Navy Lists Names Of 11 Ships Sunk In Pacific Fights

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—Military security no longer requiring secrecy, the navy published today the names of 11 ships that were sunk in 10 other warships—all previously announced as lost but not identified at the time.

The 20,000-ton Hornet, commissioned only a year before its death on Oct. 26, went to the bottom of the south Pacific off the Santa Cruz Islands after a battle that inflicted heavy damage to two Japanese carriers and bomb and torpedo hits on an enemy battleship and five cruisers.

The other United States vessels sunk in the far east November battles that broke the heaviest Japanese attempt to capture Guadalcanal were identified as the 9,500-ton transport, 6,000-ton cruiser Juneau, 6,000-ton transport, and the destroyers USS, Chaffin, Benham, Preston, Walker, Gearing and Laffey.

The navy communique on the engagements in which these vessels were lost, stated that the destroyer was lost, however, that 12 Japanese warships were damaged and 21 sunk, comprising two battleships, eight cruisers, two large destroyers or cruisers, 10 destroyers, 10 transports, and 10 other vessels.

The navy announced last Oct. 26 that a carrier was severely damaged after being hit by a Japanese bomber and torpedo planes. Five days later the vessel was declared lost, but the casualties among its personnel, number 2,170, were reported few.

Other American warships delivered the final blows to the "Waip" when it was found that she had been sunk by a Japanese submarine. Thus, the force of seven United States carriers with which the aircraft carrier, Lyman Kautz Swenson, was reduced to three—the Enterprise, Saratoga and Ranger.

The navy's identifying announcement last night explained that the name of the carrier was changed to USS, 1941, was reduced to three—the Enterprise, Saratoga and Ranger.

The allied report said "heavy clouds obscured the results, although Greek fighters for which protection the overcast was seen."

The raiding force was attacked by Italian fighters for which protection the overcast was seen.

A gloomy picture of the transportation situation in Idaho and the nation was presented this morning's session of the Idaho Wool Growers association's 50th annual convention, by Maurice H. Green, ODT, state director of the office of defense transportation.

PAY HIKE DENIED STREET WORKERS

Street department employees were denied requested salary increases by council Monday night. City Councilman Truman Greenhalgh, commissioner of streets, Greenhalgh said that the budget just passed it. A delegation of street department employees met with city officials Monday night to discuss the matter. Greenhalgh said that the matter would be studied during the week.

May Come Later
"We would like to grant the increase," said Greenhalgh, "and there is a possibility that we may be able to do so in a few months under the new budget. At the present time, however, the money simply isn't available to pay salaries any larger than they now are."

At Monday's meeting the council received a letter signed by four guards at the filter plant, also requesting a salary increase. The plant guards are paid $2.50 for a 12-hour shift. No action was taken on this request.

The council also to support a move to reimburse cities and counties for tax paid on gasoline bought for city and county government use. The councilmen voted authorization to City Clerk W. H. Edinger to write the county representatives in the state legislature, urging them to support the movement. The city of Twin Falls last year purchased approximately 26,000 gallons of gasoline, and paid a total of $1,230 for it at the rate of five cents a gallon.

Permission was given W. M. Dye, dog catcher, to take over the dog pound, now operated by Dr. H. R. Grooms at his small animal hospital and move it to the Dye ranch three-fourths of a mile south of Twin Falls.

Library Board
Mayor Joe Koehler appointed Mrs. H. E. Jones and J. G. Bradley to succeed themselves on the library board. Their appointment was for three years.

Other members of the board are: Wilbur S. Hill, J. E. Hayes and Mrs. Ralph Fink. The annual report of Fire Chief L. Z. Zeke Bartlett, read at the meeting, showed a total of 110 fires in Twin Falls during 1942, with a total loss of $2,000. There were eight fires in December, according to the monthly report, submitted with the annual report. All of these were in residences, and the total loss was $110.

Chief Bartlett reported that school fire drills conducted in buildings in the following times: Bleeker, one minute, 11 seconds; Lincoln, one minute, 10 seconds; Washington, 40 seconds; and the high school, one minute, 55 seconds.

The December library report showed a circulation of 9,118 volumes, and $123.37 collected.

Low-Flying Planes

Mayor Koehler read a letter he had received from Lieut.-Col. Carlos Reeves, commanding officer at Government Field, acknowledging the mayor's complaint of four motor planes flying low over Twin Falls Dec. 23. Colonel Reeves said investigation had failed to identify any pilots who had flown low over the city.

