WEED GROUP TO PICK DIRECTORS

Landowners of Twin Falls county weed extermination area No. 2 will select a five-member board of directors at a meeting to be held in the Idaho Power company auditorium at 8 p. m. Friday, according to announcement by Truman T. Greenhalgh, territory chairman.

Weed extermination area No. 2 is a territory north of Twin Falls which has been designated as a weed extermination area by the county commissioners, at the request of more than half of the approximately 220 owners of land included in the district. It is organized under the statute which permits the county to do weed control work when owners fail to do it, with the costs being assessed against the property.

Greenhalgh said the board will be elected so that the season's program of weed control may be started as soon as possible.

In addition to the election, the group will discuss weed control methods and procedure, and there will be three speakers on the program. They are John Grimes, supervisor of the Twin Falls county non-weed control bureau; J. D. Simons, Twin Falls highway district engineer; and J. G. Gooding, general manager of the Twin Falls Canal company. Subjects of the three speakers have not been announced, but it has been said previously that the landowners will be concerned about weeds along highways and canals, as well as those growing on farms.

"All landowners of district 2 are urged to attend this meeting," said Greenhalgh, "as it will have an important bearing on the weed control program in the area."

Aerial Torpedo

Torpedo, pictured above in "dress blues," is master of a navy air squadron stationed at Charleston, S. C. It is called the "Aerial Torpedo" because it is a machine which has flown more than 300 hours and rates as aviation machine's mate, second class, sea-sailing "crew," campaigner, bar; torpedoman's badge for her name; and air crewman's wings with star for one air mission. CENSORSHIP ROW ENDS IN SYDNEY

SYDNEY, Australia, April 18 (AP)—Sydney newspaper, armed with a high court injunction, resumed publication today after a one-day suspension caused by censorship authorities, and one immediately followed with a sharp plea for "your freedom to read, think and write."

The high court yesterday prohibited censors from interfering with publication of all papers in this area whose week-end editions were confiscated because they contained "your freedom to read, think and write."

High court judge commented during the preliminary hearing yesterday that the stories suppressed contained nothing prejudicial to the public safety or the defense of the Commonwealth, or of value to the enemy. The suit to test the legality of the censor's action will be heard Friday.

The Daily Telegraph devoted four and a half pages to a chronological story of events leading up to the dispute, which became so heated that the censor's action was yesterday described as "censorship" and "censorship."

Statement Reprinted
The censor's statement of R. G. Henderson, chairman of the Australian Newspaper Proprietors' association, was reprinted in its original form. Information Minister Arthur Calwell charged in Sydney that the newspaper's action was "unjustified and unwarranted" when the latter referred to a statement of "misunderstandings."

(While these "misunderstandings" have not been specified in Sydney dispatches, it was believed the reference was to the surprise expressed in the United States over the announcement that 80,000 men were to be shipped from the Australian army.)

It will not be long before the "misunderstandings" will be cleared up, said the Sydney correspondent in Berlin. All reported a comprehensive list in R.A.P. heavy bomber operations in front weeks while the Americans were engaged in intense air activity, and the expression of the "misunderstandings" was significant as an invasion.

"German military circles are convinced the attacks will succeed in putting a final end to establishing strong bridgeshead at the German front," wrote. The Germans are prepared for possible success, but they have no intention of giving up the final outcome.

On report spoke vaguely of "new German secret weapons," which their inventors expect to "blow the Russian troops from their bridges."

Charge
BILLOM, Mont., April 18 (AP)—An applicant for naturalization papers at a federal court hearing here thought he knew the answer to one question at least.

The examiner came to the item of past indiscretions and asked the applicant if he had ever been arrested.

"Yes, sir, once," he answered. "What for, a misdemeanor?" "Yes, sir."

"What was the charge?" "Pity dollars, sir."

New Greek Premier

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Premier Nikos Plastiras, who has been in office more than a year, today announced the 1944 food crop, with the first harvest available to meet government requests for increased production.

The agriculture department reported today that the number of people working on farms in 1944 was 8,000,000, or about 3 per cent more than for the same date last year.

Generally, it was noted at the same time, the average farm yield at all times high. The index of farm yields was 202 per cent of the 1910-1914 average, 11 points higher than on Jan. 1, of this year and 53 points higher than in 1943.

Last year, 30,000,000 acres were planted with wheat, 1944 figures were 194,000,000. The government goal for 1944 is 380,000,000 acres.

