RUSSIANS CHECK 2,000 GERMANS

MOSCOW, June 9 (AP)—Two thousand German troops assaulting the Soviet lines near Sevsk, west of Kursk, today, but were thrown back in bitter fighting that cost them 400 officers and men, a tank and a plane.

The loss brought to more than 1,500 the number of Germans killed in 24 hours along the front stretching from Leningrad to the Ukraine, including 800 in the Soviet east zone, said the Soviet press.

Russian and German bombers exchanged near Sevsk Monday night. The Soviet air force forces of long-range bombers against German airplanes and tanks and a large number of planes. Especially heavy explosions were observed at an airfield northwest of Sevsk on the south-central front. Only one plane was lost in all raids.

The Germans sought to raid Gorki, 150 miles east of Moscow, for the third consecutive night, but only two planes were shot down by Soviet fighters and anti-aircraft defenses. Three were destroyed quickly. Seven German bombers were shot down, while no Russian planes were lost.

Former Justice's Wedding to Girl Of 12 Probed

ST. LOUIS, June 9 (AP)—Missouri authorities are probing the midnight marriage of 15-year-old Henriette Boechter to George R. Hart, former justice of the peace, who has performed a total of 72,000 marriages.

Hart, a grandfather at 48, said the marriage was performed last night at his home in St. Louis, Mo., in a ceremony obtained at Bonneville.

Missouri statutes provide that no recorder of deeds shall issue a marriage license to a girl under 18 without consent of both her father or mother nor to a girl under 15 without a circuit or probate court order.

Neither Hart nor his young bride would at first admit that she was under 18. However, Hart, who calls himself a "big game" fisherman, said she might be a little under that age. Birth records at the St. Charles, Mo., city hall show the current Mrs. Hart was born July 25, 1929.

First United States president to become a senator was Andrew Johnson, elected to the Tennessee in 1875.

ONLY TWO FLYING HOSPITAL DEATHS

BY HOWARD W. BLANKFELT

Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, June 9 (AP)—The flying hospital of the army air forces has only two deaths among wounded men out of combat zones with 170 deaths. Casualties are low.

These hospitals of the air, something new in war, are one reason for the low death rates of American troops.

Latter days will be glider operating rooms and special hospital planes, but at present the flying hospital is a mobile unit of doctors, nurses and privates who are surgically convenient to take over any kind of plane anywhere, and convert it on the spot into a temporary carrier for wounded.

The military secret is that these records were given at the American Medical association house at Lake Park, Va., by David W. Grant, chief flight surgeon of the air force, head of man of an exclusive air medical school, size of which is a military secret but which is a huge achievement of this war.

General Grant said that helicopter planes are being used extensively in the woods and fields on the front lines. He said that although the present helicopter is slow, it is the most maneuverable transport plane which can attack it. It can stop, he said, "like Charlie Chaplin" and make a landing in a few seconds. The personnel of the flying hospital are being trained in the use of these planes. Each number five doctors, 23 specially trained nurses and 30 medical attendants are on duty.

In battle they fly to the front with planes and all other essential hospital equipment. Details of what they can fly are secret, but it can be realized from General Grant's statement that two planes were enough to fly a 25 bed hospital from the United States to Europe.

Tiny but Mighty Spotlight Sends Beams 70 Miles

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., June 9 (AP)—Details of a tiny spotlight scarcely larger than a walnut but powerful enough to have a theoretical range of 70 miles were disclosed today by Westinghouse electric and manufacturing company's camp of electrical engineers at the lamp plant here, said the company today.

Raymond B. Bracy, manager of electrical engineering at the lamp plant here, said the lamp is packed in the rubber tire suits "with which all ocean-flying military aircraft are now equipped." It also is being radio-equipped, a d Bracy said, "to permit a call for help over a distance of about 400 miles, then land rescue along the last few miles by using the light."

Bracy stated the light has a theoretical range of 70 miles, but that water in the air cuts down the range "somewhat" in actual use. Navy specifications, he added, were for a lamp providing a beam visible at least 10 to 12 miles.

