

Reds Battle Foe in Streets of Tarnopol after Russian Advance Smashes Into City

MOSCOW, April 6 (UP)—Russian troops fought in the streets of Tarnopol for possession of that Nazi stronghold today as field dispatches declared that the red army had all but wiped out the remnants of 16 surrounded German divisions. Kaminski Poles, said had launched new blows at Lwow and Odessa at opposite ends of the far-flung front.

Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's first army already is in possession of most of Tarnopol, a Soviet communique announced, and a dramatic struggle was being waged to oust the fiercely resistant German garrison.

More than 3,000 men were killed and 300 captured during the past three days, the bulletin said, as they fought for literally every foot of ground. The 16-division force for the city, a bastion guarding the approaches to Lwow, 70 miles farther west, apparently are reaching its climax.

Force Near Lwow

Zhutov's right wing, which by 10:30 P.M. had taken Lwow, was less than 50 miles from Lwow, the communique declared.

Gen. Hlodon V. Malinovsky's third army smashed into within two miles of the last rail escape route for the mass of German troops caged in the Odessa area north of the Black sea. Driving down from the north, the red army swept up 50 towns and villages, including Kishinev, two miles east of the city, and the last rail line leading into Rumania via Tarnopol and Kishinev, the communique declared.

(London dispatches estimated that 200,000 German troops were pinned against the Black sea coast in Odessa and immediately north and east of the great German-held naval base.)

30 Towns Seized

Other red army forces, driving into the capital of Rumania, have captured 30 localities on a 50-mile front straddling the Danube river. The communique declared, and were within 22 miles of the Dobruja, 60 miles from Tarnopol, another important communication center, also close to the Russian advance.

While there were no reports of further progress by the second army in its drive into Rumania toward Lazi, Zhukov's first, "blasted deep into the Black pocket west of Kaminski."

The lack of fresh reports of progress here might mean that either he is meeting with stiffened resistance or that he is under taking a complicated maneuver which entails the slightest success.

County Appeals OPA Case To Idaho Supreme Court

Notice of appeal to the Idaho supreme court in the Twin Falls county "tractor case" was filed Wednesday by County Prosecutor Everett M. Sweeley, after District Judge J. W. Porter signed formal judgment for the defendant.

The judgment, as provided in the memorandum ruling on which it was based, upholds the constitutionality of the emergency price act of 1942, declares the county to be bound by its limitations, and awards possession of the disputed tractor to William C. Halliwell, defendant, for the ceiling price of $723.66.

With the use of the 1940 International tractor owned by the county last August, with Hubert making the tractor available to the county, Halliwell followed his refusal to pay the money, but after OPA had taken the tractor, he was charged with violation of regulations if he paid more than the ceiling price. The price of price administered and entered the case as intervenor.

Prosecutor Sweeley gave the state's rights significance that has attracted national attention when he contended that the tractor, owned by the county, was bound by the Idaho state requirement that the highest bidder be given the tractor. The emergency price act, he contended, was not intended to extend to the point of interfering with state officers in carrying out their duties.

Judge Porter ruled that the emergency price act of 1942 was unconstitutional, and that its application to the tractor was also found to be unconstitutional. The plaintiff is subject to and governed by provisions of the emergency price act and the provisions of the maximum price regulation, he said.

Anderson said local war price and rationing boards would continue to be used for the year 1942 cars to eligible persons.

Not Guilty Base at Hollandia

WASHINGTON, April 5 (UP)—Selective Service Director Louis B. Hershey announced last night that all occupational deferments of men 25 years of age and older will be reviewed as soon as the present review of those time is completed.

In addition, he revealed that as a means of inducing 4-Fs to take jobs in essential industry, all 4-Fs and 1-A-2s—men physically fit for military service but not inducted—would be placed in occupationally deferred status immediately if they take jobs in industry or agriculture.

