Reds Advance to Within Artillery Distance of Orel

By The Associated Press
LONDON, July 17.—The red army smashed six to eight miles closer to the Nazi fortress of Orel today, a special Russian communique announced tonight, and battlefield dispatches said Soviet heavy artillery now was within shell-creep of the vital communications hub seized by the Germans in the fall of 1941.

The Moscow bulletin also announced that Russian troops had "completely restored" their positions in the sector between Orel and Kursk to the south where the German offensive, begun July 5, failed at a colossal cost in German lives and materiel.

The new gains around Orel on the fifth day of the German counter-offensive were in addition to advances of 13 to 20 miles in the last three days and gains of six to 10 miles made yesterday. Soviet German aggression was broken down by an avalanche of Soviet machines, including sturdy American-made Sherman tanks.

168 Tanks Destroyed
In Friday's fighting in the Orel-Kursk sector, 168 German tanks were knocked out, and 106 planes shot down in combat by anti-aircraft fire, the bulletin said.

STANDARDIZATION BY OPA APPROVED

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The office of price administration received a presidential "directive" today to proceed with standardizing oil and its products if necessary for effective price control.

The directive was issued by President Roosevelt on the occasion of his signing a bill authorizing the Federal Reserve to establish a credit corporation to Jan. 1.

The president pointed out that the price regulation bill for OPA was contained in a bill for standards in any case regardless of how essential they are to price control, unless such standards had been previously established by industry or acceptance of government action.

"Such a construction would trip the price control," Mr. Roosevelt said, "because these standards are not to be applied in the case of the grades of meat, incompletely established this bill has no such measure."

He then pointed out that a modification of the standards in the proposed amendment was attached to the CCG bill in an attempt to clarify the standards.

The amendment was sponsored by Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., Ohio, who also had sponsored the rider to the CCG bill.

"Senator Taft," stated explicitly, "did not intend to trip the price control," Mr. Roosevelt said, "because these standards are not to be applied in the case of the grades of meat, incompletely established this bill has no such measure."

It is with this understanding that I have signed the bill.

Lifting of Practically All Farm Machinery Rations Seem

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Farm machinery rationing restrictions, which placed farmers into a rationing quota of trade quotas, are expected to be relaxed almost completely.

"Supply and demand, those supposed 4-9 economic links, have been reduced 7-8 and are expected to iron out previous kinks in the rationing machinery," said D. O. Becker, unofficial authority who speaks for authentic supply and demand.

"War food administration will rely heavily on machinery rationing to farm distribution channels in the farm machinery program for 1943-4, to be announced in August next month," Becker continued.

The farm equipment program in the WFA works tentatively calls for unrationed sale of a large percentage of the new machinery during the stepped-up production year, which began July 1 speaker disclosed.

ITALO-AMERICANS READY FOR SCRAP

By C. R. CUNNINGHAM
Representing the Combined
American Press

WITH AMERICAN SEVENTH ARMY, SICILY, July 17 (AP)—A trail of death and ruin wrought in many cases by U. S. soldiers in Italian coastal day behind the American seventh army pushing northward through Sicily today.

The Italo-Americans in this outfit are as anxious to get the job done at whatever cost as any other man.

They put up the white flag. Pvt. Jim Sangelico, Brookline, whose parents came from Sicily, said: "But if they're really going to give us a scrap we'll give it right back."

Dead Germans and Italians, burned out tanks at least 20 of which were German Mark IV types smashed around Otranto alone, have testimony of the soldiers' power.

The Yankees. I saw the destruction they left behind on an 80-mile ride from the coast to the interior.

"Their lives are ours!"

"It's too bad we've gotta kill a few more of 'em," said one driver, Pvt. Vincent Sokol, Chicago, said as we saw a tank destroyed by the Americans around the town of Otranto and we a question of their lives and ours and the damage to the town.

"I can help it."

The road between Gela and Vittoriosa there are at least two dozen knocked out enemy tanks, some of them still smoking. I was at a night-lookout post, not too badly lit by the moon, and I saw a lot of dead men and children.

The people of Gela were shocked and nervous, nearly go crazy when planes approach. Big night gun soundings for the job they did there and added to the juddering.

