ITALIANS SMASH 2 NAZI ATTACKS

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAR
ples, April 11 (AP)—Italian troops holding M.L. Marzone, mile-high peak 15 miles northeast of Cassino, have repulsed small German thrusts at two points, killing seven of the foe and taking one prisoner. The Italian announced capture of a man by the new army of liberated Italy.

An American ambush patrol on the Anzio beachhead trapped a six-man German patrol three miles west of Littoria killing three and wounding two. British troops two miles southeast of Carroceto on the other side of the beachhead killed one German and captured another.

The American patrol with casualties and other nazis attempts at infiltration in that sector were repulsed.

As shelling and patrol clashes continued along the main fifth army

The navy announced that a U. S. destroyer bombarded German positions around the beachhead Sunday and that an American minesweeper on patrol off Anzio shot down 10 Junkers 88.

Flying more than 900 sorties, allied planes hammered at German communications yesterday.

One enemy plane was shot down and two allied planes were lost.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—The Dies committee of the house of representatives has been operating since May 26, 1938. And has performed a great public service under difficult conditions and earning, as his reward, a seat on the supreme court.

New deal journalists openly heckled Mr. Dies' witnesses at public hearings and Mrs. Roosevelt, to

A brief history of the committee may remove some prejudices created by the now dead-communist organ-tion and the radio and press clique in Washington.

The Dies committee was appointed as successor to an earlier committee which had somewhat the same mission. John McCormack, of Massachusetts, the new chief leader of the ranks of representatives, was chairman of this earlier com-

States. He was less interested, if he had any hostile interest at all, in communism as a subversive influence. Mr. Dies has looked into not only Hitlerian and Italian fascism, but communism as well. He also has uncovered alarming evidence of the Japanese infiltration before Pearl Harbor and presented it to the government.

Mr. Dickinson preferred not to be turned up by the Dies committee. It is important to note also that information of great importance now available to various departments of the government, including national defense, doubtless would have been destroyed by the enemy agencies if it had not already been seized by Dies.

chairman of the new committee because he felt that the fact of his being a Jew would embarrass the inquiry. However he did hope to be named a member and was disappointed when Speaker Bankhead passed him by. He had enjoyed great publicity as vice chairman and director of the McCormack committee.

The Dies committee started off on the radio and received a cordial press from the new deal-communist element in Washington journalism which was almost unchallenged at the time. But when Mr. Dies turned to the communists and began to expose men and women communists and fellow travelers in appointive jobs in the new deal, he came under attack at once. One legitimate criticism laid against him was that his methods were irregular and unconventional. However, he was only following the method of Senator Hugo Black, late of the Ku Klux Klan, which had received noisy approval when Black was hounding political opponents of the new deal

"Old Jan," I asked, "will you answer a very private question?"

"Eh? Why?" he said.

"Do you believe in God?"

"Well, now that is a question," he replied slowly, "and, as you see, a private one. Do I believe in God?" He was silent for a minute, his head bowed in his chair. Finally he said:

"Look up there in the sky and tell me what you see."

It was one of those brilliant nights in the high plains when the skies are gloriously crowded with brilliant points of light.

"Stars," I replied.

"How many do you think there are?"

"Millions, I suppose."

"Well, said Old Jan, 'I didn't put them there, John D. Rockefeller didn't put them there. Edison didn't put anything to do with it. Why, even the Denver Post couldn't claim credit for it. They must have been put there by someone bigger than any of us human beings, so they must have been put there by God. Yes, Little Jan, it would be a pretty foolish, conceited man who didn't believe in God. But don't ask me to describe Him to you. I just know that some Power exists, a Power that is greater than man, that we call God."

"He create you too, Old Jan?"

"Well, I don't know whether I'm important enough for God to spend His time creating, but I know that He created the human race, or at least He created the situation from which the human race emerged. And the system He established made possible my creation."

"I started to ask another question, but he stopped me."

"Wait a minute there, young fellow," he said. "You're asking out some pretty fancy questions for a boy your age. Let's make it simple. I believe in God, and I believe in man. I believe in the brotherhood of man and the brotherhood of man, because I have to believe in it to believe in myself. I may get pretty disgusted with some people some of the time, and with myself, too, but I have to believe in people because I am a part of them."

"By this time he had forgotten all about his audience, his age, his immaturity."

"No sane man can do other than believe in God, in the brotherhood of man, in people. That is why our country, America, is so wonderful and the principles on which it is founded so important, so very important, because this country believes in the people, all of the people. Here in America the wise men who laid down the principles of our government made possible the greatest forward sweep even in man's progress. For they made possible the self-development of the individual, and through the individual, the group."

"It may not always work out perfectly, but as long as the principles of free government are preserved it has a chance, and it has the best chance of any plan devised by man."

"Is that," I asked, "why you told Judge McNamara that you were for the jury system even though it didn't do so good by you?"

"America," the immigrant farmer said in reply, although the words did not seem to be directed at me, "is part of my deep beliefs and convictions. Yet it is today, it is making a mistake. America is founded on the principles of man's brotherhood, yet it is seeking to limit the brotherhood selfishly. It is operating on the theory that brotherhood can flourish in one part of a modern world and be denied the rest."

"I just got to have a furlough, sir—my wife writes that the babies are piling up all over the sink!"

"Some woman had the wrong number... do you think I'd hang up if it had been a man's voice?"
