By JAMES M. LONG

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Sunday, June 11 (AP) — U. S. troops smashed a third of the way across the Normandy peninsula yesterday in a drive to seal off the prize port of Cherbourg and captured two towns and a handful of villages under cover of allied fighters striking from newly-seized airfields in France.

A German broadcast placed the Americans near Montebourg, only 51 miles southeast of Cherbourg, after the Germans had withdrawn to "shortened defense lines."

Allied headquarters bulletin No. 10 issued just before midnight said "allied progress continues along the whole of the beachhead." This meant that the American, British and Canadian troops now were attacking heavily along a 50-mile stretch between Caen in the east and Montebourg in the northwest.

A dispatch from the front disclosed that the Americans, with artillery support, had begun striking inland Friday after using the first three days to secure their beachheads and establish contact with the British-Canadian forces in the BAYVILLE sector, east of the coast.

At BAYVILLE, the Americans gained six miles in their first smash inland from the sea and veteran troops were spearheading the attack, the dispatch said.

Berlin said there was accelerated action on five sectors of the eastern front in addition to the new action in Karelia.

Heavy fighting raged at Carantan, the late official bulletin said. The Germans had flooded the terrain in that sector, causing difficulties, trailing into western Germany.

At the same time, the Russians decided a slowdown, but several aerial battles developed.

At the front, the force listed 10 German planes shot down and 21 American craft missing while the units of the 10th Army continued to drive the enemy shot down and five U. S. planes.

The first planes to take advantage of the newly constructed landing airfields were the 10th Army's fighters.

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—After a number of unsuccessful attempts to Moscow itself said "There were no German planes shot down during the day. The broadcast Russian communiqué said 14 enemy planes were shot down, but made no mention of any other action."

The Finnish army communiqué said the Russians early yesterday morning had been driven back to the Karelian Isthmus supported by "particularly heavy artillery."

The German transoceanic communication said the Russians in radio that it was "too early to judge" what tactical and strategic significance can be attached to this blow," but he said that it might well be the initial swing of a Soviet offensive against Germany.

Drive to Stress

Severe fighting with strong enemy armor units also flamed through the northern area of the British-Canadian sector. A front detachment said allied artillery was firing at German armor in the struggle for a ridge commanding the main German road. It was partly successful in driving the tank trap against reinforced main force.

In the Cherbourg peninsula our advance patrols are west of the main German road and are still firing.

The apparent immediate objective of the German attack is to strike in the Montebourg area, a Vichy broadcast said. Valognes is the communications key to Cherbourg. Valognes is only 10 miles southeast of the big port.

AIMEE RETURNS TO CHURCH FOLK

By VIRGINIA McPHERSON
HOLLYWOOD, June 10 (AP) — Sister Aimee Semple McPherson climbed out of bed today, washed herself in a flowing white gown, and said to her church people—she had come back to do.

"My public is calling," she said with a wistful smile. "I've been in bed long enough. With all those boys pushing the invasion in Europe I think the least I can do is spread the word of God."

Thus Sister Aimee, invalid, became again Sister Aimee, evangelist, who set a new style in church routine by bodily informing her flock she didn't want to be able to read their denials when they dropped them in the pews.

For the past three months Mrs. McPherson has been confined to her luxurious hill-top home, drawing in her blue and beige dressing room with pink marble fireplace and black pin mirrors.

Resting and praying, she said, "Now my prayers have been answered and I'm well enough to return to my flock. I'll preach my first sermon tomorrow."

Sister Aimee said she illness was a new attack of a tropical fever bug she picked up during her sensational disappearance in Hong Kong. The fever comes back every now and then, she said, but this time she was so ill it kept her followers busy night and day praying for her recovery.

It was news of the D-day attacks that spurred her on to new strength, she said. It was high time she stopped fooling around with tropical bugs and got back to business.

SUBPOENA ASKED IN LETTER PROBE

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP) — Censorship Director Byron Price today demanded that he be placed under subpoena if it is a censorship investigating committee wishes him to produce the originals of intercepted correspondence between Vivian Kellens, Connecticut industrialist, and Count Frederick Von Zedlitz, German agent in Buenos Aires.

Price refused to produce the letters that he would not bring them with him to the next hearing. Monday afternoon without a subpoena since they involve "secrets of the war."

"Your position," Sen. Homer Ferguson, R. Mich., said, "is that you will come back yourself without the papers to testify on Monday, but that if we want the papers we will have to issue a subpoena."

