FDR, on Second Tour, Inspects U. S. troops in Training Camps

By DOUGLAS R. CORNELL

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN, April 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt is making a second major inspection of America's expanding war effort and has seen tens of thousands of fit, bronzed troops which, he indicated, will be used to hammer out or maintain a second front in Europe.

Weaving through the southeastern states by special train and motor, he has visited a marine corps base, a WAAC training center and five army posts, and reviewed division after division of fit-looking fighting men, with monthly of toughening behind them.

Ahead of them may be glory on the European continent.

The troops you have seen will do a good job in Europe," a remark made at a press conference, aboard his train.

Mr. Roosevelt replied that he would say so from what he had seen of our troops in North Africa and here back home.

Six States Thus Far

The chief executive permitted an announcement today that he had toured Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Arkansas as a sequel to the swing which took him from border to border and coast to coast last fall, checking up on military and production establishments.

He left Washington April 12, and briefly and chronologically, here is where he has stopped and what he has seen.

April 14, Marine corps base at Parris Island, S. C., where new recruits are getting basic training that turns out men for one of the world's greatest fighting units.

April 14, Maxwell field, Ala., near Montgomery, where fledgling pilots receive the rudimentary schooling which enables them to become aviators. Units also were present from nearby Base and Craig fields, though after actual flight instruction.

Near Paratroops

April 15, Fort Benning, Ga., near Columbus, where basic training is provided for troops that drop in by parachute to help men from the ranks are pushed forward as candidates for officers' commissions.

April 15 and 16, Warm Springs, Ga., where Mr. Roosevelt spent a day and night feeling out the life and looking over an infirmity hospital foundation which he was instrumental in establishing.

April 17, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., where the chief executive saw for himself the training of the women's army auxiliary corps.

April 17, Camp Forrest, Tenn., where the president saw the 88th infantry division, with every item of its equipment laid out for him to see and to inspect of concentrated training behind it.

April 18, Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Okla., where the president attended Pikesville Sunday church services with 3,400 officers and men in a tremendous auditorium.

Great Improvement

The chief executive told the press it was hard for him to pick out what impressed him most, he thought it was the great improvement in troops of all kinds, as compared with what he had seen on his last September. He said he thought the country was turning out more troops in better physical condition.

Morale in general he described as high, and he said he thought the men looked awfully fit. He spoke, too, of the permanent value of the training programs in military camps.

The officers and men, he said, were getting to get in the show and get it over with.

Last fall, the chief executive said he had found the men in the line, he believed the rest of the nation in war spirit, and he declared he was sure that the country was getting to get in the show and get it over with.

The emphasis was entirely on the men, he said, and he said he was sure that the country was getting to get in the show and get it over with.

"Cistern Twins" Reunited

P. V. T. W. A. HAMILTON and MRS. DICK CATRON

BRADENTON, Fla., April 20 (AP)—The "cistern twins" were on route to the midwestern today to prolong a reunion that started here. They met last week for the first time since they were abandoned in an old well at Omaha, Neb., in 1920. They will visit relatives and friends at Rockport, Mo., and Omaha.

They were "introduced" to each other in a Bradenton hotel by an army lieutenant after the girl, now Mrs. Bettie Jayne Catron, Twin Falls, Ida., traced her brother, P. V. T. William A. Hamilton, Bradenton field, through his adopted parents to Camp Crowder, Mo., and then to Bradenton.

U. S. PLANES HAD 5 JAP AIR FIELDS

QEN, MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, April 20 (AP)—Allied bombers, continuing their attacks against enemy bases, raided five Japanese airfields in the islands north of Australia yesterday.

The raids were made by single planes and some of the bases were hit for the second straight day. The attacks were on Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea, in the western end of the Australian defense arc, Pisch harbor and Lae, in New Guinea in the center, and Gasmala and Cape Olenok, on New Britain in the east. Fires were caused at Pisch harbor.

On Sunday night, a formation of medium bombers raided Korpang, Tumor, starting fires, visible for 20 miles. The previous day the P-51 fighters had bombed Korpang, Tumor, and a medium bomber attacked a small road in Korpang, on New Britain island, yesterday while another bomber and strafed the building area at Wald bay, New Guinea.

