Stalin Spurs on Soviet Army for Drive on Rostov

By The Associated Press
Urged on by an order of the day in which Premier Stalin for the first time signed himself supreme commander of the red army, Russia's fighting forces pushed their battle lines ahead in the Ukraine and the Caucasus today and battled against growing German resistance in the lower Don approaches Rostov.

Forward for the routing of the German invaders and their expulsion over the boundaries of our motherland," was the premier's rallying cry.

It was recalled that his words "not a step backward" rang out over the defenses of Stalingrad in its darkest hour last fall, and from that time on the defenders of the battered city braced and held.

Forward for the routing of the German invaders and their expulsion over the boundaries of our motherland," was the premier's rallying cry.

Stalin declared that the red army has won forward 245 miles in two months of their second winter offensive, routing 102 enemy divisions and capturing 200,000 prisoners.

"Our troops have won an important victory," he said in a broadcast. "The offensive of our troops continues."

Earlier in the day followed communications which reported the recapture of all Voronezh and the capture of the city of the Don section of the city since the summer of 1942, and which announced new gains in the Caucasus and the drive toward the German base at Kharkov.

The Russians reported the capture of 40 miles from the Kharkov rail junction which is 30 miles south of Rostov.

Japanese raiders countered with small attacks on allied air bases and in the Caucasus.

Some Democrats were reported planning to oppose Flynn's confirmation on the grounds that he was not an experienced diplomat and that for that reason ought not to be sent to a critical post, such as Australia.

A dozen or so "no" votes from the Democratic side might swing the verdict against Flynn, depending on the number of senators voting in the caucus, probably in the next week. Several more than that number of Democrats were non-committal at this particular time.

U. S. Troops Are Reported Moving Ahead to Battle

LONDON, Jan. 26 (UP)—Radio Rome said today that axis reconnaissance planes had discovered large scale American troop movements in lower Tunisia, indicating that Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's fifth army was about to thrust toward Gabes to cut off the retreating Afrika Korps.

Gabes is 100 airline miles from the Tunisian border and above the French-built Mareth line, which the bulk of the Afrika Korps remnants was believed to have reached.

Radio Paris broadcast a German report that British commands had struck on the Tripolitanian coast between Tunisia and Zaira, 25 miles from the border, in an effort to cut off the Afrika Korps. Nazi radio Paris claimed the attempt had been frustrated.

A United Press correspondent reported from southern Tunisia that American troops in the area near Gabes might soon be engaged in the biggest fight of their lives.

Gen. Jacques Lecomte announced that his Fighting French forces had captured about 1,200 miles from the Lake Chad region, ending Tripoli yesterday. They were now moving toward the city in a pursuit of the Afrika Korps.

The Allied Reports Agency said still vague about the relative positions of the eight army corps. It reported that the Afrika Korps remnants were reported more than 200 miles ago to have crossed the Mareth line south of the Germans and Italians.

The eighth army had taken Zaira, the middle section of the Tunisian front, and eastern command said, reporting "local advances" by forward British troops.

Allied bombers and fighter-bombers carried out their heaviest attack on the Afrika Korps. The Afrika Korps was attacked by British fighters and bombers, and the middle section of the Tunisian front was reported to have been scored on a road from Zaira to the Tunisian border.

Allied bombers returned Sunday night to Medenine, where the Afrika Korps had made the bulk of its planes from Tripoli. The fighters and other targets were blasted, and no planes under the middle section command were seen in flight. Tunisia also were bombed and machine-gunned yesterday.

The next 24 hours were expected to tell whether the Afrika Korps would try to make a stand at Medenine or retreat to the Tunis-Bizerte area.

Marshall Erwin Rommel, commander of the Afrika Korps, was reported to have been killed.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 (UP)—Acting Errol Flynn defense counsel searched today into the private life of the actor, who is charged with the murder of a woman.

A soldier, Pvt. Martin E. Ross, stationed at Camp Cooke, Calif., said he had known Betty Kelly prior and subsequent to the day last September when she had been killed by a bullet fired from a machine gun.

Ross said he visited frequently at the room of one Betty Baker, about six months before the killing.

