CORSICA FELL TO SHARP SEA BLOWS

(Editors note: The following story is by an official British Admiralty reporter accompanying the French naval forces on secret trips to Corsica. He was formerly correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor before joining the British navy.)

By LIEUT. HAROLD HAYCOCK, AACCCO, Corsica, Sept. 17 (Despatch)—A series of fast naval operations, reminiscent of the blockading, American Civil War days and executed in 20th century style by warships of the French Mediterranean fleet, opened the waters of Corsica today.

High-speed destroyers assisted by submarines took part in the landing of French troops and material in this port tonight and on other coasts.

This capital and main port of Corsica is a island, and is 200 miles from the strategic-garrisoned town of north Africa and within range of the world's fastest warships. Though the destroyers were spotted by enemy reconnaissance aircraft, according to British headquarters they were not attacked throughout the first operation.

Our arrival in Ajaccio harbor at midnight was welcomed with silent enthusiasm, but did not compare with the reception received by the destroyer on her first trip Sept. 12. Demonstrations continued at a high pitch throughout the two hours the ships required to disembark their infantry personnel and unload their material.

Ship's Cook

This Navy Cook Adept Now - In Galley—Or at Ship's Gun

By PAT PALMER Dale Adamson says he "couldn't flip an egg" when he joined the navy back in 1917, but he's had plenty of experience "cooking" since the first time he shipped out as a "sinker" (cook's helper) in those days before the war.

Now it's all-in a day's work to turn out 80 and one-half pound loaves of bread a couple or three 20-gallon steam "coppers" (kettles) of vegetables, 50 or 60 dried apple pies (taking time off to set as gun captain when subs and planes get too close.

Board Destroyer In Twin Falls on 16-day delay orders, Adamson is home for the first time since the war began. He was at Mare Island, San Francisco, then, and left immediately on a destroyer for the Pacific area. Adamson is the son of Mr. J. W. Adamson, 137 Fourth avenue north.

While yet a "booby" he decided he might like to try his hand in the ship's galley. But they didn't send him to a cooks and bakers school for intensive training in the art of slinging hot shells. In those days there was plenty of time to "come up from the rank" aboard ship. Most of the first-war ship's cooks are strictly post-war Harbor, he says.

In the Pacific area, ever since the war began, Adamson's sense of responsibility as a ship's cook, first class, aboard one of the U. S. navy destroyers. At any rate, he's been in three major battles—Midway, the fifth salvo in Guadalcanal and at the battle of Iwojima in New Guinea.

Bagged submarine One time the destroyer shipped a couple of Jap planes, and another time they got a sub which had just fired on a tanker. And there's just a chance that Ship's Cook Adamson had something to do with it—any way, he was the gun captain.

Incidentally, Adamson says he's never since the first time he shipped out. He says he'll be going to a different one this time, though. That's because he's had a chance to visit his younger brother, who is at the Farragut "booby" camp, and after a couple of more island forfays, he's cooking up 200 men aboard a small vessel like a destroyer but, no bad, Adamson says.

"Those guys are always hungry though—just waiting till it's time to 'go down the next meal.' Asked if he ever ran into any 'wondermen' where the ships galley got pretty low, Adamson said yes.

"Once we went three months without bread—ran out of yeast, so we had to use what the navy calls 'hardtack.' It looks like zotz crackers, but isn't half as tasty. It's quite already prepared to 50-pound cans—all the cooks do is mix it with water and bake it."

During the period of "hardtack," Adamson said there were exactly four different foods to choose from in the whole ship's galley—canned beef, canned salmon, canned sardines and beans. For several weeks they had been three things a day.

Generally, though, he said they had a good variety of food—and any plenty to prepare well-balanced meals.

Five cooks There were five cooks on the destroyer, Adamson said—one chef, one first class, one second, two third class—and of course, the "sinker."

The cooks worked on alternate days—two at a time, although during actual fighting one man did all the cooking, with the men eating in shifts—usually a third of them at a time.

Actual periods of fighting were usually only a matter of a few minutes, Adamson said—sometimes as long as an hour, but seldom longer than that period of time.

Before entering in the navy Adamson attended public schools in Twin Falls. After the war he says he hopes to come back and farm in this area. At any rate, he thinks he'll be a cook.