HILTY BIRTHDAY OBSERVED BY BOND RAISERS

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's 44th birthday today was made the occasion of bond rallies throughout the country in which Americans were invited to contribute to the purchase of "lithium" bonds for the further to be dropped on an office in Berlin from American bombers.

In New England cities, the treasury reported, bond buyers were guaranteed delivery of a bomb over Berlin for every bond purchased.

In New York, buyers were permitted to sign their names to bomb rallies.

In San Francisco, a coffin—just the size for Hitler—was set up and every bond-buyer was invited to drive a nail into it.

A soldier impersonating Hitler in a Richmond rally rode on a float carrying a raft of apples, named "Lithium and Muncie."

Treasury Confident

With a total of $10,000,000 of the $12,000,000 second war loan already subscribed, treasury officials expressed confidence that the day rallies would increase sales.

Plans were pushed to sell more bonds to the "little fellows," the millions of wage earners and salaried men.

Announcing that the goal already has been 75 per cent subscribed in one week, Secretary of the Treasury nevertheless expressed disappointment with the sales of E, F, and G bonds, which would be made available to individual buyers.

Three bonds accounted for only $400,000 of the total sales of $10,000,000 of the second war loan, $3,500,000 of which were reported up to Saturday night.

Wants More to Subscribe

"I'm not complaining," the secretary said, "but I'd be a lot happier if the sale of E, F, and G bonds were larger. It'd like many more people to subscribe."

Of the total sales reported during the first week of the second war loan, Morgenthau said, banks subscribed $4,000,000, insurance companies $3,000,000, and other non-banking sources $3,000,000.

The treasury has left banks to bank bonds and plans to raise the balance of $4,000,000,000 from non-banking sources.

ALLIES' SCORE IN AIR NOW 8 TO 1

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
WASHINGTON, April 19.—A staggering axis air loss ratio of more than 8-to-1 in the battle of Tunisia since March 20 is indicated in official allied score sheets, captured in the war news from Africa by a new record bag of 100 or more enemy planes downed or damaged in a single day's operations.

The not only fully confirms the sustained and expanding allied "air supremacy," reported by Lieut. Col. Carl Spaatz, commanding the NAAP (northwest African air force). It appears to doom axis force air strikes head to the same fate that their comrades in Russia suffered before being annihilated.

No Chance of Escape
Military judgment, apparently correct in Iraq and Syria, has no chance for escape by sea or air of any substantial part of the cornered axis army within the constricting ring of allied guns and bayonets. The final assault is launching under the massive air umbrella. Axis commentators are leaping home opinion in forecasting a fight to the death in Tunisia.

General Spaatz placed the comparative plane loss figures from March 20, when the British army started its "piston attack" on the Mareth line, at 519 axis ships shot down against 175 allied similarly lost. And he estimated almost 1,000 axis planes destroyed or damaged on the ground, in addition, against like allies losses of "less than two figures."

Record Bag
At the time he spoke the highest record bag in a single operation was credited to the heavy bombers of the "strategic" force under Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle. It counted April 10 for three score enemy planes and an Italian cruiser downed. Spaatz said that destruction compared favorably with NAAP achievements in the battle of Britain.

DRAFT BOARD TO ASK WORK DATA

Work records of each employee will now be required at the time employers request extension of deferment through local draft boards. It was announced Monday by Capt. J. H. Seater, Jr., chief clerk of Twin Falls county board No. 1.

Seater said that the work record would have to cover the period of six months prior to the time of deferment extension request and that such a step is one of several which will combat the problem of "absentism."

Absentism shown in such a work record will be taken into consideration by board members in review of the classification. Occupational deferments will not be continued for registrants who are absent from their work to the extent that it interferes with their production.

Seater said that the absentee problem was discussed in detail at a recent conference at Denver of state headquarters representative of the various states in the 11th region.

The Public Forum

DON'T MISLEAD SOUTHERNERS COMING TO IDAHO

Editor, Times-News: I think it's perfectly awful to tell those southern people of the upland of Idaho farm lands, then give them such a bit-down as they get—as per Thursday's issue of the Times-News. Something ought to be done about it.

I'm not blaming the Idaho farmers, the blame belongs on the FSA, or the recruiting division. Tell them the truth, and then you'll get more workers than we can use. It's not going to help us, to promise the things and then so completely fail to live up to that promise.

And it's no unfair to the people who come. Let's be fair about this, for the future of our Magic Valley.

