EDEN, IN U. S. TO SEE FDR, WARNS LONG ROAD YET

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 13—Warning that "we've got a long way yet to go" on the road to victory, Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, hastened to get together with President Roosevelt tonight on the vast problems of war and global security.

The president invited Eden for dinner and a talk, the White House announced. Another guest was John G. Winant, the American ambassador to London who has been in this country for several weeks.

This afternoon the British foreign secretary conferred with ministers of the British dominions, Canada, South Africa, New Zealand and Australia, and a luncheon with Winant and Lord Halifax, the British ambassador.

All agreed that the British foreign secretary made clear that this planning for the post-war world must start now, and that the early end of the war.

Eden was beginning to feel our strength and to make the enemy feel it, too," he said, but he added that "although the capture of the island certainly has helped and that the only safe thing to do is proceed on the assumption we're a long way to go."

Run of White House
Eden virtually was given the run of the White House on his visit here, although he will live at the hotel.

Secretary of State
Secretary of State, Mr. Roosevelt personally accompanied Eden to the White House for all meetings with his "old friend."

The 45-year-old British foreign secretary, who arrived here yesterday after a 23-hour plane trip from England, looked for a moment as if he had received the brunt of the big ballroom of the brick embassy building, but he was in a conference for a chatty press conference.

AXIS IN TUNISIA TERMED 'DOOMED'

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, March 13 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has told the press that the Axis forces in Tunisia are doomed to be pushed into the sea and eventually destroyed.

Actual fighting in the allied communication was confined to vigorous patrol activity all along the front and a number of small-scale attacks directed against the enemy's lines.

The Life of J. P. Morgan, Ended at 75

John Pierpont Morgan died Saturday at the age of 75. Fresh out of Groton and Harvard ('89), mustached young Morgan, upper left, spent 12 years in London learning the business of banking. In 1913 he succeeded his father as head of the fabulous House of Morgan, engineered a $500 million loan for the allies to run World war I, and emerged as a legendary post-war figure, lower left. The public got its first informal peek at Morgan in 1933 when he posed with a mid-get plopped on his knee by a circus press agent at a senate inquiry. Son Junius, top center, and son Henry joined Morgan in the field of finance, and in recent years "J. P." visited and conversed with many of the famous, including Lord Halifax, bottom center, in 1941. Morgan's frequent camera dodging, he confessed, was from a fear of flashbulbs. His sartorial perfection, as when he greeted the visiting king and queen here in 1939, lower right, was befitting a man of millions.

Flying Fortresses Pounce on Japs' Convoy in Pacific; Damage 2 Ships Morgan, Colossus Of Finance, Passes

By E. V. W. JONES
BOCA GRANDE, Fla., March 13 (AP)—John Pierpont Morgan, whose banking firm was a colossus of the financial world and whose very name was a symbol of extreme wealth and power, died early today in the kind of atmosphere in which he lived—one of dignity and restraint.

And, just as he had planned it, the passing of the 75-year-old banker brought an upheaval in Wall street and no shakeup in the House of Morgan, the institution through which he had carried out some of the largest transactions of this, or any other, century.

The end came at 1:15 a. m. W. T. after Morgan for three days and had been in a coma induced by the recurrence of an old heart ailment, coronary thrombosis, and contraindications.

The tall-heavy-set financier lay in a roomy cottage on the grounds of the Casaparra in his tropical estate here, where he had come Feb. 25 seeking rest and relaxation in Florida.

At the bedside were his younger son and his younger daughter, Dr. Comdr. Henry Sturgis Morgan of the naval reserve, and Mrs. Morgan.

His wife, Mrs. Morgan, was 71 and was first out of bed on March 13.

By VERN HAGLAND
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Sunday, March 14 (AP)—Allied warplanes have pounced upon another Japanese convoy thrusting toward New Guinea—a time composed of five merchantmen and three destroyers—and have damaged two ships in an initial attack, the high command declared today.

The convoy was discovered 40 miles northwest of Wewak yesterday afternoon, and Flying Fortresses immediately raged to the assault, having anti-aircraft fire and the protecting enemy fighter planes to set fire to one 8,000-ton transport and score a hit and a near miss on a 4,000-ton cargo ship last evening.

Weather prevented close observation of the results but the noon communiqué declared that the attack was continuing.

It was also disclosed that two Japanese convoys of five merchant ships each with warship escort had been sighted two days ago northeast of Manus island in the Admiralty. It is possible that the Wewak convoy was one of them.

The other convoy still remained an unknown threat.

The origin of these two convoys was not disclosed, but they may have come from the Japanese base far to the north of Truk, or possibly had made a long circuitous trip from Rabaul, New Britain, in the hope of escaping another disaster.

The Japanese convoy employed the customary technique of approach of the railroad's engine.

