Dewey Assails New Deal "Double Talk" in Answer To FR Communist Denial

By GARDNER BRIDGE
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 7 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey pictured tonight the Democratic administration of President Roosevelt as engaging in "double talk" in his prepared text that the President had "softly" denied that he welcomed the support of any persons or groups committed to communism or fascism.

But, asked Dewey, "doesn't this soft disclaimer come a trifle late?" in view of the recent statement of Earl Browder in New York that "the election of my (Dewey's) opponent is essential to his career."

Second Visit
In an address prepared for his second visit to the West, Dewey said that he was a visitor to an administration which talks out of one side of its mouth about government ownership of our factories, while on the other side of its mouth it softly disavows its communist supporters.

Earlier, after a press conference, the New York governor said in a visit to the nation's greatest bituminous coal producing state, declared himself for legislation to force the industry.

Dewey in his prepared address asserted that it has become "dreadfully clear" that President Roosevelt's administration is "too tired for the job ahead."

A Republican victory in November, Dewey added, "will mean an end to the present administration."

He said, "The answer is right in the record of this administration."

IDS PARLEY GETS PLEA FOR PEACE
SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 7 (AP)—"Unless the nations avoid the evil things that caused this war, there will be a World War III even more destructive, more terrible than the present one," said a spokesman for the LDS Church.

O. McKay told leaders of the Latter-day Saints (Mormon) church today at its 115th semi-annual conference.

George Albert Smith, president of the first council of seventy, declared that the world from political intrigue and cheap demagoguery, from national selfishness, from religious intolerance, from the lust for power and from unholiness, must be brought to permanent peace.

He said, "We should say to our boys: 'Come home in purity because home is the only place where you can be happy.'"

Levi Edgar Young, president of the first council of seventy, declared that the world from political intrigue and cheap demagoguery, from national selfishness, from religious intolerance, from the lust for power and from unholiness, must be brought to permanent peace.

Wendell Willkie Taken By Death

NEW YORK, Sunday, Oct. 8 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie died at 2:20 a. m. this morning at Lenox Hill hospital.

Death resulted from coronary thrombosis.

Announcement of the death of the 1940 Republican presidential nominee was made by his secretary, Lamorne Jones.

Willkie had been in the hospital since Sept. 6. His condition became critical last night and he was placed in an oxygen tent. His physician, Dr. Benjamin Salzer, said a streptococcal infection affected the heart muscles.

His wife, who had been ill with a sore throat, was rushed to the hospital and was with him bedside when he died.

Jones said Willkie awoke at 1 a. m. and the doctor went to his bedside "because there seemed no further use for it."

"When he awoke," Jones said, "Mr. Willkie began to joke with the nurse as she reached his room, commenting when asked how he felt, 'How can I talk with my mouth full of heart muscles.'"

Jones was visibly affected when he made the announcement of the death. Coming out from Willkie's room with his palms up, he shrugged his shoulders and announced in a choked voice:

"It's all over. He went very fast." Mr. Willkie died in his sleep after he had suffered the third of three heart attacks. It was announced by (Continued on Page 3, Column 1)

RAMPANT BLAZE RAZES BUILDINGS

HAYLEY, Oct. 7 (Sunday)—At least 100 buildings were known to be razed and several threatened by a fire which broke out in the early morning hours of control from the headquarters of the Magic dam, 12 miles south of here.

Calls for volunteers from here and other towns have been answered but their efforts at midnight had failed to stanch the fire.

A telephone company line, which was used to save the destruction of wires between here and Paulsboro, was broken.

At an early hour today (Sunday) the burning continued to rage in the house, occupied by Harold Osborn, caretaker, was confirmed.

It could not be determined whether any lives had been lost, but all of the ranches and stock which were believed to have been saved.

TRUMPET WALKOUT ENDED

HAYLEY, Oct. 7—With half of the 170 men at the "Trumpet mine" showing up for work on both shifts today, company officials were of the opinion that the two-day strike was over.

At the opening of the day, a request for a 51-cent shift in wages, came after a brief meeting of union leaders and mine officials yesterday afternoon.

The request was referred to the yet labor board and expected to be decided by the end of the week.

The union's stance until the wage raise was granted, in the opinion of the mine executives, was not yet been approved by the stabilization director.

At the conference yesterday, Charles McNeil, Butte, Mont., representative of the International Union of Miners, Mill and Smelter Workers, and local union head, met with A. M. Jensen, mine superintendent, and other officials.