"I won't bring them without one," Price replied.

Price's statement elicited more than two hours of testimony during which the committee heard excerpts of the Kellens-Von Zedlitz letters to the state department's division of foreign activity correlation and from there to the passport division and the division of war trade intelligence.

The committee is trying to find out how excerpts of the letters got into the hands of a columnist and a congressman, who made them public. Price has expressed concern over the leak and has assured the committee that he did not believe it could have occurred in his office.

GRANGE UPHOLDS EXTENSION TRACT

BUNLEY, June 10.—Cassidy county Pomona Grange held its second quarterly meeting at Bunley Grange hall at which time the Grange presented two resolutions to be sent to the congressional representatives of Washington, D. C., and also to the state planning board. The first of these was to request congressional support and consideration of a southside extension of Blinnidska project to provide homes for returning service men.

The second was a resolution requesting that every effort be made to secure the use of flood water of Yellowstone lake for irrigation purposes in Snake river valley. Both resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Pomona.

The morning session of the Grange began at 10:30 with all five subordinate Granges represented and all present in membership.

Chapman leads in degree work, having two complete teams for the four subordinate degrees.

Reports show that Raft River Grange has been recently completed remodeling its kitchen.

The Pomona postwar planning committee headed by F. O. Butler, Albion, presented the four resolutions, which were adopted at this meeting.

A covered dish lunch was served at noon.

Next meeting will be Sept. 2 at Jackson with Watrous Grange as host.

Six Canadians Talk 140 Nazis Into Surrender

By CHARLES LYNCH
Representing the Combined Allied Press

WITH CANADIAN FORCES IN FRANCE, June 10 (AP)—Two Canadian officers and four NCOs brought in 140 German prisoners in type of the more astonishing episodes on the beachhead. They were captured by Germans holding a pocket inside our lines, but within five hours they had talked the Germans into surrendering to them.

Here is their story as told by Lieut. Howard Grange, Drummer, Albert.

"We were all captured within 15 minutes yesterday morning. About 2 p.m. we heard gunfire near by and mortars fired by Canadian troops started falling around the mouth of the cave, which was the Germans' headquarters."

"The Germans started getting wind up but seemed prepared to fight to the last. But another Canadian I talked to their officers. We told them they had no chance to survive."

"They talked it over and decided to surrender to us."

"We marched them out of the cave—about 100 yards and only 30 of us. I was afraid our troops would think it was a trick and open fire but thank God, they didn't."

"As we marched along, other soldiers jumped out and gave them selves up. Too finally, counting the wounded, we had 140 prisoners."

VOTE for

D. WORTH CLARK

again a candidate for U. S. SENATOR

Democratic Primary

The voters of Idaho have an opportunity to nominate D. Worth Clark for re-election to the hard job of United States Senator. As Idaho moves with the nation into the complex conditions of a post-war world, D. Worth Clark will prove of inestimable value to every state interest. To have a man of the calibre of D. Worth—with his experience, ability and "know-how"—serving our communities will make our progress as a state easier, more sure.

Surely, no newcomer whatever his ambitions, whatever his promises, is qualified to get the job done as is D. Worth Clark with his record for action, fairness and sound knowledge of senate affairs. Today—more than ever—D. Worth Clark should be retained in the job of U. S. Senator. D. Worth Clark has proven, through his record, his ability to represent fairly and intelligently the varied interests of our state. To the farmers he is known for his work in weed control, irrigation and reclamation problems. To the laborer he offers the kind of representation which will do much to place labor fairly in its properly important place in the post-war state of affairs of Idaho.

And to the businessman, D. Worth Clark holds out the prospects of free enterprise with the backing of sound constitutional government. No "crack-pot" D. Worth Clark is thoroughly schooled in the traditions of a state which has won its progress by the hard effort of individual enterprise of its citizens, and he has stood for return of our government to these precepts which have guaranteed the right of businessman, farmer and laborer, alike, to work and prosper.

So important is the future, so important are the steps which we as a state take that we can ill afford to have anyone less capable than D. Worth Clark working for us. This is our opportunity to make sure we have the chance to hire a top hand—who is intelligently equipped and experienced. Let's not pass it up. Make sure that D. Worth Clark is ready to represent us again!

