WAR IS PLEDGED

moment the military, geographical, and political situation of the Pacific, the process so necessary and desirable of laying the cities and other military centers in Japan in ruins. For in what they must surely lay before peace comes back to the world.

He said he regarded "the bringing of the Pacific war to the United States as one of the most urgent of our common tasks."

He defended the basic strategy of the United States defense strategy in the Pacific by asserting that when he and his military advisers met with Mr. Roosevelt and U. S. army leaders in January, 1942, "it was that while the defeat of Germany would not mean the defeat of Japan, the defeat of Germany would certainly mean the defeat of Japan."

"The realization of this simple truth," he added, "does not mean that both sides should not proceed whether the power alone could cause the collapse of Germany and Italy."

"The general war in the Pacific," he declared, "is no doubt that the allies completely meet the direct and hostile air forces of Germany, Italy and Japan."

"You have just read of the destruction of the great dams which feed the canals and provide power for the Japanese war effort."

"That was a gallant operation, costing each of the 19 Lancaster bombers 100,000 dollars, and it was a first step in the process of reaching port in German military centers."

He called attention to the presence in Washington of his Indian and Chinese advisers.

"They have not traveled all this way simply to come to the United States and see the world," he added.

Addressing the Joint session of congress for the second time since the outbreak of the war, Mr. Roosevelt declared that "there is nothing more important to us than the security of our world."

"The world that we are sure of," he added, "is the world that we are sure of."

Churchill was greeted by a rousing ovation as he entered the hall. He was introduced by Mr. Roosevelt.

Speaker Sam Rayburn introduced Churchill, describing the day as "a high day in the history of the world."

Mr. Churchill spoke slowly at first, recalling that 17 months had passed since his last address to congress. He then spoke more rapidly, saying that he was not a day without loss and suffering by the day, he said.

"I am not a day without loss and suffering by the day," he said, "and I am not a day without loss and suffering by the day."

"I am not a day without loss and suffering by the day," he said, "and I am not a day without loss and suffering by the day."

PAROLEE CLAIMED FOR DECEASED

The burden of juvenile delinquency was placed upon the shoulders of "delinquent parents" as a term applied by County Prosecutor Everett M. Street.

The case against the parents was presented by Gregory when he pointed out that "even when non-prosecuted youth reflects the moral tone of the community."

"We are trying to do something that can't be done," declared the prosecutor, "by looking at and talking of the youth problem as though it was a separate and distinct matter that can be dealt with by itself. It isn't a separate or distinct matter because it is the tail of a muddy dog is separate from the muddy dog itself."

"Every community sets its own standard of conduct, and these are the standards of law and order," he said, "and these are the standards of law and order."

PLANS MADE FOR LEGION MEETING

IDAHO FALLS, May 19.—Committees for Idaho American Legion straggled "war conference" scheduled in Idaho Falls Aug. 21 to 23, were appointed at a meeting here of the Bonville county post, host to the conference.

The executive committee is made up of M. G. Gandy, chairman, Fred E. Rine, Harry Hays and W. W. Christensen. The committee named subcommittees.

With the background of war eliminating the history of previous conventions, this year's meeting will be limited to serious discussion of problems prevalent by the worldwide conflict, reported Chairman Gandy. Attendance was limited strictly to official delegates.

Not more than 200 visitors are expected, he said, pointing out that past conventions have attracted more than 400 delegates and visitors.

TUOKER'S NATIONAL AIRMAIL

PRAINED—The picture puzzle pattern of modern battle should prevent a repetition of the raucous 1911-1919 rivalry which culminated in the capture of the Tuoker National Airmail.

Who was the party? The party was the Tuoker National Airmail. The party was the Tuoker National Airmail. The party was the Tuoker National Airmail.

With their first and eighth armies, the British contributed the greatest number of men, and their blocked escape exits. But the Americans provided almost all the aerial strength which enabled the allies to smash forward plans, disrupt communications, destroy supply dumps and attack the rear.

Long before Rommel was finally cornered at the front, particularly the 100- and 48-mile frontiers, furnished the most effective equipment the Tuoker had. Our tanks and anti-tank weapons were highly praised by General Alexander as the most effective of their kind in reducing the foe's mechanized forces to a skeleton.