Many Wrecked Planes

Outside Comiso at the huge airport captured by the Americans, dozens of wrecked Axis aircraft. Comiso was a target for the enemy for weeks. While we were there two German Stuka pilots, apparently ignorant of what was going on around the ground, tried to come in and land. They both died in the crash.

Age of their planes, which fell victim to our guns.

Milkmaids Must Go

The dairy and its customers were shocked on a recent visit when members protested delivery of milk by Miss Iola Cantwell and Mrs. Martin Cantwell, above. The sisters-in-law pinch-hit for a week so milkmen could go on vacation.

Farm Wives' Skimpy Cooking Blamed in Lack of Workers

CHICAGO, July 17 (AP)—If the food shortage is due to lack of farm help, farm wives will have to shoulder a lot of the blame, A. A. Johnson, manager of an employment agency, said today.

"Farm women nowadays are different," he said. "They want to put a lot of something on the table and then go riding in the car. More men leave the farm for that reason than any other."

"An old time farm hand, just off one job and looking for another, agreed:

"I worked one place where all we had for breakfast was bread and butter, a little bacon and some eggs," he said. "Only one egg is a man's meal."

"I don't mind working from four in the morning to eight or half past eight, but I don't mind a man's meal."

"In the farm employment business recently, 50 a month is a good average now," he said.

"Good men are hard to get. I could use 150 right now—okay. It used to be, years ago, if a man knew how to throw a harness on a horse and walk behind a plow he was all right," he said.

"But not any more. It takes a skilled man to be a farm hand these days. He's got to be a first class tractorist."

Johnson waved a distasteful hand at buses on West Madison street.

"There's all kinds of bums but we don't take 'em, so help me," he said. "If I was to send one of these fellows out they'd ruin my business."

Farm workers run from $16 to $24 a month with board and room for single men, said Johnson, compared to $25 and $40 two men ago. Married men with families get as high as $150 a month with a house, garden, cows and chickens.

"Most of these fellas, married or single, would be a lot better off in a farm where they don't have to pay rent and high prices for food, but they don't realize it yet, Johnson said.

"If farm women set the tables they used to, a lot of good men would be on the farm right now."

WIERECK TO FACE 12-YEAR SENTENCE

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—George Wierneck, an agent of the German police who failed to register as such with the state department, today faces a maximum sentence of 12 years in jail and a $5,000 fine.

He was found guilty of violating the federal agents registration act at 11:20 p. m. last night by a jury of nine men and three women who had deliberated more than eight hours before the verdict was announced. The jury was made up of six counts of the federal indictment.

The jurors had been led by Justice Bolitha J. Lave earlier that the "sharp issue" in the case was whether Wierneck was or was not an agent of the German Reich.

They were asked then to decide whether the defendant failed to register with the state department the names of all the German principals for which he worked, and whether he had acted full details for the activities he engaged in their behalf when he registered as an agent.

The government had charged that Wierneck had used his registration as an agent of the Reich to act as an "author, journalist and publicist" in an "entirety" for more extensive propaganda activities, and that his registration statement to the state department, as an agent of the Reich, was false and in violation of the act.

The government also charged that Wierneck had carried his propaganda into the United States by means of congressmen and congressmen into working with him.

Axis Like Backpedaling Boxer Waiting for Allied Mistakes

By HUGH DAILLIE
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA, July 17 (AP)—The Axis is likely to be the attitude of a boxer who has been knocked out by a dangerous counter-punch. He jabs and jabs and jabs, covering up and waiting for his opponent to make a mistake. He jabs and feints and goes.

This is the position after a week of fighting as indicated by reports from the front. The headquarter's allies are following up the axis war. They know from experience that any slip against such a stiff, crafty enemy may have the worst possible consequences.

The early stages of the American campaign against the Axis in Tunisia by a quick, audacious thrust fell short and it took months instead of days to rectify the situation.

There is no desire to repeat that experience. The Sicilian campaign was a blitz. It is not fought on terrain suitable to blitz warfare and all the allied commanders are uneasy. They won't be mouse-trapped if they can't help it. But, like Grant, they will fight it out on the line if it takes all summer, if that probably won't.