CAST YOUR VOTE on June 13 for BEN JOHNSON who has long advocated that the American way is the way of a constitutional government . . . by laws instead of decrees. CAST YOUR VOTE for a man who believes sincerely that the States were given certain inalienable rights and who will work to recapture those rights which have been taken from them by federal fiat. CAST YOUR VOTE for a man whose word is reliable. CAST YOUR VOTE for a man who recognizes that the world has changed and that new methods must be applied to old problems, but who believes that the framework of our constitutional government permits America to reach new heights of glory without resorting to foreign methods and ideologies. CAST YOUR VOTE to give Idaho a clear, vigorous voice in the senate for human and individual rights, for freedom and for opportunity for work, thrift, honesty, and faith in the American way.

BALKAN NATIONS AWAIT WAR FATE

By FRANK O'BRIEN
ISTANBUL, June 10.—The Balkan nations are waiting for what they will be the consequences of the opening of the front in the west—the largest and most powerful Soviet offensive yet.

It is fully expected to carry Soviet troops deep into the Balkans. There is an opinion that the Rumanians, who may be the first and perhaps the hardest hit, will be forced to fight very hard. Rumania apparently was not able to get out of the war, and is willing to drive a bargain with the Russians and the Bulgarians. It is expected that the Rumanians will be forced to accept a peace treaty in the fall of 1944, in return for Rumania's northeastern province of Bessarabia, which Hitler gave Hungary.

Latest reports indicate that the Rumanian army is unwilling to continue the fight, the only Marshal, Antonescu, is willing to the big Soviet drive. He has been in the hands of the Germans, of their left, and that Rumania can make an armistice with the Soviet Union.

In Bulgaria, perhaps even more so, a similar report, but with different facts. Bulgaria has been a neutral country, but has been a close ally with the Germans. The Bulgarian army, according to the latest reports, is unwilling to fight. The Bulgarians are waiting for the Soviet drive. They are waiting for the Soviet drive. They are waiting for the Soviet drive.

However, a last part of the Bulgarian army, many higher army officers, and most of the government, are waiting for the Soviet drive. They are waiting for the Soviet drive. They are waiting for the Soviet drive.

There is no conflict between north and south Idaho on the question of water use for irrigation as expected to structure.

That was the unanimous statement made here by Ben Johnson, director, prominent Idaho farmer and lawyer, who is a Republican candidate for the U. S. senate nomination. Johnson, in an interview following a brief talk at the Twin Falls Junior chamber, made his statement in commenting on a Times-News editorial, suggesting that he get on record after the national election.

"I made just such a statement when I was here at the time of the state representative election," he said. "The investigation can handle this problem without interfering with the development of irrigation in southern Idaho. There is enough water in the Clearwater and the Salmon to that north Idaho has enough. They don't need south Idaho's water. I told them that at Lewiston."

Johnson called for north and south Idaho to get together to work out the overall picture for the future development of the entire state.

"Our economy in this state," he said, "demands that we retain power and position for reclamation. There is no conflict with north Idaho. Both north and south had better get together on the future picture before some federal authority attempts to claim field in the use of, and to control the use of, the waters of the Snake river drainage area."

No. 1 issue of the day is "preservation of our constitutional rights and liberties," Johnson told the Junior Chamber directors.

He listed the No. 2 and No. 3 issues as "the strengthening of our free enterprise system" and "arousing the citizens to the removal of governmental slavery through bureaucracy."

The troops in front of Chebourg and is reported well satisfied with their progress.

A victory broadcast said the American drive on Chebourg had rolled back the German line about two miles southwest of Montebourg.

To the east, on the left flank of the Americans, the old German line of Cuen near the mouth of the Orne river was reported to have been broken by British and Canadian gunners pumped shells into desperately retreating German columns in that vital communications hub.

The allies also stood firm under savage tank and aircraft attacks from two German tank divisions and two infantry divisions. The British and Canadians were fighting fiercely to keep the German panzer divisions from the good anti-aircraft country between Cuen and Montebourg.

According to German reports, they were spending considerable time toward St. Lo and the wooded hills toward St. Lo and toward the wooded hills where allied big guns could command the junction of the two rivers of the Normandy front.

Captured German posted the 3,800 tanks, with 3,000 of them equipped with hard-hitting American panzerbatteries and infantrymen apparently bent on holding up thousands of German based on Chebourg, Paris' third largest suburb.

