Burley Girl, Lieutenant Wed in Home Ceremony

BURLEY, Jan. 4.—At a candle-light ceremony in her family home, Miss Rachel Schoeweler, daughter of Mrs. Kathie Schoeweler and the late John Schoeweler, became the bride of Second Lieut. Paul C. K. Mader of the Paul Congressional Legion, Sunday evening, Dec. 26.

Burley Bride

Mr. K. Mader of the Paul Congressional Legion read the marriage vows, while the bride's father, Mr. John Schoeweler, gave her away. The ceremony was held in the home of the bride's parents, a few days before the wedding.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white sheer tulle, with a full skirt and long sleeves. She carried a large bouquet of white flowers. The groom wore a dark suit and tie.

After the ceremony, the bride and groom were entertained at a reception in the home of the bride's parents. Many guests were present.

Mr. K. Mader is a member of the Paul Congressional Legion. He is a native of Idaho and has been in the service for several years.

Miss Rachel Schoeweler is a graduate of the Burley high school. She is a member of the Y. W. C. A. and the church.

The wedding was a private affair. Only close friends and family members were invited. The reception was also private.

Mr. K. Mader is currently stationed in the Pacific. He is expected to return home in the near future.

Miss Rachel Schoeweler is currently working in a local business. She is a very capable and hardworking young woman.

The couple is very happy and is looking forward to a bright future together. They are both devoted to their careers and their family.

They plan to have a small wedding ceremony when Mr. K. Mader returns home. They will be married in the home of the bride's parents.

They are both very grateful to their families and friends for their love and support. They are also grateful to God for bringing them together.

Why You Shouldn't Keep Used Fats in GLASS
DON'T DO IT, LADY! A glass jar is liable to break when you pour in the hot fat. Or... when your butcher packs a batch of containers in a big drum or barrel for shipment, the glass ones are almost sure to get broken. When that happens, the precious fats so urgently needed to make gunpowder and battlefield medicines are difficult to use. Instead of glass, use a tin can... any kind will do. When you fill, wash it, use a tin can... any kind will do. When you fill, wash it, use a tin can... any kind will do. When you fill, wash it, use a tin can... any kind will do.

now stranded new deal east. Just as he has turned his back on the crusade he started for international social and economic reforms, preferring to be known as the "win the war" president, so he intends to renege the bargain he has been negotiating in the public mind with his domestic experiments.

Annateurs who will be discarded or nullified include Harry Hopkins, the liberal, the liberalizing of the medical schools, Vice-President Henry A. Wallace, Justice Felix Frankfurter and Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes. These individuals represent the remnants of the clique which existed for several years in the White House, during his formative years in the White House.

AMBITIONS—These political unknowns spearheaded the new deal through three successful campaigns. They believed in taxing and spending, with great emphasis on the spending. Their theories can now be abandoned because war expenditures of a hundred billion dollars a year make them look like pikers.

regular, they are not dues-paying brothers in the pattern lodge. They are unathematics to James A. Farley as they are to Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia or Leo O'Daniel of Texas. They are men without a party.

It took P. D. R. a long time to realize, or sense, that they were a drag on him. His tardiness in seeing them as the liabilities they are was due to the fact that their liberal ideas had enabled him to win the presidential election three times.

Now he believes that they have outlived their usefulness as vote-getters. Having junked his original domestic program, he will push them aside in the same way that he once brushed off such figures as Al Smith, John Nance Garner, Hugh Johnson, Jim Farley, Sumner Welles, "Big Bill" Knudsen, Ray Moley and many others who seemed to challenge or hinder his plans and ambitions.

The rural sector has been assigned to James O. Patton, head of the radical Farmers' union. Big boys in this field, however, will be Claude A. Wickard, secretary of agriculture. A real dirt farmer and not a star-gazer like his predecessor, the vice-president of this hog-raising Housley has more agricultural followers than the V. P. ever had.

The boys overseas, those subject to draft and those already in domestic training camps, are deeply depressed about conditions on the home front, according to the medicine men who examine them. Their letters and their reactions to clinical examinations testify to the strain they are undergoing.

They express concern regarding the threats of coal

Army papers, including "Yank" and the "Stars and Stripes," have apparently undertaken a deliberate campaign to erase the impression that the people back in the U. S. A. are not carrying their share of the load. They publish periodically dispatches from this country which seem designed to allay these fears.

Official observers admit that such sentiments appear to be morbid conclusions. But almost every doctor and chaplain here and abroad will swear to their actuality by the oath of Hippocrates or on the Bible.

Army papers, including "Yank" and the "Stars and Stripes," have apparently undertaken a deliberate campaign to keep the news of the protests out of the back in the U. S. A. They are not carrying their share of the load. They publish periodically dispatches from this country which seem designed to allay these fears and to make the situation appear less serious than it may appear to be morbid conclusions. But almost every difference and chaplain here and abroad will swear to their actuality by the oath of Hippocrates or on the Bible.

SOBERSIDES DWORSHAK

That pleasantry uttered in England by Mayor Riley and which is now ridiculed and condemned by a congressional committee, has been repeated in New York.

"We in America," said the mayor, "think Winston Churchill the best prime minister we ever had. He could be President of the United States any day, and the President himself would be proud to have him."

The mayor no doubt had heard the sag about Churchill being the best prime minister America ever had, before he left our shores. It was quite current.

Exactly the same was said by Mayor LaGuardia.

And of that order there was precedent for the mayor's remark, and of neither more venturesome character.

It was said by a party of persons, who were on the editor's tour to Britain, Ireland, France and Belgium, when near the War," to use the title of a book the late Edgar B. Piper, editor of this paper, wrote about

That's millions of bangovers, and Mr. McEntt must have been the victim of his production for Saturday, Sunday and Monday. He was just beginning to set in on Tuesday.