The council officially accepted the resignation of H. H. Hedstrom, water department clerk, who has been appointed director of the Twin Falls housing authority. He has been replaced by A. B. (Bert) Colwell.

The Public Forum

DISPUTES PARITY FORMULA EDITORIAL

Editor, Times-News: I wish to take issue with you on part of your editorial entitled "The Parity Formula."

You admit that the farmer should be allowed the cost of production but you say if this is going to cause inflation why then the farmer will just have to forget the cost of production.

Name me a business that does not count the cost of production. You just as much as any all other businesses must have the cost necessary to transact but the farmer can get along some way because, well, for one thing, he has chickens and eggs and his own meat and milk.

All right I challenge any business man to try to operate a farm on that basis, I mean winking at the cost of production.

Now for a few questions: When the squeeze comes why must agriculture always take the rap? Is inflation the bug bear it's claimed to be? After the spending orgy this government has already experienced is it really possible to check inflation? Why is it if the farmer gets a square deal it always upsets the apple cart?

How come high wages, expensive machinery and high costs of living haven't caused inflation? This has gone on for quite a spell. I should have thought something would have popped.

If finished with this: Give the farmer good prices, he'll get along a lot better with all the other great things in.

Share-the-Truck Drive Begun by Jerome Chamber

JEROME, Jan. 12 (AP)—Half-empty trucks won't operate over southern Idaho roads if the Jerome Chamber of Commerce can prevent it.

The chamber has set up a clearing house to aid farmers in pooling use of their trucks.

"Every time a truck owner plans on making a trip with his truck only partially filled he is being asked to call the chamber of commerce office to see if anyone has listed some goods to haul," one official explained.

"We're trying to do more than save tires and gas. We want to make it possible for people to travel just to work and perhaps bring a load of goods to a trading center without cluttering up trucks, buses and trains with small amounts."

The "share-the-truck" movement complements the "share-the-ride" plan.

O.K. Uncle Sam

We're at your service!

The bakers of BUTTER-KRUST Bread, eager to do everything they can to help win the war, are ready to accept wholeheartedly the orders just issued by Uncle Sam for wartime production, packaging and distribution of bread. The new regulations announced by the Department of Agriculture and the OPA, and applying to all bakeries in the country, become effective Monday, Jan. 18. The purpose is to conserve manpower and materials and to forestall price increases that might contribute to inflation. Realizing that it's the duty of everyone to do his part during our present emergency, we'll not grumble. We'll do the best we can under the circumstances, with no thought of resorting to anything that might impair BUTTER-KRUST'S enviable reputation in Magic Valley. We'll cooperate in every way to the best of our ability...

...and BUTTER-KRUST'S Quality Will Be Maintained

As you might expect, the government's orders do not in any way lessen the nutritive value of bread which it recognizes as being one of our most basic foods and upon which it is depending largely for keeping the American people healthy and strong.

Of course it has been a real convenience for housewives to buy their bread ready sliced, but Uncle Sam has good reasons for discontinuing slicing for the duration. These same housewives also much prefer a bread that contains no "holes," but that is now impossible since the processes known as twisting, cross-panning and braking must also be discontinued. Because unsliced bread contains more of its moisture, there is little need for a double wrapper.

One provision that all white bread must now be enriched with vitamins serves as official endorsement of the added food value in BUTTER-KRUST Bread which already has been enriched for more than a year.

Inasmuch as no exchanges or returns will be allowed under the new regulations, it should be apparent to everyone in Magic Valley that it's to their advantage to buy BUTTER-KRUST, the bread most likely to be fresh at all times because it's baked and delivered the same day, right here in our own community.

There'll be a difference in the texture of BUTTER-KRUST Bread and it will come to you in the whole loaf in a single wrapper. But that same excellent flavor, that same superior food value, that same high quality produced with the best of ingredients will be there.

During war or peace, the quality of BUTTER-KRUST will be maintained. It will continue to warrant its outstanding popularity in Magic Valley.

AIR FREIGHT

It is encouraging that leaders in the aviation industry are taking the initiative about correcting some popular fallacies concerning post-war aviation possibilities.

Some of this imagination is sound, sane and reasonable, within limits. Undoubtedly there will be flivver planes in much more common use than before the war.

Notably, let's remember that the post-war development in aviation, whatever it may be, will rest to any great extent upon the use of leftover military planes.

The bulk of the transport planes now in use are of a type which seemed marvelous in 1910, but already these planes are outmoded.