CEILING PUT ON ALL USED AUTOS

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Price Administrator Chester Bowles today brought all used passenger cars under price control, effective immediately, and established specific price ceilings for different models and years which prevailed last January. Bowles said the used car ceilings will decrease the hoarding of automobiles and protect the public from further increases in used car prices. He said these prices have gone up an average of 30 per cent in the past year and a half and 100 per cent in two and one-half years.

Bowles set up specific dollar-and-cent price ceilings for January, 1944, levels for about 6,000 models of 23 makes manufactured from 1937 through 1942.

All sellers, both private individuals and dealers, are covered by the program. It does not, however, apply to used trucks which are under a separate price regulation.

"In some sections of the country," Bowles said, "used cars three years old sell today for two or three times more than similar cars brought before the war. I think that indicates what pressures there are today to push prices up and what must be done to bring them back to normal."

The fact that automobile prices have continued to rise raises hard-ships for many a person who needs a car to go to work. That applies to those who live on more or less fixed incomes—the school teacher, the civil employee.

A Year-Old Drop Eight Months Under the new regulation, used car ceilings will drop at the rate of four per cent of the "as is" price every six months. OPA provided maximum price schedule for three broad geographical regions.

Region A covers all states east of the Mississippi river; region B, states Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada and Arizona; and all other states are in region C. Following customary price differences, the ceilings are lowest for region A, highest for region C and about half way between the two levels for region B.

Individuals are permitted to sell on "as is" basis. Dealers, however, who maintain repair facilities may also sell at "warranty" prices. In the sale of a "warranted" car, 25 per cent of the maximum price for the car in the area is added to the "as is" ceiling.

The regulation provides that when a sale has been completed the buyer and seller must fill out a transfer certificate and turn it in to the buyer's local rationing board.

Dealers may add specific amounts to the ceiling price for extra equipment. For instance, he may charge $10 extra for a heater, $20 extra for a radio, and other reasonable amounts for accessories of built-in equipment such as overdrive and fluid drive.

ACCORD REACHED ON "G. I." BILL

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Senate and house conferees today reached a final agreement on the "G. I. bill of rights," a measure providing an estimated $500,000,000 of benefits for veterans of 1914-18, and cleared the way for final congressional action on it next week.

In one of the remaining two disputes on the bill, the senate conferees accepted a house provision that "any benefits received by a veteran under this act shall be charged against and deducted from" any bonus that may be enacted later.

The conferees also agreed on a senate provision that a placement service for ex-veterans shall be operated under supervision of the veterans administration. The house had wanted it to be under the control of the U. S. employment service.

Agreement was reached provision on major provisions of the bill, including:

1. Government allowance of $50 a month for a single veteran and $75 a month for a married veteran plus $500 a year tuition for continuing high school or college education.

2. Government guarantee of 40 per cent, up to $2,000 of home mortgage service to buy home, farm, or small businesses.

3. Unemployment compensation at the rate of $20 a week for one year.

4. Son Bennett C. Clark, D. Mo., chairman of the senate conferees, said reporters that disagreement came on actions which would ease the veterans administration competition for job placement for veterans.

ON THE BEACH OF NORMANDY, June 8 (Delaware AP)—The shock troops of the Canadian invasion army under a death fire still were in the thick of it today but not enough to keep them from setting up with the job at hand.

One of two hand-to-hand infantry assaults, the first in a series of beach assaults, took place today. The shock troops of the Canadian invasion army under a death fire still were in the thick of it today but not enough to keep them from setting up with the job at hand.

The most charged life in this unit seemed to belong to a physician, Lieut. Paul Korn, Scarsdale, N. Y. As the men were scrambling from the ship to four or five feet of water to seek shelter ashore, a mortar shell burst inches from the doctor, killing a man on his right, one on his left, and two immediately behind but leaving him unscathed.

During the next trying hours while most of the men were pinned close into foxholes he had to keep moving around to tend the wounded and constantly was exposed but was not hit. One time he was carrying a wounded man on his back when a shell killed the patient.

At last, the beach was reached and the men were able to set up their machine guns and other equipment.

PLANE BLOWS UP PANZER'S TANKS

By COLLIE SMALL
ABOARD A MANAGER OVER CHERBOURG PENINSULA, June 10 (AP)—A moment ago this plane was doing low on a German Panzer formation hiding in a forest southeast of Cherbourg. I watched a line of high explosives blow the German tanks sky-high.

