Creamery Butter up to Twelve Points; 35 Meat Cuts Reduced

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Creamery butter will go up two real points a pound Sunday, and the retail value of 35 cuts of fresh meats will be reduced one or two points.

The office of price administration said today it is boosting creamery butter from 19 to 21 cents a pound because production is five per cent below estimates and the decline in available supply is sharp.

Meat cuts are being reduced because of a surplus of pork. Beef steaks, roasts and steak and rib cuts are lowered one real point.

All changes are effective Sunday. The purchasing power of meat staples in September will be a little larger than in August because of the decrease in meat point values.

Marcus Raid Force Defies Lippon Fleet

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—A powerful U. S. naval task force, spearheaded by carriers, is on the loose in the central Pacific, during the Japanese home fleet to come out and fight.

It already has struck from the air and sea against Marcus Island, important enemy outpost guarding the southeastern approaches to Tokyo.

(Radio Tokyo warned the Japanese people today that the attack on Marcus Island foreshadowed "the bombing of the Japanese mainland.")

It may be that the task force previously had blighted other Japanese hopes and that other enemy attack points are due for a pasting before the task force returns home. But there will be no details until it is safe for the American force to break radio silence.

The Japanese reported that 100 planes and two aircraft carriers made up the U. S. force. The broadcast also stated that the carriers were the USS Enterprise and the USS Yorktown.

The Japanese news agency denied, in an earlier English-language report, that the carriers had been shot down by Japanese fighters and bombers based on Marcus Island.

The attack on Marcus Island was not considered of unusual significance, because the island was not the source of any trouble to present American holdings there. However, they could be considered an "outpost operation," one under which primarily to have the enemy without any effect on overall strategy.

EVACUEE'S BODY FOUND IN CANAL

HUNT, Sept. 5—The body of Yoshio Tamura, 21, was taken from the waters of the north side canal yesterday. The body was found when he drowned while swimming Saturday afternoon.

The recovery was made by three men who entered the water to bring the body ashore, after it had been discovered by three fishermen who walked along the bank to keep it from being carried away by the tide. The three who brought the body ashore were two Milwaukee men, Michio Giquos, members of the Hunt fire department, and Moruo Ito, a resident of 214 W. 10th.

Tamura was the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Tamura, former residents of the location center. In addition to his parents he was survived by a brother, George, 16, and a sister, Marjorie, 14. The body was taken to Oak Lake City today for cremation, and Baptist funeral services will be held there next Wednesday.

Tamura was the grand resident of the center to down, the body of an 11-year-old boy, who died from the canal several months ago.

Crash Into Truck Hurts Jerome Man

JEROME, Sept. 2—James Mann, 26-year-old son of Ray Mann, who drove a truck, suffered a severely injured face and bruises as a result of an accident which occurred early in the morning.

Mann was operating a machine owned by the North Side Auto company, including it here from the north. He crashed into the rear of a parked truck which had been driven by Charles M. Pothick, Shoshone.

The impact of the crash knocked the two heavy dual tandem wheels of the truck and completely demolished the auto company's machine. Rear of the truck was also badly damaged.

The parked truck had been giving the driver trouble, officers said, and was a broken truck. Mann was towed to Shoshone when Mann crashed into it.

MAJOR WARNS OF 'NEWEST' RACKET

Guest speaker at the Lions luncheon meeting Wednesday were Maj. W. C. McIndoo, field artillery officer from the 20th barracks, and Capt. H. H. Hall, chemical warfare officer from the 20th barracks, and public relations officer, likewise from Boise.

Maj. McIndoo, here for inspection of the Twin Falls county Idaho volunteer reserves and also in connection with the army emergency relief drive, warned Lions of a particularly type of "racket" now being engaged in.

"If you or any of your wives receive a check requesting money from someone purporting to be your son, a thorough check should be made if there is any doubt concerning the authenticity of the sender."

A number of people in Idaho and elsewhere received telegrams requesting money, the racket being presumably from boys back from overseas duty. Many checks of such character are simply rackets, so be wary of them.

Least, his warning went done by his division in chemical warfare.

Rever. Makinson, Harrison, was present as guest of Lion Harry Batsch.

BUTTER SHORTAGE FOR NEXT MONTH

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (AP)—Butter will be hard to get out of the nation's principal dairy production centers in September, market experts warned.

Hardest hit will be the east and west coast areas.

Civilian stocks in some sections were completely depleted at the end of August and it is expected to fill orders deliveries, Gordon Director of the Dairy-Wholesale Market reported. "Producers' Price-Current," publication from 30 to 20 per cent in September, was eventually announced to immediately relieve the critical shortage, Urner said.

