$700,000 Assistance Measure Ready Kayburn Wins Over

IDAHO SENATORS REPRESENTATIVES TO BALLOT TODAY

By JOHN CORLETT
BOISE, Ida., Jan. 6 (UP)—The Idaho legislature was ready today to pass an emergency appropriation bill to cover public assistance expense for the first three months of 1943.

Amount of the appropriation was agreed upon in a Democrat and Republican joint caucus in the house this morning and was to be passed under suspension of the rules this afternoon.

The senate Democrats and Republicans are slated to pass it at 4 p. m. and send it on to Gov. Bottelstein for signature.

Estimated Costs
The appropriation covers estimated public assistance costs under the old public assistance act and has no effect on the new act which the senate passed last week.

One of the most important issues to be considered by the legislature is the method of financing the new act which will require a month pension to eligible persons over 65, plus medical benefits and dental expenses.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UP)—By the slimmest margin in a decade, Democrats kept control of the house and returned Sen. Rayburn of Texas to the speakership today in organizing the 78th congress for tomorrow on a year of war and the way to victory.

FUND ASKED FOR RATIONS BOARDS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Local rationing boards are breaking down under the burden of their work, the American Automobile Association asserted today in urging immediate overhauling of the rationing program. The association said it was imperative that the boards be given enough money to employ necessary trained help.

The recommendation was submitted to Rubber Director William M. Jeffers and other war agency officials on the basis of a nationwide AAA survey. Other recommendations:

The number of personal appearances by motorists incident to supplemental rationing should be curtailed and much paper work should be eliminated.

Local boards should be given a greater degree of autonomy, although both Jeffers and Price Administrator Leon Hesterton have called for "common sense" administration, OPA representatives continue to insist "on the strict letter of the law and the strict comma of the regulations," the AAA said.

There should be an early appraisal of the tire rationing program, which under present requirements would require the full time of some 30,000 mechanics at a time when the shortage of mechanics has reached alarming proportions.

ware and hour public contracts division of the United States department of labor.

The 40 cent hourly wage minimum would increase the wages of approximately 12,000 of the 60,000 employees in the industry.

The recommendation followed a one day meeting of 18 representatives of employers, employees and the public under the chairmanship of Theodore J. Kress, Palo Alto, Calif., professor of economics at Stanford university.

Walling will hold a public hearing on the recommendation.

MUSKRATS TO BE EATEN IN EAST

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6 (AP)—Louisiana muskrats, dressed up for the table as "marsh hares" are being concentrated in large quantities for shipment to eastern and midwestern states as a delicacy to supplant depleted meat stocks.

State Conservation Commissioner Joseph L. McHugh said one buyer, who uses the pelts for fur, had 11,000 carcasses dressed for market and frozen in a storage plant ready for sale and others, too, were ready from the traps.

McHugh revealed that a representative of a national food distributor concerned with headquarters in New York arrived this week to negotiate purchases for eastern and midwestern markets.

"Marsh hare," a popular dish in other states, particularly in Maryland, McHugh said, may be prepared in any of the many ways that squirrels and rabbits are cooked. The only difference of treatment is that the two musk glands inside the thighs must be removed.

U. S. Destroyer Aaron Ward Damaged Four Jap Vessels

By CHARLES MCINTURY
WITH THE U. S. FLEET IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC—Correspondence of the Associated Press—Destroyers look magnificent alongside a battleship but the U. S. Destroyer Aaron Ward damaged four enemy battleships, including a battleship, in the waters of New Guinea, during the recent Nov. 13 naval engagements off Savo Island.

Comdr. Orville P. Greger, of La Jolla, Calif., and formerly of St. Louis, Mo., took the Aaron Ward between two lines of Japanese warships in this engagement, fought at 6,000 to 2,000 yards in 2 a. m. darkness.

The Aaron Ward was hit by three 14-inch shells, by 8-inchers and by 5-inchers. Three torpedoes passed under her bow. "I saw their wakes," said Greger, her captain.

Japs Pay Heavily
But the little warship made the Japanese pay heavily for that damage and made port herself, to fight again.

"We possibly sank one light cruiser and damaged three other ships—a battleship and two destroyers," Greger said. "We saw fires and explosions on the light cruiser. Then she blew up. We put 40 or 50 shells into the other three ships."