McNeil said the outcome of the session to the W.L.B. explained by Harry Stevens, assistant superintendent of the mine, the raise constitutes "collier-to-roller pay" for an eight-hour day.

Which includes a one-half hour lunch period. It would boost rates from $18.25 to $21.25 a day.

The Americans drove forward two weeks out of the captured town of Lomino to a point only 12 miles from the German border.

BRITISH ADVANCE TOWARD KEY CITY IN GREEK THRUST

By WILLIAM B. KING
ROME, Oct. 7 (AP)—British invading forces have overrun most of the Peloponnese, home of the ancient Spartans, it was announced today, and allied strafing of Athens' airfields indicated that they would soon cross the Isthmus of Corinth to the Greek mainland.

Behind the liberating Allies came a Greek government-in-exile representative who took over administration of the peninsula and told a crowd clamoring in the north port of Patras for a popular ruler that they needed a king.

King George II, and his government would try to "win the people's choice."

Plains returning from strafing missions, during which they blasted at least a score of German planes, German tanks were in flight from Greece, leaving their air force with no land force protection.

Greek patriots at Patras said that the British phase of the invasion, the drive to the Greek mainland, is well advanced.

Behind them the Germans left a hungry population and Greek puppet security battalions, which have been surrendering readily to the British.

Mustangs and Lightnings swarmed over Greek, strafing and bombing German troops and tanks, and destroying more than 20 planes on the ground.

Whole Front Active
The whole 400-mile front stirred restlessly. The U. S. third army moved in the long-dormant Lorraine sector, cleared Germans from virtually the entire duchy, and was reaching the frontier town of Worms, due east of the capital, as the Moselle river facing the Reich.

Thus two great American armies, their third and fourth, were attacking their assault lines from Holland to northern France, but for the moment, the main thrust was in the west, which was driven toward the industrial heart of Germany along the Rhine.

The power drive, rolling over the lightly fought Ussach sector, miles north of the historic invasion gateway to Germany at Aachen, was reaching the frontier town of Worms, due east of the capital, as the Moselle river facing the Reich.

Between these two sectors, first army troops fighting within 25 miles of Cologne in the Hungen forest, 10 miles southeast of Aachen, were hammering forward three quarters of the way toward the city.

The going was slow and hard, but they were 10 miles inside Germany.

Vast Armada Strikes Staggering Blows at Nazi War Industries

LONDON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Germany's oil supply, armament works, airplane factories and explosives plants were struck today by the greatest allied aerial blow of the war, with combined assaults sending from 6,000 to 7,000 allied planes over the Reich.

A U. S. strategic airforce communique called the American part of the operation "the greatest coordinated aerial assault of the war."

Heavy opposition was reported from tank and enemy fighters, and the eighth air force alone reported 51 heavy bombers and 18 fighters missing from daylight operations.

Tonight several German cities were in flames and there was fresh devastation over the length and breadth of German territory from more than 15,000 tons of bombs cascaded down in 24 hours.

High explosives and incendiaries were dropped on German cities and the next western front, as the weather gave allied flyers their chance to strike.

Nazi Flight Bait
Enemy fighter opposition was concentrated in the Leipzig area, where fortresses were engaged in a brief struggle. German fighters while U. S. fighters shot down 22, including four jet-propelled planes.

Over 1,000 American and British heavy bombers from Britain and the United States, which were sent daylight attacks, which boosted to more than 15,000 the number of bombers which were sent daylight attacks, which boosted to more than 15,000 the number of bombers which were sent daylight attacks.

This is definitely a breakthrough and not a withdrawal. A first army staff officer declared.

Supreme Headquarters, AEF, Oct. 7 (AP)—The fleet U. S. army broke the German stand in the Siegfried line north of Aachen 30 miles from Cologne and the Rhine and swept three miles through wilting resistance in a drive described by a staff officer as a definite breakthrough.

Blacks, infantry, artillery and supplies streamed eastward into Germany in the west wall gap now broadened to six miles, overrunning at least four towns. Swarms of warplanes roamed overhead scouring enemy troops and life-lines and marauding tank destroyers ranged the fields cutting down armored opposition.

"This is definitely a breakthrough and not a withdrawal." A first army staff officer declared.

The Republican candidate for governor, William H. Dworshak, visited the campaign in the local home county of Butte and urged Bottelstein's election to the senate as a man "whose ability would be of value to the nation as well as the state."