Buhl Red Cross Picks Chairmen

UNDEVELOPED OPERATION

Here's a sneeze, uncollected letter, every disappointed "dozer" will want to read:

"I was a sufferer from common colds, flu, and sinusitis of some kind but got no relief. Finally, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAND. I have been eating it about 2 weeks now, and have enjoyed eating, pills and things like that more regularly every day. I am a KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAND user from now on!" Mr. Bud Howe, Warren, Ark.

How do scientists explain KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAND's penetrating, amazing relief, so familiar to thousands? Simply that: Lack of certain cellulose elements in the diet is a common cause of constipation. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAND is one of Nature's richest sources of these elements—which help the intestinal flora better and flush up the contents of the colon, for easy, natural elimination. ALL-BRAND does not "sneez" you out! Not a purgative. It is a gentle action, "rejuvenating" food!

If this is your trouble, try KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAND regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if it doesn't give you the relief you've dreamed of. Insist on genuine ALL-BRAND, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Man Picks Army; Won't Go to Jail

BOISE, Sept. 22 (AP)—Melvin Joseph Moxley, 24-year-old Nampa truck driver, who was given a chance last week of either going into the army or "beating a job racket for the best of $2,400 worth of payroll checks, was inducted into the army Tuesday.

Aida County Prosecuting Attorney James Blaine, said Moxley will be sent to the Fort Donck, Utah, reception center Oct. 11.

Moxley was charged with the theft of the checks from the J. A. Terrell and Sons, Boise contractor, while employed by them as a truck driver on the Mountain Home air base project.

When he appeared before District Judge Charles E. Winstead last Saturday for sentencing, he was told that if he could pass the physical examination and was accepted by the army, the case would be closed; if not, he would be returned to court for sentencing.

Impassable roads? Mountainous territory? An urgent need to move fighting men, supplies and even jeeps by air? Our armed forces have found the answer. It is one of the thrilling new developments of the war—the use of gliders, which are now being produced in imposing numbers.

Can skilled metal workers and cabinet makers turn quickly from manufacturing refrigeration equipment to making glider parts? Yes indeed!

Our Refrigeration Division volunteered long ago to help Uncle Sam build gliders. The shops that once made equipment for ice cream and frozen food dealers the country over were revamped completely and old and new workers trained for this important enterprise.

THEY HIRED MONEY

When the argument over collection of 1917-18 war debts began, Calvin Coolidge acted as the officers of the war were concerned with the rhetorical semantology: "They hired the money, didn't they?"

Apparently there is much of the same philosophy still current. President Roosevelt, who is internationally minded away beyond his Yankee predecessor's widest moorings, has been discussing the matter with congress over his initials that "victory and peace are the only coin in which we can be repaid" for our lend-lease to the anti-Axis world.

Mr. Roosevelt now says that one of his ghosts prepared the letter to congress in which that sentence appeared, and he never expected it. He would not have said just that, he discloses.

That is too bad, because we doubt if even the President, a phrase-master of consummate skill, could have improved on the statement he now repudiates. He could have elaborated, explained, justified. But he couldn't have made it say so much that is true with such ease.

It is his policy, Mr. Roosevelt says, that while we may not collect coin that jingles, he expects our debtors to come through with checks representing what they possibly can. That means nothing to us. We do expect our creditors to pay, so far as they can. Our creditors expect, and probably are quite willing, to pay up so far as they can. The trouble is that for present purposes they can't pay in any coin that we can accept with any possible exception. Some of them could pay with territory. But do we want territory? Haven't we fought enough with the limited empire we now possess?

Probably skillions of words have been spoken and written in argument about World War I debts, and the reason will hold down to this. When it's all done, we will not have been paid, and the reason will hold down to this.

Our debtors can't pay in money, because there isn't that much money. They can't pay in goods, because we can't take that much without wrecking our own economy. They could pay, partially at least, in insular territory, in which we should assume the white man's burden and, ultimately, turn it free.

SHEER STOCKINGS AND LIPSTICK

Thanks to the office of war information, we are privileged today to discuss informally some of the intelligence and information needs and desires of the men in our expeditionary forces.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL FINANCIAL

FINANCIAL—Henry A. Wallace's sensational denunciation of the British position on the indispensable armament by diplomatic means who realize that firm, monopolistic control of the production and distribution of the essential commodities of the world is the key to Roosevelt-Churchill schemes for maintaining permanent world order.

No matter how strongly you deal yourself, the matter is generally agreed here and in London that the rise of Hitler and the rise of the German Government can be prevented only by developing the essential commodities of the world into a military machine. Axis domination in effect would be started by the victorious democracies.