Legislation is now being prepared to force 4-Fs into war jobs, but by drafting them into the army for training for an estimated 1,000,000 men by July 1 could not be fully met by induction of 1-A-2s and 4-Fs and men under 26 whose occupational deferments are now being reviewed.

He indicated that the next group to be reviewed would be those under 26. He said that the "selective requirements" would be established for men of this group to replace their deferments with the criterion of absolute indispensability of their work to the war effort.

But there still will not be enough men in all these groups to meet all the jobs by July 1, he declared, and "the balance must come from those over 30 years of age."

The men of this group would be those "not making substantial and important contribution to the winning of the war."

Base at Hollandia Wiped out in Air Attack

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, April 5 (UP)—A fleet of nearly 300 allied bombers, in one of the major blows in this theater, was believed today to have temporarily neutralized Hollandia, Japan's main supply point on the northern New Guinea coast.

The heavy raid, which concluded destruction of 288 planes known to be at Hollandia, came as American Liberators from south and central Pacific bases continued the campaign against Truk, Japan's outlying bastion in the Carolines.

The big four-engine bombers of the south Pacific's 13th airforce hit Dablon Island in Truk at 10:30 P.M. on Saturday and Liberators from the 7th airforce in the central Pacific blasted the target again Sunday night, striking Dablon and Eten, to complete the 12th raid on Truk in a week.

U. S. ground forces also tightened their hold on the isolated Admiralty Islands in the northern Black sea by setting Rambouy, 30 miles southeast of Manus, Sunday without opposition. Occupation of Rambouy gave the American troops control of 10 islands in the Admiralty group.

American Liberators opened the attack on Hollandia Sunday, blasting a path through anti-aircraft defenses and lighting-escort fighters. The attack was led by the 44th and 45th airforces, which were to take the city and bomb the Japanese air base.

The bombers dropped 400 tons of bombs, leaving a mass of flames and destruction at the New Guinea station, which lies 100 miles southwest of Truk and 1,200 miles from the Philippines.

The attack of Hollandia was the second large raid of the southwest Pacific war, being exceeded only by the 44th and 45th airforces, which were to take the city and bomb the Japanese air base.

Only 30 Japanese fighters were seen in the air, and the bombers and fighters shot down 20 of them. The Japanese fighters were shot down by the bombers and fighters.

The enemy's armor air reserves, built up in this area, have been destroyed at night, the Japanese said. The Japanese said that the armor air reserves were destroyed at night.

There was no immediate indication as to whether the Japanese were damaged by the attack. The Japanese said that the armor air reserves were destroyed at night.

JAPS SEIZE KEY ROAD TO IMPHAL

NEW DELHI, April 6 (UP)—Strong Japanese invasion forces were reported firmly astride the Manipur valley road north and south of Imphal today, and a communique acknowledged that British frontier troops south of the town were falling back along the highway under heavy enemy pressure.

Enemy Halted

Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's southern Asia headquarters revealed that the Japanese invasion column striking westward across the Imphal valley had been halted for the moment, but it was indicated that the enemy would continue its advance.

The northernmost enemy force has extended and strengthened its road-block on the Manipur road about 30 miles north of Imphal, about the same distance south of Kohima, the headquarters communique declared.

There was no immediate indication as to whether the Japanese were damaged by the attack. The Japanese said that the armor air reserves were destroyed at night.

New Stabilization Act May Adjust Wages, Living Costs

WASHINGTON, April 5 (UP)—a new stabilization formula — under which the rise or fall in either wage or general price levels would determine corresponding changes in the other — is now under consideration as an amendment to the price control act of 1942.

The LaVerne Dilling, D. Wile, a member of the house banking committee, said the new plan was designed to eliminate the lag adjustment between labor and agriculture that one is getting wage or price increases and the other is not.

Changes Suggested

Dilling, one of several banking committee members remaining in the chamber after the recess to study proposed changes in the price control act, said the new plan would be introduced in the house.