The index of supply of farm workers available April 1 was 5.1, or 10 per cent more than the 1943-44 average. The estimated number of unpaid farm workers, 7,400,000, on April 1, 1944, was 10 per cent more than the 1943-44 average.

Working on farms April 1, 1944, but not on farms April 1, 1943, were 1,000,000 more than the 1943-44 average.

Night for the Morrow

By Robert D. Lusk

STILL BEYOND THE PALE
XX
Because of his enthusiasm and his determination to put this land back to sleep, the back-breaking work was taking its toll of Old Jan, but he wouldn't admit it. He had a job to do, and he was immensely happy that he was given the opportunity to do it.

Once in the summer of 1937, during the vacation between his graduation from high school and enrollment in the freshman at the Colorado Agricultural College at Fort Collins, Old Jan and I were working on the low hills that back into the Arkansas River valley at the south end of the farm. We were ploughing contours around the hills to prevent the run-off and help to conserve the moisture for the crops.

We stopped to rest a minute and whether it was the location that brought back memories of 17 years before or because he was feeling like a underdog, he began to talk first of his enthusiasm for his work, and then proceeded to tell me about the rebuilding of the old place. "We are lucky in our work," he said, "I don't envy any man in the world the opportunity for doing this work. It is the rebuilding of a man's basic dependence, the soil. As he has a hand in his restoration, but at the same time, we have been given a chance to repair whatever damage we did."

Old Jan's life is devoted to a clearer, better purpose. With us, we are working to put this land back to sleep, to back Old Jan's earth. This, Little Jan, is the purposeful work of peace. We are fortunate, you and I. Then he hit his pipe.

The purposeful works of peace are denied many men. They will be denied many more. Even peace itself will be denied them. Look at China! It started back when Japan went into Manchuria. The United States protested, yes, but what good did it do? She had no right to protest, except the defense of her own selfish interests in the Far East, and even those were so questionable that the public here did not back up the protest. She had denied her own right to protest years before. And look what has followed the Manchurian conquest. Italy went into Ethiopia. And Spain next. Now Hitler is building up to conquer the world.

There are dark days ahead for this world. Little Jan, we must do the work here while there is yet time. It is all so tragic, because it could all have been prevented. And to think, Little Jan, that you and I are sitting within a few hundred feet of where this tragic series of events began, where the original tragedy occurred.

That was all he stepped as suddenly as he had begun. He sat up, and we resumed our work on the contours.

The farm was showing such progress that the Judge on his visit found it difficult to keep up his running fire of criticism. He couldn't get back to town fast enough to tell friends how he and Old Jan were reclaiming the dust-blown acres. He even promoted a story in the paper. Old Jan's work was climbing praise from others, too. The United States Soil Conservation Service had contributed many of the ideas, and were proud of the results obtained. Furthermore, Old Jan had been one of the original farmers to comply with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's program, had been a worker in that organization's task of cutting production to fit consumption.

It was in the spring of 1940 that the idea occurred to someone in the AAA that Old Jan would find color in a landscape which he would be able to see in the Triple A in town. He was invited to be a speaker.

There were a couple of hundred people at the night. The attitude of the natives was cordial, indicating an approximate half way. It was in this atmosphere that my grandfather rose to speak.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he began, "we are gathered here tonight to take pride in the progress we have made in compounding a great crime."

It was as if he had picked up his pipe and thrown it at the chairman. The twenty miles of the area disappeared. But Old Jan went on.

"We are here to congratulate ourselves on having limited the production of food at a time when many people are being killed, when millions throughout the rest of the world are actually starving."

"Yet, under the circumstances of the moment and because of the inability of this crop at this time to correct the original error, it is a good program."

Then he went on to discuss the AAA work from the standpoint of a farmer and in a constructive, favorable way, but the damage had been done. He had gone to the local citizens that he was still rather than a good program.

I heard about it even up at Fort Collins, for the AAA keeps in close touch with the state agricultural colleges. It was embarrassing when a couple of the younger professors in the agricultural economics department kidded me about it. All I could say was that my grandfather was pretty much of an individual, rather ungovernable at times. "If you know him," I said, "you would understand."

But I knew him, yet I couldn't quite understand.

ACEQUILA

Mrs. Jack Badger and infant daughter have gone to La Crosse, Wis., where she will join her husband. Staff Sgt. Jack Badger, 4th and Mrs. Leonard Wilbur have rented the farm recently vacated by George Linnell. It is in the Jackson district.