BLOOD TEST LAW EFFECTIVE MAY 1

NOISE, April 20.—The practice of taking blood samples from pregnant women for serological tests for syphilis will become mandatory after April 30, Dr. E. Berry, state director of public health, said.

In accordance with provisions of a measure approved by the last Legislature and sponsored by the Idaho Congress of Parents and Teachers, it is required that every physician attending an expectant mother take a sample of blood of the individual at the time of the first examination, or within 15 days afterward.

The sample then must be submitted to the state department of health laboratory or to one of the several laboratories bearing the approval of the department of public health.

"The law further requires that the physician shall certify that the blood specimen is for a serological blood test," Dr. Berry said, "and this filing birth certificate must bear a statement that a standard serological test for syphilis has been taken from the woman, and the approximate date when the blood was taken. The birth certificate shall not show the result of the test."

The practice of making prenatal blood examinations has long been employed by the majority of Idaho physicians, he said, "so they realize this procedure is good medical practice."

The certificate approved for both prenatal and postnatal blood examinations include the state laboratory, Boise, Corvallis, Lewiston, Pocatello and Twin Falls, or any other laboratory maintained by the U. S. army, navy or public health service.

Girls Will Care For Park Section

Another setup in the future development of the scenic area of Shoshone Falls park, taken this week when C. C. and Jeanne, parks superintendent, set aside a section for the Camp Fire Girls to undertake as a project for their use as a picnic and recreational area.

The section of land, lying above the falls and just below the old ferry road, will be cleared, planted and landscaped, under direction of the Camp Fire organization.

Tentative plans include the construction of a natural rock bridge, clearing, lawning of the entire area, and planting of trees and shrubs which are common in southern Idaho.

Already has been done when 78 Camp Fire Girls began clearing rock and brush from the area, and they are laying the groundwork for further development.

Natural rock formations, native plants and shrubbery will be utilized in the landscaping as suggested by Mr. Stewart.

Commander Lauds Help of Citizens

He Favors Beet Pulp in Livestock Diet

Olmstead Stock Feeding Plan Uses Beet Pulp as Major Aid

By DAVE W. EVANS

E. H. Olmstead, prominent Twin Falls farmer and livestock feeder, is a next door neighbor of Lynn Hemphill, and a very good friend. He is an equally good farmer. They compare notes often, sometimes daily. They attended the College of Agriculture, and both are members of the State branch experiment station feeding, meat, livestock research. They both get results, but they set them differently.

When just reporter, who had just "written up" the Hemphill plan, heard this he thought he better see about the other side of the picture. So he visited the Olmstead farm.

Here, too, I found a lively home and an up-to-date cattle farm. It now is somewhat of an expert on the condition of cattle, so when the difference was pointed out to me between the futures of the cattle in the various pens grouped according to the length of time they had been on feed, I could easily see that Olmstead's feed is better, like Hemphill's stock, were "beastly."

There is this difference in their methods. Hemphill buys his stock when it is already fairly fat and makes it fatter, more, pound for pound, before he feeds it. Olmstead, on the other hand, takes his stock when it is quite thin, feeds it longer, and when it's done it's right, too fat and grade every time.

They both feed a good mix of hay, grain and sugar beet pulp. Olmstead feeds more beet pulp than the other feed.

"Perhaps it takes a little longer to put on this way," he explained, "but it costs no more, pound for pound, perhaps less, as I figure it out. And that's what we are all after in the long run — a lower cost of gain per pound."

His Program

Olmstead features hay, grain and sugar beets in his farm program. He feeds over 200 head of cattle at a time. He grows around 35 to 40 acres of sugar beets. He feeds the beet tops to the cattle in the fall, feeds some dried pulp through the winter and wet pulp to finish off the feed at the end of the season.

He has three big silos for his corn ensilage. He stacks his hay in the field and chops the hay through a year as his time permits and stores the chopped hay in the chopped hay barn.

He always keeps a large tank of beet molasses adjacent to his feed grinding machine where it is automatically mixed by a power mixer with hay and grain. His regular feeding ration includes about five pounds of beet molasses per head, along with the needed grain and hay.