MONTGOMERY—Our second corps staged the first breakthrough in the last drive against the Hitler. It was composed of boys from almost all sections of the country. The new famous and battered 4th infantry division consisted almost wholly of Iowa national guardsmen. The first infantry division drove from New England and upstate New York.

The ninth infantry division was made up of soldiers from the middle west, especially Ohio, Indiana and Michigan. The first armored division was composed of men from many communities, with a heavy spring of southern states.

General Montgomery again demonstrated that he is perhaps the finest field strategist the conflict has produced. When the German troops at the front advanced near Enfidaville, he repeated the stunt he played in outflanking the foe in the Mareth line.

Opening a heavy barrage against the enemy's camp, he sent his main body west and then north of the Dotted Zouster, the leftmost peak in the Mareth line. The valley, they sliced between the main and the harbor of Tunis, and against the enemy which the British and American commanders had been asking, "Where is the British eighth army?"

VIGILANCE—Scores of U.S. Navy's ablest aviators and their planes are still on alert. The Navy is adding local police to ferret out German and Japanese spies and secret, semi-military agencies. With complete cooperation from the U.S. Navy, they make their headquarters in Brazil, which offers a wide range of facilities for espionage.

The joint units recently discovered detailed preparations which Tokyo had made for invasion of Australia and the Philippines. The units were found in a small, dark, and beautiful room, but in study and detail hands and feet were found in a small, dark, and beautiful room.

Throughout the region were colonies of Germans and Italians, including industrial and commercial groups. They had emigrated from the Reich and were fiercely anti-American. Their potential was far greater than they seemed to be. They were found in a small, dark, and beautiful room.

MAILS—The American army's capture of German mail has resulted in a gradual improvement in coordination between the folks at home and the folks at the front. The mail has been improved in coordination between the folks at home and the folks at the front.

However we forced a quick evacuation by the Afrika Korps, our intelligence staff discovered that the German mail was being used to coordinate the German mail. The mail was being used to coordinate the German mail.

Washington has stepped up the mails partly as a result of these disclosures. The war department now permits shipment of packages weighing eight ounces. The war department now permits shipment of packages weighing eight ounces.

RETRACTIVE, WE HOPE
We tremble to think what might have happened if Manpower Commissioner McNutt had not remembered, belatedly, to give conscription a blanket exemption from the 40-hour week ruling.

UNDoubtedly Mr. McNutt made the exemption retroactive so that the United States of America would not be haled into court for violation of the minimum work week regulation in a critical shortage area. That would be the last straw.

TWIN FALLS MAN NAMED DIRECTOR

TAACOMA, Wash., May 19 (AP).—E. P. Baldwin, circulation manager of the Tacoma-Tribune in that city, was unanimously elected president of the Pacific Northwest Circulation Managers' association. Gerald T. Latham, Tribune, Modesto, Ore., was elected first vice president. Al Westergren, Twin Falls, Idaho, and E. J. Ginter, of Vancouver, B. C., were directors.

At the closing convention of the association, Baldwin called upon western newspapermen to devote even more attention to the sale of war savings stamps by carrier boys. He declared carriers throughout the nation had already sold more than 700 million 10-cent stamps during the war.

"Our newspapermen have done a tremendous job in helping put over this vital part of the war effort. Even if the war ends next year, there still will be vast bills to pay and this will take time," Baldwin said.

Army Seeks Men As Officers for Occupied Regions

The army's requirements for commissioned officers in a variety of administrative and technical fields will be explained Tuesday by Capt. R. B. Ott, Salt Lake City, procurement officer, who will make a tour of southern Idaho towns.

Captain Ott will give details of the program at an open meeting at the Hagerman hotel at 11 a. m. Thursday, and will also be available part of the day at the Chamber of Commerce offices.

Allied victories in north Africa highlight the immediate need for a full quota of specialists to be commissioned and assigned to the provost marshal general's military government division," said a letter from Captain Ott concerning his tour.

"Allied occupation of hostile territory, or of territory previously dominated by the axis, creates an added demand on the supply and transportation facilities of the war department, and also imposes grave responsibilities on the army of occupation. To meet these conditions the army is commissioning direct from civil life a large number of experts in the following fields: Public works, public utilities, public safety, banking, currency, foreign exchange, taxation, factory management, agricultural economics, forestry, agronomy, public welfare, labor relations, educational administration, public relations, law, municipal, state and federal government administration.