Axis Gains Foothold in Ukraine Citadel; Soviet Forces Move on Smolensk

LONDON, Sunday, March 14—German troops gained fresh ground in the flaming fight for Kharkov, a midnight Moscow bulletin announced today, and Russian field dispatches frankly described the situation "serious" as the nazis threw hundreds of tanks and thousands of infantrymen into an assault on three sides of the Ukraine citadel.

The German high command declared that elite SS guardsmen had "shattered enemy resistance" and advanced to the main railway station, but did not claim the recapture of the city where it said a violent street struggle still was going on.

The Moscow bulletin recorded by the Soviet Monitor said the Russians had absorbed heavy counterattacks on the north and south sides, but acknowledged another withdrawal to new positions in the west where it said "large enemy tank and infantry forces succeeded, but were repulsed at the cost of severe losses, in pressing back our troops."

FORTRESSES HIT NEW JAP CONVOY

A steamship from a German port, with a cargo of war materials, was sunk by the Japanese navy today. The ship was the Wewak, a German liner, which was carrying a cargo of war materials, including machine guns, rifles, and other weapons. The ship was sunk by a Japanese submarine off the coast of New Guinea.

Allied bombers reached the ship, scoring direct hits on a 8,000-ton transport which was left in flames, and another direct hit on a 4,000-ton cargo ship. The Wewak was sunk, and the cargo ship was damaged. The Japanese navy is reported to have sunk the Wewak and the cargo ship.

Despite bad weather, Allied aircraft are endeavoring to continue their attack on all efforts to wipe out the enemy.

Wewak is 370 miles north of the allied base at Port Moresby on the southern side of New Guinea.

A 23-hour Japanese convoy was wiped out recently in the Humber and the southwest of Wewak. The Japanese also lost approximately 1,000 troops and a number of ships in that three-day running battle.

From the action at Wewak yesterday, allied forces were again active over a wide area, attacking Japanese positions in the northwestern sector of Dutch New Guinea with unbroken results. The Japanese navy is reported to have sunk the Wewak and the cargo ship.

The strafing of Japanese positions in the Mingo area below Salamaua has been in the hands of 23 more Japanese, the communiqué said. Allied patrols found their bodies.

The Japanese Wewak sea convoy, which was destroyed last night, was carrying a cargo of war materials, including machine guns, rifles, and other weapons.

One of six Japanese planes attacked to intercept heavy allied reconnaissance units in the Mingo area. The Japanese navy is reported to have sunk the Wewak and the cargo ship.

Yesterday, the communiqué said, the only success in the Mingo area was the sinking of a Japanese ship. The Japanese navy is reported to have sunk the Wewak and the cargo ship.

When the allied heavy bombers went into action later in the day, Japanese shore installations were strafed at wide bay and an air-drome bombed at Gasmata in the attacks on New Britain.

NAZIS SMASH AT KHARKOV CITADEL

German panzer corps, the Berlin broadcast said.

The Russian army newspaper Pravda termed this aerial attack a non-stop affair, and also said that in some other areas the Germans used as many as 100 tanks against the red army units. In one case, it said, Russian cavalrymen had to pit themselves against tanks, destroying 12 of them.

Pravda termed the situation serious, and also stressed the fact that the Russians were outnumbered.

Under the first J. Pershing, the Russians were advancing steadily upon Smolensk, 200 miles west of Moscow, an offensive which might do much to nullify a recapture of Kharkov by the Germans.

The latest Russian communiqué said the Germans were offering stubborn resistance, but were being U. S. and British tanks and planes were being used to some effect in that area.

A whole series of populated places west of Salva, in western Russia, the communiqué said, were being shelled by German planes along the "Napoleon road" toward Smolensk, 100 miles away.

Woman Accused in Eviction Attempt

Mrs. Vina L. Jennings, 52, second avenue west, was arrested by police Saturday afternoon on a charge of disturbing the peace after a complaint had been signed by Mrs. Carl Peterson, who lives at the same address.

The complaint of disturbing the peace came after a series of events beginning when Mrs. Sweet returned from her home-hunting trip over the city, Chief Gilllette said, and found her belongings on the front porch and her door locked.

The two women in the house, secured with nails. Words between the two women in the house, secured with nails. Words between the two women in the house, secured with nails.

MONEY COLOSSUS SUCCUMBS AT 75

Paul G. Pendergast, the elder son, Comdr. Junior Spencer Morgan, is on naval duty abroad and his elder daughter, Mrs. George Nichols, had left Boca Grande three days ago when her father appeared on the way to recovery.

There was no excitement in this exclusive resort when Dr. H. B. Patterson, the banker's personal physician who had flown from New York, announced the death.