The scores of thousands of big, fast, common type bombers, and tankers, are one of the best things of their sort ever produced.

The military plane is made to fly efficiently at an altitude for which there is no commercial use.

Out of the lessons we are learning in this world conflict it is the age that unimportant things, the thing about which aviation experts now are warning, is that we must recognize that wartime progress is only the raw material out of which peacetime progress can be constructed.

CRICKEY SAYS BASEBALL SHOULD BE CONTINUED FOR MORALE

Raps Foes Who Criticize Plan To Keep Game

BY JUDSON BAILEY NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Baseball's only reason for continued existence is for morale, it is asserted by a columnist who is serving a useful function in this way then no objection is needed, says Crickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Trifled by recent contentions from some critics that baseball has not fitted itself into the war program, the veteran major league executive today declared:

"Baseball either should be, or it shouldn't be. And if it should be, then it doesn't need to be defended or apologized about the way it is conducting itself.

Legitimate Business "The only reason for its continued existence is for morale. That is an overworked term, but I don't know any better way of saying it. It is exactly the word. Morale is a legitimate business and deserves to be considered as long as it serves its function of helping to sustain the morale of civilians and soldiers, and the government agrees that it is useful.

"The only thing involved is transportation and we have a plan to hold that to a minimum. A schedule of 154 games calls for no travel and thus 49 games can be played in either case club must make three trips into every other club in the league.

"As a matter of fact there seems to be some misunderstanding on the transportation score. It is not a problem. We're in the field of action. We've taken the action that is practical.

"There aren't enough coaches to go around, though. There are some people think it would have been a good gesture for us to have cut out coaches to 14 games. We're in the field of action. We've taken the action that is practical.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12 (AP)—In the first long-distance fight in California since World War II, Jack Chase, Colored, defeated Eddie Booker, San Francisco, in 15 rounds last night to win the latter's state middleweight championship.

The Colorado boy who formerly fought under the name of Young Joe Louis landed the heavier punches and took the close rounds. Booker operated a clever attack, but Chase scored with solid blows "in almost every round to gain referee Frankie Carter's verdict.

Back in Gay 90s—Baseball And Horse Racing Together

BY CARL LUNDQUIST ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 12 (AP)—Continuing baseball and horse racing to offset war problems sounds like a dream from an opium pipe, but if you think it is futuristic, consider that a guy named Chris Von der Ahe made a living here in St. Louis in 1893.

The diamond and turf migrants probably won't take Von der Ahe's scheme seriously, but here it is for what it is worth, right from the yellowing files of the Sporting Life.

No only did the baseball fan get a program of horse racing if he could go to the track, but he could go to the track if he had a horse.

Jimmy Collins Backed for Hall of Fame

BY JUDSON BAILEY NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Although baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown has established 26 of the game's greatest players as a third baseman, this has caused various persons concern from time to time.

Bob Storer, a veteran sports editor of the Buffalo Evening News, opened a formal campaign for Jimmy Collins to be elected to the Hall of Fame.

In the opinion of Storer, who has been writing sports for four decades, the comparative youngsters who are now writing baseball and whose votes select the stars for election in the Hall of Fame should have someone call their attention to the merits of a stand-out whom they never saw.

There being no logical objection to his Buffalo campaign, the members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America to point out the merits of Collins.

Collins played 19 years in the big leagues, from 1901 to 1920. He was a first baseman and a pitcher. He was a member of the Boston Braves and the Philadelphia Athletics.

Idaho Youth on 'Hornet' Saw 59 of 64 Jap Planes Downed

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12 (AP)—Gunners aboard the aircraft carrier 'Hornet' shot down approximately 59 of the 64 Japanese planes that attacked her before the carrier was driven to abandon ship, members of her crew, including an Idaho youth, said today.

Two hundred enemy planes crashed on her decks, the straggler said in statements released by the navy department today.

One exploded on the flight deck near the bridge, starting a furious fire, and the other slid under the flight deck into a row of officers' staterooms. Its controls shot away as it attempted to sweep after launching a torpedo.

The 'Hornet' was identified by the navy yesterday as the carrier previously announced as lost in the battle of the Santa Cruz Islands on Oct. 26.

The story of her fighting death was told by Gunnery Mate Alvin Graham of Covert, Miss., and fellow crewman now in this navy yard base.

The attacking planes came in two waves, Graham said, while the 'Hornet's' attack planes and other units of a U. S. task force were defeated in a sharp northwest of Guadalcanal.

