Race for Senate Deadlocked With 10,258 Tie Vote

BOISE, June 15 (UP)—Tabulation of returns trickling in slowly from isolated precincts gave the lead in Idaho's hotly contested Democratic senatorial primary election race alternately today to the incumbent, D. Worth Clark and the former cowboy troubadour, Glen H. Taylor.

Unofficial returns from 723 of the state's 845 precincts put Taylor in the lead, 10,116 to 10,091.

With eight fewer precincts tabulated Clark had been ahead, 10,017 to 10,067.

The lead has switched a half-dozen times and it was apparent that the victor in Tuesday's balloting would not be known certainly until the official canvass starting June 24.

Many Idaho communities are unconnected with the main vote by telephone and their remoteness makes difficult an unofficial canvass.

Lead Changes

Since counting began, the lead has changed frequently. Initially, Taylor, Clark and James H. Hawley, Boise, political newcomer, were tied in third place with 9,046 votes for 76 precincts.

Taylor, later left at the altar in favor of Republican candidates in general elections, was in San Francisco was job to seek his third senatorial nomination.

He studied the McGee, his loss, this campaign and packed his guitar in his suitcase. He later was accompanied by his wife, Doris, and tumbled on, and, previous campaign strategy, but Taylor went about singing a few rangeland ballads on stage.

The former cowpuncher and radio entertainer is an avowed Roosevelt supporter. He has been a vocal foe of the administration on major legislation.

Clark, who was the Democratic candidate last year, is the incumbent.

BOISE FALLS OFF; TOTAL $331,167

Second day of the fifth war loan drive in Twin Falls county showed a total of $331,167, only $47,264, only one-third of Monday's record tally, R. J. Schenckman announced Thursday afternoon.

Totals for Monday and Tuesday now stand at $331,167.

Under the drive, which lasts until July 6, is $250,000, or approximately $100,000 a day. General comment caused by election day is believed to have partially accounted for the second day slump.

"Those B-29 Super-Fortresses that are bombing Japan cost a fortune to build," said Chairman Schenckman, "and a fortune to operate and maintain. However, no expense is too high in this all-out struggle. If we could see the hardship our people are in, we would do it all, as well as other theaters of war, as they are, today, there wouldn't be a slumping of the drive."

The 25,000 residents in Twin Falls county, that $100,000 a day needs need not be a ceiling by any means. It is a goal, and the drive must represent our greatest financial sacrifice in the war, besides being one of the best investments on the market today."

The three-day total of sales reported by city workers was $62,251 at 5 p. m. Wednesday, Mrs. R. L. Reed, city chairman, announced Wednesday's city sales, reported by 100 workers, was $22,251, $33,815, Mrs. Reed said.

The figure of $22,251 for Wednesday is obviously a record, Mrs. Reed explained, "for the very reason that it was the first time many cash-backs during evening hours. Actually, the larger part of sales are made after dinner hours in Twin Falls."

Enemy Mainland Smashed In First Assault by B-29 Raiders, Target a Secret

WASHINGTON, June 15 (UP)—American "Super-Fortress" B-29 bombers today attacked Japan proper in what Gen. George C. Marshall hailed as the opening step in a new-type offensive against the Japanese.

The raid on the enemy's homeland—the first carried out by American airmen since the famed Doolittle raid of 1942—was announced by the war department in a brief statement which gave no details but said merely:

"B-29 Super-Fortresses of the United States army air forces 20th bomber command bombed Japan today."

The war department did not reveal the targets attacked in Japan.

The army air forces completed development of the B-29 Super-Fortress and brought it into production with the primary purpose of using it to attack Japan.

In the early days of the war Japan extended the outer perimeter of her defenses so far that the Japanese homeland was out of effective reach of American or allied bombers. The Tokyo raid in April, 1942, was spectacular but uneconomic.

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, said today's Super-Fortress attack on Japan was made from "distant bases" and introduced a new type of offensive against the enemy.

The first announced raid by the new B-29's came at a time when U. S. forces were pushing back the enemy throughout the Pacific. Only today the Japanese reported that American forces had landed in the Marianas island—only 1,500 miles from Japan and a doorway to American re-entry into the Philippines.

NAVY NAVIGATOR IN 3 CRACK-UPS

JEROME, June 15.—Hume on leave from the Pacific theater, after 370 actual combat hours and 69 missions in which the Japs came mighty close to making my fodder out of him, is a Jerome June 21, who has been in the service more than three years, and is anxious to make better impressions on the "little brown devil" armor plate.

"My most exciting experience? Well, some included three crackups in which the Japs were total wrecks, and being chased for 20 minutes by enemy fighters close on my tail was no fun either," the navy aviator gaily said.

"There was a very 'interesting' occasion, though, which occurred when we ran into four Jap cruisers and six destroyers in a dense fog, and the confusion from our bombs exploding forced our plane from 100 to 500 feet in the air."

"Jap" is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August Timm, Jerome, and he has a brother who is also fighting the Japs, Leonard H. Timm, 27, who joined the navy Oct. 29, 1943.

