Trapped Remnants of Nazi 7th Army

By VIRGIL FINKLEY
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Aug. 22 (UP) — American troops swept down the Seine river for the channel ports today in a great new offensive that closed for a bare 60 miles the last escape corridor for the fleeing German seventh army in Normandy, while other tank columns were reported half-way around Paris in a lightning thrust to the river Marne.

A light house was lighting swiftly around tons of thousands of battle-weary Nazis caught south of the Seine as the Americans hatched out for the channel and veteran Canadian troops drove eastward along the Normandy coast to within 12 miles of the English estuary.

United Press War Correspondent Richard D. McMillan reported that allied forces tonight "liquidated" the great pocket of encircled enemy troops in Normandy. More than 20,000 Nazis had been captured there up to yesterday and headquarters spokesmen estimated the final "blow" would reach 100,000 killed or captured.

Nazis Launch Attack To Escape Red Snare

By HENRY SHAFROTH
MOSCOW, Aug. 22 (UP) — The Germans have hurled 33 additional panzer divisions—perhaps 60,000 men and 800 tanks—into their counter-offensive below Riga in an all-out attempt to widen the corridor of escape for their pocketed Baltic army.

Moscow broadcast heard in London quoted the semi-official newspaper Pravda as saying that the red army was "firing on and attacking the soil of East Prussia," but the official TASS news agency said the Germans actually had crossed the frontier.

Breck Fagin's negative was underexposed—and so the sea serpent of Mystery Island, which has been a center of controversy for some 15 years, was not seen.

The local theater manager, his wife and a party of friends were vacationing at Lake on July 28 when all at once the sea serpent was sighted. Fagin walked into the Times-News office Tuesday. The claim was made that the sea serpent was seen as long as the moon on a rearing horse.

Japs Appeal for Asia Aid in War Conduct

By The Associated Press
Japan's foreign minister, falling back on a familiar Nazi propaganda stratagem, has called on east Asia's subjugated peoples to support a Japanese "war of life or death" against allied forces pressing in from every direction.

With crushing defeats in the Marianas and New Guinea, plus hand blows from submarines and Superfortresses, to prompt him, Foreign Minister Naramura Shigenobu said yesterday that for east Asia this is a war of life or death which we are compelled to fight for our own existence and independence.

Shigenobu's appeal for help against the aim of our enemies to hold Asia in permanent bondage and exploit it indefinitely.

The Japanese cabinet met and earnestly discussed Sunday's Superfortress raids on the Japanese islands, Tokyo said.

Shigenobu spoke against a back-swinging of the Japanese attitude toward the Kuriles south of Japan to Halim, 3,500 miles to the south. They were offering the way for new invasions.

TALK LIMITED TO PEACE PROBLEMS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (UP)—Current diplomatic problems have been ruled out of the Dumbarton Oaks post-war security talks, it was understood today, and sessions are being concentrated on discussing the basic principles of a peace organization.

Apparently this did not preclude the possibility that consideration would be given to putting at least a part of the projected organization into temporary action as soon as possible, pending decision by the United Nations of whether they will accept the agency to be designated.

Diplomatic quarters actually continued to be in session, but the session was limited to a statement by Sir Alexander Cadogan, the British representative, on the subject of the proposed organization.

It would be folly to delay the conclusion of at least some framework of future international cooperation until the problems of peace confront us with their full intensity.

The conference settled down to its first working session today, following yesterday's opening formal session, and an afternoon meeting as Cadogan, Andre Gromyko, the Soviet representative, and Edward Stettinius, Jr., the American delegate, considered an agenda.

Officially said it was the intention of the conference to limit their talks strictly to evolving plans for an international organization and to avoid any discussion of such issues as boundaries, disputes, and occupation or disposition of enemy territory.

SOUTH PARK BUS CHANGE DELAYED

South Park bus service will continue on present schedule until the city council has taken action by the city council before this time on the new bus service. The request to limit service to every two hours, it was announced by J. Ted Davis, company owner, at last night's council meeting.

At the request of Councilman John Shook, Davis promised to submit a report next week on the number of passengers carried in and out of the South Park area. Davis was of the opinion that even the opening of school and the approach of more inclement weather would not be an appreciable increase in the revenue which he stated was below operating costs when considered on an annual basis.

Expects Demand

Davis stated the fact that the influx of farm workers at the labor camp will set up a greater demand for scheduled service to the camp. His official report will include the extension of the run to the camp as well as the cut in service at a public hearing last week. South Park residents appeared to oppose the proposed change in the number of buses and the route. They are opposing the cut and bearing 149 signatures of residents of the area was filed with City Clerk Charles Larson.

The transportation discussion led to the issue of the city's share of the cost of the bus service. Davis pointed out that several of the streets in the city are in poor condition and that the city's share of the cost of the bus service would be a considerable amount. Sugar Regulations for Canning Surplus Fruit Crop Explained

Consumers living on farms and small acreages who have fruit trees and who wish to process for sale or transfer more fruits than can be processed with their regular canning sugar allotments, may apply to the local war price and ration board for additional sugar allotments, up to 250 pounds. Carl R. Anderson announced Monday.