Ross, under direct examination by defense Attorney Jerry Gleason, said that on a day last September, he had known Betty Kelly prior and subsequent to the day last September when she had been killed by a bullet fired from a machine gun.

ALLES DROP 15 TONS OF BOMBS ON RABAU BASE

By The Associated Press
Striking by night and day, allied bombers were especially credited today with raining bombs on Japanese shipping, airbases and motor transports in Burma and the south seas, with more than 15 tons of bombs falling on the Japanese base at Rabaul in a single phase of the offensive.

Rabaul is the big enemy stronghold in New Britain, a major source of supply and reinforcement for Japanese troops in the north-eastern Guinea and in the Solomons.

Dispatches said allied night bombers dropped a ton of incendiary bombs and anti-aircraft fire, blasted a 2,000-ton vessel believed to be a munitions ship and set towering flames that lit the entire Rabaul harbor area.

Another medium-sized Japanese ship was bombed at a harbor wharf and left with a gaping hole in its side.

Other allied planes dropped 1,000-pound bombs on the Japanese base at Lae, New Guinea, inflicting heavy damage, and strafed targets at Salamaua, Finschhafen and Gasmata.

Japanese raiders countered with small attacks on allied air bases and in the Caucasus.

Earlier the Russians reported the capture of the city of Voronezh and the capture of the city of the Don section of the city since the summer of 1942, and which announced new gains in the Caucasus and the drive toward the German base at Kharkov.

Nazis Battle French At Marseilles Harbor

LONDON, Jan. 26 (UP)—German army authorities, missing tanks, field guns and infantry against French defending their barricaded homes in the old harbor district of Marseilles, were reported today to have retreated to devastate the entire area unless resistance ceased.

The residents were battling Nazi attempts to uproot and move them elsewhere.

Vichy declared that it had imposed martial law in the district and the Germans said that evacuated persons who returned or citizens charged as "traitors" would be liable to death penalty by French court martial.

When British headquarters heard that fighting had been going on since yesterday morning and that French men and women had been killed.

Loss of Life Feared Heavily
The fighting French expressed fear for the loss of life in the crowded district might be appalling but said they did not expect defeat now, through their secret channels for 48 hours. They added that they believed the Germans would raid their field artillery at the barricaded homes only as a last resort.

Wide streets of tumble-down houses in the old harbor district were reported to have been converted into fortifications by the Germans and that residents including the famous Apache troupe were firing at the Germans with rifles and pistols.

Unconfirmed reports were received that German machine guns were sniping the air from the pick up any who ventured from their homes except under escort of the German or Vichy police.

Dispatches from Switzerland and other points bordering France said fighting started when German troops, led by agents of the escapee, the Nazi secret police, and Vichy police sought to remove the residents, normally 45,000 from the harbor area.

At one residents started to barricade their homes and fortified houses, dispatches said, and snipers opened fire from their homes and buildings. Resistance became so serious, dispatches said, that the Germans called in their heavy artillery and infantry reinforcements.

SENTIMENT GAINS FOR TAXATION PROGRAM

THURSDAY STUDY SLATED ON PLAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—With sentiment increasing for adoption of the Rural Pay-as-you-go tax law, or a modified version of it, the house ways and means committee will meet Thursday to study the new revenue to help offset a national debt approaching $210,000,000,000.

In announcing the meeting Chairman Doughton, D. N. C., said he hoped to get through the committee by the end of this week legislation to boost the debt limit from $125,000,000 to $210,000,000. Consideration of tax legislation will follow.

Particular attention will be given to the pay-as-you-go plan of collection, Doughton said, on the theory that such a plan could be considered better after the form of collection is settled.

Advocates, however, say they had gained strength for their cause through an argument by Rural that the treasury stood to gain, rather than lose, revenue over the long run.

Among new revenue suggestions virtually certain to be considered are a tax on luxury goods, a general sales tax with exemptions for persons in the low income groups, new and higher luxury taxes, and national lottery.

PROBE DEMANDED FOR LIQUOR ACTS

The committee took other action this morning, defeating the "donkey bill" which passed the house last week. The bill would have allowed a permit to sell liquor in Idaho; and introducing a measure calling for transfer to the general fund of the special fund costs of administering and accounting of the cooperative health trust funds. The committee also voted the flight and game fund, the liquor control fund, the state insurance fund and the unemployment compensation fund.