We apparently caught the Germans by surprise. Not a single tank turned its turret toward us. The flight except in with bomb-bay open. We watched through a light flare barrage blow up the mobile ack-acks as easily as if the shells were popcorn.

I just had time to note that the tanks were camouflaged to avert just such an attack as this. Three line bombers shredded downward, and the entire word was burst into flames. We were so low by then that the plane landed violently with heavy explosion of its own bombs.

Looking back, I saw blotches of fire melting into each other. One patch of woods had vanished in a puff of smoke. Columns of black smoke rolled up from the green woods as if a fire dump had been hit. Not a single German tank was moving.

As we swung off over the trees, flames burst fiercely directly ahead and three coastal villages smoking off to the right. Near one shell-cracked village I made out a line of American trucks shuttling along a tree-fringed country road, their white stars plainly visible. Farm buildings on the road were flattened where the battle had raged.

As we approached Cherbourg, I saw flames melt into each other. One patch of woods had vanished in a puff of smoke. Columns of black smoke rolled up from the green woods as if a fire dump had been hit. Not a single German tank was moving.

SALMON FALLS CREEK MAY BE MADE BASS STREAM

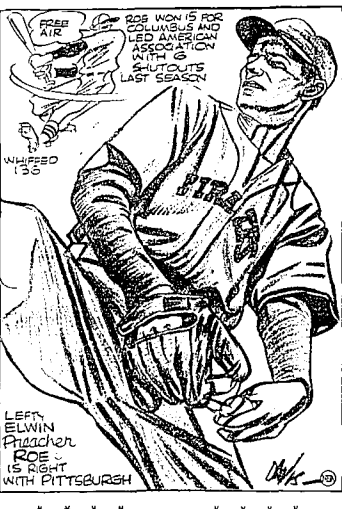

ON THE SPORT FRONT

By Cobb did so many things in baseball that 18 years after his Old Sport career saw the distinguished dad of Twin Falls on Herchel Cobb final career in the majors, the pugger one is still learning something new about the Georgia Peach. Whether that was Cobb's last act of home thievery, of the many acts in his career, 1925 would like to know because that could be quite a distinction—that of having an act in when the intemperate one stole home for the last time.

Cards Beat Reds, 18-0, for Most One-Sided Shutout in 38 Seasons

CINCINNATI, June 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals gave the Cincinnati Reds their lumps today by pounding out the most one-sided shutout victory in the National league in 38 years. When the firing was done the Cards won, 18-0.

Practices What He Preaches

But that isn't what this ancient word puffer was going to write about at all. It was about the new thing that he recently learned about Cobb. It was found in a little booklet that the Louisville Sluggers gave out as a sign of reminder that every great hitter, past, present and probably future, used one of their bats. The booklet contains many of Cobb's records. Not that he is sure, because no firm would care to go to the expense of putting a book so large.

Mine Detectors Locate Snipers

ON THE BEACH OF NORMAN, June 8 (UP)—Snipers who have been one of the deadliest threats facing Americans all along this central sector of the front, have been located by the use of mine detectors to find them.

The detectors, particularly the effective against German snipers in small dugouts entered by snail and covered trap doors. The German made a practice of tracing the door shut until the Americans passed, then putting in a trap and taking a shot or two before moving back.

These dugouts were on heretofore built that often it was impossible to see them even when standing near by, but the mine detectors registered metal under ground.

MAJ. BOYINGTON BELIEVED ALIVE

SEATTLE, Wash., June 10 (UP)—Mrs. T. W. Hildebeck, believing that her husband, Maj. Boyington, who is missing, is alive on an island and is being hidden by natives until he can safely return his squadron.

"I received word from a well-known flier who has just returned from the south Pacific that the squadron which reports secret information there has let it be known where my son is being hidden by natives. I am going to say 'Ship out' and bring my boy back to me and his home."

Her son ran up a string of 26 enemy planes destroyed in the Pacific before he disappeared in combat. His mark had then been existing in U. S. records held by Capt. Hildebeck and Maj. J. H. Hildebeck.

Other flyers have been recorded whose allied fliers who landed in enemy-held territory in the Pacific have been killed in their escape—sometimes in seemingly mysterious circumstances by natives.

Near End of Pacific Fly
For some time after Boyington's disappearance, reported by the way Jan. 4 this year, hope was held for his eventual safety. He was last seen on a fighter sweep over Hawaii when he pulled off and went after a Jap fighter. In a few more days he would have finished his tour of duty in the Solomon.