Mrs. Albert Hall has received word that her husband, Fred, Albert Hall, has been very ill in a hospital in England. He has had pneumonia and a streptococcal throat but is reported improving.

Mrs. J. W. McArthur has returned home from a two-month visit with her daughters, Mrs. Eugene Davis and family, direction, Wash. Mrs. Davis, Montgomery and husband, Polson, Mont. and Mrs. Earl Smith and family, Moscow, Mont.

HOLD EVERYTHING

The farm was showing such progress that the Judge on his visit found it difficult to keep up his running fire of criticism. He couldn't get back to town fast enough to tell friends how he and Old Jan were reclaiming the dust-blown acres. He even promoted a story in the paper. Old Jan's work was climbing praise from others, too. The United States Soil Conservation Service had contributed many of the ideas, and were proud of the results obtained. Furthermore, Old Jan had been one of the original farmers to comply with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's program, had been a worker in that organization's task of cutting production to fit consumption.

It was in the spring of 1940 that the idea occurred to someone in the AAA that Old Jan would find color in a landscape which he would be able to see in the Triple A in town. He was invited to be a speaker.

There were a couple of hundred people at the night. The attitude of the natives was cordial, indicating an approximate half way. It was in this atmosphere that my grandfather rose to speak.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he began, "we are gathered here tonight to take pride in the progress we have made in compounding a great crime."

It was as if he had picked up his pipe and thrown it at the chairman. The twenty miles of the area disappeared. But Old Jan went on.

"We are here to congratulate ourselves on having limited the production of food at a time when many people are being killed, when millions throughout the rest of the world are actually starving."

"Yet, under the circumstances of the moment and because of the inability of this crop at this time to correct the original error, it is a good program."

Then he went on to discuss the AAA work from the standpoint of a farmer and in a constructive, favorable way, but the damage had been done. He had gone to the local citizens that he was still rather than a good program.

I heard about it even up at Fort Collins, for the AAA keeps in close touch with the state agricultural colleges. It was embarrassing when a couple of the younger professors in the agricultural economics department kidded me about it. All I could say was that my grandfather was pretty much of an individual, rather ungovernable at times. "If you know him," I said, "you would understand."

But I knew him, yet I couldn't quite understand.

BUYING OF WAR BONDS DISCUSSED

A suggestion that the city invest up to $20,000 from the bond sinking fund in government bonds in an effort partially to equalize the interest on bonds outstanding against the city was made at last night's council meeting.

It is suggested that a previous effort had been made to purchase some of the city bonds, the majority of which were held by Twin Falls Bank and Trust company and a bank in Denver, but without success.

The council took no immediate action on the suggestion.

Special Levy Discussed

In giving preliminary consideration to the question of source of funds for the coming fiscal year's business went councilmen Truman T. Greenhalgh stated that a special levy of one mill would bring the city about $6000.

He pointed out that the advantage of such a method would be that the sum raised could only be used for the specific purpose for which the levy would be used.

At a motion from Councilman W. A. Thomas, the resolution of Ken A. Smith, Mayor, and the appointment of Lynn Moore to the position of treasurer were approved.

Building Permits Approved

Building permits were approved for the following: Ed Willis to erect a house from northwest 1/4 to lot 25, block 4, South park, and E. T. Reed, for an addition to his home at 253 Fourth avenue west.

A request for the transfer of a license to sell bottled beer at the Depot service station from J. O. Overlander to Floyd L. Butler was approved.

City Clerk Charles P. Larson read an invitation from the Idaho Aviation association for the councilmen to attend its banquet in the capitol building, Boise, April 22.

The association intends to organize on a permanent basis to insure the future development of aviation in Idaho. No definite plans were made, but City Attorney J. H. Blanford and one councilman may attend.

Final Rites Held For Lewis Terry

Final rites for Lewis Terry were held at 2 p. m. yesterday in the home of his mother, Mrs. J. H. Terry, 1214 E. 1st, by Rev. C. E. Lichty, Boise, and the Rev. Merrill Hennrich, Twin Falls, officiating. Both ministers are of the United Brethren church.

A quartet, including Mrs. and Mrs. Hugh Sheddin, Mrs. Myrtle Mullins and Rev. Hennrich, offered two selections. Two solo songs were sung by Mrs. O. P. Duval.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. J. H. Terry, 1214 E. 1st, by Rev. C. E. Lichty, Boise, and the Rev. Merrill Hennrich, Twin Falls, officiating. Both ministers are of the United Brethren church.

Interment was in the Twin Falls cemetery under the direction of the mortuary.