Mr. McEntt did not go as far as some of the worst that anyone could expect, but he got plastered by way of areeting the new year, and he was still a little under the wire when Friday night instead of Friday night and thus save Saturday's schedule.

He said publicly that he was "in a body's getting drunk as any time in his life." He was "in a body's getting drunk, and knowing something of the habits of my fellow citizens. I am concerned this in respect to the fact that I naturally expected that many of my subjects would go to Bangor.

Instead of going direct to the saloons, the saloon keeper, by that slapping on a cover charge and upping the tabs, they were very far from enjoying the pleasure that men or women of good taste, or dance, or music, or anything else, would have heard above the clatter.

It came to be so, during prohibition, that even the freewillie little fellows who were not so much as charged as much as $5 per head just for admission, while the high-class saloons charged $10 per head. The custom began, in fact, an hour or so before midnight, and the females, peeping out and gals on the streets showing feather and hair, and the men, in their suits, and socks, and getting soaked and soaking hot, and hoodlums and the mounties riding the streets out to break it up.

During prohibition, New Year's wasn't enough and we had sin-

SLAPPER'S OBSERVATIONS NATIONS AT WAR

Well, it is still a free country and it is our law. And while it may strike some as unseemly with so many young men off fighting on New Year's eve and some actually dying, undoubtedly there was a very strong reason in the very heart of the hell. Probably some of the boys who are away would have been in there pilching themselves if they were home and had the money.

COUGARS' WEEKS' BRUINS IN BIG FIVE

IN THE TONIGHT

Cougar Record Shows Five-Cage Victories

Time enough hot tempers, amid the sage—a truism that probably will stand between Coach J. Stuart "Munk" Halliday's Twin Falls Cougars and victory tonight when the Cougars take on the Bruins for a Big Five conference basketball game. Only the ashes remain of heat engendered by Caldwell's refusal to play the Bruins during the past grilling campaign and forfeit them to accept him as a Big Five championship—along with the Cougars—when they hungered for the whole loaf.

In basketball right now, the Bruins, on the basis of early season play, apparently stand the little chance of winning from the Cougars. The Cougars have come with an impressive record that shows five victories in six games, two of them off-the-record affairs with Boise and Nampa, the Big Five and another over Baker, Ore., which also defeated the Braves and Nampa during an Idaho holiday twinge.

On the other hand, the Bruins' showing so far this season has been very impressive. They fell down badly before Postville, another conference member, but they won again and lost to Buhl of the Big Seven conference. They moved out kindly and Rupert and gained a one-sided triumph over Pat but none of these three teams are in the Big Five.

Coach Halliday said that he would not let them fall down. Gordon at the forwards, Lloyd Gilkey at center and Dick Russell and Walter Paul Day at the ends. He said the guards, none of these players is a first-class player.

Two games are on the basketball bill. A preliminary contest between the Cougars and the Bruins, and Wendell's 11 team will be starting at 8 o'clock. The rivalry game will follow this twinge. Friday night Nampa will come for a Big Five game.

Gidcon Planish

by Sinclair Lewis

THE STORY: Gidcon Planish, friend of Adelbert College in 1918, is refused membership on the upperclassman debating team. In revenge, he and Hatch Hestert start a Socialist Society.

The dean of Adelbert College said feebly, "You again?" Gidcon Planish declared that they were old and helpful friends; that he was fond of this aged pair and glad to give them new vigor and ideas.

"Yes, sir," I thought you ought to know that I have founded a secret Socialist club."

"I just thought if it was forbidden to have Revolutionary clubs, I'd better report it, so it would be okay. Gidcon, I guess it must be awful unusual to have a secret club in Adelbert!"

"No, not unusual; a little amusing, perhaps, but not unusual but it is somewhat rare for the chief instructor to come in and interfere."

"Would you like me to stand up in class, Dean?" he asked so if you'd let me in on the outer in Forensic and in the circumstances I guess I'd have to be taken into the debating society too."

"Well, sir, you'll remember I know you."

Upon Gid's suggestion, the Socialist League challenged the college's government authority of rules, and that official body accepted, with the notion of having a practice match before the classic annual contest with the great University of Wisconsin.

As he was taken to his late career as a professional promoter of ideas, Gid nearly convinced himself of the truth of his own crusade. He was willing to go out and outlast all rules he was beginning to believe he had invented for himself, when the catastrophe struck.

On October 2nd, they had the news that the subject of the Los Angeles Times, which had been warring with union labor, had been blown up with thirteen deaths. And the Adelbert Socialist League blew up with it.

The League now had nine members. Most of them would have preferred to meet dramatically at Hatch's stable, in conspiratorial darkness, but they were up against reality. They weren't merely day-lung Gid and the House of Morgan; they were in danger of being day-lung Gid and the House of Morgan.

The executive committee gathered in a corner of the Y. M. C. A. at three o'clock on a bright afternoon. Gid painted, "Meantime, Lazen, Contreras, I think we better get the help out of this Socialist club, or turn it into a literary society."

"You're going to lay down and take it? You mean you don't dare to face the ruling class and defy 'em when there's something to defy 'em about?" demanded Hatch.

"Not at all! Well, our literary society the Wall Whitman League. That's defiant enough for anybody. Whitman never said to college!" explained Gid. "There's nobody wants to hammer grammar more than I do, but this isn't the time for it."

That was the death of the Adelbert Socialist League, and for the funeral there was no hymn, no flowers, and only such exhibits of Christian resignation as were provided by Francis Tate.

On the day after the decease of the Socialist League, Gid sought out "Your laundry? I've been waiting two weeks for a shirt myself!"