Boyington, known to his intimates as "Bugs," was "old" as fighter pilots go—he was 31 years old at the time of his disappearance. Six of his record of 26 planes was compiled while a member of the 8th Thors in China and Burma.

In the Solomon, he commanded a group of castoffs who were prominently nicknamed the "Black Sheep" squadron. These marine fighter pilots, flying Corsairs, eventually became one of the outstanding fighter groups in the south Pacific.

On April 12, three months after his disappearance, he was awarded the congressional medal of honor.

2 Minority Party Conventions To Accompany Idaho's Primary

BOISE, June 10 (UP)—Idaho's primary election next Tuesday will be accompanied by at least two minority party conventions, the secretary to the state and the prohibitionists at Nampa.

The union party secretary has at least 200 persons at his convention in order to certify their nominees to the secretary of state for placement on the official general election ballot.

G. E. Hodge, state secretary of the union party, said Prof. Maynard Krueger of the University of Chicago would be the keynote speaker at the convention here, and that the prohibitionists will pick four presidential electors to be placed on the general ballot.

Prohibitionists at Nampa
R. F. Hodge, prohibition party chairman at Nampa, said the convention there would "announce candidates on other tickets where we have made no nominations."

Minority party conventions in Idaho have had no primary election, but there is a suggestion to participate in a convention and voting in either the Republican or Democratic primary at the same time.

Both socialist and communist tickets were on the ballot in 1930, but a prohibitionist ticket has appeared for more than 10 years.

Democrats and Republicans voting Thursday must indicate their party affiliation at the top of the combined ballot and then vote only one ticket throughout.

If the voter signs off of the column he has indicated, the ballot is counted and the column cannot be counted and if the ballot is torn up at the top of the ballot, and does not stay on one column throughout, the entire ballot is void.

Mighty Important Job These Days

The Telephone Lineman maintains the network of telephone wires and cables that links the nation together.

Day after day, in storm and fire and flood, up in the air and underground, he's on the job—knowing that every circuit is needed for war.

These days it is important for every one to make the best use of telephone equipment.

Telephone materials are in the war and we regret that we can't fill all orders for service without some delay.

GEN. DE GAULLE MAY VISIT FDR

By WILLIAM T. FLAHERTY
WASHINGTON, June 10.—The possibility arose that President Roosevelt and Gen. Charles De Gaulle, who do not see eye to eye on the administration of the French, may have a man-to-man talk in Washington this summer.

President Roosevelt said at a press conference that Vice Admiral Raymond P. Beaud, head of the French naval mission, had visited him to ask if the President would be willing to receive De Gaulle, who is leader of the French committee of inquiry.

The President said he informed Beaud that he would be happy to see Gen. De Gaulle here this summer or during the second week in July, provided he now can get to De Gaulle in London, where the French leader is visiting at the invitation of Prime Minister Churchill.

No Idea of Subject
Pending final word from De Gaulle, diplomats here were uncertain as to whether the meeting, with the President actually seated at the place.

Replying to questions, Mr. Roosevelt said he had no idea of what would be discussed at the anticipated meeting, which was for the purpose of discussing the primary purpose in coming here would be to discuss the American government's policy toward the French committee.

Policy of U. S.
This policy does not recognize the committee as a French administrative body, but as an administrative body in French territory under French authority.

The British government has gone along with the United States on this policy but it is reported to hold strong objections to the French committee as the provisional government for France upon its liberation.

On the other hand, Mr. Roosevelt has made clear in past statements that he is not for anyone to speak for the French people at this time on what government they desire.

GENERAL'S COURT MARTIAL WAIVED

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The war department made known Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had reported that evidence against Maj. Gen. Henry J. F. Miller, charged with violating security regulations, did not warrant a court-martial.

Miller was returned to his permanent duty of lieutenant colonel in the air force and sent home after the incident in London, where he had a cocktail party in London that the invasion would come not later than June 15.

The department statement was made to Gen. Chennault, 82, in a memorandum from Maj. Gen. M. G. Miller, assistant chief of staff, who was hospitalized at Coral Gables, Fla.

Chennault, who has asked an investigation of the case, said he did not believe the department was so efficient and had requested that a full report on the incident be given to the senate military committee.

It developed, meanwhile, that on May 29, without knowing of the incident in which Miller was involved, the senate had confirmed his promotion to the permanent rank of colonel.