"Greger was awarded a navy cross for his part in that battle."

"The first target was a battleship. After we fired our first salvo it was so bright, we could see her plainly. Star shells and searchlights illuminated the sea."

Fire From Both Sides
"We fired at that battleship until one of our own cruisers got into our line of fire. Then we proceeded through the target Japanese force, firing at targets on both sides of us."

"We took nine direct hits. Our mast was knocked off."

"The battle lasted about 23 minutes. We lost our electricity the last one-third of that time. Finally we went dead in the water as the battle ended."

"Ships were burning all around us. A Jap destroyer blew up 1,000 yards away. A heavy cruiser keeled over nearby, apparently hit by a torpedo."

"We got under way again under our own power but couldn't make much speed. We broke down again just before daylight."

"There was a crippled Jap battleship—just four or five miles away, at dawn. That Jap fired four salvos at us. One salvo straddled us with 14-inch shells. He was getting our range. We probably would have been sunk but as he fired his fourth salvo, the United States bombers roared over. He limped away trying to escape. The navy reported the bombers finished that battleship one of the Kongo class."

"Then a tug came out and towed us into port."

opinion that passage of a sales tax by the legislature in 1943 would mean little—and that property tax ultimately would displace the former citizens' grant act.

Public officials and labor would demand increased in salaries to absorb the sales tax, Reynolds said. "They will get the raise and property tax will have to pay the bill," he asserted.

UNION OIL'S CREDIT CARD POLICY

THE Petroleum Administration for War has deemed it "necessary for the prosecution of the war" that gasoline credit cards be eliminated. The objective is to save manpower, business machines, and congestion in mails and banking. This objective was made clear to the oil companies through wording of the Government's order and by consultation with representatives of the Petroleum Administration for War.

However, certain provisions of the order make it possible to continue to issue credit at single stations only. The facts are, however, that segregation and handling of this type of credit actually requires more time and manpower than general credit—and does not conserve business machines, nor relieve mail or banking congestion.

For these reasons we feel that single station credit is against the spirit of the Government's order, and would thwart the true objectives of the order. Single station credit can in no way help the war effort.

The Union Oil Company is adhering fully to the Government's order, and is not honoring credit cards, except for Government vehicles and essential commercial users.

Union Oil Company is deeply appreciative of your cooperation. We hope to resume use of credit cards when this war is won. But we know, as you do, that today the only important thing is winning it. Until then we will do our best to help keep your car rolling—for Victory.

RFC LOAN GIVEN DESPITE PROTEST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—An associate subcommittee had been informed today that a $500,000 RFC loan was awarded to the Gulf Distilling corporation of Grinn, La., for the alcohol manufacturing equipment despite the disapproval of the production board.

Chairman Gillette, D., of a senate agriculture subcommittee read a letter from E. W. Reid, chief of WPI, chemical branch, which asserted the loan was authorized last March after a lease had been made of the reconstruction finance corporation. It was told that a former owner of the plant intended to install a new grain-handling equipment "should cost no more than $500,000."

Reid sent his letter to Gillette in response to the chairman's inquiry. Reid admitted today that the letter was based on recollections of a former chief of the chemical branch's alcohol section, not otherwise identified in the correspondence.

The introduction of the letter, dated Oct. 5, follows testimony disclosing an optimistic outlook for production of industrial alcohol in sufficient quantities to meet projected rubber and other war requirements in 1943 and 1944.

Dr. Walter O. Whitman, assistant director of WPI's chemical branch, testified that existing plants for the manufacture of 400,000,000 gallons this year and 500,000,000 next.

While conceding these figures were less than estimated requirements of 500,000,000 this year and from 600 to 650 million in 1944, he stated they did not take into consideration production of recently approved mid-western alcohol plants and others to be approved. He added that the requirements estimates were based on maximum synthetic rubber production.

"All in all, we feel that production and requirements for the two years ahead are substantially in balance," he said.

WMC PROMISES NO DEFERMENTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—War manpower commission officials said today that they were unable to predict how long present deferments for dependency and essential occupations would remain unchanged.

"They emphasized that we said they were not to be changed," they said. "Childless married men are being inducted in most areas, but the drafting of married men with children, except where the dependency was acquired after Dec. 8, 1941, still is against selective service."