A measure was introduced in the house for the purpose of the establishment of the office of state reclamation engineer replacing the commissioner of reclamation.

The report stated that an audit of the books of the dispensary is now being conducted. It is completed about March 1. "Due to the fact that the audit is not complete the report is being submitted to furnish information in regard to the financial status of the dispensary."

The unpaid bills, the report stated, were for liquor delivered to the state between December 1, 1942, and December 8, 1942, in the aggregate sum of $37,285. "Other invoices for liquor delivered to the state between December 15, 1942, and December 15, 1942, aggregating $129,294, have not been paid."

The reason for not paying the bills, the report is not known to your committee.

FIGHT LOOMS ON WOOL PROGRAMS

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 26 (AP)—Progressive government purchase of the entire 1943 American wool clip brought a verbal battle to the convention floor of the National Woolgrowers association today with action on a resolution limiting on its content.

"The government should assume control of the wool clip for the duration of the war, and for a period of at least two years thereafter," said Association President C. B. Wardlaw of Del Rio, Texas.

But Alan C. Emery, president of the American Wool Trade association, thought differently.

"I don't believe in the government taking over anything," he said. "I like my independence and I like to do business as the good Lord shows me."

A year ago the association adopted a resolution urging government purchase of all domestic wool.

Government Purchase C. J. Pharr of Boston, president of the national marketing association, a growers' cooperative, favored at above present ceiling prices.

He suggested normal trade channels be used for marketing the wool with few complications allowed.

Differences of opinion have been expressed by woolgrowers' and associations. Groups in California, Idaho, Washington and Oregon recently have urged government purchase.

Wardlaw said while a similar group in Montana opposed it. The sheepmen were troubled too, at the site of the government stockpile of wool being accumulated, some of them contending a threat to postwar prices was developing.

Need Guarantee "Wool growers are entitled to some guarantee that this wool will be disposed of in an orderly fashion during the present war and when peace comes," Wardlaw said.

Differences in obtaining adequate labor are providing additional barriers to the sheepmen, delegates said. L. Col. J. T. Cowart of Washington, representative of the office of the director of selective service, discussed the labor problem with the sheepmen.

"The tidings amendment to the selective service act grants deferment to men regularly engaged in agricultural pursuits who cannot be replaced," he explained, adding that determination of a man's essential status was up to local draft boards.

The two-day "streamlined" convention, with the usual formal address replaced by discussion groups, will conclude tonight following action on resolutions and election of officers.

GERMANS REPORT NEW RED ATTACK

BERLIN, Jan. 26 (German Broadcast) reported by UP in New York—The German high command said today that Russian forces, with new reinforcements, had started another attack on a broad front southward of Voronezh.

"In general, they were repelled with heavy losses," a communique said, "the battle is continuing."

The high command said that Soviet attacks increased in intensity on parts of the eastern front yesterday but that the German army in defensive battles against superior Russian forces, "held their own face of all enemy attempts to breach our lines and encircle our troops."

"In the Stalingrad area," it said, "the defenders, among which, apart from the Humanian divisions, are also a small Great unit, have concentrated in a small space under the leadership of their generals and are there continuing their heroic resistance. They are being supported by the Luftwaffe, as far as is possible under the heaviest battle conditions."

(This was the communique's only reference to the restricted division rapidly being liquidated west of Stalingrad.)

Lapel Tags Mark Bond Buyers Who Aid Cruiser Plan

Now you can watch the lapel tags to see who is cooperating in the sale of the new cruiser plan. The high command said that Soviet attacks increased in intensity on parts of the eastern front yesterday but that the German army in defensive battles against superior Russian forces, "held their own face of all enemy attempts to breach our lines and encircle our troops."

"In the Stalingrad area," it said, "the defenders, among which, apart from the Humanian divisions, are also a small Great unit, have concentrated in a small space under the leadership of their generals and are there continuing their heroic resistance. They are being supported by the Luftwaffe, as far as is possible under the heaviest battle conditions."

