302 Soviet Towns Freed in Sudden Northern Thrust

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW, March 2 (UP)—Marshall Semyon Timoshenko's southwestern armies thrust today the key fortress of Staraya Russa today after liberating 302 villages and an eight-day offensive that smashed the most heavily fortified enemy zone along the entire 1,500-mile Russian front.

Front dispatches said Soviet tanks, artillery and infantry were driving forward from the newly-recaptured towns of Lyechkov, 40 miles east of Staraya Russa, and Zoluchie, 27 miles southeast of Staraya Russa.

A special communication last night said the new offensive had driven the Germans from 907 square miles of Soviet territory behind Lake Ilmen, some 100 miles south of Leningrad. Eight thousand German soldiers and men were killed and 3,000 captured, it said.

Captured in 1941 The Germans captured the area in September, 1941, and ringed it with powerful fortifications that a German propaganda magazine said included an "underground city."

Timoshenko struck, the special communication said, and the Germans were preparing to launch an offensive of their own against the most important Soviet communications on the northern front.

Additional mid-day communications contained no fresh news of the new offensive, but it reported that other Russian forces had broadened their penetration of the Ukraine west of Kharkov with the capture of a number of additional settlements and also had stormed closer to Taganrog at the southern end of the front.

More than 500 Germans were killed in the capture of the town, the special communication said. "Do not capture the town," it said, "but capture the town."

Russian forces southwest of Voronezh and at the town of Kozlovka, a German pocket some 100 miles southeast of Kharkov continued to fight, the mid-day communication said. The Monday night bulletin reported the destruction of a German infantry battalion—1,000 men—in one area.

Soviet forces advancing on the German line in the area of the town of Kozlovka, the mid-day communication said. Three guns, four machine guns and 140 rifles were captured and 190 Germans were killed.

By J. NORMAN LONGH... ADVANCED SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, March 2 (UP)—A Brazilian sergeant opened the door of a military plane and stared, unbelieving.

"Good God!" he exclaimed. "This was 2nd Lt. Miss Olson's introduction to Guadalcanal, the first American girl in land on the battle-fronted island since the war began."

Blond Miss Olson is one of 24 army nurses recruited from the ranks of the airlines to serve on ambulance planes taking wounded and sick servicemen from combat areas. By the flip of a coin she was the right to make the inaugural trip to Guadalcanal.

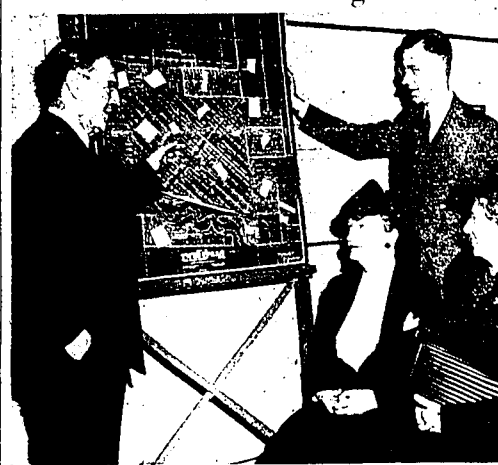

Eight seriously injured men and three others were brought to a hospital from that island of death on which Miss Olson spent a busy half-hour.

"It was an experience I'll never forget," she related. "Long before we left the mainland for Guadalcanal, of which I'd heard so much, I was surprised to find it a beautiful island from the air. Arriving on the ground, there were the tell-tale holes, torn trees and bomb craters. A 'bearded' sergeant in a uniform was a girl just around, opened the door and said: 'Welcome to Guadalcanal. The men just died when they saw the girl. They were all wounded and stared, hardly able to utter a word. They were all looking at me. All the wounded wanted to know if there were more like me.'"

GETS MESSERSCHMITZ... ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, March 2 (UP)—Flying Fortresses gunned down a German plane today, dropping bombs and incendiaries on the bomber. The plane was shot down near the town of Sbeitla, which was recaptured by Allied troops.