"This applies to processors not producing enough fruit to be disposed of on a commercial scale," he pointed out.

"This does not mean that every person wishing additional canning sugar will get 250 pounds, by any means, but that up to that amount can be obtained. If the applicant can show that the amount of processed fruit warrants it," Anderson explained.

The CPA ruling provides, also, that if he uses the fruit himself, he must surrender blue points from his own ration book and those of his family, to cover the transfer. According to the point value of home processed foods as shown on the rationer's trade chart, a quart of fruit weighs two points. Fifteen points would be collected for each quart used.

This applies only to fruit that has point values. Applicants for canning sugar for processing fruit for sale or transfer, must fill out application blanks provided at the CPA office, stating the number of pounds of home processed fruit and fruit juices they expect to use in making jams, preserves and marmalades or other processed forms of fruit.

Applicants are required to keep

When War Came We Had All of These:

...but the Enemy had the RUBBER

Synthetic rubber... America's great war miracle... quickly overcame this crisis chiefly with the aid of alcohol produced by beverage distillers

The Japanese conquest of the world's largest natural rubber producing centers produced a grave crisis in America's war effort.

Synthetic rubber was the only solution. The problem... to produce it in time.

America's rubber chemists knew how to make it. But... the most practical process at the time required huge amounts of alcohol... far beyond the already overtaxed productive capacity of industrial alcohol plants.

Fortunately, the beverage distilling industry was in existence in this country with 125 distilleries and a capacity of nearly 250,000,000 gallons annually.

Beverage distillers stopped making whiskey overnight... converted 100% to the manufacture of industrial alcohol. Soon millions of gallons of this vital ingredient were flowing into synthetic rubber plants.

The rest is history.

Synthetic rubber production today is ample to meet our needs for essential civilian and war rubber goods... this emergency no longer exists.

Proof?... the request of Bradley Dewey, Rubber Director, to terminate his wartime powers.

Thank you for your patience!

America's beverage distillers are fully aware of the inconvenience you encountered during the 22 months when not a drop of whiskey was made in this country. For your extreme patience and understanding during this period, they express their sincere appreciation.

CRISIS IN 1942

"If we fail to secure quickly a large new rubber supply our war effort and our domestic economy both will collapse." —Baruch Report, Sept. 11, 1942

ACHIEVEMENT IN 1944

"A synthetic-rubber industry has been established and is in complete operation. It is providing the nation with an ample supply of rubber." —Bradley Dewey, Rubber Director, July 25, 1944

TRIBUTE

Commenting on the beverage distilling industry's contribution, a high W.P.B. official said on April 13, 1944...

- "...it is fair to regard the rubber manufactured to date, as being almost solely the product of the beverage distilling industry."
- "...synthetic rubber is from 6 to 9 months ahead of where it could have been if alcohol had not been available for butadiene production."
- "...an almost unparalleled example of the overnight conversion of an entire industry from peace to war."

SOUTH CENTRAL IDAHO COACHES MEET HERE SEPT. 2

Important Home Run

Way back there in late fourth days there was a sport that was extremely popular with the elite sports devotees. It sold newspapers, it made the eye of the dreaming if you dream never come true.

And that's just the way the pudgy one ferls today he had one of those dream bubbles to burst right in his face. It concerned Princeton Attorney Edward M. Stuebel, who had been a coach for a couple of years. He had a couple of home runs off his bat after the blunder of the Filer and the important his knowledge of the football side in the line of the late there was about to be deprived of the joy of participating in the golden because of the lack of a coach.

After this sacred word publisher had explained the situation to the president, he said: "I'd love to do something like that, but I'm afraid I'm not up to the new football."

Why football hasn't changed so much that a pudgy man couldn't coach it even now, the pudgy one explained. "You got the grounding in fundamentals that you got at Michigan and a half dozen plays—You play—and I'll bet they'll win a game or two."

Yes, that's right—Coach was strong on the fundamentals and we never employed so many plays," Mr. Stuebel answered.

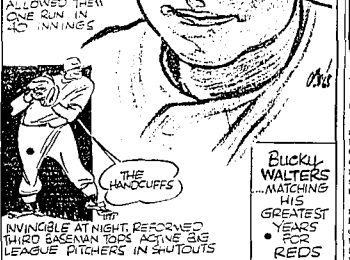

He then said he would consider the proposal and would give his answer the next afternoon.

That gave the pudgy one a vision. His own pudgy and many other newspapers. They flashed: "Old Point a Little Man in a Football Suit as Coach."

"Matt White Never Had Put Blinded to Coach," the headlines read. "The pudgy one had been a coach for a couple of years. He had a couple of home runs off his bat after the blunder of the Filer and the important his knowledge of the football side in the line of the late there was about to be deprived of the joy of participating in the golden because of the lack of a coach."

But what it wasn't to be. The next day, the pudgy one great came into the Filer Sport Center's den and remarked that he had a plan. He had a plan, he said, and he was going to turn down the proposal. "I'm afraid I'm not up to the new football," he said. "I'm afraid I'm not up to the new football."

He then said he would consider the proposal and would give his answer the next afternoon.