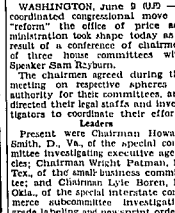

Moths have been observed flying over the ocean nearly 1,000 miles from land.

Knox Points to Landing Barges

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 9 (AP)—Declaring that the country will not consent to post-war scraping of its naval armaments, Secretary Knox today voted a fresh warning to the axis that the United States in 1949 would build thousands of landing barges, and you can bet we know why we are building them.

Knox said American shipyards were turning out six alloy steel vessels of 10,000 tons each, with a numerical strength of our fleet will be more than doubled this year, he said, and its tonnage will be increased by two-thirds.

East Blacked-out In Surprise Test

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—A coordinated continental move to "black out" the eastern coast last night from Delaware to New York, throwing hundreds of communities into an unexpected test blackout. The bombers sped from bases in Delaware over New Jersey to the metropolitan area of New York— a region comprising the army's second service command.

Considering the area covered by the test, there was a relatively small number of automobile accidents and blackout violations. Only one death was reported. Mrs. A. Savage, an auxiliary policeman of Rye, N. Y., was killed when struck by two trucks while directing traffic. Savage was the father of nine children, one of them a lieutenant in the air corps.

The rest-pause that refreshes

Welcome in peace... more welcome in war work.

WAR plant managers will tell you that anything that contributes to contented workers makes better workers. In plant after plant it has been found that a rest-pause breaks monotony, lessens tiredness and tension.

When you add refreshment to a rest-pause, you not only have a pause that rests, but refreshes, too. A moment for ice-cold Coca-Cola makes a rest-pause take on more meaning... promoting contentment that leads to more work and better work. Yes, contentment comes when you connect with a Coke.

WINE RATION CUT TO SINGLE QUART

BOISE, June 9 (AP)—Wine in the state dispensaries and stores went on the ration last week when Leland W. Rawson, superintendent of the state liquor dispensary, announced that hereafter only one quart would be allowed per person a week.

Other alcoholic drinks already are rationed.

Rawson also made an order he is sending to all state stores demanding to stop sales of liquor to persons living in states bordering Idaho.

"The view of the fact that three adjoining neighboring states have rationed whiskey for one year or more, and that residents of these states have been invading Idaho for the purchase of liquor, thus reducing our supplies," he said, "is self-evident to permit the new regulation."

Effective today, permits for the purchase of liquor in Idaho shall be limited to bona-fide residents of the state, he instructed employees. Before issuing such permits, he said, the applicants show their car registration or driver's license, showing they are residents of Idaho.

In case they are not, they must make them establish their residence in Idaho to your satisfaction," he ordered.

Hereafter it will be possible to purchase four gallons of wine a week.

Rawson said the remaining wine in bottles and half-gallon jugs would be sold, but dispensary personnel have been ordered to stock out the equivalent number of squares in the liquor rationing card.

War Brings Many Baby Applications

BOISE, June 9 (AP)—American entry into the war and the first children of the American children's home finding and aid society of Idaho a flood of applications for the adoption of babies, Mrs. Lillian M. Gase, superintendent, revealed.

In her annual report, published in the society's quarterly magazine, she said:

"The immediate result was a deluge of applications for the adoption of babies and small children from our society. One day we had very few children under five years of age available for placement, we had no difficulty in finding homes of the highest type."

She said a policy was adopted whereby the foster-fathers were required to be drafted, except by still unable to earn an adequate living and provide a suitable home "to meet the numerous requests."

The summer of 1942 brought a singular rush of requests for older boys from farm homes. Aid and care was taken in placing such boys to be sure they were not exploited by their foster-parents.

The society has eleven temporary or permanent care to 6,700 children in the past 35 years, and operates in all 35 counties of southern Idaho. It has an average of 80 children in the receiving home.

