U. S. RIPS ENEMY IN AIR ATTACK

The only major fighting on the front yesterday was the repulse of American troops of three shafts of German counter-attacks in the mountain sectors near Mignano where a regiment of the German 29th armored grenadier division was hurriedly recalled into the line to make stabs protecting the dangerous spot in the Nazi winter defense line. Each time these motorized troops which had been resting behind the lines, struck hard at the American positions, and each time they were driven back by a withering fire. They left many dead and prisoners.

Along the Tyrrhenian coast German artillery shelled British positions.

In the center of the front eighth army troops fanned out north from ground overlooking the roads beyond yielding into the Sangro river valley.

Near the Adriatic, British patrols quietly stole across the Sangro to overrun another enemy machinegun post, and pushed north of Aversa
where they destroyed an armor car in a minor clash.

The raids on the Bulgarian capital and French Riviera were coupled with other widespread aerial activity.

How many more days, Mummy?

"Tell me. How many more days before Daddy can come home?"

And mother doesn't know. So she answers the same way she's answered a hundred times . . .

"Not so many days . . . we hope. Daddy can't come home to us until the war is over. Until we win, you know."

Nobody can tell the thousands of bewildered little hearts when their Daddies will come home.

Nor the millions of other Americans when their husbands, or sons, or sweethearts will be back.

The tragic truth is that many of them will never see their loved ones again. Never.

But this we do know . . .

Every minute by which the war can be shortened means fewer lives lost—fewer white crosses on a lonely hillside.

Your job is to put every dollar you can possibly dig up into War Bonds. The fighting equipment bought by your dollars will hasten the day of Victory . . . the day when the boys come marching home.

Don't slacken your Bond purchases while victory is within our grasp! Never let it be said that while the attack grows stronger on the fighting fronts, we at home failed to back it to the very limit of our ability.

Dig down deeper. Buy extra War Bonds. Help shorten the war by those vital minutes—or days, or months—which mean American lives saved!