It proposed, he said, that if wages increased 10 per cent or more, prices would be allowed to rise 10 per cent or more.

HAROLD CHARLES OTIS FRED J. E. ARNOLD
One of the top "service families" of south Idaho is that of his and Mrs. C. E. Read, Twin Falls, who have six sons in the armed forces. Five of them are petty officers in the navy or seafarers and the sixth is with the army air transport command. The sons are Harold H. Read, 24, petty officer first class, Charles E. Six Sons of Twin Falls Pair In Service—And Five in Navy

Only one of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Read's six sons is allergic to salt water, and he took to the air. The other five are either in the navy or the navy seafarers, and all have petty officer ratings in one of the five grades.

News that Twin Falls has a family with six sons in the service came to light when Arnold E. Read, 27, petty officer third class, returned to Pocatello training station following a 15-day leave. He is next to the youngest in the family and the last to enter service.

Mr. and Mrs. Read, who came here in 1923 from Roswell, N. M., have no daughters. It is believed that they hold the record in Twin Falls for having the greatest number of sons in service, and may have the Idaho record for sons in the service.

Their son, who doesn't like salt water, is J. E. Read, 29, former pilot resident now stationed with the army air transport command in Seattle.

ENEMY TIGHTENS CAPTIVE CONTROL

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—The German government today announced that it has tightened its control over the treatment of American and British captives—possibly in connection with the new American military aid program for alleged illegal warfare.

The new complaint was made at a press conference by German army authorities. They transmitted it to the American and British United States interests, who later visited our interest center at Berlin.

Repatriated American prisoners on board the Glimphen, however, told me they had army orders—enforced among the prisoners themselves to avoid any mistreatment or overt acts which would bring trouble on their heads.

Officers and enlisted men are instructed as to their rights if captured and are expected to insist on them. This occasionally may cause difficulties for the captives, but the German authorities to fulfill all their obligations under international law.

The complaint is the first of this sort since the German government's attempt to "control the war" seems suspiciously like an effort to keep the "records" to be used in explaining the American position in the future.

A dangerous precedent was set by the German trial of British officers, who attempted to escape. Under international law, the capture of any prisoner of war, if caught, the fugitive is given the right to return to his country and further action may be taken against him. Whether it is his first attempt or his 20th.

Subterfuge used by the German government in trying to get around this with a new legal trick, charging would-be fugitives with damaging enemy property under normal circumstances, for example, any person cutting through enemy barbed wire entanglements would get a stiff sentence, but up to now actions of this sort by prisoners have been treated as part of escape attempt.

Three things now are treated as separate acts, and hence as a delinquency involving severe penalties. The recent trial involved three prisoners, who attempted to tunnel their way out of a camp. They were charged with destroying some electric wiring in their barracks and were acquitted only because they could show that the wiring was merely ripped down and not actually destroyed.

As to the threat of using American airplanes on the grounds of waging inhuman warfare, United States military observers in Europe told me they did not think a sound materialized, but that the Germans are deliberately inventing stories in mid-air for propaganda purposes, hoping to affect the morale of allied forces.

Quantity Purchase Of Meat Allowed

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Housewives who wish to buy meat in large quantities direct from the government may use up to 10 stamps from ration book four ahead of regular validity dates, the office of price administration said today.

OPA officials emphasized that advance use of stamps for such buying would not increase the meat ration of persons making use of the plan. They said it simply provides for quantity buying.

Stamps A-8 through J-4 are currently valid in retail stores, which makes the next 10 stamps—A-4 through G-4—good at present for buying meat from farmers. Successful use of retail stamps are validated, 10 stamps in advance will be good for farm purchases.

It is almost impossible to garden soil to be rather friable, reason being in business and well-drained. Water-soaked soil is valueless, as it cannot be prepared for planting. It is important to work the soil for the first time in the spring. It is important to work the soil for the first time in the spring. It is important to work the soil for the first time in the spring.