Principals in Baby Case Quits Baby

ST. LOUIS, June 9 (AP)—Ludwig O. Mauch, former physician who figured in a sensational "wife of God" baby case in 1932, was released from prison yesterday after serving six years for mail fraud in connection with the hoax.

Arriving by train from the federal penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind., he reported at once to probation officers. He was sentenced to eight years, but was released early because of customary allowances for good behavior and satisfactory prison work.

His wife, Mrs. Nellie Mauch, sentenced to 10 years on the mail fraud case, was released from the women's institution at Alderson, W. Va. She will be released some time next year.

She and her husband were accused of attempting to defraud a wealthy bachelor, Dr. March Pittman, by falsely representing that she had given birth to a child and that Pittman was the father.

DOCTOR FINED IN WHIPPING TRIAL

BOLIVAR, Mo., June 9 (AP)—Dr. Robert Murrell, osteopath, was fined $100 in a Port county circuit court after pleading guilty to a common assault in a case that ended a sensational fogging case of 1941 in which two women school teachers, a husky young Czech guide and the osteopath were principals.

Mrs. Miss Milla Rhoads and Miss Aldith Keith were charged with beating Max Caldwell with a rat-on-the-tails after Miss Rhoads alleged Caldwell criminally assaulted her. Miss Rhoads testified that Murrell asked her to marry him in April, 1941, and she told him of the assault.

Caldwell charged that Murrell forced him to lie down on the floor of a three-story building at the point of a gun while the two women took turns leaving the young man to be back.

The two women were fined $100 each and Murrell was sentenced to two years in prison in the first trial. He appealed and the case was remanded by the state supreme court for a new trial.

When the case was called for retrial this week most of the witnesses had gone and Caldwell was in the armed services. The original charge of assault with a deadly weapon was changed to common assault, and Murrell pleaded guilty.

Writer-Prisoner Proves-Nuisance To Axis Captors

ALEXANDRIA, June 9 (AP)—Four hundred and thirty-four war prisoners held by Italy, the last to be exchanged under the present schedule, arrived here and revealed that the most disgusted prisoner left behind was war correspondent Larry Allen of the Associated Press.

They said Allen was considerably sport because he wasn't repatriated with this group despite his campaign to make such a nuisance of himself that the Italians would be glad to get rid of him.

His campaign included using his weekly post-card allotment to write to President Roosevelt, clamoring for release.

The prisoners quoted Italian field service men as saying Allen was a cliché to be repatriated some day on account of his unremitting harassment of the authorities. Including a written complaint to Premier Benito Mussolini.

Allen finally forced camp authorities to transfer him to an officers' camp after what was described as a long period of "daily hell-raising."

Fortune Left in 1736 Gives Servicemen Hospital Shelter

NEW ORLEANS, June 9 (AP)—To explain how it happened that 500 able bodied and healthy servicemen slept the past week-end in Charity hospital here, one must go back to 1736.

In that year, Jean Louis, seaworthy seaman, apprentice of his treatment at the hospital, left a fortune to it for the purpose of taking care of ill and travel-weary persons.

In today's over-crowded war-battered New Orleans, west-end hotel and rooming house quarters are at a premium. A score of buildings set aside for the rest and relaxation of service men are often inadequate.

In December two bedless soldiers asked a place to flop at the big modern hospital. The night slaters found a place for them in an examination room. Some week-ends back there consulted with superiors.

They remembered Jean Louis' bequest. They also took cognizance of the fact that shortages of skilled attendants has meant closing of several wards. Dr. G. P. Daly, superintendent, said: "I can't turn anyone away."

A charge of 50 cents each was made to cover laundry, etc. Hospital slaters, considering clean hospital beds, towels, hot and cold showers and restful silence. So the grape-vine spread the news. Now there are not 50, but 500.

Mps on duty are barred at the elevator which conveys the soldiers in the unoccupied wards. Said the night slater: "The boys are just as quiet as they possibly can be. She added she suspects it is the hospital atmosphere that does it."