Escape to the Difficult

It is difficult to see how the axis expects to rescue its army from Sicily even if it prolonged its rearward action is fought. The enemy is likely to escape through the Messina bottle-neck to the Italian mainland. Therefore if the axis starts a large army in Sicily, it looks as though the allies' box-constructor covers inevitably will produce another fold-up such as occurred in Tunisia. The Tunisian surrender came of course, and the enemy suffered a terrific mauling, after much fierce fighting, the toughness of which was rather obscured by the magnitude of the final victory.

Some heavy slugging must be ahead in Sicily when the enemy reaches the line on which he intends to stand. It can be safely assumed that there has been some desperate strafing which as yet has been unreported.

The allied landing should not have been a surprise to the enemy commanders since you can't hit

BOY, 16, FOUND GUILTY IN SLAYING

LOS ANGELES, July 17 (AP)—John Plannagan, 16 years old and six feet three inches tall, faced a possible sentence of life imprisonment today for the knife murder of his 19-year-old platoon, Dorothy Marie Couterman, who was stabbed and slayed 17 times.

The strapping youth was found guilty of second-degree murder and will be sentenced July 21. For two weeks he had sat stoically through the trial, and when the verdict was read he showed no emotion.

"Oh, I must see him, I must see him," the youth turned his head once as he was led away and watched his father, tears streaming down his face, walk with his mother from the courtroom.

The victim was stabbed to death at her San Pedro, Calif., home, April 21. During the trial, her mother testified she had forbidden young Plannagan to see her daughter because once the child came running home screaming that the youth "tried to do something to me."

Young Plannagan was turned over to authorities by his father, who noted that the boy acted queerly when the murder was mentioned.

ALARM CLOCKS ON SALE AGAIN SOON

Confirming other indications of a trend toward resumption of manufacturing in civilian lines, the "alarm clock" will be on the market soon, according to price administration officials.

The OPA announced, released by Carl Anderson, chief clerk of the Twin Falls county region board, that the price of each has been set for the clock. The war production board announced that it is leading clock companies for the manufacture of 1,000,000 of these clocks.

Alarms clocks became an early casualty of war when manufacturing was stopped at a time when increased availability of civilian goods was in great demand. Twin Falls stores have been without alarm clocks for some time. It was not until now when the clocks would be on sale here, but OPA is delaying the move to distribute over the country in the near future.

Observers said this OPA action is at least partially confirming a statement here Friday by Carl Anderson, chief clerk of the Twin Falls county region board, that the manufacture of civilian goods would be resumed in the near future.

2-Car Farmer Penalized for Pleasure Trip

A Twin Falls county two-car farmer has been deprived of his "B" gasoline coupon book for taking a pleasure trip to San Francisco and other points in the west.

The farmer, said Anderson, who is in charge of the office of price administration, said that the OPA is penalizing the farmer because he has taken a pleasure trip to San Francisco and other points in the west. The twin falls county action closely followed announcement by the OPA in Boise, Idaho, that the misuse of supplemental gasoline rationing, it was understood unofficially here last night.

Alley Hunt Finds Boy's Odd Story Isn't Fairy Tale

The truth that is stranger than fiction is being looked for in the alley hunt of Probate Judge C. A. Bailey and Juvenile Officer John A. Brown, who are hunting for a boy who was alleged to have stolen a car in the alley.

Both officials knew this couldn't be true, but Brown resolved to follow up on the matter. The Probate Judge's office is in the alley, and the boy was alleged to have stolen a car in the alley.

Endorse Stamps Now, Drivers Toll

Motorists and all other gasoline users were reminded last night by Paul H. Carpenter, chairman of the Twin Falls county region board, that all coupons to be endorsed immediately. The endorsement of writing the license number and the word "endorse" on each stamp.

Coupons not new books issued July 22 should be endorsed as soon as they are received from the war production board. Carpenter said that in addition, users should write on each coupon immediately on receipt received before July 22 in the endorsement of writing the license number and the word "endorse" on each stamp.