Remember to dig the rows across the slope, thus forming a series of little dams to hold back the rain water. Run a trowel along the slope cut on channels and carry away the topsoil from between the plants. This, exposing of the soil to the dry air.

Heavy soils which have been well cultivated for several years, about the first plowed or broken up with a heavy stockhook fork, spading, immediately raise the surface and pulverize the soil to a depth of two inches to prevent rapid drying out or hardening of large lumps. Do not spend more at one time than you can take promptly and thoroughly.

Clearing and drainage should be done before manure and/or fertilizer is applied, and the soil should be plowed. Wait until the soil is workable before you start to dig it. It should be plowed until it is not too dry. The easiest test is to take a good handful and mold it into a ball. If it holds together and does not crumble as you squeeze, then it is too wet; but if it crumbles easily in your hands, it is ready to work. Do not delay, otherwise the soil may dry out, or rain may come and force you to wait.

The first spading should be done where plot is most free of moisture. The spading fork because it breaks up lumps, soil as you work, thus eliminating the need of harrowing.

Operation News Is Welcomed by Sailor's Family

OAKLEY

Ordinary news of an emergency situation isn't considered "good news," but to J. A. and Dr. Anita Herbert the note they received Sunday from their son, Francis Herbert, stating that he was "feeling fine" after such an operation, was "news from heaven."

Oldest son of the Herbsteys, he has been serving as a gun crew captain in the South Pacific. His last letter was received here last December.

In his brief note, he explained that he was stricken with the appendicitis attack Sunday afternoon at sea, and that the ship put in at Treasure Island, San Francisco, Monday at 3 p. m. The operation followed immediately.

His younger brother, Second Lieutenant Richard Herbert, bombardier-navigator in the air corps, has been reported missing in action over Italy since Feb. 12.

Walter McElbreen, Caldwell, en route to Salt Lake City for induction into the army reserve corps, was met by his brother, Clarence McElbreen and family.

SOVIETS CHARGE DEALS WITH FOE

LONDON, April 5 (AP)—In the midst of a world war, "international American and British cartel interests are dealing secretly in Switzerland to prevent their ties with German monopolies for post war monopolies," the Soviet magazine "War and the Working Class" declared in an article broadcast from Moscow today.

"While millions of people throughout the world are thinking how to crush Germany and its monopolies as quickly as possible," said the article, recorded by the Soviet monitor here, "groups of monopolies are thinking how to prevent German cards and restore them to full activity after the war."

Agreements charged.

"The article declared some American companies had concluded agreements providing for 'immediate renewal after the war of interrupted cartel relations with German companies.'"

"Economic apparatus are at work behind the scenes . . ." it said. "Their intentions are absolutely clear."

They are defending the interests of a small group of international monopolies, who are making huge profits out of war supplies.

"They are already searching for ways and means of creating a high price conjuncture after the war under the guise of the 'reconstruction' of Europe's economy by the efforts of the old international cartels," it said.

"It was German monopolies that participated in this," it said.

In Washington, Eric Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, denounced the Soviet report.

"I don't believe American business men are interested in restoring any cartel agreements with Germany," he said. "It sounds like idle speculation from persons none too responsible for what they are saying."

"Who are the Americans seeking to make such arrangements?" he asked. "Let them give the names."

TEST OF SOUTH'S POLL TAX LOOMS

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Traditional voting procedure in the South, already threatened by a Supreme Court ruling permitting Negro voting in primaries, faced another threat today as a prominent Court test on legality of poll taxes as prerequisites to voting.

The new challenge of the poll tax now on the statute books in eight southern states, was voiced by Thurgood Marshall, New York attorney, in announcing formation of a new organization called Parents and Citizens for the Fight Against Poll Taxes.

Test Suit Near

He said a test suit challenging the Virginia poll tax soon will be filed in federal court at Roanoke, Va.