"Commissioners are open in grades from lieutenant-colonel to first lieutenant. Especially qualified candidates will be appointed in the higher levels. The minimum age limit is 25, and the maximum age limit is 55 years."

NEW CARRIER TO BATTLE U-BOATS

By LEO BRANHAM
A BRITISH PORT, May 19.—Speedy, hard-hitting American built escort aircraft carriers were disclosed officially to be the newest United Nations counter-measure to the U-boat menace, and several of them are already at sea.
HMS Battler—seen here after recent maneuvers and installations of additional British equipment—was one of the first of this new type. Built under lend-lease by the Seattle Shipbuilding corporation at Pasco, Washington, it was commissioned last October.
The carriers are expected to play an important part in guarding convoys particularly in the mid-Atlantic blind spot beyond the range of shore-based patrol aircraft.
Observers immediately dismissed any idea that the Battler and others of her type were mere makeshifts created by twisting the funnel of a freighter and throwing up a treated flight deck.
This is a real aircraft carrier competing in almost every detail except size with her big sisters.
The Battler has seven decks and hangars for squadrons of fighters and torpedo bomber reconnaissance planes. There are workshops adequately fitted to turn out the replacement of machinery required.
There is not a rivet in the Battler, she is all-welded and constructed largely of pre-fabricated material. The only wooden part is the flight deck, 400 by 80 feet. The ship is 425 feet long. Her speed has not been disclosed.
The Battler's complement is 10 officers and 400 men, of whom 100 are officers and 100 men belong to the fleet air arm. One squadron assigned to the vessel has already begun to sail airplanes.

TRENCH MOUTH CURE REPORTED

ATLANTA, May 19 (UP)—A new method of treatment for Vincent's infection (trench mouth), a cure which takes only three weeks of time formerly required, was reported to the Georgia Dental association.
The method, through use of nicotinamide, was described by Capt. John O. Bergmann, stationed at Warner Robins air depot, near Macon, Ga.
Formerly dentists treated trench mouth primarily by direct application of dyes and drugs direct to the gums or infected parts of the mouth, he said. His method is a systematic treatment, with no local applications.
Three tablets of nicotinamide, a drug in use since 1941, are administered every four waking hours for four days, and smaller doses are given for two days, Captain Bergmann said.
He explained that formerly most cases required three weeks or longer for cure, but under the new method cures are effected in some cases in four days, with an average of six days for acute infections, and 10 days for chronic infections.
Nicotinamide is a white crystalline, odorless powder, of a bitter taste, it was explained, and is found in the liver and adrenal.
Captain Bergmann related the results of eight months research carried on at the army air base dental clinic. Cures were effected in each of 130 cases in which the new drug was used, he declared.

Embezzlement of $1,500 Is Claimed

J. H. Cobb is charged with the embezzlement of $1,500 in a probable court complaint filed by John E. Leiber, deputy sheriff.
The complaint sets out that Cobb was entrusted with a check book on July 13, 1942, in the amount of $1,500, which was made payable to Cobb and signed by Thomas J. Yorell, with the understanding that he would cash the check and deposit the proceeds in the Twin Falls postoffice.
This the defendant is said to have failed to do. Instead, charges the complaint, Cobb "unlawfully, feloniously and fraudulently embezzled, converted and appropriated for his own use and purpose the proceeds of the check in the amount of $1,500."
The date of the alleged embezzlement is given as "on or about July 15, 1942."

New Educational Unit Shifts Date

The organization meeting of the new Idaho Educational Council, originally scheduled for May 21 in Boise, has been postponed until June 4, it was announced here Wednesday by A. W. Morgan.
Morgan, Twin Falls school superintendent and member of the steering committee which is carrying out pre-organization activities, said that 11 statewide Idaho groups have been invited to membership. The council will seek to weld the groups into a single non-political unit to press for solution of school difficulties.
George Denman, Burley superintendent, is secretary of the steering committee.