"Jap" spent 11 months in the Albatross area at bombardment on Catalina flying boats after completion of his boat training at San Diego. He studied navigation in Seattle and then went to the Solomon Islands as a navigator on a Ventura medium bomber. After his present leave is over he will report to Seattle to be assigned to another squadron which will go to a battle front.

Leonard joined his ship, training at Parrisburg and was then sent to a training ship at Shennaker, Calif. From there he departed March 26, 1944 for New Caledonia. In early May of this year he was transferred to the U. S. cruiser.

DETAIL FOR TODAY

Square-Knot Admiral

A SQUARE-KNOT ADMIRAL is a platoon leader in a boot camp. Invariably he is a mere boot himself who has been detailed as a platoon leader because of some previous military training. At first, the SQUARE-KNOT ADMIRAL has visions of obtaining a promotion—but after his experience in boot camp, he is likely to lose all ambition for becoming a platoon officer. The SQUARE-KNOT ADMIRAL usually finds himself in the uncomfortable position of being very unpopular with the other men—and after boot camp finds himself faced with the problem of getting back into the good graces of the men who had previously been in his charge.

SECRETARY SEES HEAVY WAR COST

When a report such as Naples is captured, everything is found to be a mass of twisted metal," the secretary declared. "I'm told it will cost 25 millions to restore Naples for military purposes alone."

He said it costs $400,000 monthly to transport pentellin by plane to the armed forces abroad, and that next year 40 millions will be spent distributing DDT, a drug to combat the carrying insects.

"I have assurance," he declared, "that the men and women all over the United States will spread the message of the fifth war loan's need, and that we will be successful in making the money our armed forces need so badly."

FFA Loan Plan Talked at Picnic

A report on loan system used for project work and also a discussion of the fertilizer test plot featured during an outdoor business session of the Twin Falls chapter, Future Farmers of America, Wednesday evening at Dixie lake.

Guest at the session was Dean Broadhead, for two years the chapter's instructor. He was presented with a billfold as a gift of chapter members. Broadhead had been scheduled for induction into the army but new rules stayed his induction and he is now a field man for the Dean Growers association.

Motor boat riding and swimming featured amusement. Refreshments were served.

A paralysis which may last for several months can be caused by crossing the legs, according to an eminent doctor.

NEW WAR WORKER SICKNESS FOUND

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
CHICAGO, June 15 (AP)—A new exhaustion disease, interesting to everyone who is putting out extra war effort, was reported to the American Medical Association today by Dr. J. M. Nielsen of Los Angeles.

The new disease is one that is likely to collapse, it comes on suddenly, an exhaustion that deep sleep cannot continue any activity for the moment.

That said, it is only the beginning. The exhaustion continues, muscles waste, become tender or painful and there may be temporary paralysis and loss of weight.

Rest Required
Months of complete rest are required for recovery. And, before recovery, the patient is not careful to keep from overdoing the peculiar disease may descend upon him again.

One case was a bus driver, who spent his spare time in a warehouse stacking heavy sacks. In May 1942 the driver hit him in the chest. This year before he was able to open another case his hands. At the same time he began to regain weight.

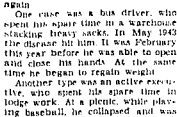

Another case was an active executive, who spent his spare time in lodge work, at a picnic, while playing baseball, he collapsed and was down for months.

A third type was represented by a 14-year-old girl, who tried both gymnastics and diving to reduce weight. Her trouble lasted for more than two years, principally because each time she got better, she resumed gymnastics and diving.

War emotions need watching. Not everyone is able to stand emotional strain, a fact brought out in a study by Doctors Martin G. Verhulst and Zachary S. Sarnoff, New York City. They found that emotionally immature persons when under emotional strain develop physical disorders, such as abdominal pain, nervousness, nervousness, nervousness, and some other diseases which are not ordinarily associated with war.

The proof that nothing except emotions was the cause of these illnesses was the fact that when the patients got well when the doctors tried to make them realize that emotional conflicts were their only troubles.

MAN ADMITS PEN ESCAPE N 1924

DENVER, June 15 (AP)—A man with a pet, subject under a custody in city jail, waiting for a Joliet, Ill., officer to take him back to the Illinois state prison from which he said he escaped 20 years ago while serving a life term for triple murder.

The 44-year-old man has lived in Denver 18 years as Albert W. Bush. When detectives arrested him at his home yesterday at the request of Illinois Prison Warden Joseph S. Rogers he admitted his true name is Herman Coppes and that he was convicted on the death of Mr. Emanuel Silver, Elgin, Ill., and his two children when he was 14.

But, Capt. James E. Childers said the man wanted extradition and readily admitted he escaped from the prison after serving 11 years of his sentence, but denied he was guilty of the slayings.

Children, since Coppes as saying he came to Denver in 1924, married in 1925, became the father of six children, worked at odd jobs, drew relief payments for a while and was employed the last three years by a Denver firm fabricating naval vessels. Police records show he was arrested the times on various charges in the last 18 years.

Neither his wife, who filed suit for divorce several weeks ago, nor his children have visited him in jail.