TEEN-AGERS HELD IN LIQUOR THEFT

Four Twin Falls teen-ager boys and part of the $500 worth of liquor were taken into custody yesterday by Sheriff Leroy Lowery.

At least one full case of various kinds of bottled whiskey and other of empty bottles was found in the home of the boys.

The boys were taken to the sheriff's and Police Chief Howard Gillette, who cooperated in the investigation. The stock was taken Wednesday night.

Observing a white carrying a full bottle of whiskey on the street yesterday morning, the officers questioned him and accused in rounding up the three other boys. The seven cases had been split into two portions each by a pair of boys.

Sheriff Lowery said that of the liquor which one pair hid in the bottles, the other pair hid in the bottles, the other pair hid in the bottles, the other pair hid in the bottles.

All of the youths are between 16 and 18 years of age. The boys were taken to the sheriff's and Police Chief Howard Gillette, who cooperated in the investigation.

24,000,000 MAIL UNITS SENT FREE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Republican congressmen, criticized by President Roosevelt for making an extravagant expense of $10,000,000 of a political speech today, distributed the question of which party has sent out the greater part of over 24,000,000 pieces of free mail.

Rep. John Taber, R., N. Y., and Oliver Mass, R., Minn., who both ordered franked speeches linking the administration with communism, today declared that Democrats had sent out three times as many party literature as Republican House members.

First Announcement
Chairman Clinton Anderson, D., N. M., of the House campaign expense committee, today first announced the $10,000,000 printing order conferred, however, that more than three fourths of the mail now being handled by the House folding room carries a Republican frank.

"One of the reasons why I looked into this matter," Anderson said in reference to the "Wake Up America" speech by Rep. Fred Dubois, R., Ill., "was this finding for nationwide distribution by 13 Republican congressmen, was that I had heard of large quantities of literature being sent out by Republicans. Within the past month, however, the number has jumped to well above three fourths."

Reports cited
Here it was added, he added, that of the nearly 25,000,000 pieces of literature that have been mailed by Republicans, within the past month, however, the number has jumped to well above three fourths.

Anderson was supposed by an executive of the folding room, which inserts waste and mail, all large quantities of literature that up to Sept. 28 around 24,000,000 pieces had been handled. He said 80 per cent had been ordered by Republicans up to September and about 85 per cent since then.

Two-Man Jap Suicide Submarine Displayed Here Monday

Here's the Jap suicide submarine which Bundles for America, Inc., will bring to Twin Falls for public showing at 1 p. m. Monday. Loaned by the navy, which captured it at Pearl Harbor, the sub will be mounted on a 95-foot carrier. The undersea craft was captured when it became beached on a reef near the island of Oahu. The crew had escaped the officer member. (Staff engraving.)

Crowds Will See Interior Of Tiny 'Sub'

You'll be able to look inside the Jap suicide sub which will be displayed here from 1 to 10 p. m. Monday.

That was announced last night as final plans for display of the sub were completed. The display will be under the direction of Bundles for America, Inc., which has already shown the submarine in 46 states. There here the exhibit goes to Reno, Nev., and then Bundles for America will return the sub to the navy.

Eighty-one feet long, the two-man sub was captured at Pearl Harbor in Twin Falls. It will be shown on Main avenue in front of Woolworth's, according to C. E. McCall, tour director.

Here are some facts about it: Two special properties were attached to the rear of the submarine that enabled it to operate in the water. This increased its speed and also kept it on an even keel so that it would not spin itself within the water.

It carried two torpedoes — each weighing 1,500 pounds and were fired from chambers that had 5,000 pounds air compression. A submarine of this type never rammed its target. After it fired its two torpedoes at two different enemy ships, it would seek its third victim. It would then sink below — at which time the officer would touch off 300 pounds of TNT that would destroy the third victim, the sub and the two man crew — thus the coined name two man Jap suicide submarine.

Officer Captured
The mechanic of this submarine was never found and it is assumed he drowned. The officer in charge when captured was wearing shorts and a samurai Jap sword of honor. He spoke good English but denied he had ever been in the USA, the Philippines or the Hawaiian Islands.

When confronted by officers of the U. S. navy he asked for a gun so that he might destroy himself for he had failed in his mission. U. S. officers had other ideas for him and he is now a prisoner of war.

America of Yesteryear Lives Once More in Old Periodicals

J. E. Gurne looked back into history Thursday through an old business mirror.

In the store-room of the Gurne and Hurley furniture store, he came across a large oval mirror that had been removed from a dresser at some time past. Since it needed no silvering, he ripped the boards off the back.