Flying Cross and Air Medal Awarded Capt. Cecil B. Smith

Both the distinguished flying cross and the aviator wings of Pacific War Capt. Cecil B. Smith, Twin Falls, Idaho, were awarded last week at a ceremony at the War Relocation Authority, according to news received from the public relations officer.

Word of the double decoration for his gallant service in the Pacific combat came to the Times-News before Capt. Smith advised his parents of the award. Cecil is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olyn B. Smith.

The captain among other officers and enlisted men was honored with the flying cross for gallantry when they received awards for their action against the enemy in far-flung areas of the Pacific.

The award of the distinguished flying cross to Captain Smith was made for extraordinary achievement in the Solomon Islands while flying during the period from Dec. 15, 1942, to Feb. 1, 1943. He was in operational flights totaling 206 hours during that period.

Marathon Plus Horse Show Set For Twin Falls

Plans for a two-day, 30-mile marathon horseback ride, to be held by the Twin Falls county region board, were announced last night by Paul H. Carpenter, chairman of the Twin Falls county region board.

The marathon horseback ride will be held on the 30-mile trail, which was said, and the horse show will be held at Joyce Park Sept. 6.

Firemen-Rush to Home--But It's Just Fumigation

The old stage, where there's smoke, there's fire, today held true as the fire alarm sounded on Thursday morning. Though smoke was reported to come from 841 Saturday street, firemen rushed to the scene after about a barrel of oil, the other a far barrel, in neither case was the fire extinguished.

The fire alarm sounded for the barrel of oil burning in the first block on second street east. The oil belonged to the Johnson family. Origin of the fire was unknown.

Just a few minutes later, firemen were on the job to extinguish the fire burning in the far barrel block. The fire was extinguished by a fireman who was started from a heater north. The barrel was the property of the E. H. Roofing company.

Gillette Protests 'Deceit' in Efforts to 'Spring' Johnston

Emphatic protest against the methods of "an organized group" which has been trying to "spring" ex-Mayor Duncan M. Johnston from his life sentence for murder was voiced here last night by Howard Gillette.

Gillette's statement was given to the Times-News and mailed individually to Gov. C. A. Holtzman, Secretary of State George L. Curtis and U. S. District Judge H. H. Hays, members of the Idaho parole board, after hearing Johnston's fifth plea for pardon, ordered continued until October.

"The Idaho state parole board has met again to consider the case of Duncan Johnston, twice convicted murderer of George L. Olson."

"As an American citizen and law enforcement officer, even though there is no chance of a doubt in my mind as to the guilt of Johnston, I do not believe in trying to gain his freedom. I do protest in the name of decent government of the state of Idaho, and I urge the parole board to spring him."

Johnston is being held in the Idaho state prison, and not in the Idaho state prison, and not in the Idaho state prison, and not in the Idaho state prison.

"I challenge Mr. Charles Scoggin to prove that his statement that the investigating officers had a deliberate lie, and I challenge him to prove that such a statement, if made under oath, would not constitute a felony of perjury. This man is an attorney, but it seems that he has forgotten that there is such a thing as a word of ethics in his profession. Mr. William Dunn is a man of integrity, and his statements, as quoted by the press, are in complete agreement with what they fit in perfectly with what I say unequivocally in the general plan of deceit."

Cites Petter Statement. "Mr. A. M. Petter said an affidavit that he heard Mr. Robert Beckwith, assistant attorney general, in closing remarks to the jury in the second trial, assert the state does not contend that Johnston murdered Olson. But he has not fully known this affidavit, but Mr. Petter signed this affidavit, but Mr. Petter signed this affidavit, but Mr. Petter signed this affidavit."

"Dunn's statement to the parole board is a statement of deceit, and he is the kind of distortion they are presenting to the board."

JOHNNY ALONE
CHAPTER XII
Lincoln rose caustic and studded his camel with given provisions, well-toiled leather harness, a sum of money and a small Arab compass.

His destination, of course, remained the same: The jungle beyond Lake Tchad. He had to get there first, double back, the road to Fyn Zupfing, where the jungle was being matted.