It is extremely doubtful whether Prime Minister Churchill's industrial bankers are so concerned over this question. On his recent trip to London, the director of the British Board of Commerce and a White House aide, discovered a sentiment for a return of the greater scheme of control over the production and distribution of the essential commodities of the world.

ROYALTY—Republican politicians heard a batch of the royal family's news. The king and queen, although it never reached the headlines, in the course of their tour of the world, including previous contributors to the financial crisis, are suffering from a defeatist complex. More unpleasant news is being received from the royal family.

More unpleasant news is being received from the royal family.

They observe that the war production board is still in their sort, and that the conservative forces are still in the saddle. In short, many of the "economic royalists" and "members of well-stocked clubs" have decided to kiss and make up with the man in the White House.

VIEW OF OTHERS

HOW STRONG IS AMERICA? The biennial report by the United States army chief of staff, General George C. Marshall, to Secretary of War, General George A. Blanding, to reflect General Marshall's views on the state of the United States military forces, is the beginning of the "General's report" which is the most important document of the year.

The transformation of the United States from an industrial to a military power is a process which is expressing doubts as to the ability to influence the course of world events even if it wanted to, into the hands of a few men who are the architects of a fall of one of the marvels of modern times.

How great is that power, is now surprising not only to the eyes of the world, but to the eyes of the American people. It is in a way a clear, concrete, and tangible thing, and it is the result of their own and others' liberties. To exert their own will to great power for a lasting peace—fairly and justly—is the duty of every citizen.

CARE OF YOUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

We have to have day nurseries for little children whose mothers are out of the house during the day. The mothers leave their homes and their little children for work because they must go to do their jobs. Their preference they would rather stay at home and care for their children, but now some of them have no preference. They must go to work. For those mothers of little children who must go to work during the day, we are obliged to establish day nurseries for little children. As parents, we as well as talking about it and begin.

The place to begin is with the teacher or nurse in charge. The success of the nursery must be dependent upon this person's health, character and training. Just anybody will do nothing about it. A kind heart, an affection for little children, a desire to be useful, are not enough for this job. The person occupying it must have all those requirements and the most.

Trusting little children is not a task for just anybody who happens to like it. One must know how, and what and when to do and what to do for the health, the development and education of the children. The head of the nursery must be a trained children's nurse, teacher, an administrator and a devoted leader. Nothing short of these requirements will do.

Such teachers should be licensed by education authorities, both in their training schools, and approved by the health and education boards. Only the thoroughly qualified teacher and nurse should be allowed to shoulder such a responsibility as the care of little children. The first experience such children meet with are going to influence them for the rest of their lives. We cannot be careless about the people who administer these experiences.

Some of the things which the school is established should be approved by the health, fire, education boards. The head of the nursery should select the furnishings, or have them furnished, or have them selected. The responsibility for the administration of the school should then be left to the head and with the responsibility should, in fact, rest on the nursery staff.

There is no little thing we do when we turn over little children to day nurseries, something which helps in the ones from their mothers' supervision and care. We are assuming responsibility for the day nurseries of the nation's next generation. It is an exact duty that we owe ourselves that we are doing everything to discharge that obligation.

A child cannot always be in his mother's care, and especially not in the day nurseries. It is in the day nurseries that we must be especially careful. We must be especially careful in the selection of the people who will be in charge of the day nurseries. We must be especially careful in the selection of the people who will be in charge of the day nurseries.

St. Edward's to Have Bond Drive

St. Edward's school to sponsor a war stamp and bond drive in cooperation with the United West bank drive, under the auspices of St. Edward's P.T.A. It was decided last evening when the association met at the convent.

Patrons of the school will buy stamps and bonds through the children. Money brought to school for this purpose will be given to the sisters and will be collected once a week by Mrs. Flave Lydum, room number chairman.

This action was taken by the P.T.A. to represent an all-out effort on the part of St. Edward's school to help pay the Third War Loan.

At the meeting last evening, Mrs. Lorene Higby was elected new secretary till the vacancy created when Mrs. J. P. Bacca resigned to attend to her home.

Mrs. Harry O'Halloran, Camp Fire chairman, reported that the annual membership drive of Camp Fire is now under way, with special honor offered to girls who obtain new members for their Camp Fire groups during the drive. The Camp Fire drive is being conducted by Mrs. J. P. Bacca, at present without a leader. Requirements for standard ratings were read by Mrs. Lyons Smith, and the group voted to try for rating.

