

JAP DEFEAT WILL BRING PEACE FOR

(From Page One)
The President's speech early this afternoon... The President revealed that near Juneau, Alaska, "I played hockey for three hours, went out for a walk, caught one halibut and one flounder."

For the most part, his talk was devoted to a serious discussion of the Pacific war and future military and economic developments in the vast area.

Collaboration Needed
"The full talents of our allies will be affected by lack of military collaboration with us," Mr. Roosevelt said. "They too will gain in the national security they will gain economically. They will gain in the peace."

For many years to come, the United States will be surrounded by the peace-loving nations of the world. Among hundreds of millions of men a desire for the right to live their own lives, and they show no evidence of seeking to overthrow the earth with one exception.

"That exception is and has been for many years that of Japan and the Japanese people. Because whether or not the people of Japan follow and approve of what their leaders do, they are nearly a century, the fact remains that they seem to be striving to approach to the Japanese acquisition of the rights of their neighbors and their neighbors' land, and a military and economic control of the Pacific."

"It is an unfortunate fact that years of proof must pass before we can clearly judge a power of the society of nations which seek permanent peace and whose war we can win."

Remove Menace
By removing the future menace of Japan, he said, "we are holding out the light that others in the far east can be freed from the same threat."

"The President said the war in the Pacific is 'well in hand' but he observed: 'I cannot tell you if I knew when the war will be over either in Europe or in the far east or the war against Japan.'"

"It will be over the sooner," he said, "if the people of this country will maintain the making of the necessary supplies and ships and planes, no so long as the day of peace. By so doing we will take our own pocket books and our own children, by so doing we will run a better chance of substantial unity among the nations. Nations is laying more securely the foundation of a lasting peace."

Feline Host and Boise 'Guest' Here View in Accomplishments

By JEAN DINKELACKER

There's competition in catdom, even when one feline is the out-of-town house guest of another. Tuffy, nine pounds of feline grace, covered with white fur, the fluffier because of his Angora ancestry, was getting ready to jump through the hoop for a potted plant of feline.

He retarded the action to arch his back and stretch his ribbon-smooth muscles and thereby lost the spotlight. Visitor steals show. As the hoop was flanked past him, shot up from the floor, through the hoop and landed on the floor again, landing instantaneously from streak of light to handsome cat. Tuffy, shocked, jumped the guest, looked like the original cat that allowed the cat, only with liver as the subtle for gray. Mrs. Ernest White, Tuffy's owner, "saved his face" by telling him to "go ring the bell." Mrs. C. D. Bink, Boise, apologized for Tuffy's scene-matching exhibition.

Then she picked up the cat which she had brought with her from her hotel room before, and placed him on a chair in the dining alcove, while Tuffy was permitted to go through his tricks in the adjoining kitchen.

Does Bell Trick Tuffy marched to the kitchen and sat on his hind feet and reached the bell hanging beneath it, crossed the room to Mr. White, who just out of view of liver as his reward.

She then got a jump, held it tuck in his side and stretched Tuffy to "jump high." Tuffy skinned through the hoop in a jumping, hair or whisker to the wood. Then, in response to "Tuffy, sit," he sat down. He then sat on the kitchen, white tail held high like a flag, and up the stairs he went. He entered Mr. White's den and went to a two-door bed compartment, the door of which were slightly ajar.

Does to Bed On a small white wooden bed he jumped, curled up on the pink cushions, sighed, stretched, and winked his eyes, eyes that have a shrewdness, a plan to him. A picture of the girl friend a pink-eyed, pink-nosed white kitten who resembles him, hangs on his "bedroom" wall.

Pretty soon he got stretched and seems discontented, is watching Jimmy perform.

Walks on Hind Legs Bristled with hair, by Mrs. Bink, Jimmy walked on his hind legs the length of the kitchen, and then the trick several times, spilling the net under by knee-length, in his anxiety for the trick. Jimmy, takes walking, not hopping, to get the action.

Jimmy, 10 years old, and also partly Angora, repeated Tuffy's bell ringing trick, then sat on his hind legs and gave an alert and a trill of his bell as he related his "10 o'clock trick."

Rings for Food You could set your watch by Jimmy's nightly appearance, she said. Promptly at 10 when he is at home, he manages to get into the house, enter the kitchen and vigorously ring the bell until she gives him his nightly snack of bread.

It doesn't matter whether the bigger house company or not, Jimmy rings the bell at 10, and he'll keep ringing till he gets his.

Curfew for Men In Uniform Irks Hero of Guam

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 12 (AP) - Chief Radioman George Ray Tweed, who played hide-and-seek with the Japs on Guam for 32 months, wants to know why a man in the uniform of his country indicating he is willing and ready to die for it should be made to leave public places two hours before civilian.

Tweed ran up against the midnight curfew at a Portland night club when he approached the cashier at 11:35 p. m. to pay his bill. The cashier warned him that he "had 45 minutes."

When Tweed asked why she replied "because you are in uniform."

The 42-year-old hero managed to elude the Japs on Guam from Dec. 10, 1941, when he was rescued by a U. S. warship. He is now visiting in Portland before receiving orders for return to active duty.

Post-Nuptial Parties Among Week-End Social Activities

Parties for recent Twin Falls brides, arranged by out-of-town friends, guests day courtesies planned by different church and civic organizations . . . birthday parties for a number of the very young of the city as well as for some of Twin Falls' early pioneers . . . picnics for club members and their families and parties for numerous visitors . . . all are "on the calendar" as another week of varied social activity comes to a close.