Eagle Squadron Chief at Boise

BOISE, June 9 (AP)—Col. Charles Sweeney, 61, who organized the famed Eagle squadron of the RAF, stopped last night in Boise to deliver an undelivered message to the mother of one of the first four members of the squadron to be shot down.

Sweeney explained to Mrs. Anna Clark, mother of Virgil Olson, of Boise, who lost his life in 1941 when his plane was shot down over the English channel.

The leader of the Eagle squadron retired from active duty when the American air force incorporated the squadron into its ranks after Pearl Harbor.

Basic Hat With Trims For Millinery Wardrobe

By ROSELLEN CALLAHAN
NEA Staff Writer

The "basic" hat now makes its bow as the latest budget-balancer. With its well-made hat and several sets of trimmings and matching accessories, says its designer, Betty Victor, you can create the illusion of an extravagant wardrobe of hats to go with every outfit you own.

Your best bet for year-round wear, Betty advises, is a light-trimmed hat of navy felt, with a peaked crown soft enough to permit manipulation into several effects. She showed how this hat, plus three little "skirts" which can be tied on to the brim in a fifty work the many-hat magic.

The "made for the dress" effect is carried out by matching neckwear. One had "skirt" of red and white striped tulle, was teamed with a two-yard scarf which tied at the shoulder, looped around the dress belt and was brought up around the neck to meet the giant shoulder bow. A white wide-brimmed "skirt" had a couple of gilet—no tailored, the other lace-trimmed—to go with it. And to wear with that good little navy shawl, Betty produced a skirt of starched, coarse net, banded with narrow grosgrain ribbon.

For the girl who can afford a two-hat wardrobe, she suggests as a second choice, however, a small narrow crown with a shallow crown and pleated brim. With a hand quicker than the eye, she whipped out a pair, a garland of rambling roses and tucked another bunch in the belt of the model's navy crepe frock. For another effect, she geared a pert pique bow on the hat and a matching gilet on the dress. A "dressesy" acceptor team for hat and dress was made up of velvet faced organza ruching.

CULLENBINE NOW HITTING 315

On the Sport Front

By GEORGE F. REDMOND

A little gem appearing in the Times News Tuesday was the Scribner wandering down memory lane. The gem said that George Cullenbine had hit 315 home runs in his career, a feat which had been done by only one other player in the history of the major leagues.

That's not a bad record in his memory can still see Cullenbine out there on the mound at Sportsman's park in St. Louis tossing baseballs that looked just about as big as the home run ball he had just pitched.

It always looked to Ye Old Scribner that Cullenbine had hit 315 home runs. It seemed that he was just as fast as first base—fast that he could get to first base in less than a pitch, or in-out, or whatever you care to call it.

Those two pitchers—Grove and Egan—practically buried the "As a gem" story. They were great enough to get a mention that they were in the game, but they were not in the game.

They were a hard-playing and something you don't know—a hard-drinking bunch. And wouldn't old Cullenbine have them back.

The arrival of Gunders Hely in the United States most likely will start a great wave of damage running through the baseball world. It was the 1910 Olympics and the arrival of Gunders Hely.

Pep Retains Title by Outpointing Bartolo

By BILL KING

BOSTON, June 9 (AP)—Willie Pep, Hartford, holder of the New York version of the featherweight title, prevented further muddling of that division's affairs by outpointing Sal Bartolo, Boston, in easy fashion in a 15-round championship.

Pep failed to carry every round only because of his cautious start. He began to slowly but Bartolo stayed on even terms with him until the sixth round. From then on, Pep's fast feet and his quick and efficient footwork checked Bartolo, whose victory hopes hinged on his counter-attack.

This so-called championship contest, which was an outdoor extravaganza, caused a breach between the Massachusetts and New York state commissions. The latter state's son, who entrusted Pep when he charged his opponent in November, ruled that he could defend his title in New York.