Small Employer Ruling Due Soon

To clear up misunderstandings concerning the application of the recently referred provisions of the new WPA program which goes into effect July 1, A. M. Meeks, U. S. employment service manager, here released the following statement made by A. J. Tillman, state war manpower director:

"It is true that agricultural employers are exempt, but the exemption of employers of such or seasonal workers in the various states."

"As soon as consultation with the members of the management-labor committee have been completed a determination on this question will be made for Idaho."

Sub Hits Vessel NEAR U.S. COAST

BOSTON, June 15 (AP)—The first appearance of a German submarine off the north Atlantic fishing banks in two years was disclosed officially today with the arrival in port of a fishing trawler, stopped by gunfire. There were no casualties.

During a press interview held with the 21-man crew, the first naval district said it was the first time in two years a German submarine had been sighted off the northeastern fishing banks.

The trawler Lark was subjected to seven salvos from a deck cannon and then raked with machine-gun fire. Capt. James L. Abbott, 35, Dorchester, Mass., said. The submarine sailed from the sea while his ship was being moved from one fishing ground to another. There was a full moon.

Captain Abbott was in the pilot house and saw it on the starboard quarter.

He summoned all the men who were sleeping and they came tumbling up on deck," he said.

"I thought the submarine was a full moon."

Clemency Given

Falls tourist cabin, was continued for six months Thursday morning by Probate Judge C. A. Bailey at a preliminary hearing.

At a session from County Prosecutor Everett Swenson, Judge Bailey continued the action and released Van Brunt after he promised to support his family to the best of his ability. Should he live up to his promise, charges will be dismissed at the end of six months, Judge Bailey said.

Van Brunt was returned here last Friday from Tooele, Utah, after being arrested there at the request of Sheriff W. W. Lowery. Waiving extradition, he was brought back by Deputy Silas Olvens and Patrolman Fred Zimmerman. At arraignment, Van Brunt was placed under $1,000 bond on both counts.

Nevada was represented by Warden Harry Elliot, Idaho officials attending were Herman Koyne, range examiner, Havelly Hill, conservation officer at Juntura, and Groves Davis, conservation officer at Fairview.

General Minidoka deer ranges in both Idaho and Nevada. In order to set proper seasons and regulations, the hunters harvest in the best interests of the herd and available feed. Two states are necessary to protect and lay down the groundwork for deer cooperation in management.

Dates for the 1944 hunt in Idaho will be set by the state fish and game commission at a meeting in Boise June 8.

ON THE SPORT FRONT

A little booklet arrived at Yr. Old Sport Service's desk the other day which is a fair way to revolutionize the piscatorial art — 60 fish and game facts. It's called "Wise Fishing Calculations."

Obviously the party goes almost immediately get on the telephone and called Rod Drexler, the fishing expert who serves as a guide for the Southern Idaho Pan-Ang Association.

"Let's see something new that beat your fishing barmeter!" the ancient and pudgy fairly roared.

"Maybe you have, but I stick with my barmeter," replied Rod.

Why last Sunday's fishing trip told me to stay away from the lakes and streams and I didn't take it as advice with the result that I got almost nothing. So even with a high-powered barmeter of the type known as Lard's Indicator, he said with all his gadgets he couldn't induce the trout to bite with any degree of success.

"YGSB had a comeback. 'Why this fish won't even take a hook to catch a fish' mind," he said.

"That was the bulk that even Drexler can't beat," he said, "but for the doors of the Times-News newsmen were swinging open and coming in was the fisherman's barmeter."

"Let's see that gadget that reads the fish's mind!" he said.

"It's not a gadget—it's a book," the old expert's former corrected. "It's called 'Wise Fishing Calculations' and it's the best thing I've ever seen in the progress. In equipment to overcome the mysteries of fish and an expert's art in reading the fish's brain."

Drexler grabbed the book, thumbed through the daily fishing charts on the inside and turned to the front.

"Look here—what I tell you!" he shouted, pointing to a picture on the front.

He and barmeter: There was a picture of Drexler's fishing barmeter—directions for its use and all!

to as "white flies," which transmit the disease known as "curly top." Did you know that these same house flies are also responsible for the "curly top" in your garden? Did you know that because of "curly top" tomatoes, beans, squash and other vegetables do not produce good crops? Do you know you have despaired of growing tomatoes or some other vegetable because of this disease?

W. E. Shull, extension entomologist for the University of Kentucky, says that the "curly top" of tomatoes, beans and other vegetables can be obtained where leafhoppers are abundant if adequate control measures are applied. The best control is to destroy the leafhoppers.

strains of field beans. Tomatoes can be grown with the use of this cloth or paper covers, as described in mimeo-leaflet No. 50 (All-India Agricultural Experiment Station). For further information agent, can supply you with a copy of this leaflet.

Green beans, table beets, and other susceptible vegetables can be protected by frequent application of lime-sulfur-pyrethrum spray. Small amounts of this spray may be prepared from the following formula: Dry lime-sulfur, 1½ ounce; pyrethrum extract, three teaspoons; water, one gallon.