The WAVES Come to Town

You can't blame the sailors for wondering what the WAVES carry in those strap-hung bags. Here Yeoman Third Class B. A. Gillis shows that feminine "essentials" are about the same in the WAVES as in civilian life, but there isn't the accumulation of grocery lists and what-nots. Interested observers are Chief Petty Officer Charles Breckenridge, Boise, next to Yeoman Gillis, and Specialist Ray Robbins, Twin Falls. On the left is WAVE Yeoman Third Class L. C. York. Former Sailor's Daughter Enters Ranks of WAVES

BURLEY, May 19.—Miss Dorothy Wilson, a graduate of Burley high school, was carrying on a family tradition when she joined the WAVES at the Twin Falls navy recruiting sub-station. Her father, who was employed in the Burley postoffice until his death in 1941, served four years in the navy on the battleship Oregon.
Miss Wilson was well leader at Burley high for two years, and in her third year was elected valedictorian. She was voted into Quill and Scroll, a national honorary society for high school journalists, and was invited to join the Theta chapter, which is a national honorary dramatics society. In addition, Miss Wilson was a member of the cabinet of the Civil Reserve, and for three years a member of the board.
She worked as a dental assistant after completing school.
Miss Wilson is scheduled to leave sometime next month for Hunter College, New York, where she will begin her WAVES training, according to Specialist Ray Robbins, head recruiter at Twin Falls.

FOUR APPLY FOR SIGNUP IN WAVES

Four applications for enlistment in the WAVES were received at the close of a WAVES recruiting meeting held Tuesday night in the Idaho Power company auditorium. It was said by Specialist Ray Robbins, in charge of the local navy recruiting station.
The 24 women attending the meeting heard an explanation of details of the service from Yeoman Third Class B. A. Gillis and Yeoman Third Class L. C. York, who were here in connection with WAVES recruiting work, officially proclaimed by the governor.
Yeoman Gillis is a Hattiesburg, Miss., girl who worked for the war department in Washington, D. C., before six months ago becoming a member of the second class of WAVES to be trained. Yeoman York is a native of Fresno, Calif., who did secretarial work for the Shell oil company before joining the WAVES three months ago.
Both WAVES are enthusiastic about the service, and left many of the other 20 women at the meeting considering enlistment, Robbins said.

Kimble Buys One Medford Market

R. M. Kimble, who recently sold Kimble's Driveway market to H. H. Stokes, is back in business with the purchase of J. E. Medford's downtown market at 227 Main avenue east.
Kimble said the place is now being renovated, and he hopes to be open for business the first of next week. Ray York will be in charge of the meat department, while the proprietor will handle the grocery department and over-all management.
Purchase of the Medford store brings Kimble back to an old neighborhood. He was manager of the Safeway store on Main east for 12 years before going into business for himself three years ago.

Hog Sale to Be Planned Friday

Meeting for all swine breeders who would be interested in consigning registered breeding stock for an open gilt and boar sale this fall, has been called for 8 p. m. Friday, May 21, at the agriculture room in the Twin Falls high school.
This session is sponsored by the district Future Farmers of America and the county extension service.
The sale would be similar to the one which is held in the fall and early spring at Blackfoot, and the two organizations are interested in promoting such a sale in Magic Valley.

LEAFLETS ASKED ITALIANS TO QUIT

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS
BERN, Switzerland, May 19 (UP)—Virginia Gayda in his Glendale, D'Italia acknowledged that allied bombers had showered Rome with leaflets urging the Italians to accept peace but complained that the pamphlets did not mention what kind of peace was offered.
Furthermore, Gayda declared in an article summarized in a dispatch from Rome, allied radio broadcasts likewise give no hint of any kind.
A Rome dispatch to Die Tat said the leaflets were dropped probably when planes flew over the Italian capital Sunday night, that they appealed to the people to make a separate peace, and promised better treatment if Italy gave up the fight now and more and stronger air raids if she did not.
Gayda said it appeared that the peace would include, in effect, the destruction of the Italian nation and her possibilities for the future.
Neither pamphlets nor radio appeals have any effect, Gayda charged—suggesting that Italians may be listening to allied broadcasts.
Former propaganda Minister Pavolini, director of Il Messaggero, declared that Italy knew she now was faced to face with the enemy, but that the enemy must "try an invasion of Italian territory."
"It is useless" for the allies to believe they could overcome Italy without debasement or that "aerial terror" could break Italian morale, Pavolini stressed.
