzdok and Malgobek, 15 miles south-east of Muzdok, was considered a major victory here by the staff of Stalingrad and Veliki Luki, where the red army continued its advance.

The German lines appeared to be crumbling in the most important sectors, the Russians said, as the nazis' command suffered resistance at some points only to be hit at others by the hard-driving red army.

Several more unoccupied villages were reported taken northwest and west of Muzdok today.

Next Objective
The next major Russian objective appeared to be Prokhladinskiy, a rail junction in the region lying running east and west and north and less 35 miles west of Muzdok. The occupation of Prokhladinskiy would cut off the German forces at Nalchik, now under attack from the southeast.

Winter rains have broken the terrain and made the Caucasus campaign easier than the winter in the Don steppe, but the entire German position in the heart of the Caucasus—already impeded by the Russian push south from Stalingrad—now appear in greater danger from the southeast.

New Stuka Craft Helping Defense In Africa Desert

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE
LONDON, Jan. 4 (UP)—Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps is making a determined and possibly a final stand in Libya with the aid of important reinforcements including a force of Stuka dive bombing planes, advices from a German disclosure today.

Rommel is making his stand on the wadi Zem Zem, 230 miles from Tunisia and only 170 miles from Tripoli, capital of Libya.

His Stukas and other planes are offering a strong challenge to the allied forces which for weeks had rained the Libyan skies.

United Press advices reported that an Italian rear guard, left to defend the Benenat, on the eastern arm of the wadi El Chehr, had been smothered out. They called the place on fire and first destroyed by their first planes now.

The Italian rear guard was called in just after the first plane, "the Smith," he barked, reading the first name on the list, and five planes answered, "here." The Smith, all taking back training, are in the air.

GAS SHORTAGE IS HINDERING NAZIS

By EDWIN SHANKE
STOCKHOLM, Jan. 4 (UP)—The failure of the nazis army to take the Gromy fields in the Russian front after a month-long drive which culminated yesterday in their loss of key cities, has been attributed to a gas shortage.

The collapse of the Gromy drive was said to be the result of the nazis' conversion to gas machinery on the home front to the detriment of their military gas needs.

At one stage of the summer campaign in Russia the Germans were so hard pressed for gasoline that they demanded that the nazis' headquarters in Hungary supply 200,000 tons of fuel, said the informants.

The informants said that the nazis' conversion to gas machinery on the home front to the detriment of their military gas needs.

India's "Untouchables" Form Major Task for Rehabilitators

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Wide World News Analysis)

NEW DELHI, Jan. 2 (Delayed)—Hindus provides few human tragedies so awful as that of India's 60,000,000 untouchables who are condemned by tradition to live as pariahs along with their insectors have done for hundreds of years.

The untouchable will tell you that there isn't much to choose between the life of the man and that of the beast. Many would feel that the untouchable is a man, not a beast.

But let Dr. Ambedkar take up the matter. "In order that you may understand our problem I must stress at the beginning that the untouchables are not a race, but a class of people."

Rubber Production Starts to Roll Up From South American Plantations

Here is one of the first pictures actually showing native South American crude, smoked rubber balls, of from 50 to 150 pounds each, destined to be transported to the United States to help supply America's diminishing stocks of natural rubber. The South American rubber camps frequently set far inland, reachable only by trail. This photo shows why the Brazilian natives form their smoked rubber into balls rather than into smoked sheets, which is the custom in the Dutch East Indies and Malaya. A ball with a hole through it will be cut off close to the ball after the smoking is completed and a pair of poles fixed to the axle provided by the shaft. Then the rubber ball is pushed off the point where there is a better means of transportation.

It takes years for a native rubber tree to grow to a producing stage. Consequently a search for new sources has been organized to explore the jungles of South and Central America and actually find mature trees that can be tapped. This has meant arranging to move 50,000 natives into these jungle areas an organizing them into a producing force.

The man in charge of organizing this rubber hunt in South America is Douglas Allen, a dynamic, tough-looking, sparkling-eyed Scotswoman who is operating head of the Rubber Reserve Company, a government-owned subsidiary corporation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which is carrying out this development under a directive of the Board of Economic Warfare. Douglas Allen came back to the United States on a business trip just before Christmas, and he brought with him the first photographs of rubber-gathering operations now being carried on under Brazilian government supervision at the headwaters of the Amazon. Douglas Allen says for some months RPO's "one man South America" rubber men in South America before a pound of rubber could be moved, treaties had to be signed between the United States and the Latin-American republics. A rubber bank had to be organized to finance the operation. Steamships had to be bought to establish lines of river transportation. A vast labor migration program had to be organized. Food had to be bought by the ton to supply these workers. An aerial supply line had to be organized to save minutes of precious time. Price schedules had to be set for the rubber—high enough to encourage production, low enough to prevent inflation and profiteering.