Out tumbled three yellowed periodicals, two of them two new papers, published in the interests of insurance companies. They bore the date 1902 and 1902 and 1902 and 1902.

"The Mirror," dated April, 1902, and published in Chicago, presented facts of particular interest to fire insurance companies. Here are some tidbits gleaned from a column entitled "Electric Sparks."

GOSSETT SPEAKS AT BLAINE MEET

HAILEY, Oct. 7.—Three Democratic candidates for state offices spoke to the citizens of Blaine county at a meeting here today. With the chairman of the Democratic central committee, C. H. Hobbs, speaking, speakers were introduced by Mrs. M. F. Cunningham.

They were Frank Langley, present assistant attorney general, candidate for attorney general; Ernest J. Hatten, now chief accountant in the state auditor's office, who seeks office as state auditor; and Charles C. Gossett, candidate for governor.

In his speech, Gossett told of Idaho's undeveloped resources and stressed the fact that if elected, he would bring into our state all of these undeveloped resources. In referring to our federal government, he brought forth the fact that, starting from scratch two years ago, America now has the largest and most powerful war machine on earth.

He said that we have built up all of this, and so many of our boys have died and so many of our homes have been torn apart, that now, when we are on the verge of victory, we don't want a man to sit at the peace table who cannot possibly know conditions as the man who has led our nation during the war.

"We know that those who fought in World War I fought in vain because the peace terms were not properly drawn. Do we want this to happen again?" he asked.

Officers who were called upon for short speeches were Asher B. Wilson and Dan Cavanaugh, both of Twin Falls.

over for him. Yeah, I had to rough it up a couple of times before they got to work but everything is under control now. You needn't worry about the yard today. I'll take care of it."

A lone swallow does not make a summer, true enough but now likely we are to believe he does. A happy experience with a child and the whole generation is marvelous; an unhappy experience and the delinquency of this generation is simply terrible and we'll have to pass a law or two.

"On October 13, 1941, I was assigned to the yard today. I'll take care of it."

The yard teacher is not coming today. This father is ill. There will be no school today. Jimmie is down there raising Cain. I growled inwardly and tried to be cheerful. "They'll have to do the best they can down here until I get back" and away to the station house I went, bemoaning the state of the whole generation.

The inspector was genial, something more than ordinary for that old warrior. "Thanks for coming. You are one of your kind. I saw a fellow sneaking into Tony's shop. He waited until he got in and then he held him up there really as ever you saw and cut away over here for help. Jumping down from the second story window, he hurt his ankle. We've had him fixed up but he says his mother would be scared if we took him home and we'd better get you on the job. Good kid. Did a fine job. We've wanted this loafer for a long time. Now we have him."

The world began to look up. These young ones are all right. Imagine the pluck of the kid climbing after that rascal and closing the iron shutter on him, and then going to the station house and as he was I saw that the kid got home tonight and that his mother was not frightened. Then I went down to the yard expecting all kinds of a treat. Instead, everything was attending to business, games were going on, drills were proceeding, everything as smooth as if the teacher were there.

The teacher's place stood Jimmie, who had been raising Cain when the custodian saw him. Jimmie was in charge of 100 odd boys of adolescent age and every one of them was doing his duty joyfully, especially Jimmie.

Women's Dorm Has First Meet
CALDWELL, Oct. 7.—Voorhees hall, women's dormitory at the College of Idaho, held its first regular meeting with Celestine Salmon, Twin Falls, president, presiding.

Discussion was held on motherhood and other activities that the dormitory will hold and participate in during the coming year, and the execution of dues was also discussed with Alice Harris, Wendell, treasurer, explaining the reason for the assessment.

Kila Steen, Gooding, chairman, and Allen Shiraan, Parma, vice-president, were named to make plans for a Halloween party or a concert and the future get-together sometime this month.

A wedding supper was served at the home of Mrs. J. L. Allen, aunt of the bride.

Mrs. Barker is a cousin of Dr. George F. Schuler, Twin Falls, and was graduated from Rupert high school with the class of 1941. Mrs. Barker is a graduate of Albany, N. Y., high school, and enlisted in the navy Dec. 13, 1941. He served 31 months in the south Pacific area, and four months in Alaska, and wears four gold stars on his service ribbon. He is now stationed at San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Barker will join him later. Mrs. Barker has returned to her home in Rupert.

over for him. Yeah, I had to rough it up a couple of times before they got to work but everything is under control now. You needn't worry about the yard today. I'll take care of it."