New committee chairman were also announced by Mrs. C. E. Wade, president of the association. They are: hospital, Mrs. L. Russell; membership, Mrs. Rose Gaudin; radio, Mrs. A. C. Carter; program, Mrs. J. P. O'Toole; safety, Mrs. A. Drexler; art activities, Fred Abbott; welfare, Mrs. Maurice Doerr; Camp Fire, Mrs. Harry O'Halloran; summer round-up, Mrs. Rose Gaudin; hot lunch, Mrs. Herbert McCabe; room mother, Mrs. Flave Lydum; and publicist, Mrs. Alice Pauliano.

HUNT REQUESTS TOP PERMIT TOTAL

Deadline to Be Noon Sept. 23

Yank Pilot and Hill Staff Ready for Series

BOISE, Sept. 22 (AP)—Applications for special Game and Albin division deer hunts in the Mountain States area have already exceeded the number of permits available. A. N. Miller, chief clerk of the Idaho Game and Fish department, said last night.

Deadline for receiving applications, he said, will be noon Sept. 23. Drawings for 2,500 permits will be conducted then in six centers.

Both units will open Sept. 30 and close Oct. 7.

Another special hunt for the removal of 1,000 deer on the Rock creek area of the Mountain States will be held from Oct. 30 to Nov. 6, Miller added.

On the Sport Front

By GEORGE F. REDMOND

Ye Old Sport Servicer wants to take a little time to have a little accident to those little praised and much abused yet very necessary accessories—the officials. In this particular instance this accident is similar to the one that worked last Friday night's cricket encounter—the referee, Jack Nichols, Phil, the umpire, Morris Latta, the first baseman, Tommie, and the headliner, Twin Falls' own Pat Patterson.

And Ye Old Servicer is going to praise them because he didn't see them do anything constructive to the game. For the purky one wouldn't have known that they were around if they hadn't been there. They didn't come to class every so often to notice them that one or the other was just a little out of time, so was his duty.

That, gentlemen, is what this servicer calls officiating—the conduct of an athletic engagement in which the official makes decisions as inflexibly as possible. That kind of officiating is what the spectators came out to see.

And, too, he allows the players to play the game as they see fit—business as usual—the game.

That's why Ye Old Servicer always retires a boxing match. He tells a pair of prizefighters to get on with their method of refereeing and then gets back in a corner for the other fellow. He doesn't interfere with the method of the heavy-weight champion's pugilist except for all eyes you could watch an entire match without knowing there was any in the ring except the batters themselves.

Motors Even Softy Series

The Wiley's today were hunting for the gray suit. To the "red, march" when they were doing the best of the Twin Falls Softball League's permanent-vill.

The first half championship game was held at the home of the Wiley's. The Wiley's were the only four players not appear to be attending the 300-plus.

There are members of the White Sox—Appleby and Guy Curtis. The other two are Detroit Tigers—Dick Wakefield and George Cramer.

Appleby is hitting .234 to Wakefield's runner-up .213, while Cramer is hitting .200. The Wiley's are .302 and there's no one else within nine points of the 300 mark.

New York's Bill Johnson is nearest with .291, with others of the top 10 sitting along no more than 34 points behind. George Cramer, Washington, and Pete Fox, Boston, are tied for 11th with .287. Cleveland, .282, and Vern Stephens, St. Louis, .281.

The Chicago-Detroit monopoly in the hitting is also evident in the pitching, where Wakefield leads in total hits with 182. Rudy York, New York, has the most home runs with 31 and in runs batted in with 106, and York and Rudy York are tied for most home runs with Johnny Lindell, Yankees, in triples with 10.

Coast Moundsman Goes to Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22 (AP)—William E. Byrnes, right-handed pitcher from Sacramento, reported to the St. Louis Cardinals today as a possible help to the team's long-heralded mound staff during the remainder of the season.

The Cardinals purchased Byrnes and infielder-outfielder Eazel Ora Burnett from the Sacramento farm. Burnett will report next spring.

The Browns also acquired two new players, purchasing Weldon West, outfielder pitcher, from Memphis of the Western association and signing 18-year-old Henry Schumacher, a second baseman with Washington University, St. Louis.

KO'ed Boxer May Have Broken Neck

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics today acquired second baseman Joe Rullo, outfielder Bill Burgo and catcher Tony Partow today from Wilmington of the Intermediate league.

