captured Longraye, seven miles northeast of Caumont; Lambert, two and a half miles northwest of Caumont; Chemin De St. Lo, four and a half miles northwest of Caumont; Bretel, three and a quarter miles northeast of St. Lo; and Hildehour, four miles east northeast of St. Lo D'Ouville, on the west coast. Bradley's first army includes at least two army corps and eight of the 14 allied divisions known to be in Normandy.

Against the 300,000-odd allied soldiers in Normandy, German Marshal Erwin Rommel has massed at least 18 divisions, with all their five 150-mm. panzer, two ordinary panzer and four infantry—arrayed against the British between Caen and Tilly-sur-Seuille.

Rommel will break off his counter-attacks against the British wedge across the Odon river south-west of Caen last night and British infantry patrols re-entered Breteville, hinge of the British wedge and focal point of the German thrusts, to find it clear of the enemy but heavily booby-trapped.

Ronald Clark, United Press war correspondent, reported from the front that at least 25 German tanks were knocked out in yesterday's counter-attacks, combined with 40 on Saturday.

With the smashing of the last enemy resistance on Cap De La Hague northwest of Cherbourg, allied headquarters revealed that the Americans alone have captured 42,000 German prisoners. The number taken by the British was not disclosed, but was known to be in the thousands.

German casualties in killed, wounded and captured were believed to total 90,000 to 100,000—equal to six to seven pre-war full strength German divisions or eight to 10 at present strength. During the first four weeks of the invasion, the allies also have captured territory almost equal in area to Rhode Island or nearly half that of Delaware, knocked out 300 enemy tanks and destroyed 600 to 900 German planes.

Harbor Wrecked

Maj. Gen. Cecil Ray Moore, chief engineer of the U. S. forces in the European theater, told newsmen on his return from Cherbourg that the Germans "did a clever job of demolitions" in the harbor there.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLWIND

CHICAGO, July 1.—In framing the 1944 Republican platform, the master masons that ran the Chicago Tribune picked out the basic Roosevelt reforms that they have decided to approve as permanent and acceptable modifications of the social and economic structure of the United States.

The opposition to Roosevelt's program has been extended to far-reaching changes in foreign policy as well as to radical revision of the nation's future domestic program.

That central fact stands out as far more important than minor differences between the threatening of the G. O. P.'s revolution and the credo which Roosevelt will add to the platform.

Whereas Herbert Hoover once offered a house, a car and a dog on the porch, the Democrats will, in effect, hold out the issue of two houses, two cars and two dogs. It will be 1928 in reverse—that early year when the Republican platform was a house of cards.

COMPROHENSIVE—New Dealers will, naturally, denounce the platform written here as "well-worded, sophisticated and misleading." The party in power will try to outstrip its opponents in pronouncing bigger and brighter things.

NORWAY FIGHTS

From time to time, dispatches from the European front mention casually that "allied planes or units or craft, participating with the Anglo-Americans in some enterprise if we think at all, we assume that fighting French, or Polish, or perhaps Belgian or Dutch are in action. Probably they are not so far away."

Norway was enslaved early, but she saved many of her ships and men, and these have been and are doing yeoman service in the cause of democracy.

When the shipping bottleneck threatened to cheat us of victory, Norwegian merchantmen appeared off Norway, crewed by gallant and experienced seamen.

When Normandy was invaded the allied spearhead included Norwegian destroyers and other naval craft, the transport service that landed and evacuated and maintained supplies to the Normandy beaches was augmented by Norwegian merchantmen that had long eluded Nazi submarines in the Atlantic.

Lighter bombers and bombers, manned by Norwegian crews, participated in the air phase of the invasion.

Even in exile Norway has proven a valuable ally.

The people at home have kept up a constant and annoying pressure against their conquerors, and there is every reason to suppose that, if the allies ever decide to invade through Norway, they will get very useful help from well-organized fifth columns of patriots.

There are very much on the alert. Nazi-controlled newspapers tried to distort invasion facts to belittle what is happening in France. The rapidly and thoroughly with the underground, and these conditions indicate the ease with which saboteurs, guides, guerrillas can be brought into the picture when we need them.

Norway has been under a tiny, intensive, peace-loving nation cannot live out itself in the midst of total war. Like Denmark, Holland and Belgium (the last in two weeks).

Sweden, Spain, Portugal and Switzerland escaped this time. They must know now that they can never again be so fortunate.

Unless it is the Soviet Union, the little nations of Europe to be, in future, among the most diligent cultivators of anything that will help to avoid a World War III.