Charming among courtesies Friday was the tea arranged by Mrs. A. S. Benson in honor of her new daughter-in-law, who was formerly Miss Almerne Curtis, San Fernando Valley, Calif. She became the bride of the Benson's on Thursday last and came with him to Twin Falls several weeks ago to make their home at 1128 Hike Lakes boulevard.

Seventy guests attended the courtesies, during which Mrs. Irvin Seest, Mrs. O. W. Witham, Mrs. William Baker and Mrs. O. C. Hall assisted at the tea table. An arrangement of refreshments on a mirrored base, flanked by crystal candelabra, centered the lace-covered tea table.

Mrs. Benson will teach physical education in Twin Falls junior high school when school begins.

Among recent Twin Falls brides who were entertained during the week was Mrs. Lawrence Schaefer, formerly Miss Jenn Harg, who is secretary of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. She was the inspiration for a miscellaneous shower Thursday evening, arranged by Mrs. Ella Tegan and Mrs. O. E. Klaus at the Tegan home in Filer.

The evening was spent playing hearts with honors going to Mrs. Ethel Park. Refreshments were served after the honors had opened and played her gifts.

Another Twin Falls bride of this summer, who was honored at an out-of-town wedding, was Mrs. Bob Kimbrough, formerly Miss Judy Jones. She was the inspiration for a party arranged by Mrs. Jenn Darrow and Miss Norma Harrow at the Darrow home in Buhl. Decorations and refreshments carried out a color scheme of red and white. As did the invitations which were handmade by Miss Norma Darrow. A bride and groom were pictured on each invitation, together with pretty suitable for the occasion.

In contrast held during the afternoon, Mrs. Charlie Hill placed first in the word scramble, and Mrs. Marie Thomas was first in a description of interesting and scenic trips.

Mrs. Kimbrough had to "pay" for each gift from the traveling saleslady, Mrs. Cynthia Hyde, by answering a question correctly.

Mrs. Ruthann Hayes is entertaining a group of friends at a weekend party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hayes.

Saturday evening the guests had a steak fry at the Hayes fireplace followed by a slumber party.

Today they plan a "watermelon picnic" late in the afternoon and in the evening will be served dinner at a table decorated with white napkins and bouquets of summer flowers.

Guests are Joyce McMahen, Elaine Smith and Barbara Simpson, all of Jerome, and Betty Edmundson and Barbara Price, Twin Falls.

A complimentary farewell and welcome dinner will be given this afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lake for their son, Clinton, who arrived Saturday to visit his parents on a 25-day leave, and their son-in-law, Larry Arnes, who leaves today to report to Camp Kohler, Calif.

Clinton will report at St. Mary's, Calif., at the end of his leave for V-5 training. He is a member of the school's training and is going to pre-flight school.

Arnes has been spending two weeks visiting his wife, the former Betty Ruth Lake and their two children, Elaine and Larry Jr.

PLEBE
When he arrived at West Point he was just another "Mr. Doolittle," "Mr. Doolittle," or "Mr. Doolittle," name applied to unknown plebes. He found himself in a world of "sirs" where every upperclassman must be addressed. He was put through the customary plebe catechism.

There was a similar ritual in many changing versions, according to the time, are best specimens of what the "sirs" knew. It is supposed to be: "What do plebes rank?" "Sir, the superintendent, the commandant, the cat, the waiters in the mess hall, the Hell cats, all all the adults in the West Point hierarchy."

What time is it? "Sir, I am deeply honored and greatly humiliated that due to unforeseen circumstances over which I have no control, the most wonderful and hidden mechanism of my superhuman intellect is not working at this time. I am sorry to hear that it is so many minutes, many seconds, and so many ticks, for the 5th hour."

I do not understand! "Sir, my cranium consisting of Vermont and the volcanic lava and Arizona rivers, covered with a thick layer of calcium, is not working at this time. I am sorry to hear that it is so many minutes, many seconds, and so many ticks, for the 5th hour."

One of the current questions in the barracks is, How many cats, On Calhoun? And the correct answer is, "Seven days and a half, but none Calhoun. It may be the story of the seven-day storm that came by the great Central American, and may the coming days be more joyful, but not for me, sir. My four choices be no cats, and your sorrow negligible, and on your last day there be some beautiful felines, some cats, lots of cats, full moon, and plenty of Coca-Cola, but don't be for me, sir!"

The records at West Point prove that this embryo military genius was not according to the glossary of "plebe" slang a "plebe," striving to beat his comrades in the classroom. He was neither a "man" nor a "plebe" in studies nor a "plebe" in the lower sections of his class. He was "plebe" quick to learn, but seemed to be satisfied to remain with the "engineers" in upper sections in academic work. "Plebe" did not appeal as much to him as contraband and activity.

An examination of the actorship ledger gives Cadet Eisenhower these figures: a "plebe" in 1912 he ranked 5th in a class of 212. In 1913 he was 81st in the ranks of 177 members. In 1914 he climbed up to 65th. He was graduated in 1915 as 6th with 164 graduates. Thus he remained huddled in the center of the upper section.

It was in military tactics, strategy, mathematics, historic campaigns, battles, that he showed deepest interest. He revelled in problems of maneuver, organization and movement of armies, the scientific rather than the academic. We find him in drill regulations getting 12.04 out of a maximum of 15 in practical military engineering getting 8.8 out of a maximum of 20. His total proportional rate was 697.04 out of a maximum 840. But all the while he was absorbing the human