UNLOCKING ADVENTURE

By Charles Courtney

Copyright, 1943
NEA SERVICE, INC.

Charles Courtney is the world's greatest mystery writer. This is the true story of his many adventures, including a search around the earth and under the sea.

CHAPTER XIX

"Landon on the phone?"

"It's Earl Cooper, the French Zulu's brother-in-law. He's been arrested in Manhattan on Friday for Southampton, where I would have a number of instructions. With scarcely time to eat or sleep, I made the 10:30 train for the ship, had my wife and daughter ready, and took my gun with me on the 11:30 train to meet the boat."

"The two deep-sea divers who had searched out preliminary plans for the 11:30 train expedition were outstanding in their profession. Coast guard cutter instructions had been brought up from many a factory, bank and Mainland from New York, and the divers on the 11:30 train coast, too, was father Martin."

"Martin was on the pier in Southampton. After a hurried day in London, he took out a $100.00 five-hour time policy, we left for Southampton, where we were to join our submarine boat. Some about 10 miles offshore everything had been set with the divers on the 11:30 train coast, too, was father Martin."

"In the morning the boat began to cruise around in circles, circles, circles. I was told that like a motor on a gear, Castello paced the return between the two."

"The hammer should be held about now. When we found her last year, I went down and covered a hole to her side so heavy machinery that was going to have a touch job. We can't see the dynamite, and it will have to be very careful with the touch or will explode the ammunition and send ourselves to kingdom come."

"We left the engine stop. The next moment the captain stuck in his hand."

"All right, boys. We're dropped anchor."

"We helped Castello pull on a couple of worn underpants and pushed him into his diving armor. When his feet were on the stage, we bowed our heads while the captain muttered a prayer."

"We kept our eyes on the rope. Reactions to the steady throbbing of the pump."

"Castello's voice came through the microphone."

"Here she is, buried in the sand. Here still fast."

"There began a week of concentrated preparation, drills, instructions. First, the divers had to be broken in, as most of them had never been deeper than 100 feet. The engineer took six men at a time, put them on a stage and lowered them gradually in their heavy rubber suits. When they reached the total thickness of 250 feet, the mental and physical adjustment that freed them threw them into a panic. They shouted on the phone that they were being crushed, they wanted to get to the surface. The engineer called nothing more to them, all that time lowering the stage. When they had reached the bottom and found themselves in the more cheerful twilight made by the reflection of the water on the sand, they felt better.

Soon the stage boat was hoisted freely to each of the wreck and the divers were working with sand pumps and grails, clearing a way for the stage that Castello had created the year before.

In the meantime we were busy above, checking out equipment. On the largest space of deck we drew our charts, control outlines, the flameless as the day, showing the two holes that showed her armor.

Were they topped or mine holes? Castello could not be sure. The largest one was undoubtedly a mine hole, but the small one might have been made by a torpedo that hit on a slant and tore a jagged opening instead of the usual round hole. Of one thing he was positive, there had been no explosion from within, as had been rumored in Proskant. It was a mound of skeletons with carbines on their heads, lying by shells that were gone fired. In the foreground flatness, we saw a line of men who had tried to come up from below when the order was given to station ship."

"At the small breach, luck was not in. A great mass of debris had blocked it from the inside, so we were pulled up and each took a cut of air and went to help us. For some time now below had been in a state of confusion."

"From the boat, in some rooms written in collaboration with Thomas M. Johnson and published by Whitestone House, New York City, 1943."

MURTAUGH

Word has been received by friends that Norman Kurba, formerly of Murtaugh, has joined with the army forces in Sicily.

Mr. and Mrs. Laker Moxey, Physicians, visited relatives here. Sister Grace Moxey has returned from Oregon after visiting friends.

Here she is, buried in the sand. Here still fast.

There began a week of concentrated preparation, drills, instructions. First, the divers had to be broken in, as most of them had never been deeper than 100 feet. The engineer took six men at a time, put them on a stage and lowered them gradually in their heavy rubber suits. When they reached the total thickness of 250 feet, the mental and physical adjustment that freed them threw them into a panic. They shouted on the phone that they were being crushed, they wanted to get to the surface. The engineer called nothing more to them, all that time lowering the stage. When they had

PREVIEW OF WAR PROGRESS SLATED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—The army will give industry, labor and the press a detailed and confidential look into the war's future next week. "What you may know precisely the military job that has been done."

Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson announced the 14-day conference today as the home front could get a complete outline of present military strategy and its possible future developments.

Participating in a news conference at the War Department today were: Maj. Gen. George V. Stone, chief of military production.

An examination of strategy by Gen. George S. Patton, U. S. Army's deputy chief of staff.

Gen. William H. Tunner, chief of the War Relocation Authority, and Gen. William H. Tunner, chief of the War Relocation Authority.

Members of the combined labor-union committee have been asked to send representatives of key unions for the labor education which will be headed by President William Green of the AFL and President Philip Murray of the CIO.

A delegation of newspaper publishers and editors is being selected by the American Newspaper Publishers' association and the American Society of News Editors.

Battleships Are Like Cities, Says Marine Capt. Peter Boyd

By MAURITIA YETTER BURLI, Sept. 22 — A battleship is very much like a city, says Capt. Peter J. Boyd, of the United States marine corps, who has made his home on board for the past 18 months. "We have practically everything that you would expect to find in a city."

Captain Boyd and Mrs. Boyd are home on a short leave visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Boyd, here. As time permits on 10 flying hours, he has been on duty in a battleship.

But he did not get a great deal of sleep, and he had to get up at 4 a. m. to get ready for duty. He has been on duty for 18 months, and he has been on duty for 18 months.

WAR PRODUCTION UPPED IN AUGUST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—The war production board, suggesting that production be upped in August, reported today that munitions output in August climbed 4.4 per cent above that for July and included 542 planes.

War production, the report said, was upped 4.4 per cent above July, while total production was upped 5.4 per cent.

Approved for war production board chairman Harold M. Nelson, the report said, was upped 4.4 per cent above July, while total production was upped 5.4 per cent.

The performance in August indicated that production is getting its second wind, the report said.

That, it also noted, that in spite of the program's end, the report said, was upped 4.4 per cent above July, while total production was upped 5.4 per cent.

Labor a hindrance, the report said, was upped 4.4 per cent above July, while total production was upped 5.4 per cent.

CITY'S AIRPORT PLANS APPROVED

Puller's reassurance that Twin Falls is on the right track in going ahead with the $1,000,000 airport project, in spite of the fact that it does not fit into the pleasure for the city, was approved.

It was the consensus of the aviation authorities at the meeting, said Mayor Street in reporting to the city council.

The mayor said the city council should be satisfied with the report, and that it is a matter of time before the city will have a new airport.

The report also had taken the building of an airport at Twin Falls into the consideration of the city council.

Council Sets up Curfew Despite Protest Letter

An anonymous letter writer demanded that the city council set up a curfew, but the council set up a curfew despite the protest letter.

The letter, received by Chief of Police Howard Gillette, and read by City Clerk Charles P. Lazen, protested the curfew.

Furthermore, declared the letter, children would be encouraged to stay out all night.

Council Sets up Curfew Despite Protest Letter

An anonymous letter writer demanded that the city council set up a curfew, but the council set up a curfew despite the protest letter.

The letter, received by Chief of Police Howard Gillette, and read by City Clerk Charles P. Lazen, protested the curfew.

Furthermore, declared the letter, children would be encouraged to stay out all night.

"My old Sahara Jeep was never like tourin' this way, Mom"

When Johnny comes sailing home again, he'll be more than ready for soft cushions. Through the windows he'll eye that super-cool feature, the grand old U. S. A. It will look all the better because you—Johnny's loving proud folks—are with him again.

You'll need a car that can stand it. But since the conversion from war production must take time—just as conversion from peace production did—you'll feel a long while for any new Victory model. Better preserve your present car for the duration and beyond.

One big thing working against this, plainly speaking, is engine acid! After combustion stops, and your car stands long, the acid always formed in any engine can keep gnawing undisturbed. Gone are the big mileage, ample speed and resulting engine heat that formerly kept down acid damage.

Thursday Is Axis Pay-Day—Are We Square With Them?

The Axis has a lot to be paid for. Let's bury them in bonds.

Pearl Harbor—dear God, can such quiet and so soft a dawn crash into torture and sheer hell? Men and women sleeping, or at early worship Children sitting in their beds Proud ships resting on still water... Graceful planes at peace in dewy grass...

Japan! With what terrible contempt they come, scornful of the sleeping might of America! They would raise our towers and burn bodies. They will eat playful babies of her children. Are you square with Pearl Harbor? Speak your answer with a bond—a BIG bond.