MILK DOWN DRAINS

The Christian Science Monitor, which is no Catholic paper, has been pouring down around Boston milk is being poured down drains, because of government regulations, while eager consumers are short on milk, cream and cream.

The Monitor says that the government order, limiting milk dealers from selling more than a prescribed percentage of the June, 1943, sales, leaves them with a surplus now that green pastures have increased production.

They can't legally sell the surplus. They could give it away, but that would involve violating public health laws.

The creation of planned economies, on paper, looks good. Their administration can be pretty difficult.

MAIL CENSORSHIP

Australia is disturbed about misuse of information obtained in the process of censorship. Such material has been used as evidence in prosecuting rationing offenses and in checking tax evaders.

This has a familiar ring. Details differ, but in Australia, as here, American censors out of our letters have been used for purposes which have no slightest connection with the national security.

Our contention that censorship can be legitimate in only two things, preventing militarily harmful material from passing; and second, extract information bearing upon sabotage or espionage. For no other purpose, however worthy, should censorship be utilized.

CUPID PRESSING ALL-OUT OFFENSIVE

Bachelors and unmarried women over 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

Maybe this means that American youths are not letting themselves be lured by the war.

When they refuse to concede that everything should stand still until it is over, they have gone about the wholesome, normal business of getting married and having children.

In wartime that takes something of the ruggedness of the phony war that has faded forever from the American scene.

One nice advantage poor folks have is they can pick their own friends.

ON THE SPORT FRONT

Ye Olds Sport Scrivener has always been interested in that great bulk of a man with a pig nose as a sportswriter. He has been as efficient and graceful as a bull dog in the ring. But more so, he has been a good sportswriter. In Idaho, where the big fellow was discovered after he had been turned down by major league clubs as a California hurling pitcher.

He was from Idaho that Walter Johnson went to become the greatest pitcher of all time as a member of the Washington Senators. Some of his second team probably will never be equaled, such as his three shutouts, his four days in four days and a better performance than the previous one. His 3,497 strikeouts in 21 years; his 50 consecutive complete games; his 16 straight victories and his 113 shutouts.

But it is his 1914 season which is most interesting and naturally so will you be, Johnson left about it of the Sporting News. "What baseball" in answer to a query: "How did you start playing baseball?"

"I started pitching for Pullerton, Calif., high school," related the hurler who pitched for his many years and to which he retired after several years with the Yankees and Cleveland in the majors, and Newark in the International League. "I lost the first game, 21 to 0. The catcher just couldn't hold the ball, so next time I played that team, the catcher went to get a catcher. I shut them out 15 to 0. In 15 innings, that was a great game. The other team had a grand slam. The other team had a grand slam. The other team had a grand slam."

"I pitched a game for an old fellow against a team from Los Angeles. I was about 16 then, and the pitcher was a great one. He was Captain Dillon, or so he seemed, and he pitched to McGraw. That was a lot of fun. I pitched a game for a team from Los Angeles. I was about 16 then, and the pitcher was a great one. He was Captain Dillon, or so he seemed, and he pitched to McGraw. "I got an offer from Walter, Idaho, to come up and pitch, and I went. I pitched a game for a team from Los Angeles. I was about 16 then, and the pitcher was a great one. He was Captain Dillon, or so he seemed, and he pitched to McGraw. That was a lot of fun. I pitched a game for a team from Los Angeles. I was about 16 then, and the pitcher was a great one. "I said I guessed 14 pitches for the team, and he just laughed. I pitched a game for a team from Los Angeles. I was about 16 then, and the pitcher was a great one. He was Captain Dillon, or so he seemed, and he pitched to McGraw. That was a lot of fun. I pitched a game for a team from Los Angeles. I was about 16 then, and the pitcher was a great one. "That's that, except—Ye Olds Scrivener wonders if there is any one here who has seen Johnson as an Idaho pitcher. If there is, hurry! Hurry! This column is yearning for you!"

Clover, Jerome and Hunt got off to a winning start in the opening games of the new junior baseball league Sunday. Clover defeating Curry, 13-7. Jerome winning the Twin Falls Legion, 11-4, and Hunt triumphing over Filer, 22-9.

The league will play games twice weekly until Aug. 20, when it will be disbanded to make way for the opening of school and the start of football practice, in which many of the players will participate.

The games Sunday were witnessed by fine crowds, indicating this area still desires the national pastime.

Jerome Wins On Big Inning

JEROME, July 3.—One big inning, during which eight runs were scored, was all that Jerome needed to win the Twin Falls Legion Juniors in the opening game of the new junior baseball league here yesterday. The score was 11-4.