Opposes Speculation

He has been growing sugar beets and hay and grain crops for many years as the principal part of his program, and, like Hemphill, doesn't think a man should change his program for a tempting, though doubtful, chance to make a killing by speculating crops to hit the high price. The sugar beets in 1942 were somewhere higher than the 1941 average—24-25 tons to the acre.

POICEMAN WABS TAVERN GUNMAN

CHICAGO, April 20.—It was a dull night. Patrolman Patrick Doherty, a veteran of 20 years on the force, stuffed a yarn with a big bet as he walked his beat.

Swinging his stick with the nonchalant ease of one who has passed the day in tavern and saloon, he noticed Stanley Puchalski, the proprietor, with one arm raised, beckoning cautiously.

Patrolman Doherty knew he had no time to draw his own gun. Instead, he seized a bar stool, held it in a shield and made a lunge for the gunman. There was another shot, and the bullet lodged in the thick wall of the bar stool.

Doherty swung the stool and knocked the gunman down.

At headquarters, the man identified himself as Archer Poor, 32, and said he had escaped from chain gang at Noma, Fla., last May while serving a one to 10 year sentence for burglary.

He said he was from Clarkston, Wash., and that he had served time in the Washington State reformatory and in the penitentiary at San Quentin, Calif.

"I'll not do it again after all," said Doherty.

Washington Game Prelude to Majors' Opener

Feature Tilt At Cincinnati

By JUDSON BAILEY

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—Baseball rapped for attention today with the first game of the 1943 major league season and gave fans a chance to observe for themselves what the national pastime is going to look like in its second year of the present war.

The crack of bats against horsehide in the nation's capital as the Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics square away probably got a bigger response from a lot of people than all the gavel-wounding on Capitol Hill—for this one day—because a crowd of 25,000 is expected at Griffith stadium.

This was a prelude to the program on Wednesday when the other clubs in the two big leagues will get underway. The schedule of the regular season:

National league—St. Louis at Cincinnati, New York at Brooklyn, Philadelphia at Boston and Pittsburgh at Chicago.

American league—Washington at New York, Boston at Philadelphia, Detroit at Cleveland and Chicago at St. Louis.

McNitt Throws First Ball

In the time-honored custom public officials will throw out the first balls at all of these games, with War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNitt assuming the chief responsibility by substituting for President Roosevelt at the contest in the capital.

There also will be band music, raising of flags, including the hoisting of the American league pennant at Yankee stadium with League President William Harridge officiating, and other traditional trappings of inaugural games. This year service men will also take part in the ceremonies at many parks.

Another traditional factor in the opening games, the weather, is bothing the major league managers and fans alike again this year in spite of the fact that the start of the season is a week later than usual.

Feature at Cincinnati

Cincinnati called the greatest opening day baseball city in the country, is looking forward to an other capacity crowd of 30,000 at Crosley field and altogether the attendance Wednesday should top 100,000 if the weather is satisfactory.

Cincinnati, too, will have the prize package of all the league contests in that the world champion St. Louis Cardinals will be there to furnish a test not only of their chances of repeating in the National league, but also of the Red's perennial prospects.

Big Mort Cooper, the standout pitcher of 1942 in the senior circuit, will be on the mound for the Cardinals facing Johnny Vander Meer, the outpunch ace of the Reds.

Since the Cardinals have lost the draft and may be making not only their first appearance of the season, but one of its last.

Pitchers More Advanced

Because of the spotty work available to most of the leaguers in the northern training, the pitchers are believed to be more advanced than the hitters. Yet few of the hurlers have had a chance to work nine innings and several of the managers have indicated they would not keep their starting pitchers on the mound for more than five or six frames in the early games whether they were winners or losers.

The lack of competition, and the uncertainty of the demands of the draft on key players, has made the early outlook for this season less desirable. The Cardinals and the Yankees, nevertheless, have been established favorites to reach the world series again.

A better line on the prospects should be available after the shake-down of the early games.

Open Gate Good Friday

As much as in the weeks past, the schedule in both leagues provides for an open gate on Good Friday, which will be the first day of the "second season" next Tuesday for the teams that are starting their season on the road this week.

The pitchers for next Tuesday will be:

American league—At Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis, at Detroit, Philadelphia at Washington and New York at Boston.

National league—Chicago at St. Louis, Cincinnati at Pittsburgh, Brooklyn at Philadelphia and Boston at New York.