All this took time, energy and untold dollars. It was a long, hard job, but in a few short months, a start has been made at overcoming all these obstacles. The high command of the war, Douglas Allen came back to the United States on a business trip just before Christmas, and he brought with him the first photographs of rubber-gathering operations now being carried on under Brazilian government supervision at the headwaters of the Amazon. Douglas Allen says for some months RPO's "one man South America" rubber men in South America before a pound of rubber could be moved, treaties had to be signed between the United States and the Latin-American republics. U. S. Engineering, Courage of Youths Make Great War Team

Day after day from a "Shanghai" in North Africa, Flying Fortress fighters with their tri-angled escort fighters smashed down on the axis-led ports of Tunisia. Some carried a large of smoke that they "feel like a driver of a milk run."

Cargo of Wounded
After yesterday's violent battle, many Flying Fortresses returned to the base although one landed with only two engines. Some carried a large of wounded, including mine, in which a waist gunner was killed when anti-aircraft shells burst around him.

This Fortress in which I am flying now is carrying the day's cargo of wounded to a hospital where there are facilities for proper treatment.

The losses in Fortresses and escort planes shot down have been the lowest of the war for the type of operation, being less than two per cent.

This record has been made against anti-aircraft batteries said to equal in intensity those thrown up at the front by two German battalions which were shot down.

GERMANS CLAIM TUNISIA SUCCESS

BERLIN, Jan. 4.—(German broadcast) according to UP in New York) German planes attacked allied traffic on Tunisian roads and railroads, started fires at an allied air base and shot down five allied planes.

Northeast of Oran, Algeria, it said, a U-boat sank a 5,000-ton allied vessel in a hospital where there are facilities for proper treatment.

The high command conceded that the Russians were attacking the front, but said the attacks were being "bristled back by German troops."

TROOPS MAY USE FREIGHT CARS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Converted freight cars may be used soon to transport troops because of the shortage of flat cars. The Director James H. Eastman of the office of defense transportation said today in a statement.

He cited that possibility as an example of how railroads have been able to make the most of their limited resources.

It was predicted that the railroads by using ancient pullmans with coal burning heaters and other old-fashioned cars from New York City's abandoned street lines—would "just about get by" in 1943.

"It's going to be a hard job," he said. "But we'll make it if we all pull together."

First Start
The railroad, because of trucking and shipping, started out in this war with a shortage of flat cars. An additional transportation picture that the railroad of 1917-1918. But Eastman said that the railroads are being used more actively and the loss of the chief source of rubber tires will be made up by the use of flat cars.

Little New Equipment
Little new equipment has been added. But there exists a slight surplus in freight cars which has been used to transport troops. It is expected that the railroads will be used more actively and the loss of the chief source of rubber tires will be made up by the use of flat cars.

Men you've never even met Are fighting for you now!

Americans, all—millions of them!

The son of the tailor down at the corner . . . the young brother of the banker . . . the nephew of the gas-station man . . . the farm boy from Iowa . . . the college boy from Park Avenue.

Fighting, all of them—for us. That's Democracy in action. Because all Americans were "created free and equal" every American has an equal duty to perform.

And that's where WE come in. We've got to back up those boys. We've got to see that they get the stuff to fight with. Planes . . . tanks . . . guns . . . bullets . . . bombs . . . more of them than the world has ever seen before.

Every payday we've got to save—put 10 percent of our pay in War Bonds. Millions of other-Americans are doing it.

"Sacrifice," you say? As great a sacrifice as the boys made at Bataan or Corregidor? As great a sacrifice as a flier made who deliberately gave his life to bomb a Jap plane carrier?

Nothing we can do can ever equal what these men have already done!

Mind you, we're not even asked to give this money. Every time we save $18.75 we get a War Bond worth $25 in 10 years. That's why we're not looking for excuses, we Americans.

We're not looking for excuses from lending money, when other Americans are fighting for their lives!

DO YOU KNOW?

When you buy WAR BONDS, you're saving, not giving! Series E WAR BONDS are worth 33½ percent more in 10 years! You get $4 for every $3 you invest! These BONDS, when held to maturity (10 years), yield 2.9 percent per year on your investment, compounded semiannually!

Joining a Pay-Roll Savings Plan makes saving easy! Joining your bank's Victory Club (it works like any Thrift-or Christmas Club) is a convenient way to save for War Bonds for those who aren't members of a Pay-Roll Savings Plan.

You can have enough money to do a lot of things you'd like to do, and to buy the many things you'll need after the war is over, if you save enough in War Bonds every payday NOW!

You can start buying WAR BONDS by buying War Stamps for as little as 10 cents.