"Our guns were all manned and ready to attack," he said. "It was just like the pause before a football game when everyone is listening for the referee's whistle for the kick-off. And suddenly a shout: 'Here they come, commence firing!'"

"Our guns were all manned and ready to attack," he said.

"The enemy came in all around and anti-aircraft shells filled the air with smoke. We let 'em have it and they let us have it. But so many things happened I couldn't say how many we got in the first few minutes. It was like shooting wild geese."

SOLONS TO HEAR JAMES PETRILLO

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 (AP)—James Caesar Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, was before a senate subcommittee today to explain his order which prohibits union members from playing for recordings or transcriptions.

The first wave, however, scored repeated hits and other vessels in the American force ran aground alongside here with fire horns going to help put out the fires.

"The second combined bomber-torpedo attack began," Graham related.

"I counted six torpedo planes and four dive bombers and we shot down all the torpedo planes and only one bomber got away," he added.

"The airplane was so thick and fast," the fourth naval district said, "that not all the 'Hornet's' men could keep track of it as well as Graham." Clifford V. Butterfield, 23, gunner's mate from Idaho Falls, Ill., said:

"The enemy came in all around and anti-aircraft shells filled the air with smoke. We let 'em have it and they let us have it. But so many things happened I couldn't say how many we got in the first few minutes. It was like shooting wild geese."

LICENSES SLUMP MORE THAN CASH

Although the office of Assessor George Childs issued 1,700 fewer motor vehicle licenses in 1942 than in 1941, the six highway districts in Twin Falls county received only $14,000 less in revenue from this source.

A check of Assessor Childs' books Monday revealed that the four districts received $111,530 in license fees in 1941 and $107,220 in 1942. It was explained the slight difference in revenue was due to fact that fewer trucks were issued per truck unit in 1942 than in 1941.

There were 1,240 fewer automobiles registered in 1942 than in 1941, the assessor's books showed. Other motor vehicle registrations for two years follow:

Table with 2 columns: Year (1941, 1942) and License Type (Private trucks, Farm trucks, Commercial trucks, Motorcycles, Private trailers, Farm trailers, Commercial trailers). Values range from 230 to 1,025.

The total revenue received from automobiles this year was $48,600, divided as follows: Twin Falls highway district, $20,815; Bull, $11,450; Filer, $4,240; Murtaugh, $1,200; and Rock Creek, $625.

Marine Officers' Training Offered

Persons who have had two years of college work and have not reached their 29th birthday now have an opportunity to join the marines to take officer training, the Twin Falls marine recruiting station was informed today.

The information came from Capt. John Gaston, marine procurement officer at Salt Lake City, of which the local recruiting station is a part. He said that quota for the Salt Lake City district is 10 candidates for officer training.

The marine recruiting office and procurement office at Salt Lake City have been consolidated, it was said at the local recruiting office.

71 ASKED IN TWO FEBRUARY CALLS

Two calls for men for the armed forces in February have been made on the Twin Falls county selective board No. 1, Capt. J. H. Seaver said at the board's annual meeting. Both calls are for Feb. 11.

The first call asked for 59 men, while a supplemental call received Munday asked for 12 more, giving the local board a quota of 71.

This is one more than the call for January. Seventy drafters will leave Twin Falls today to stay in the enlisted men's reserve.

The February call is expected to be composed in part of the 18-year-olds who registered here in December.

Captain Seaver said that all registrants who are transferred to the navy, marine corps or coast guard will be credited to the local board. None of the 70 in this month's call will have an opportunity to transfer to the marines, navy or coast guard because none of these three branches have open enlistments to men between 18 and 20 years of age since last month's change in the enlistment system.

All enlistments, no matter what branch, are now recruited through selective service boards.

SENATOR LASHES RATION POLICIES

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (AP)—Sen. James E. Murray of Montana said last night that the government is emphasizing the home front by following to take the public into its confidence on price control and rationing policies.

Murray, chairman of the special senate committee to study the problem of American small business, told the national annual convention of the National Dry Goods Association, that there are "essential" differences between supply and demand in the field and the home front.

"On the war front," he said, "the key to successful strategy is secrecy and use of propaganda to deceive the enemy. The enemy must never be allowed to know our plans of war supply and distribution.

"On the home front secrecy and failure to trust the public are fatal. The public must always know what the government is doing and the basis for action it takes."

Three Autos in Gooding's Quota