Mrs. Lucinda Olsen, Ogden, has been visiting her daughters, Mrs. Harold Anderson, Declo, and Mrs. Ruby Darrington, Elba.

Mrs. Louise Richards returned to Salt Lake after visiting her mother, Mrs. Mable Richman, and brother, Earl Richman.

BOY, 13, AMONG ALLIED CAPTIVES

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—Men whom Hitler counted on to make his Atlantic defenses impregnable are reaching Britain—captured, bedraggled and unarmored.

They never thought, they said, the allies would land so much armor and so many cannon so quickly.

—Many are in their teens. Many wear ill-fitting uniforms. Many are German.

One was a 13-year-old Russian boy, who was in the 2nd Panzer division. Wearing a uniform several sizes too big for him, he said he had been pressed into the German army last year and sent to France after training.

There were Belgians, Italians, Russians, Poles, French and even Americans who were captured on the Russian front. Many had been taken to battlefronts working on the Atlantic defense.

Army officials said some prisoners appeared to be so shocked after German platoon of winning the war, one reported that he was in a fever. But this was the German army it will be over in two months.

Something New: Dust Storms in Aleutian Isles

By RUSSELL ANNAHL

AN ADVANCED ALIUTIAN BASE, June 10 (AP)—The old-timers around here used to call the Aleutians "the weather man's back yard." Now, it's not only fog, but this week the Aleutians came up with a new one and it is a dust-storm.

What we've got along the island chain was in the way of dust storms would make the refugees from the Oklahoma dust bowl feel right at home. There is enough dust and fog to fill the air 24 hours a day to build a new island chain. The new refugees have been rescued from two years here in one of the largest dust moving operations ever carried out anywhere. But the soldiers this spring are showing them some new tricks.

The engineers took the tough to land and off and moved mountains to make sure the new recruits, with the wind and off and the sand and volcanic ash, exposed the old Aleutian winds are starting in where the engineers quit. The troops here, finding sand in their food, their beds, their equipment and their clothes, have come up with a new theory as to how these little-brother islands originally formed.

They are convinced now that they live in Siberia.

DETAIL FOR TODAY

When three or four men from an organization are sent out to form the nucleus of a new outfit, this is called a CADRE. Men who leave on a CADRE usually can expect a raise in grade, even if they do little or nothing but train the new recruits. The new outfit, CADRES usually arrive at some base camp and find nothing but desertion in the still unfinished area. The three pictures above probably are showing they were back on KP with the 1934 from the old outfit.

The press pipe still is smoked by many Canadian Indian tribes, particularly when a bargain is being sealed.

TWO KILLED, 38 HURT IN BLAST

VALLEJO, Calif., June 10 (AP)—Two men were killed and 38 injured, four seriously today, in a thunderous explosion which ripped up the concrete floor of a National Guard army machine shop, scattered hundreds of windows in the Vallejo area.

The shot, P. L. May, Oakland Calif., A. M. Amundson, Vallejo. The severely injured, P. F. Dale, Vallejo, H. P. Warner, Vallejo, A. M. Franke, Concord, E. A. Rinze, Albany.

Quart-four others suffered less serious injuries from falling glass and debris.

The blast was so violent that it crumpled the reinforced concrete floor of machine shop 1 as though it were tin-foil. A freighter in the water nearby was startled quickly by the naval yards' department.

Cause of the explosion was not determined.

BRICKER ATTACKS INSURANCE RULE

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio tonight criticized a supreme court decision holding that insurance companies were subject to federal anti-trust laws and declared new "business" were "casting covetous glances at the huge pool of assets" of the companies.

Declaring there was an ever-growing centralization of power in Washington, the Republican presidential candidate said in a prepared address broadcast by NBC:

"This continued encroachment upon state sovereignty was again brought to our attention last Monday when the United States supreme court by a vote of four to three—two justices not participating—held that the business of insurance is subject to federal anti-trust statutes."

"In that decision, a minority of the court's membership overturned a doctrine which that tribunal had consistently applied for over 75 years."

"Control centralized in Washington over the essential resources of our American insurance companies would mean tremendous power."

Bricker said "in contrast to the new deal philosophy of individual experimentation and decentralization of power, the Republican party today proposes an atmosphere of opportunity and real incentive to achievement."