The quiet-spoken banker would have liked that, because he always had gone to lengths to avoid publicity and the publicity usually attendant to worldwide renown.

His son and daughter made arrangements to place the body in a private railroad car and accompany it to New York, where funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Tuesday at St. George's Episcopal church.

There were indications that Morgan's final resting place would be at Hartford, Conn., beside the vault which contains the ashes of his wife, Jane Norton Gorge Morgan, who died in 1925 of sleeping sickness.

As long ago as 1940 the House of Morgan started making preparations for carrying on after the chief's death, probably with Thomas W. Lamont in control.

Under the first J. Pershing, the Russians were advancing steadily upon Smolensk, 200 miles west of Moscow, an offensive which might do much to nullify a recapture of Kharkov by the Germans.

PLYER, March 13.—Arthur Hask, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hask, received a broken right leg when he was pulled a slip into him this morning at the W. C. Munn farm place, which his father farms.

According to Munn, who was near at the time the accident happened, Arthur stepped in front of the slip while the team was standing. The elder Hask spoke to someone near him, and the horse misheard his voice for a command to move. The heavy slip broke both bones of the boy's right leg below the knee.

He was taken to Twin Falls county general hospital.

HUNT VOLUNTEER BOYS GET PASSES

So there will be no misunderstanding as to the policy of officials of the relocation center in Hunt regarding issuance of permits for individuals to come to Twin Falls for different reasons, Harry L. Bradford, director of the project, issued an explanation Saturday afternoon. "It has been the camp's policy since last fall to issue passes only for official or medical reasons," he said, "and since that time we have been restricting permits to use for only those purposes. The court calls a number to Twin Falls and immediately sends them and the like, and there are others that require special medical and dental treatment."

Recently, however, approximately 300 Japanese-Americans have volunteered for service in the armed forces, and in these cases we have liberalized the restrictions so these individuals may make the necessary preparations for their induction. "It is characteristic of the Japanese that they are very obedient and go to war it is with the feeling that they are never coming back," Mr. Bradford explained. "They are making preparations for their departure including the taking of family photographs, and for the most part, relatives of the volunteers often wish to accompany them to town. Then, too, it affords the volunteers their only opportunity to acquire the few things they will need before they are inducted."

The director also pointed out that passes for this particular purpose "are being string out as much as possible" to "lead off the sudden influx."

"It is anticipated," he explained, "that these 300 volunteers will be moving out of the camp sometime in the near future."

Because of these circumstances, he expressed the hope that there will be no misunderstandings.

LARGER RATIONS FOR REMOTE AREA

WASHINGTON, March 13 (UP)—The office of price administration today authorized supplemental rations of canned and other processed foods for three herders, lumberjacks, missionaries and other persons whose remote places of employment in the West make it impossible to get fresh foods except at infrequent intervals.

Certain logging camps and similar institutional users also will get additional processed foods if no other sources of food can be made available, it was said.

To get supplemental rations, applicants must show that they cannot obtain enough fruits and vegetables to meet nutritional needs with the present ration allowances; an estimate of the total number of pounds of processed food that will be needed; the length of time for which the application is made; a declaration of processed food stocks on hand; and the number of pounds of fresh fruits and vegetables which will be available to the institution.

Institutional applicants must make it clear that the place where their food employees is so situated that it is impossible to get a supply of fresh foods and that the institution have no facilities for preserving fresh foods long enough and in sufficient amounts to meet their needs.

WENDOVER FIELD, March 13—Went to church in the newest of Uncle Sam's chapels. It is a beautiful inside, with a seating capacity of about 350. The structure is 120 feet long over all, and is approximately 30 feet wide. The high arched dome overhead and the spire reaching toward the sky make it a most inspiring sight, among all the low buildings of a typical army base.

Wendover Bread Ration

I prophesied two months ago that we would not starve before the end of 1942, but I was somewhat dumfounded last week when I found that at Wendover we could only have one slice of bread per person per meal. If there is a shortage of bread, it is a pity that we should be in a position to have one slice of bread per person per meal. Students Stage Gala Carnival At School Gym

A new crowd of 800 enthusiastic youngsters gathered in the Twin Falls high school gym Friday evening to enjoy one of the finest carnivals the junior high school has presented. The gym was lined with more than 25 booths adorned in colorful decorations. The event was conducted to raise money for the scholastic letters and incidentally to have a good time. One of the popular stands gave customers for a nominal sum an opportunity to take pictures at Elmer, Muriel and Tope. A variety of throwing and shooting booths, eight prizes awarded for good shots. (Had a hard time following.) Side-show complete with the traditional collection of "frisks", fortune tellers, booths selling books, hats, conchito and serpentine, and handmade penny music added to the carnival spirit. A war stamp booth was conducted. Pop corn and hot dog stands attracted a host of merrymakers.