Nomad Climbs To Fifth Spot

CHICAGO, June 9 (AP)—Roy Cullenbine, the nomad of baseball who has been with 10 different clubs in as many seasons, is proving to be a legend in the American League.

Reaching his peak at the plate last year, he hit .315 in 21 games with the Yankees. Cullenbine came to Cleveland with catcher Egan in the first round of the season. He was a pair, and as a result has been at bat only 91 times, not enough to count among the league's top hitters.

On the benches of 10 or more teams last year, Cullenbine hit .315 in 21 games with the Yankees. Cullenbine came to Cleveland with catcher Egan in the first round of the season.

His closest competitor was Stan Alexander, who was second a week ago and improved his average to .302 and was up in front of all rivals for hitting honors in the senior circuit.

More than 200 fans of the center cheered the victory. Johnny Kawaguchi pitched shut-out ball for Hunt for four innings before the Jerome pitcher got up-and-down, keeping the Cubs at bay.

Senators 6th in Batting, Last in Fielding—But Battle for Lead

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—The Senators' batting line was close to a third of their wartime season behind them, and the folks are still wondering about the team's batting line.

In addition, of course, there are no scoring inquiries over why the St. Louis Browns are 'way down there at the bottom of the American League after being picked to chase the Yankees right to the wire.

But that one is easy. The Browns just aren't hitting and they just aren't fielding. They're just long clouts.

Senators resumed play today with a six-game schedule after two days' tramping. The record now is 23 wins and 34 losses, which is about the bottom of the pack.

At the same time, the Cubs are right behind and hitting and fielding. They're just not hitting and they're just not fielding.

WOMEN WON'T TALK

THE STORY: Derek Grady has been found murdered on the grounds of Rex Power. Miss Kathleen Grady, his granddaughter, and Miss Mattison who promptly took the lead in the case, but they admit to the police that they know who he is.

WANTED FOR KIDNAPING

CHAPTER
The latest of the two police officers stepped forward. He removed his cap courteously and for the first time in his life, he spoke, handing some tape and the grave, young eyes of Chief Deputy Sam Shaw.

"I nodded. I knew from his voice that the man I had talked to over the phone. Briefly, I repeated what I had already told him and then I'll show you where the body is." But first I went the other way, into the living room to the living room.

"Then I got a raincoat and umbrella out of the hall closet and we went down the hall and into the French doors into the east terrace.

"I took my glasses and shoving while the two officers looked at Derek Grady's body. The rain had played the light suit he wore and he was careful not to touch the body.

"I was trying to screw my courage up for the lie I must tell. I heard a faint murmur from the deputy who saved me the trouble.

"He looked at the other officer and his eyes were bright. "You know who it is!"

"The other officer shook his head. "Derek Grady. Wanted for kidnaping in Chicago. The circulars on this case are all over the place. There was huge satisfaction in his face as he stood up, explaining to me that they couldn't move the body until the coroner arrived.

"Then the two of them examined the ground around the dead man. But the rain had broken down the grass and obliterated all possibility of finding footprints. The stocky chief deputy cursed moodily under his breath. At length he suggested that I take him back to the house.

"Clint Mattison's arm had been put in an improvised sling. The doctor said he wanted X-rays taken before he set Mattison's arm and asked if it was all right to take him away.

"Deputy Shaw seemed undecided. He studied his wrist watch. "We received your telephone call at 1:30. How long before that was it you discovered the body?"

"I frowned in concentration. It must have been a minute or two after Connie had led me to Derek that I had stood there planning what to do. It had seemed the best thing to do was to call Mattison but he had fainted. I had then explained things to the amateur aviator, and he with his one good arm had helped me to get Connie to the house. Then I had gone directly to the phone.

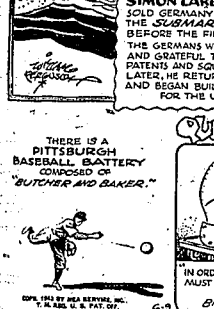

"Not more than 10 or 15 minutes at the most," I told Shaw.