In the light of Monday's Supreme Court decision that Negroes cannot be excluded from state primary elections, some southern states considered that they would not test more than the forthcoming Supreme Court case on a house-approved poll tax register, tentatively scheduled to start late this month.

Sen. John H. Overton, D., La., said he was not interested in a congressional debate on the issue in view of the fact that the Supreme Court has already ruled on the matter.

Fight Unnecessary

"I don't see any sense in a poll tax fight in the Senate," he said, "when the Supreme Court has already ruled on the matter." He said the Supreme Court's decision in the case of Smith v. Allwright was a landmark in the fight against poll taxes.

BLAST AT TRUMAN A JOKE: JEFFERS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8 (AP)—Maybelle Williams Jeffers thinks the investigation committee should go back to Washington and tend to the national knitting threat.

"I was smiling and speaking in just a Los Angeles manner," she said, "and I was smiling and speaking in just a Los Angeles manner."

Asked to be classified as a "pro" or "con" to the committee headed by Senator Harry S. Truman—"a very fine man," she said, "but I don't think it is a good idea to have a committee of this kind."

Jeffers and his party will leave for the east tomorrow night at the close of a west coast inspection trip.

Captain explaining this photo, published in Berliner Illustrierte Zeitung, reads: 'Neither their apparel nor their demeanor spoke for victorious operations by their side, but, on the contrary, for furious surprise attacks by the Japanese. The captured American soldiers and sailors were able to save only the most necessary things.' The prisoners were said to be on Shikoku Island in southern Japan. (AP wirephoto)

PEACE AIR ROUTE SYSTEM PLANNED

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—Distance between the United States and foreign countries will be shortened by new air routes operated as a result of wartime technical advances in the aviation industry, the American Society of Aeronautical Engineers was told Monday.

Speaking before the society's aeronautics meeting, George A. Biele of the Wright Aeronautical Corporation said plans are being made to fly Arctic routes between the United States and Europe, and routes by thousands of miles and operating safely at 60 degrees below zero.

RUMANIA SEEKING WAY OUT OF WAR

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The continued presence of Count Hatzu Birly in Cairo has led to hope in responsible diplomatic quarters that it may be possible to arrange for Rumania to break away from Germany and make peace with the allies.

Such hope as there is, however, is shared and those who hold it with against false optimism on two grounds: (1) Birly's negotiations in Cairo do not appear near the stage of action yet, and (2) German military predominance in Rumania does not leave the Bucharest government much freedom of action to effectuate a peace with the allies.

Trees Needed at Minidoka Center

Farmers or others who want to dispose of trees two to four inches in diameter can assist the staff at the Minidoka reeducation center, according to William Massey, Jr., irrigation engineer at Elmer.

Trees of those sizes are needed for landscaping purposes. Massey said he would send trucks and men to any farm to take out trees if farmers will write or telephone him at Elmer.

JAPS STILL ABLE TO ATTACK U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8 (AP)—Denny capabilities, natural hazards and war-born emergencies make it possible for Japan to attack the United States, according to a report of the United States defense force.

Judges and clerks for Thursday's special levy election of the Twin Falls Independent school district were announced Wednesday by Elizabeth F. Bricker, clerk of the school board.

Mrs. O. G. McGill, Mrs. Elizabeth George and Mrs. Hazel Leitch will be in charge of the ballot box. At the Lincoln school, Mrs. Lena Hobson, Miss Edith Anderson and Mrs. B. E. Avey will officiate. Approval will be asked of a seven mill levy on the $23,150 assessed valuation of the district. Won't Fight Nazis

Stating that the Twin Falls U. S. employment office has all kinds of positions open that will further the war effort, Manager A. J. Meeks invited A. J. Tillman, Idaho director of the war manpower commission, to a meeting of the Twin Falls chapter of the "Don't Fight Nazis" organization.

Meeks reported that the needs for manpower in the war industry continues to be acute throughout the United States. He was advised by Tillman that the necessity for job stabilization and complete utilization and training of the war effort is as great today as it was when stabilization was put into effect several months ago.