BUSINESS TICKET FILES FOR RAISE

Petitions for a business men's ticket for the positions of mayor and city clerk were filed in the city election April 6 were filed in the city clerk's office Tuesday forenoon.

The candidate for mayor is Bert A. Sweet, and the two candidates for the council positions are Legal L. Perry and W. W. Thomas. There were 59 names on the Sweet petition, 57 on the Thomas petition. Perry was a candidate, and 31 names on the Thomas petition. The names were not available at once because city hall workers had not had time to check the unusually long lists. They will be printed tomorrow.

The three whose terms expire are Mayor Kohler and Councilmen Legal L. Perry and W. W. Thomas. Dean has announced that he will not be a candidate for reelection, and Hatcher was still undecided at last reports.

The deadline for filing petitions was 5 p. m. March 2, according to Charles P. Larsen, acting city clerk.

RILL SIGNED... BOISE, Idaho, March 2 (UP)—Gov. C. A. Bottorff today signed a bill amending law to provide for establishment of branch banks in incorporated villages where no banking facilities now exist.

Since then, however, she has obtained a divorce from her first husband, and Neuberger said he would marry her again. He and Miss Vachek have a nine-month-old daughter.

Neuberger said he would have to hurry with the marriage because he will be in the army soon.

Twin Falls citizens contributed $1,500 in the first half-day of the Red Cross war fund drive which started this morning, according to a report at noon by Dr. Charles R. Scott, war fund chairman. The goal is $20,000.

SPECIAL SYSTEM... NEW YORK, March 2—When May Lee, 27, a laundress of Jackson Heights, Queens, was inducted into the army she put this note in the window:

"Please call for laundry at shoe-maker next door. Key is with him. I have date with Uncle Sam. That was all right with Tom. I don't like the shoe man, who has a son in the army."

Lee put the note without explaining his Chinese bookkeeping system. By searching through the bundle, Laconia was able to identify the laundry of the customer who called. What confuses him is that all this has bundles left.

ENEMY CONVOY SIGHTED ON WAY TO LAE, GUINEA

By The Associated Press

A 14-ship Japanese convoy, moving along the coast of Africa, was sighted today by a British patrol plane en route to Lae or other New Guinea bases in the southwest Pacific today while Gen. Douglas MacArthur's armies impatiently awaited the opportunity to attack the enemy's air bases in the south-west Pacific.

As a result of that which the Japanese attempt to relieve Lae was believed largely abortive.

The American and Australian fliers were eager to repeat their performance last Jan. 5 when they succeeded in sinking or putting out of action at least five of the six transports of a 11 or 12-ship convoy, and that down 75, and perhaps 100, enemy planes in one of the fiercest air battles of the south-west Pacific.

24 German Tanks Knocked out; 600 Axis Troops Die

By WEN GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, March 2 (UP)—Allied troops have hurled back all of Gen. Jürgen von Arnim's attacks in northern Tunisia, knocking out 24 German tanks in three days and killing at least 600 Axis troops, while in central Tunisia the allies captured Sbeitla and drove on three miles farther east.

In one of their most successful days in the air in this campaign, allied air forces shot down 25 allied planes yesterday, an allied headquarters communication announced.

The Germans made two more attacks yesterday, toward the west of Tunis and a short distance south of the Mediterranean coast, but were repulsed after losing tanks in one action.

Some 20 miles to the south, American-led British armor advanced with a counter-attack northeast from El Arousa, killing at least 300 Axis troops and wiping out some machine-gun posts, front reports said.

More Killed... Advice from the front reported an estimate that another 300 of the foe had been killed in fighting in the nearby Medjez-el-Bab area.

The Germans made their main thrust toward the town of Sbeitla, a point about seven miles from the town before being hurled back. It was the first time since the fall of Sbeitla that the Germans had been driven back from a point about seven miles from the town before being hurled back.

WON'T RUN, SAYS GOVERNOR DEWEY

BY S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Correspondent
ALBANY, N. Y., March 2.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York flatly and unequivocally has taken himself out of the 1944 presidential race.