Vacationists Told To Stay at Home

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Defense Transportation Director J. Monroe Johnson, in what amounted to a stay-at-home request to would-be summer vacationists, today advised the public that railroad and bus space may be commandeered without notice because of returning invasion casualties.

It was the sternest warning given thus far by the government to non-essential civilian travelers. The DOT chief said that military and essential demands on transportation facilities are now at an all-time high and will increase during the summer months.

Startled Yanks Land Glider Atop Germans' Headquarters

By BRUCE MUNN

NINTH AIR FORCE TROOP CARRIER BASE, Eng., June 10 (AP)—Being the Germans were waiting for a breakfast, and stayed for the moonlit landing zone below.

As one side-winged troop carrier swooped silently across an enemy-held town a cloud blotted out the moon. In the temporary blackout the glider crashed to a grinding stop.

The nose was flipped up and troops poured out expecting to run for the glider off trees and buildings. To their amazement, Col. Ralph Bagby, Evansville, Ill., related today, they found themselves on the roof of a large building.

Working their way gingerly down through the building they discovered that it was German headquarters for the area! The German garrison, rubbing its eyes, tumbled out of its beds and surrendered.

This was only one of the D-day adventures of the air-borne troops which were being told around this base as glider pilots arrived back in England, the units they had dropped back of the German lines now joined up with the forces advancing from the beachheads.

Bagby, a multi-airforce veteran attached to headquarters, made his first parachute jump in the night operation which opened the invasion. He reported "losses for paratroopers and glider units apparently were extremely light, but there were a few German dead."

When glider pilots in the first group to return said the enemy troops encountered appeared extremely youthful. The airborne operation achieved complete surprise, they said. That it's entered one enemy pool and found the table set for breakfast, and stayed for the moonlit landing zone below.

Including fresh eggs and milk. Lieut. Charles B. Dillingham, High Point, N. C., said the breakfast already is "so well cleaned up it looks like our boys have been waiting there for weeks."

Order COAL now

The new Government regulations require that all dealers take their Coal shipments over a 12 month monthly allotment. This means that your dealer can't store your next winter's coal for you.

If you haven't already done so — call your dealer NOW and place your order for as much Coal as you'll need for the winter. Deliveries are slower, less frequent. So as your dealers say — BE HAFY, order promptly. Then don't be too impatient if your orders are a bit slow in coming. Do your part — We'll do ours — Be ready when next winter comes.

A CANDIDATE For GOVERNOR

who has a constructive program for the development of Idaho!

More so now than at any time in the state's previous history, it is important that we get Idaho's affairs in proper order. The burden of war and the tremendous responsibilities that will come with the return of peace, make it imperative that inefficient and slipshod methods of state government give way to business-like administration.

We cannot expect to continue with a system of state taxation that's extravagant, when federal taxes needed to finance the war and retire the national debt almost stagger the imagination.

We cannot afford to maintain our courts and law enforcement agencies on one hand and then permit their functions to be nullified by politicians serving on state pardon boards and prison administrations.

It is folly to attempt to build and maintain a state highway system with a department that's reorganized with inefficient help at every change of administration, merely to pay off political obligations.

It is equally ridiculous for Idaho to attempt to build and maintain an efficient state police force when the department's personnel likewise is constantly undergoing a turnover as a clearing house for political patronage.

Nor should we go on year after year without remodeling our school system, which everyone in Idaho knows is out of gear with the times and is becoming more of a problem annually.

It also should be apparent to the people of Idaho that our security as a state is being endangered by our tendency to depend too much on the federal government. We have the resources and the opportunities to become one of the most progressive states in the union if we'll only stand on our rights, demonstrate our initiative, and get our state affairs in order.

W. H. (Bill) Detweiler — successful farmer and livestock grower, representative from Jerome county during three sessions of the state legislature, a veteran of the last world war, and a recognized leader with courage and determination — is one candidate for governor who has a constructive program, clearly stated, that offers a solution to all of Idaho's major problems.

If nominated, elected and given the support of the people, Bill Detweiler will be just the type of governor Idaho needs during the trying times that lie ahead.

All political flag-waving to the contrary, he can be counted on, not only to force the issue on needed reorganizations in state government, but to perfect plans that will afford greater opportunities for the men and women who will return to Idaho from the armed forces.

There has been a lot of talk about what should be done in Idaho. Now's the time for action! To get action, Idaho needs a man like Detweiler for governor.