"The office is making every effort to fill our orders and to make every one interested in essential critical openings who are not considered in this type of work, in contact us as soon as possible," Meeks said.

Plural Wives Defend Polygamy

Double Harnes — Polygamy is defended by Mrs. Hines Alfred Kuntz (left), 31-year-old mother of eight children, and Mrs. Mary Cleveland, 17-year-old mother of two.

Plural Marriage Wives Are Fortunate, Says Mother of 8

(AT Features)

HAUT LAKE CITY, April 5.—What's the theory behind polygamy when the state and federal governments have placed under attack with recent arrest of 49 persons in Utah?

The federal government contends those it accuses have violated the Mann act, the Lindbergh kidnapping law, and have conspired to send obscene matter through the mails. The state charges an illegal cohabitation and conspiring to advocate polygamy.

"Polygamy provides worthy husbands for good women, more, regardless of rank and position, there has always been a surplus of good women," and any the only moral means a home for some women who might otherwise be driven to prostitution.

"They're ready to fight it out on this line, say their attorneys, even if it means an appeal to the U. S. supreme court on the grounds that the indelible state of the right of freedom of worship."

An Old Western Custom
In some parts of the west, plural marriage has flourished since the earliest days of colonization. It was practiced by the Mormons who settled Utah, but has been banned by that church for more than a half-century.

Soon after the arrests were made public, the Mormon church first repudiated its statement: "Since the manifesto by President Wilford Woodruff was adopted by the church (in 1890), the first presidency and other general authorities have repeatedly issued warnings against an apostate group that persisted in the practice of polygamous marriages, illegal both as to the church and the state."

Members of the church who have left this warning go unheeded and have violated the rule and doctrines of the church by entering into these illicit relationships have been forbidden to hold office and excommunicated as rapidly as they could be found out. This is the extreme punishment which the church inflicts.

Children the Object
A few years ago in northern Arizona, a polygamous community was discovered when several women, in application for relief, named the same man as their husband.

Seven persons were charged with "open and notorious cohabitation," the closest charge to polygamy found in Arizona statute. Two men were convicted and sentenced to a year in prison, but because their trial, they maintained they were guilty of nothing but the effort to establish a community where a man might have as many wives as he could support. They taught that the more children a man had the greater his reward in heaven.

In Utah, circulation of the publication, "Truth," among a claimed cult membership of 2,500, formed the basis of some of the federal indictments. Editor of "Truth" is 26-year-old, white-haired Joseph White Muser.

Wives Are Friendly
One of those charged in the federal complaint was Mrs. Hines Alfred Kuntz, 31, the mother of eight children, who insisted that there was complete harmony and friendliness among wives of a plural marriage family.

Women of plural marriage are fortunate, she says, "in that they have the companionship and love of other women bound by a common tie."

Four generations of Mrs. Kuntz's family have practiced polygamy, she says, and it is her conviction, and that of other women in the group that they have a duty to "multiply and replenish the earth."

"Our purpose and fundamental belief in the practice of plural marriage," Mrs. Kuntz said, "is to have a clean and intellectual as well as spiritual-minded progeny."

Mrs. John Y. Barlow, the wife of one of the defendants named in federal indictments declared that "while more than 40 years from our group are in uniform, fighting for the freedom expressed in the constitution of the United States, their fathers are being jailed for practicing what they believe to be a true religion."

Last November, John Zenz, his wife and 17-year-old son, William, were convicted of transporting to Nevada a 17-year-old Utah girl as the polygamous "wife" of the elder Zenz.

When she faced the court for sentencing, Mrs. Zenz calmly asserted: "We don't believe the laws of man can change the laws of God."

Asked whether she would object to her own daughter entering a polygamous relationship, Mrs. Zenz replied: "If she's keeping the laws of God, I wouldn't."