For that matter, the fourth, Coach Gene Osterlander's lead played the Jerome team on even terms. But the Jerome hurler, allowed the Legion only five hits and only one of them in the sixth frame when McCracken tripled and Wagner followed with a single.

Errors Hurt Burkhardt Phil Burkhardt, chunky little left-hander, pitched for 12 innings, but better off than he would have been if he had pitched for 12 innings. He was out of the game after the third frame, and the pitcher continued to pitch for the rest of the game.

Jerome tied the score in the third inning with two runs on singles by Patton and L. Sherr. Then came the fourth frame when R. Sherr, Patton and L. Sherr all scored and the game was tied.

The final run of the game came in the eighth frame when McCracken tripled and Wagner followed with a single.

Red Sox Win Pair to Cut Browns' American League Lead to 1 1/2 Games

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

Cecil (Tex) Hughson, towering Red Sox twirler, is traveling at a faster pace than he did in 1942 when he won 22 and lost six to lead American league pitchers.

The right-hander gained his 12th victory Sunday, blanking the leading Browns with six hits to give Boston a 10-1 triumph in the opener. The Red Sox also won the nightcap, 3-2.

Hughson has pitched 126 innings and has won the past 12 games in 15 starts. His 102 strikeouts, 4-0 better average than his 112 whiffs which led the league in '42.

Cardinals Win Pair The Cardinals, National league leaders, won two games from Brooklyn to extend the Dodgers' lead to six straight. The Cards won the first 2-1 in 18 innings and the second, 4-2, in regulation time.

The Cubs and Phillies put an even break in their two games, Chicago winning the first 2-1, and the Phillies the second, 4-2.

St. Andrew's pitched the Braves 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh in the first game, but the second was halted by Pennsylvania's 5:30 p.m. curfew after eight innings, with the score tied at 5-5.

60 games were scheduled for Monday. Active teams will play double-headers Tuesday.

Local Star Defeats McLaughlin, 3 and 2

POCATELLO, July 3 (P)—Walt Cosgriff, Salt Lake City, the defending champion, finished sixth in the medal play that opened Idaho's 1944 amateur golf tournament yesterday but he breezed through his first-round match without difficulty.

Cosgriff posted a seven over par 79 in his qualifying round, only five strokes better than the 84 that was necessary to qualify in the championship flight of 16.

But he trounced his first-round opponent, Dr. Dwight Lenzi, Idaho Falls, 6 and 5, to establish himself as a strong contender to retain the title he won a year ago. Lenzi posted an 82 in the qualifying round.

Near Carter, Boise, tournament champion in 1941, took medalist honors with an even par 72. He had a narrow squeak in his first-round match, however, edging past Fred North, Pocatello, who had posted an 84 in the medal play, with a narrow one-up victory.

Cosgriff's 79 was a record for the only Idaho player to win his way into the championship round. He shot an 82, but defeated Lenzi, Pocatello, 3 and 2.

Walt Harris, Salt Lake City, 72, won from Jeff Williams, Boise, 6 and 5.

Golden Dome, Boise, (15) defeated Sevelin, Nampa, (84), 2 and 1. Norman Schmitt, Salt Lake City, 84, won from George Pierce, Sun Valley, (84), 4 and 2.

PLANETS GO INTO HIDING IN JULY

By J. HUGH PRUETT
Astronomer, General Extension Division, University of Oregon

Early the planets have now hiding, for in the days of early July only one of those rated as visible to the unaided eye is now at all conspicuous. This is Jupiter, king of the gods, and a royal figure in the early evening western sky, his brightness still exceeding that of any star-like object in the heavens.

The once flaming, blood-stained Mars also appears in the west, but because of his greatly increased distance is only a faint, red star, his waning crescent, still, Mars and Jupiter will be less than one degree apart the evening of July 4, and through field glasses should present an interesting study in contrasting colors.

Look in Solar Rays

Mercury and Venus are hopelessly lost in the solar rays, while Saturn is still too near the sun for good observation. But the evening sky gives us a splendid big planet, and may brighten Mars. Let us start our study of the stars with those in the south as soon as it is dark.

In the southern sky Antares, heart of the Scorpion, is red, throbbing star. Antares is very distant and has a diameter over 400 times that of our sun. Somewhat higher still Altair is easily located, while still higher Arcturus is an orange flame at the lower end of a knife-like figure.

Antares in the West

In the west Regulus, part of the Lion, is in a battle with Mars and Jupiter. High in the north is the brilliant Big Dipper, sliding down the heavens. Bright yellow Capella wags down below the horizon slightly west of due north.