"He nodded his head and his eyes were curiously from face to face. We were all there in the living room, Clara and Sarah, their eyes bulging with interest. Miss Lake, she had gotten the taxis to sleep and slipped back down stairs. Clint Mattison, Connie, Kathy and I.

"The deputy took a paper from his pocket and unfolded it. It was a handbill such as one seen displayed on the walls of postoffice lobbies, carrying a description of criminals wanted by the federal government. "Here are some pictures of the

HOOVER PREDICTS FOOD SHORTAGE

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP)—Federal President Herbert C. Hoover predicted last night that food supplies for American cities would be tighter next winter and spring than they were the past few months.

Addressing a meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Hoover said that the federal food administrator, asserted that "it will not starve" but declared that termination of the European war in the next 18 months would tend to cut the conventional food supplies with which to meet three or four hundred million of starving people.

Hoover delivered his address at the Hotel New York during a 10-day three-state blackout and was required to read his speech by candlelight. The address was broadcast.

Draze Changes Needed

Declaring that drastic changes in the national policy would be needed to meet a decline in food supply in the face of a demand that "is dangerously rising," Hoover said his program would be the "only one which will clear up this local food problem." He predicted that the food administrator will have to deal with uncontrolled food prices, local food production, black markets and stifled farm production.

1. Consolidation of all authority over food production and distribution under one single responsible administrator. Hoover added that the food administrator must today be secretary of agriculture, and in the outcome of the war and peace, should be recognized by the appointment to the new office of manpower mobilization.
2. Decentralization of work under state, municipal and county administrators, because "in other ways can farmers and consumers be adjusted to our various local conditions."
3. An increase of farm manpower to levels higher than before the war, and a decrease in the number of men acres more in 1944 than this year.

Additional of great amounts of agricultural machinery to handle the additional acreage, replacing the one year supply of machinery which he said was used up through depreciation of machinery.

4. Abolition of the system of retail and wholesale price ceilings, so that price fixing would begin near as possible to the farmer, with profit-making by regulation of trades proceeding from there on.

5. Establishment of a farmer's committee on "so-called parties" for the war.

6. Simplification of rationing by "decreasing the number and variety of articles rationed, regulation of non-essential food from rationing, and basing consumption on production through rationing.

7. Establishment of war committees in all local processes in order to keep the flow of food moving to the right spots.

8. Avoidance of subsidies, which he termed "deaky" regulations, which would not stop inflation.

Gertie From Bizerte

The fame of this plausorous girl has traveled the length of north Africa in song and story, and she is here in the flesh—or, rather, the plaster. Sgt. V. M. Gemmill found the mannequin in front of a wrecked ship in bombed Bizerte and promptly decided she was the famous Gertie.

Charter Awarded To Troop No. 67

Boy Scout Troop 67, of which George E. Fink is Scoutmaster, was presented its charter Monday night by Al Westergren, organization chairman of the Snake River Area Council.

The presentation was made at a meeting at the home of O. E. Pickett, troop committee chairman. Gerties were also given to the Scoutmaster and committee chairman, and to Knute Womack, E. E. Water and Rev. H. C. McCallister, pastor of the Methodist church, all members of the troop committee.

Eighteen members of the troop took part in Boy Scout demonstrations which were under the direction of George Pickett, junior assistant Scoutmaster. These included a tug-of-war, wood chopping contest, and instruction on how to take care of an axe. Refreshments were served.

The next regular meeting of the troop will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the Methodist church.

Jaycees Called To Work Party For Ball Field

An appeal for all members of the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce to attend a "work party" at Jaycee baseball park at 7 p. m. Thursday was issued by Charles "Chuck" Steber, president of the organization.

Steber said the group will construct a softball field in the outfield of the park, which will be initiated by a game at 6:30 p. m. Friday between Twin Falls and Jerome Jaycees members.

The softball diamond, which will be used by the adult softball league during the summer, will have its home plate in the position of third base on the regular diamond. This will protect the pitcher's mound and the home plate area of the Cowboy baseball diamond.