(This was the communique's only reference to the restricted division rapidly being liquidated west of Stalingrad.)

"The purpose of the drive is to put into effect purchases as far as possible in excess of the quota set by the treasury department. The amount representing the excess of money raised over the quota will be earmarked for use in repaying the Boke. The drive will continue until Feb. 22.

The tags, which are issued by the state tax savings staff to tax home selling agencies, are made of white cardboard on inch square, with a hole near center for fastening by string. Lettered in blue are the words "Idaho Fight. In helping to rebuild the cruiser Boke."

'I AM A MURDERER'

BY MORRIS MARKEY

WHO IS 'DUNBAR'?

CHAPTER XVIII
Lieutenant Thatcher of the state police sat now in Vaughan Dunbar's hotel room, facing Captain Merwin of the New York homicide squad and sucking moodily at his pipe. They had gone through the clothing, the papers, the shoes and the toilet articles and even the lining of the suitcase.

Then he lifted his slow glance to Lieutenant Thatcher. "I understand he was some sort of newspaperman."
Lieutenant Thatcher frowned. "The people out there gathered something like that -- in a vague way."
"Check up on that," said Merwin. "Check press associations."

Check U. S. office of all English papers and press associations. "We'll get going on this in the morning," he said, "unless he's been picked up by the cops."

"One more thing," Lieutenant Thatcher said. He picked up the log and wrote:
"Check Merwin's past history."

The morning came, and the routine of inquiry began its steady course. The day went through with no news at all of Vaughan Dunbar. And on the following day, which was "Monday," Lieutenant Thatcher and Captain Merwin sat in the drawing room at Stone House looking at Cynthia Merwin's address and Fred West and Freda Cousin Anne, and Mitchell Grace, and Henry Pringle, and Ed Fleming. All of them had but lately come from the funeral of Col. Wesley Hope Merwin.

The morning came, and the routine of inquiry began its steady course. The day went through with no news at all of Vaughan Dunbar. And on the following day, which was "Monday," Lieutenant Thatcher and Captain Merwin sat in the drawing room at Stone House looking at Cynthia Merwin's address and Fred West and Freda Cousin Anne, and Mitchell Grace, and Henry Pringle, and Ed Fleming. All of them had but lately come from the funeral of Col. Wesley Hope Merwin.

In a rather flat voice, Lieutenant Thatcher said, "Captain Merwin has generously agreed to help us. He has no objection to our going to his home, but he is willing to cooperate."

"Cynthia was very calm, but she seemed, chilled, and her face was without expression."
"Thank you, Captain Merwin," said Thatcher.

"His hours had been irregular. There were nights when he did not sleep in his rooms at all. But he had made few demands upon the house staff."

"The captain bent his head in a slight bow.
Lieutenant Thatcher went on more briskly. "It is a great pity you did not inquire more carefully into this man's credentials. I must report to you that we have absolutely no trace of him. And here are the immediate results of our routine investigation."

At the garage, it was verified that Vaughan Dunbar had had a 1940 Packard convertible, with black leather upholstery, license number 1-2171. It had appeared to be practically new when it was brought in, though it was not the custom of the garage to keep a record of the comings and goings of its clients' automobiles unless they were chauffeur-driven.

"I've been waiting for days to talk to him about the war, but every time we'd get alone he'd say, 'Come on, Babe, let's dance!'"

"That was all. And Lieutenant Thatcher was frowning.
"When will these rich people learn?" he asked glumly. "They take in any stranger that has a good front. He robs them if he doesn't kill them. And when we are called in they think we are being crude when we ask, 'What do you know about this man?'"

"I grant you, those people out there at Merwin's place were pretty much upset tonight, and I had no chance to talk with the girl. But as far as I could make out, the fellow just drove up, said something about knowing an old friend of the family, and they took him lovingly into the fold. He was 'that' kind of fellow."

"Let's ahead with the routine," said Captain Merwin. He was an imperturbable man, of a color and more cerebral than his colleague. He bent over the writing desk, and put down slowly:
1. Check Clipper Club.
2. Print and description of FBI.
3. Check British location.
4. Check banks.