Cassiopeia in the North

Cassiopeia, that striking group of five stars making a rather awkward W, is found rather low in the north. Very high above this we find Deneb at the top of the Northern Cross. Still higher, but nearly due west, Vega shines as the most brilliant star in the eastern half of the sky. Much lower and a little south of east, bright Altair glazes.

On the first clear, moonless night watch for the Milky Way, that glow of summer nights, extending from north to south high across the eastern sky.

Grocers Boost War Loan Drive

Early reports lifting into the Idaho Food Dealers association state today a story that the food distribution industry of Idaho is doing a good job during the fifth war loan drive. Henry E. Vogel, president of the association, said that the association, and here Mendocino, will be able to put more than one into active duty.

Reports were made for July 20th

To Those Who Came In Late: This is the story of what happened to Pinky Harrison after he was killed in a fumble. The scene is heavenly Bend Junction, half-way point between Earth and the just happy. Travelers stay here until they stop looking back to Earth.

XVIII

The day was just outside for Pinky. It worried the old man to watch him worry. A dozen times he tried to drop encouraging little hints to Pinky. First, the fact that Timothy had been down there before. Then, when his mother was sick? I mean, just that time. Pinky only nodded. And then for a while the old man tried just talking about "things"—something how, for all his faults, Timothy was one of the finest men in this world. He reminded Pinky of how, just before Timothy died, he got out of his death bed, lay on his back, and said, "I'm not a saint, but I'm not a sinner either. I'm just a man who's done his best." And then he died and then went back to bed and died. "Timothy," he said, "I'm not a saint, but I'm not a sinner either. I'm just a man who's done his best." And then he died and then went back to bed and died.

Oh, he's energetic enough. Pinky admitted, then with sudden interest, "Look, you don't have to try to sell him to me. I've heard him all my life. Only, I don't know how he is about eternal—"

Everything was worse. God made a great effort at that. Julie said, "Timothy, that's all right. You don't have to put himself out so much to make things so pleasant. But that was because Tim was there—and because Emily was watching. Tim's face so easily and so quickly changed when God talked to him just anybody, like he was one of them."

But afterwards, when Emily and Tim had found their own corner of the porch, the old man just sort of hung around like a lost sheep. Timothy, musingly, "You don't want to turn up the stars a little brighter—have a moment's rest, you know," he started down the steps.

"Want to come, Pinky?" "If you don't mind."

Pinky sat at the base of the large rock that was known as Lookout Point, waiting for God to come down. The old man had gone up to the top of the rock a few minutes before with his father. Maybe it was hours. All time was like that to Pinky. But now he heard him climbing down. "My, that was a job." God was patting a little "Pinky" thing on the head, for chancing the subject, but—

"You're not changing any subject. It's on my mind too, Pinky." "Will Timothy come by this way?" "Should."

"But look—Pinky's gray eyes were filled with tears. You must know what happened! Why don't you tell me?" "Because I don't know, Pinky. I've been afraid to look."

"They sat in silence for a while. Then suddenly, 'Father, why don't you destroy all that mess down there?'" "That's what they don't understand. I'm not a destructive person, Pinky. I've tried. I just can't."

"Oh, if you just got angry a little."

"Oh, I've been angry—" and the old man told him about all the times that he'd brought storms and floods, but how it didn't do any good.

"Let them hit it... he just bought a brand new hat!"

"After all, we're patterned—do I have to do all this to borrow $5 from you?"

"Let them hit it... he just bought a brand new hat!"

As we pray for Their Safety—

Let us send Our Dollars to FIGHT with them—in the 5th War Loan Drive!

Pray for them, America.

Pray for their safety in this fateful hour. Pray for Victory in their bitter, bloody fight for freedom. Pray for their return to us as soon as may be.

A long, hard road lies ahead. There will be many a desperate, heart-breaking day before they reach the end of that road. And many a white cross will mark its course through the tortured battlefields of Europe.

Would that we could do something to help our gallant fighting men in their hour of need! Would that we could do something to express the gratitude in our hearts for the sacrifices they are making for us.

Do something? We can do something. Each and every one of us, right now, can join the fight by purchasing extra War Bonds during the 5th War Loan. Let us support this drive as we have never done before. Let us show our loved ones over there that we are with them heart and soul. Let them know that we are backing them to the limit—to our last dollar.

Yes, to our last dollar. No matter what sacrifices we have to make, let us all invest in War Bonds now—more and more War Bonds—until we have poured out the might of America in overwhelming measure. Now, as never before, your country looks to you.