WMC Chairman Paul V. McNutt and Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hethcote of the selective service bureau have given an indication that they are prepared to authorize drafting men with children. But other quarters have said that such a move may become necessary this year.

Congress soon will be asked to enact legislation requiring the pooling of all single men of a state or a region for the fulfilling of draft quotas. That would further nibbles into the ranks of childless married men and the calling of those with children. Pennsylvania and Connecticut already have adopted such plans on their own initiative.

Here Are Two Opened Pages of Your "Point Ration" Book

Let's Get to the Point so Here's an Outline of New Ration Plan—Save It

The fellow who says "let's get to the point" may run himself crazy when everybody in the country has a book full of "points."

That's the way it will be when the ration book is issued. The supply of wheatflakes is usually less than usual, and branflakes extremely scarce, hardly available at all.

Based on these varying supplies of the cereals to be rationed, the government would assign point values to them somewhat as follows:

- Wheatflakes 1 point
- Oatmeal 2 points
- Orzo 4 points
- Branflakes 8 points
- Blue and Red 11 points

Now, suppose that each individual's share of the commodities in this group is set at 48 points per month, and the government said the blue stamps in war ration book No. 2 were to be used for these commodities.

Works Like This

The stamps that would be used when buying commodities in this group is set at 48 points per month, and the government said the blue stamps in war ration book No. 2 were to be used for these commodities.

When you buy any of the items, you must surrender to the storekeeper enough point stamps to cover the point value of the item or items. If you want to buy cereals, which have a value of one point, you give the storekeeper one of the blue stamps, which has a denomination of one point—stamp 1-A, B-1 or C-1.

To buy oatmeal, which has a point value of 2, you give the storekeeper two blue 2-point stamps or 11-point stamp (for example, A-2, A-1 and B-1).

To buy branflakes, which has a point value of 8, you give the storekeeper eight blue stamps totaling 11 points (for example, a 2- and a 1-point stamp, or two 1-point stamps and a 1-point stamp).

Based on Supply

In other words, the rationed commodities have certain point values assigned to them by the government,

EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION OF FOODS STUDIED BY WICKARD

CITRUS, BUTTER REQUISITION SET

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—President's Administrator Claude R. Wickard today was expected to follow up his drastic cuts in civilian supplies of butter and citrus fruits with important revisions in processing to secure more equitable distribution of food to civilians.

Officials said, shortages of some food will have to be met by something drastic must be done soon to meet requirements arising from currently all war-time rationing. Local shortages especially are the result of poor distribution, but that that is little consolation to the housewife who finds only barest necessities and encounters difficulty in buying bacon, butter, eggs and lard.

Wickard's latest ration orders—No. 2 and 3—were designed to assure adequate supplies of butter and canned fruit for the civilian market and other United Nations.

The citrus order was more severe. It directed producers to reserve for the government the total pack of canned citrus fruits except un-concentrated grapefruit juice. Effective at midnight tonight, the order freezes canned grapefruit juice from Jan. 6 until April 1 but does not affect supplies held by wholesalers and retailers. Wickard said the citrus order should not affect civilian diets seriously because large supplies of fresh grapefruit, oranges, lemons and limes are available.

Butter Quotas. The butter order will make available to the government approximately 50,000,000 of the 1,700,000,000 pounds of butter expected to be produced in 1943. The government probably will buy the butter at 46 cents a pound, Chicago basis. At least two-thirds of the butter is to be reserved for the government, to go directly to American fighting men. Wickard said that the rest of the butter will go to the civilian market.

Glare of Truth and Publicity Will Be Used to Spike Rumors

It will be a doubtful rumor that stands up against the glare of truth and the glare of publicity planned at a meeting of the anti-rumor committee held Tuesday night in the public court room.

SOLONS TO NAME NEW COMMITTEES

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—The appointment of major committees today or tomorrow was the next step as the 77th Idaho legislature prepared to take up problems of the state's first wartime session in a quarter century.

Both chambers adjourned yesterday after a brief joint session to hear Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen's legislative recommendations. Much of the preliminary work already has been completed, and it remained for selection of major committees to start the wheels of law making.

Consideration of the budget requests from each department probably will be the first problem to be tackled by the house and senate.

Appropriations for this biennium will be on a slightly different basis than in the past. Due to the expiration of the state's fiscal year on end on June 30, funds will be asked for two one-half year periods.