MOTHERS NEEDED IN WAR INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)—Charles P. Taft, director of community services for the federal government, testified that 8,000,000 women will be needed in war industries by the year 1945. He said that many of them from their household tasks depends upon federal provision of adequate child care centers.

Appearing before the senate labor committee, Taft expressed the belief that child care centers should be administered through his agency, which he said was primarily a service organization, rather than through the federal works agency, which he termed a "construction agency."

FWA now administers the program. Legislation under consideration would replace the temporary service provided with Latham act funds by furnishing $200,000 annually for centers to care for children of war employed mothers.

Discussing the employment of women in war work, Taft said the war department contemplated increasing their use in war industries to approximately 40 per cent and that officials of the Willow Run plant in Michigan were contemplating eventual use of 80 per cent women.

Mrs. Florence S. Kerr, assistant commissioner of the FWA, testified that more than a quarter million children of working mothers are being provided for now through Latham act funds but that her office estimated federal assistance would provide facilities to care for a million children within the next six months if the FWA program were allowed to continue without interference.

Taft contended only half these centers were operating. FWA officials explained that many communities had delayed placing the centers in service.

New Hampshire Artist Perfects Gas Substitute

BOSTON, June 9 (AP)—The 40-year-old Meredith, N. H., spray painter—C. E. Plancan—has evolved a substitute for gasoline.

Actually, the newspaper said, Plancan invented his gasoline substitute two years ago. The traveler quotes him: "Pansy, I never gave it much thought until now."

The newspaper said: "It works. Motorboats run on it. Automobiles run on it. It's plentiful. It's cheap—about four cents a gallon."

Surprisingly, Plancan has never used it in his own car or motorboat.

The traveler said that although the fluid is not rationed, Plancan said he never used it because "I just don't think I ought to in these times."

According to the traveler the fluid is a refinery by-product and thus it would not be necessary to transport any additional quantities of crude oil to the east coast in order to produce it in large quantities. It can be produced from the same crude oil used to make gasoline.

A postman, Shepard P. Brown, was described as one of several persons who used the fluid. Brown told the United Press:

"I've tried it and it worked swell. Plancan got around the country painting. He told me about it and I told him to bring some down and I'd try it. I'd try anything, if he worked okay in my boat and by 1938 Cadillac, I went 150 miles on eight and a half gallons. I've used about 150 gallons."

LONG-RANGE AIR RAID HITS JAPS

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 9 (AP)—The Japanese, who seldom have been disturbed in the island stepping stones they seized southeast of Singapore leading toward Australia, were given their second grim hint in 30 days by long-range Liberator bombers yesterday of things to come.

Three Liberators, flying daringly in daylight behind the range of soaring fliers, carried 600-pound bombs to the harbor of Wangapepe on the north coast of Bougainville island in the lesser Solomons group, more than 800 miles west of Darwin.

Through a curtain of anti-aircraft fire thrown up by batteries on ship and shore, the big four-engined American raiders damaged a 1,000-ton cargo ship, the largest one in the harbor. On May 29, other Liberators riddled the same long flight to bomb Wangapepe, two of them then given further work to strike at the island of Lombok.

Thus the bombing arc of Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney's air force, which he traces from Bougainville in the Solomons through New Britain, New Britain, New Guinea and the islands of the Barches, Arakan and Timor seas, now is being extended westward.

Rich the score of ground jungle fighters in northeastern New Guinea, eight, twin-engined B-25 Superfortresses, long range craft manned by Australians, swept down to the height of tree tops in the area of Komblamb to pour cannon and machine gun fire on suspected Japanese positions.

GLENN SHERBY, June 9 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Art Sheppard, who received word the middle of last month that their son, Vernon, had been injured in action in Africa in April, have now received word from Washington, D. C., that he has been "evacuated from the theater of action."

The communications stated that he was moved May 15, but gave no indication as to where he was moved.