During February, March and April 30 per cent was reserved for the government; in May, June and July it was raised to 50 per cent; reduced to 40 per cent in August and increased of the civilian emergency, dropped "usually to 20 per cent from a previously announced 30 per cent.

In seven months, according to market estimates, the government has acquired 222,500,000 pounds of butter, or about 47,000,000 pounds has been turned over to lend-lease.

Purchasing agents for the various armed services have continued to buy on the open market and prices have been able to build up rapidly.

"We may be faced with several critical civilian shortages before the winter is over despite the best efforts of the market, much to distribute the available supplies fairly," Urner warned.

MRS. FDP VISITS WOUNDED YANKS

AUCKLAND, NEW ZEALAND, Sept. 1 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, accompanied by her four for the Red Cross, visited U. S. marines and sailors in the naval hospital here today.

"Victory is coming our way, I hope we will be able to help you after the war to build the kind of world that will make your sacrifices worth while to win the war. We must win the peace."

From every morning until her appearance at the Red Cross ball in Auckland, Mrs. Roosevelt was busy. She met hundreds of American and New Zealand service personnel.

At the hospital, where she was greeted by a band of officers and hundreds of sailors, she went from bed to bed, questioning patients and talking to them.

She became especially enthusiastic when she met several men who had served with the unit, Lieut. Col. James Roosevelt.

Earlier, a reception for Mrs. Roosevelt, Mayor J. A. C. Allums, Auckland, declared that long as American sons and daughters are serving here, we regard their welfare as a sacred duty.

Mrs. Roosevelt lunched with Mrs. Peter Fraser, wife of New Zealand's prime minister, at a naval hospital. Entering the cove line with enlisted men, she was greeted by a band of officers and sailors.

Mrs. Roosevelt chatted with men from Utah and Texas.

Global Geography Offered Students

To give students a better understanding of the earth as a whole and its relationship to other planets, Twin Falls school has initiated a new course in global geography of earth science which places special emphasis on the importance of the earth's life.

The course is designed to be taught concurrently with an astronomy course and is unusual because it discards political boundaries and deals mainly with climate, all parts of the earth, current events and the world's resources.

The text used is "The Earth and Its Resources," accompanied by a workbook containing practical problems. The book contains a glimpse of several sciences, math, geology, botany, physics and meteorology.

All parts of the course are covered in the one-semester course. Michael Throckmolen is instructor.

POOLING OF COAL TRUCKS PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Coal trucks suffering from general shortage have complicated the problem of coal distribution, the office of defense management has announced. Emergency pooling delivery plans to meet the increase in demand for coal.

Joseph D. Eastman, ODT director, said official estimates indicate that the use of coal will be 22 per cent higher this winter than in the preceding year because of increased use of coal for power.

"This increase comes at a time when coal dealers are facing the dual problem of labor shortage and deteriorated delivery equipment," Eastman reported.

"We expect that the motor vehicles we had in 1941," Eastman said, "are now in the process of being replaced by the fact that truck replacements are not being made with the same rapidity as they were in 1941. This makes necessary drastic revision of the normal delivery practices in the coal industry."

Pooling for 142 districts.

Coal delivery truck pools will be established in each of the 142 normal transport districts over the country.

Dealer committees will be named in each district to select local boards in communities where surveys indicate a need for such action.

Local committees will prepare a schedule of coal delivery equipment and operating yards, orders on hand and inventories and the normal delivery schedule for each district. The information will be the basis for each local delivery program.

Other suggestions.

The other suggested methods for increasing delivery of coal include: (1) Dividing responsibility for the districts into smaller outlying areas; (2) exchanging use of motor trucks to eliminate empty miles; (3) increasing labor supply to assure undisturbed operation and full use of manpower; (4) increasing use of permits to permit delivery from the yard nearest the customer.

Eastman urged solid fuel delivery to save "locally needed" electricity in the winter months.

Employees of firms so classified must obtain certificates of eligibility before transferring to other jobs. Draft boards may also consider the status of such employees in relation to the war effort in passing on deferment of employment.

OFFICERS RESENT INACTIVE STATUS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—The army reinstated its ban on officers' active status, and D. C. Speaker said reinstatement was general among officers.

The unofficial capital authority said a high percentage of those barred of active duty were regular army officers.

"Whether justified or not," Speaker said, "the ban has proved to be general among them that the army is not doing enough for them to justify the ban."