A lone swallow does not make a summer, true enough but now likely we are to believe he does. A happy experience with a child and the whole generation is marvelous; an unhappy experience and the delinquency of this generation is simply terrible and we'll have to pass a law or two.

"On October 13, 1941, I was assigned to the yard today. I'll take care of it."

The yard teacher is not coming today. This father is ill. There will be no school today. Jimmie is down there raising Cain. I growled inwardly and tried to be cheerful. "They'll have to do the best they can down here until I get back" and away to the station house I went, bemoaning the state of the whole generation.

The inspector was genial, something more than ordinary for that old warrior. "Thanks for coming. You are one of your kind. I saw a fellow sneaking into Tony's shop. He waited until he got in and then he held him up there really as ever you saw and cut away over here for help. Jumping down from the second story window, he hurt his ankle. We've had him fixed up but he says his mother would be scared if we took him home and we'd better get you on the job. Good kid. Did a fine job. We've wanted this loafer for a long time. Now we have him."

The world began to look up. These young ones are all right. Imagine the pluck of the kid climbing after that rascal and closing the iron shutter on him, and then going to the station house and as he was I saw that the kid got home tonight and that his mother was not frightened. Then I went down to the yard expecting all kinds of a treat. Instead, everything was attending to business, games were going on, drills were proceeding, everything as smooth as if the teacher were there.

The teacher's place stood Jimmie, who had been raising Cain when the custodian saw him. Jimmie was in charge of 100 odd boys of adolescent age and every one of them was doing his duty joyfully, especially Jimmie.

"The teacher is away so I took the malnasty of any meal. For war workers, harvest helpers or school children. Drop in, try a loaf and note the finer texture, quality and flavor. You'll like the difference. It's always fresh at—

GERMANY WILL TRY IT AGAIN

By Sigrid Schultz

As an American newspaper correspondent in Berlin from 1933-1941, Sigrid Schultz saw at first hand the events that led from World War I to World War II. And she saw the "behind-the-scenes" preparation for the coming "war-in-peace" that she warns may culminate in World War III. This is the story of Germany's plans to win the peace, plans that even now are being put into effect.

At the time devoted to laying the groundwork for war preparation, Hitler worked tirelessly, strictly adhering to the counsel of the German secretaries, who were chosen by him and his friends for the job designed by the secret general staff.

The main cells in every factory, in every office, in every school, reported regularly to their party superiors, working like termites to undermine the republic. Storm companies organized the men for training and auxiliary party work, while the women were recruited in the Schutz Staffel. Training courses for future political leaders, for men and women, for youth groups, for women, for farmers, for the clergy, for the press and propaganda workers, all under the main creed of German superiority to the rest of the world.

Hitler went back to the underpinning and seizure of Austria, to the weakening of unity among the small powers of the Little Entente, and the big powers of the allies, to the fifth-column activities in France and every other country conquered by the Germans, and you will find the same pattern. Wherever you turn, on one side, only complacency and the sense of the law; on the other, deceit, intrigue and enmity, terrorism and intimidation—every step accompanied by scientifically controlled propaganda campaigns, and financed by the German Reich, carefully co-ordinated body of trained men. That was the system through which the Nazis came to dominate Germany—the Hitler system.

How was the Hitler system applied in foreign countries? Through many channels. There were:

- (1) German or puppeted German living abroad who could be coerced into working for the Nazis.
- (2) Groups won to Nazi thinking by anti-Semitism.
- (3) Groups which felt the need for the Nazi cause, but had no protection against communism.
- (4) Groups believing they could gain higher profits by co-operating with the Germans.
- (5) Occupational groups hoping for success through Nazis. In Germany, had decrees gave the state precedence over the individual. Abroad, they revered the propaganda of nationalism in each group, and they rejoiced when friendly Germans assured them that Hitler's monumental architectural projects would take several generations to complete.
- (6) The World War I veterans. In all countries of the world.

The veterans wanted no more wars—they wanted a lasting peace. At their conventions in the important European cities, they fraternized, and they rejoiced when friendly Germans assured them that Hitler's monumental architectural projects would take several generations to complete.

If one went to the trouble of pointing out indications of imminent Nazi aggression, many of them would burst out, "But the Nazis all say they love peace."

The bulky files of inside information procured by Nazi agents cannot all be destroyed by British, American and Russian bombs. This article can't all be killed in action.