Five new attaches to the house were sworn in yesterday. They are: Assistant engineering chief, Josephine McFarland; Auditor, Mildred King; Ada county, cooper, Levi McCavit; Blaine county, mailing clerk, Olive H. Johnson; and Idaho county, cooper, L. D. Dorsey.

Although he received offers that would have made him a millionaire he refused to leave Tuskegee, until last year when he did some research in Henry Ford's Detroit laboratories. His formula would have made him very wealthy, but he gave them freely to the world.

The late Thomas A. Edison invited Dr. Carver to work with him. The congressional ways and means committee saw him 10 minutes in his savings after a bank failure in Henry Ford's Detroit laboratories.

Dr. Carver never patented any of his discoveries. He was never married and left no relatives. In 1926 he gave $27,000—what was left of his savings after a bank failure—to create a foundation to perpetuate research in creative chemistry.

He was an excellent painter, and which Bohne is president, already has promised cooperation. A publicity committee, Charles Shirley, chairman—release findings of the rumor elite on rumors already noted, and give publicity to various sections of the rumor squelching committee.

MINERS PROTEST BOOST ON DUES

WILKES-BARRE, Penn., Jan. 6 (AP)—Nine thousand miners remained away from their jobs in protest of the largest collieries in the Pennsylvania anthracite fields today in a factional dispute over raising dues 50 cents a month increase in union dues.

The movement, condemned by the United Mine Workers of America, developed while the UMW and mine operators worked on a plan to increase production for war needs, in accordance with a request from the War Relocation Authority.

The first increase was deducted under the check-off system from the miners' last two pay checks. The miners want this money returned.

MCCORMICK ASKS BAN ON POLITICS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Non-partisan cooperation in Congress in passing measures to win the war and in making its contribution to the future permanent peace of the world as urged last night by House Majority Leader McCormick, D. Mass.

This is no time for partisan politics, political intrigue, squawking or winning or losing in the terms of 1944 politics, he declared in a statement.

The cooperation with President Roosevelt and our military and naval leaders in the speedy passage of legislation and appropriations in the winning of the war is the paramount and immediate duty of Congress. This should be a war Congress that will legislate for and cooperate with our commander-in-chief for victory.

Every member of Congress should consider himself in the military uniform of our country. This is no time for partisan politics, political intrigue, squawking or winning or losing in the terms of 1944 politics.

Without regard to political party, this should be a Congress, the membership of which subordinates every other consideration to the great task of speedy victory.

CAMP FARRAGUT IDAHO 2ND CITY

FARRAGUT, Ida., Jan. 6 (AP)—This naval training station, which one day will be exceeded in size only by the Great Lakes station, is ready to be considered Idaho's second largest city as well as its youngest.

Construction was made of the number of sailors now training at this station bordering scenic Penno Bay. The number of sailors now training at this station is 30,000.

But the pilot of the navy scout frankly didn't expect to sight any enemy in the air and there was no sign of submarines lurking anywhere in the white flocked sea, spotted with coral reefs and islands.

Not were any of Admiral Yamamoto's surface ships expected in these parts, since none had appeared to challenge recent thrusts of navy task forces into waters where battles had previously been fought.

Correspondent Finds Plenty Signs of War but No Japs

By NORMAN BELL
UNITED NATIONS HARBOR, SOUTH PACIFIC (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Looking down on this south sea island base from a navy scouting plane there is plenty evidence of war but none at all of the Japs, who certainly included the area not so long ago in their dream of conquest.

The wings of the plane tilted abruptly as the pilot banks to the curve of the coastline, where mangrove bushes grow right down into the ocean-like willows on a lake shore.

My navy observation and transport planes side at anchorage on one side of the bay. The white and brown residents seem half dead by the side of men and energy engulfing their open sleepy community.

Among the hills beyond are army and marine corps ground encampments and airfields. Hospitals, with trim army and navy nurses in attendance, are treating the wounded and sick from the sea, land and air attacks.

Highways and roads are alive with American trucks and jeeps. More than a million acres of the 1,600,000-acre forest were utilized by 77,600 sheep and 3,711 cattle and horses.

Approximately 16,000 sheep and 715 other livestock grazed on private land within the forest. Predatory animals were reported to have killed 1,065 sheep and 60 cattle and horses.