Opportunities to promote to senior grades a number of officers were taken from them by the ban.

Speakers said reinstatement is rather than the nature of the order made it apply more heavily to old-time military men than to younger men.

Speakers said that many of the officers who were reinstated had active duty in the past middle age without extensive military background.

The department has reinstated 900 to inactive list.

Speakers said that approximately 500 officers—a few major generals and brigadier generals—will be returned to inactive status.

The department has declined to give the number.

The laws governing the army provide that officers who are promoted to senior grades must have had active duty in the past middle age without extensive military background.

MARCUS ATTACK POSES QUESTIONS

By CHARLES MONTURRY. PEARL HARBOR, Sept. 2 (AP)—The United States Navy has laid out a plan for the attack on the deepest naval penetration of the Pacific in the history of the war.

The question of the value of the attack is a subject which will be discussed in a special issue of the magazine, so far as long-range planning is concerned, naturally there has been official statement.

When it is necessary to draw Japanese forces out of the Solomon in the south Pacific in fear of an opening blow in full-scale operations in the central Pacific, there has been no action since the battle of Midway in June, 1942.

The attack on Marcus, which may expect a strong central Pacific offensive, is being planned by the Marshall and Gilbert Islands or Wake Island, and always with the probability of another strike against Tokyo itself.

The Marcus raid was a sudden blow for the Pacific island, which is well defended by the Japanese who captured it shortly after Pearl Harbor. It was estimated that 1,000 miles inland the enemy's defenses.

It appears to have little immediate military value, Marcus Island is reported to be a small harbor and useless except for the ammunitions. It is doubtful whether anybody takes very seriously the Japanese broadcast that the enemy could have raised the marriage if he wanted.

The Marcus raid is interpreted in connection with a challenge to the Japanese fleet to come out and fight, but the surprise that it brought about the force used and the bomb and the aerial attack in which they were used on that island.

May Be Lured Out to Fight. If the Marcus raiding force returns there is a chance that the Japanese may be lured out for a trap. But it appears more probably that the task force will return to port.

The Marcus raid was sent primarily on a mission to seize intelligence, as appears likely if probably the Japanese are to be lured out to fight. However, the United States ships have soundly whipped the Japanese.

The greatest danger to United States warships remaining in the Pacific is the possibility of their vulnerability to attack by long-range, land based Japanese bombers.

View of Russia Heard at Rotary

GOODING, Sept. 2—Carl Boden, Boise, was special guest speaker at the meeting of the Rotary club Monday here. Mr. Boden served with the American relief administration in Russia after World War I, and has traveled extensively in Russia in the years following the war.

Mr. Boden said that the Russian people are suffering from the effects of the war. He particularly stressed the fact that while the Russian way of life may not be like ours it has served a very useful purpose and has accomplished feats which would not have been achieved under any other regime.

An interesting sidelight was the fact that practically all of the garden eggs furnished Soviet Russia under lend-lease agreements was grown in Idaho.

In conclusion Mr. Boden stated that in his opinion there is no legitimate reason why our nation should look on Russia with suspicion. The only great difference between the nations in their form of government is that the ultimate ends of our governments are practically identical.

Other guests present at the luncheon meeting were A. Duke, T. G. Catell and Al Stone, Gooding. President Francis Breiman presided for the occasion.

CARBS BOAST LEAD TO 12

Birds Play 11 Innings To Defeat Bucs Twice

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 2 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals played 11 innings and gained two victories over the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-5 and 8-6. The first triumph came with the conclusion of a game suspended on July 18 when Pennsylvania's Sunday curfew stopped the second half of a double-header at the end of seven innings.

On the Sport Front

The pair of victories boosted the Cardinals' lead over the second place Cincinnati Reds, who lost to Chicago, to 12 full games and made their chances of winning the National League pennant that much more certain.

The two games played were scoreless as the contest went into the books just as 11 might have been, it was interrupted with Rip Sewell charged with his seventh defeat against 10 wins and George Mauer being credited with his seventh victory.

Both had entered the game July 18 in relief and Sewell began to pitch Wednesday, but Manager Billy Southworth chose to use his ace, Mort Cooper, finish the two innings and also to start the regularly scheduled contest which followed.

As it turned out, even though the Cardinals won both games, they worked in both games, he received credit for neither.

He was charged for three hits and three runs in the second inning of the afternoon and also pitched the ninth and tenth innings. Sewell, who had pitched in the first game, finished the second game with a 1-0 record.