He asked Bahidi, who pointed to where his own painted the distant range of hills with cream and silver. "Behind the mountains close," he said. "Five days through the desert—and weary, weary, weary I know. For one with a cough, I had to take refuge there in the matter of a blood feud. No caravan trails there for a night, no drink apart from your water, and the rest, straight east, not deviate from your course."

On the sixth day, he would see the black tent of the Beni Gira tribe of Bedawins. But he should stay away from them, hiding in the daytime and traveling only at night when he got there.

"The Beni Gira are hounds of the wilderness who vie with the devil in treachery and are too cunning to be trusted," he said. "And then, without warning, there was the dry snick of a breechlock, a yellow spurt of flame, and by this time he had slipped, his body fastened out in the thick, cool air—the third of a bullet splintering a tree a hair's breadth from his head.

His exclamation was instantaneous, a squealing yelp and in his last, and then, without warning, there was the dry snick of a breechlock, a yellow spurt of flame, and by this time he had slipped, his body fastened out in the thick, cool air—the third of a bullet splintering a tree a hair's breadth from his head.

At the time, his sufferings were terrible. This day, he saw the black tent of the Beni Gira etched on the horizon. He saw, presently, what fields thrown across the wasteland like a rugged, green carpet. He heard the belching of cattle, the clanking and creaking of the water wheels; and he knew by all these things that his was crude irrigation and that a river, and the jungle where it flowed, could be so far off.

THREE MEASURES VETOED BY FDR

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Killing three bills by President Roosevelt today cleared his desk of all legislation passed by Congress before it went to the veto.

- The vetoed bills are:
1. To make appropriations of $200,000,000 to help of two PWA agencies.
2. To liberalize payments to war veterans.
3. To make distribution of food and clothing by federal agencies subject to state inspection laws.

The President said he would not sign the law which authorizes service payments for disabilities not incurred in the service, such as those due to venereal disease, alcoholism, drug addiction and "other offenses clearly and convincingly proven to be the fault of a highly civilized society but not forbidden by law."

The bill proposing to make the distribution of fertilizer and other government agencies subject to the inspection laws of the 48 states, was vetoed after the supreme court held that Florida fertilizer inspection laws violated the interstate commerce clause of the federal constitution.

Night Mission: Here's How Bomber Gets Ready

When these fires do occur, he said they will consume until needed for the war effort. Work needed for fire protection is being undertaken in a program that will take ten to twenty years to complete.

Familiar sound in the night sky over Twin Falls is the drone of many bombers, for it is here that America trains a great number of the crews and bombardiers who soon will be doing their night missions over enemy territory.

At the San Angelo army air field a group of men readies a bomber for a night flight. The four-engine plane, four tanks are filled with liquid oxygen, and a mechanical hook is given the engines, landing gear and other parts. Then it's out and up into the night to plant more bombs on the soil of west Texas, which, with four bombardier schools, has become one of the world's most bombed areas.

DANGER TIME IN FOREST ARRIVES

HALL, July 17.—The supervisor of the state forest forest Charles J. Daugherty, warns that the time to expect forest fires is here. He says that the fire season has again arrived.

Every adequate preparation leading to quick suppression of fires has been made, he says. The state fire department has been advised to give special attention to forest fires.

Even before the preparation work begins, says Daugherty, it is important that there is no fire in the forest. The fire department has been advised to give special attention to forest fires.

- Rules to follow:
1. Never burn to clear land, logging slash, etc. without permit. If laws require it, without scarping or plowing around for scarping.
2. Stop to smoke in safe place during a dry spell.
3. Be sure matches, cigarettes and pipe ends are out before leaving them.
4. Kill small fires, report others immediately to the nearest ranger in office or fire station.

DAILEY'S CIRCUS THREE-RING SHOW

The first circus of the season, and probably the most important attraction, will exhibit in Twin Falls, Friday and Saturday, July 23 and 24. Dailey's circus is a first-class attraction.

Of the 18 circuses now on the road, only two are as big as Dailey's. The remainder use motor trucks. Because of the motor trucks, they are improvements in motor transportation much of the best heavy trucks, and even more "truck circus" since the salary is high and the show is big and the comfort is also most great.