MYSTERY CHIEF LEADING FRENCH

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—That mysterious Fighting French column which has been reported advancing from the Lake Chad region of equatorial Africa northward into Libya is led by a 40-year-old general whose real identity is hidden by the nom de guerre "General Jacques LeClere," a Fighting French spokesman disclosed today.

Italian war reports have mentioned such a column and recent broadcasts from north Africa said it had reached the Fezzan area of Libya, about 600 miles south of the main axis, base of Tripoli. The size of the force, exact route and destination have not been disclosed.

There is no French general in Africa by the name of "LeClere" and the Fighting French source here said, "very few people know the general's real name." The source gave this account of the mysterious force.

Three years ago in the battle of France, a young captain escaped wounded from a German military hospital. He hid in the chest of a captured civilian clothing and borrowed a bicycle from the invading German to reach the English channel coast.

Eventually the officer reached London, where he joined Gen. Charles De Gaulle. De Gaulle sent him to the Cameroons in French equatorial Africa to organize a resistance against the Vichy French government.

A month later the mid-African colony joined the Fighting French forces and the captain was promoted to brigadier general for his services. An announcement in July, 1940, said that all French forces in that area would be commanded by "General Jacques LeClere." Since then the mystery man has carried that name.

That trend would bear out the optimistic new year predictions of the United States navy and army south Pacific commanders: Admiral William S. Halsey, who expects complete victory in 1943, and Maj. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, who thinks the prospect is greatly improved over last year.

HOLD EVERYTHING

"Nothing today, thank you!"

Boise County to Lose Electricity

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Idaho public utilities commission today received a petition filed by Omnia Power company, declaring intention of discontinuing electric service to Boise county this month.

Reduced revenue from the area was said to be the cause of abandonment of service which is to become effective Jan. 22.

Approximately 16,000 sheep and 715 other livestock grazed on private land within the forest. Predatory animals were reported to have killed 1,065 sheep and 60 cattle and horses.

NEBRASKA SOLON RAPS AT HOPKINS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Revealing his suggestion of a congressional inquiry into the handling of billions of dollars involved in a program to end completely the policy of lend-lease, a Nebraska congressman rapped Harry Hopkins last night.

Butler contended that since he first proposed an investigation several weeks ago the administration had been "attempting to draw a red herring across the path of lend-lease."

It is a question of administration and not of policy, Butler said in a statement. "Congress voted the President billions of dollars to operate the lend-lease program. It did not know at the time that Harry Hopkins, with his background of spend and spend, tax and tax, and by peddling the idea that any inquiry into the handling of billions of dollars involved in a program to end completely the policy of lend-lease, I know of no congressional program with congress to abrogate the policy of helping our allies with implements of war and food."

And now we find ourselves at a great disadvantage. We have stern lessons to learn. We must improve, we must claim, re-use, every little item we live with. Everything has its value today. We must find it, and use it to strengthen our war effort.

On the home front such economies are especially important. Every housewife can devise ways of saving things to use that she has never had to think about before.

Remember this in order to get long use out of the things you buy, you must buy them carefully in the first place. Nobody can afford to buy shoddy things, they not only won't last, but they don't lend themselves to repairing and re-using.

The close scrutiny, the rigid testing which all economy merchandise goes through, is your assurance of good value... an assurance you MUST have in everything you buy today.

Remember this in order to get long use out of the things you buy, you must buy them carefully in the first place. Nobody can afford to buy shoddy things, they not only won't last, but they don't lend themselves to repairing and re-using.

Blackfoot Names Chief Executive

BLACKFOOT, Jan. 6 (AP)—After more than a month without a chief executive, Blackfoot had a new one.

Earl Miller, councilman for the past four terms and a honey producer, was unanimously voted into office last night by the other nine members of the city council to fill the unexpired term of Mayor C. E. Doyle, who resigned in November.

Miller as president of the council had served as acting mayor since Doyle's resignation.

The council postponed until Jan. 18 its meeting naming of a new councilman to fill Miller's vacated post.

Coal Hauled to Middle of Forest

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 6 (AP)—This small town, situated in the heart of the Boise national forest with huge timber stands nearby, was being hauled coal today.

A domestic fuel shortage was caused by the sudden arrival of winter and before citizens had made preparations in the woodlands.