In an exclusive interview with this correspondent Mr. Dewey said: "I shall not be a candidate for any nomination during this term. My sole desire is to do the best job I know how for the state of New York for the next four years."

This statement gained added significance because it followed closely upon reports from Indiana Wendell Willkie, who took the 1940 Republican nomination from Mr. Dewey at the last minute, has about decided to be a candidate again. A Willkie candidacy was one thing which many felt would almost force Mr. Dewey to enter the 1944 race.

The last three words of the first sentence of today's statement—"for the next four years"—almost served open warning that Mr. Dewey has the 1944 Republican nomination as his goal.

Politicians, some of them close to Mr. Dewey, had been certain that he would not enter the presidential race in 1944, but the news of the 1944 ambition, which originally was made at Saratoga last Aug. 24 when, according to a gubernatorial nomination, he said:

"Whether you hear I am concerned with 1944, I am not. I am concerned with the people of the state of New York for the next four years."

"Part of the reason I may right now that I shall devote the next four years exclusively to the service of the people of New York state."

About "draft"

Before talking with Governor Dewey, I canvassed Republican leaders who have long been associated with him. None of them felt that the Saratoga utterance was a complete bar against a 1944 candidacy. One said, and others concurred:

"New York is part of the United States, and a President serves the people of New York in common with those of the other states. I do not believe that Dewey intended to seek a nomination, but if there were a 'draft' he could accept and, if elected, could serve the people of New York from Washington."

Today's statement, however, puts Governor Dewey's own seal upon the assertion made by his secretary and long-time intimate, Paul Lockwood, in a letter to an inquirer:

"He is not, and will not become a candidate for any other nomination during his term."

FRONTIER HOPES OF POLES FADING

BY JOHN A. PARRIN
LONDON, March 2 (U.P.)—Diplomatic observers believed today that Poland's hopes of regaining her pre-war frontiers are definitely ended, although Polish Premier Wladyslaw Sikorski may attempt to contact Josef Stalin in an effort to reach some understanding.

A Russian declaration, distributed by the Tass agency, accused the Poles of imperialism and violation of the Atlantic charter in asking for the pre-war frontier, but in spite of this the Polish exile government stood firm today in its demands.

Most observers here believed Russia is determined to retain the frontier that existed in 1940 at the time of the next blitz on Russia, which resulted when the Russians marched into Poland from the east after the Germans had attacked from the west.

Asked to Intervene

It is known that Polish leaders are anxious for the United States and Great Britain to use their influence with Russia, but it was believed that they would not interfere since the question is one which solely concerns the Russians and Poles.

It is generally thought that the Soviets will have a dominant voice in the determination of frontiers in eastern Europe.

A. J. Cummings, writing in the News Chronicle, said: "Russia certainly will insist on a satisfactory and strategic frontier for its own military security and in the view of most diplomatic observers this will require the 1940 boundary."

The dispute seemed to lengthen the shadow of one of the cardinal principles of the post World War I settlement, the self-determination of peoples—which figured in much of the discontent preceding the outbreak of the second war. The peace treaty between Russia and Poland established a border which, according to authoritative estimates, included 4,000,000 persons of Russian antecedents in Poland.

Lord Curzon, then British foreign minister, had suggested a border based upon ethnographical considerations and Tass referred to his efforts in its statement, saying that "despite his unfriendly attitude toward the Soviet Union, he understood that Poland could not make any claims on Ukrainian and white Russian territory."

Pole Takes Issue

A Polish spokesman took issue with a statement distributed by the official Russian Tass agency which contended that the occupation united Ukrainian and white Russian peoples who had been under Polish rule with their "blood brothers" who were Russians.

"On the contrary," he said, "the Poles constitute a large part of the population in the area, which historically always has belonged to Poland."

Poland, like Russia, is made up of a number of different races and Russia is attempting to claim or itself what it is denying to the Poles, the spokesman said.