Older and better, you'll make a good pitcher as long as you have the telephone and ask Worley Olds if he didn't send up quite a pitcher for the major leagues one time, the voice on the other end of the line said: "You're right."

And you know this ancient word pitcher didn't just go to mix a story and mix up his material. He was talking to the telephone and where a few questions over the wire of course, he called up Worley Olds.

PANCHO SEGURA

Segura Major Attraction as National Tennis Tournaments Start

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—The first round of the national singles tennis championships was completed Monday with about as many surprises as the first round usually brings—exactly none.

Playing only best-of-three set matches in the early part of the streamlined wartime tourney, which will be run off in six days with fields reduced to 32 players in each division, the headliners quickly buckled down to winning.

Wood, who has been defaulted to Jack Thero, a junior Davis cup member from New Orleans, Fifth-ranked national Greenberg of Chicago, national clay court champion and a possible dark horse in this tourney because of his victory over Segura in the consolation meet, had to go an extra set to eliminate Tom Palenikovic, Hollywood, Calif., 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Segura, who has won every tournament he entered in this season's campaign, again was the day's principal attraction. Playing on the stadium court before most of the crowd of about 1,000, Linus Pancho bounced around, galloped, snatched his fingers over occasional shots and made the crowd roar 4 or 5 he walked to the center. Princeton University court captain from Elizabeth, N. J., 6-3, 6-2.

The impressed Parker, who hasn't had much tournament competition since coming to the United States, didn't show the lack of it as he trimmed John L. Cunningham, Princeton, Fla., match 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.

"Pauline Beck, defending women's champion, may have been a little off her best form but she easily did, losing to the army cadet Purdy Cunningham, wife of Parker's, match 6-2, 6-4.

Shortened Softy League Contest To Be Replayed

The Glass and Paint Manufacturers Softy League will play its 1943 season on a shortened basis, and the last game of the fourth inning will be replayed.

According to Matthew, the boy displayed much promise during the game, and he is being watched by the manager during an intra-squad series.

Matthew said that his principal defect was lack of weight, which is 45 pounds at present. This boy is a good pitcher. He has a fine smooth action on the mound, solid good baseball sense and handled himself during the game.

"I have an argument over my 'match list' and intend to keep in touch with him."

CHAPTER II

When spring came, and the summer heat was on, Miss Neville and her friend returned to the farm. I left the blacksmith shop and came home, bringing my knives in a cloth bag. But my stomach was not overjoyed at the prospect of a quiet life and I was unamused, for I stayed near Miss Neville. That summer she gave me books to read and let me get an education. When she returned to Portsmouth, she gave me her address.

"If you want to go to school, the money is yours," she said, "and I will help you." After that, she made life very easy and miserable. Breaking the chain pig and finding that I had enough money for a dinner at Portsmouth, I signed another title to town, showing up at the station, and bought a ticket for Portsmouth. I went with a mixture of excitement and fear, and on the city, the streets, the confusion and noise. After waiting for hours, I found Miss Neville's street and came to a white-pillared house set back in a lawn shaded by trees.

Miss Neville "wrote me" welcome, brought me some decent clothes, and sent her maid to read and my servants looked after me and called me "Master Charles." I liked that. After dinner I was sometimes permitted to stay downstairs and listen to the music officers. The commandant of the Marine Corps, Maj. Wendell C. Neville, after reading my letter and made him in the music room. The spot of education a man could have. I sat very quietly in a corner and studied him. Then and there I determined that when I grew up, I too would be a soldier of the sea.

"But you can't enlist until you are 18," Miss Neville told me. "First you must go to school and get an education." A letter from my father upset my world. The brothers and sister in Germany wrote about pictures of grandmother's riches, her big home, the lake in front of the comfort. Because of the war, away so much of the time, father decided to go to the front in Germany. When Miss Neville read the letter, I burst into tears, but she promised me that when I was 18 I could return and join the marines.

The trip to Germany was a holiday. The group-ups were slick, but all the time and ran about the decks and boasted that when I grew up I was going to be a captain of the marines and sail a bigger ship than this.

Grandmother lived in a beautiful house, but she was a right old lady, heavily neat and tidy, with a soul that was horrified by a track on the kitchen floor. She fed and scolded the young barbers, but she did not know how to love, and she made him welcome. At 14 I was apprenticed to a locksmith. In a misty little shop with windows set by stone walls two feet thick, this old man made iron locks, hammered and chased by hand. They are not the modern locks that we know, but the ancient worked kind that might have been designed by Martin Luther's father. Each was dif-