ROWE MAY START

PHILADELPHIA, April 20 (AP)—Schoolboy Rowe, four-inning hitless, pitched a perfect game for the Athletics Sunday may earn him a place in the Philadelphia Athletics' lineup for the Phillies against the Boston Braves Wednesday. Manager Buckle Jones said he was planning to start Rowe, but the veteran right-handed hurler feels the need of more warm weather.

Rowe, who struck out 15 batters at Buhl, will be Coach Harry Dietrich's pitching choice. Husted, when the Braves visit Buhl, most likely will be Coach George Liden's mound selection.

Likely Hurlers For Openers in Major Leagues

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—

Schedule of opening games in the major leagues tomorrow with probable pitchers, starting times and expected attendance:

Washington at New York—Wynn vs. Chandler, 1 p. m., 30,000.

Boston at Philadelphia—Hughes vs. Vukobratovich, 1 p. m., 30,000.

Detroit at Cleveland—Bridges vs. Hardy, 1:30 p. m., 25,000.

Chicago at St. Louis—Smith vs. Galloway, 2 p. m., 25,000.

National league

St. Louis at Cincinnati—Cooper vs. Vander Meer, 12:30 p. m., 30,000.

New York at Brooklyn—Lohrman vs. Dake, 1 p. m., 25,000.

Pittsburgh at Chicago—Seaver vs. Bernier, 2 p. m., 25,000.

Philadelphia at Boston—Podgajny vs. Jarey, 1 p. m., 10,000.

(Time is Mountain War Time)

Vandals Lose To Washington

SEATTLE, April 20 (AP)—Effective relief pitching and hitting by Dick Hazel gave the University of Washington a 7 to 5 victory over the University of Idaho in the opener of their two-game northern division baseball series here.

Idaho was weakened by the loss of six men to the armed services in the war effort. Coach George Greene had only 11 men left to put in uniform, but they made a 5-5 race of it through the first seven innings.

Hazel allowed Idaho only one hit in the third innings he was on the mound and drove home Washington's first run with an eighth-inning double.

Vito Berlins pitched the full game for Idaho.

It was the third straight victory for the freshman-dominant team in the series. Hazel's 11th straight loss on the road. If it Idaho 000 300 000—5 6 2 Washington 210 020 024—7 10 3

On the Sport Front

By GEORGE F. REDMOND

Many years ago when most of this department's clients were in the military service, I wrote a column called "The Sportsman's Club."

It was a place where the sportsman could find a long run for a rifle, getting his hands on the rifle and the rifle and then letting it drop.

Right now the sportsman's club is the sportsman's club. It is a place where the sportsman can find a long run for a rifle, getting his hands on the rifle and the rifle and then letting it drop.

Years later when Y. O. L. came himself at last to this same press box and wrote baseball he was not only a ball or a pitcher of a hit or a fielder given an error unless the score has no other out.

Two, he learned that the reason for this: By giving a batter a hit you help two players, the batter and a fielder and injure one, the pitcher. Otherwise, you hurt two, the batter and fielder, and help only the pitcher.

All this is leading up to something, as you might have surmised. A box score obtained by the department for the Buhl-Buhl game of last Friday showed Tim Buhl making four hits and Buhl only three. Yesterday, there arrived at the sport desk a box score from the Buhl-Buhl game, which showed Buhl making six hits and "Main Falls" three.

Your Old Scriverer built bunting anyone. Scoring a game is like looking at the rainbow. In the rain you can see the rainbow, but in the sun you can't. And that's the case with hits and errors.

There's no fixed definition of what is a hit and what is an error. When scoring Y. O. L. Scriverer in the past, I have often been asked: "Should the fielder under ordinary circumstances be held for an error if he should, it's a hit; if he should, it's an error."

It's an error, but again a scorer gets his hands in hot water. He penalizes the good fielder and assists the weaker one. And for that reason, you'll so often see the great shortstop way down in the batter's box in the fielding averages and the slower one at the top.

But Y. O. L. of the Detroit Tigers led the first baseman of the American league last season for that reason. He was Buhl in action, you'll realize that baseball figures sometimes tell terrible lies.

Y. O. L. Scriverer hopes that his clients have been reading the "Sportsman's Club" column. He has a great idea of what a hit is, and he has a great idea of what an error is. He has a great idea of what a hit is, and he has a great idea of what an error is.
