Yanks Storm Into Aachen Outskirts in Attempt to Forge Circle Around City

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Oct. 9 (UP)—American first army assault forces today battled through the outskirts of Aachen with flame throwers and were expected momentarily to complete the encirclement of the city with a drive across the enemy's last escape road to the northeast.

The escape corridor already had been narrowed to between three and four miles when Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' twin spearheads resumed the offensive at 7 a. m. with advances north from Verlautenheide, three miles northeast of Aachen, and south from Herzogenrath, six miles north of Aachen.

United States War Correspondent Henry T. Gorrell reported from first army headquarters at 10:30 a. m. that a junction of the two forces, clamping Aachen in a steel ring, was believed imminent.

Tanks Push Toward Cologne

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (UP)—A detailed but incomplete plan for maintaining peace by force was presented to the world today by the United States, Britain, China and Russia, and President Roosevelt asserted the task of designing the future security of the world "has been well begun."

The organization of the world to preserve peace and security, Mr. Roosevelt said in a statement, represents "a major objective for which this time is being fought, and which, it inspires the highest hopes of the millions of fathers and mothers whose sons and daughters are engaged in the terrible struggle and suffering of war."

The security organization calls for converting the war-born United Nations into a permanent peace organization backed by powerful armed forces, including special detachments capable of lightning blows against any future aggressors.

Announcement of the security organization was made at a general assembly of all "peace loving states," a security council of 12 nations would have final authority on all uses of force; an economic council would work out the world's economic life; an international council of justice would settle disputes.

The plan also called for a general assembly of all "peace loving states," a security council of 12 nations would have final authority on all uses of force; an economic council would work out the world's economic life; an international council of justice would settle disputes.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLWIG

(Now on tour, surveying political and recreational situation in Idaho.)

ALBANY—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's keenest political surveys have assured him that he will carry the home state of the major presidential candidate in at least 100,000 majority and therefore by corollary his ticket of 47 electoral votes. Without violating any confidence it can be said that the Republican candidate will not be surprised if he led his opponent by nearly 200,000.

First performance of the two men on their home battleground under the eye of the public, which was the first newspaperman's show. In 1940 President had a margin of 722,000 to the nation's vote, and Dewey took the counterattacks from Wendell Willkie by only 224,000.

The GOP summer came down to the Bronx with a majority of only about 500,000.

When Mr. Dewey ran for governor two years ago, he reached the city's border with an out-state lead of 47,000 after adding the American Labor party's vote to his Democratic opponent's regular party vote. Counting that same batch of ballots, he just the metropolitan vote by 47,000. His over-all tally was 243,000.

The governor expects to demonstrate his political popularity in native regions against a new opponent. He suggests that his lead in New York and the Midwest may be as high as 100,000 to 200,000. He has traveled in Idaho, as well as the rural friends he has formed, and he will make a far better showing than did the still-circulating political Mr. Willkie. The latter's violent and explosive campaign tactics did not appeal to the folks of the northern and central counties who are essentially conservative and transplanted Yankees from New England.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S SANGLE

NEW YORK—Do you remember the time Pauline kicked the old family coachman?

Pauline has been running around the city and back and forth for a long time. He had been brought up by his mother who said she decided to let him go. He was a hood not to cross her. He was a hood not to cross her. He was a hood not to cross her.

Pauline kicked the old family coachman. He was a hood not to cross her. He was a hood not to cross her. He was a hood not to cross her.

CROPPER ON THE FIRST HURDLE

The Dumbarton Oaks conference has begun its second phase with conversations among the American, British and Chinese delegates. The first phase, in which Russia participated and China did not, was scheduled for three weeks, but continued for six. The closing closed about as much excitement as the end of the baseball season in Philadelphia.

The reason for the lack of excitement was that the public knew very little about what was being accomplished toward finding a basis for a world security organization. Under Secretary of State Stettin's assurance that the world that progress was made and much unanimity of purpose achieved. But satisfaction in this is offset by the puzzling and persistent reports of a major point of disagreement.

This has to do with the proposed world organization's procedure. If one of the major powers is accused of aggression, Russia is threatened to have insisted on the accused power's right to vote on the accusation. This country and Britain reportedly favored the denial of that voting right.

The present proposal for a world security organization would require a unanimous vote of the permanent (major power) members and a majority vote of the smaller power members on the executive council before action could be taken.

But a great power, accused of aggression and allowed to vote, certainly would not vote itself guilty.

According to one of the great powers, the clear aggressor, the world security organization would be powerless to act. The elaborate machinery of arbitration, sanctions and force could even get started.

Behind the instructions of any world force council, such a provision would certainly commit the framers of the world security plan to a policy of one set of laws for the little powers, and a different set for the big ones. That's scarcely the way to build the foundations for a peaceful commonwealth of nations.

The rattling world doesn't begrudge the first Dumbarton Oaks delegates six weeks instead of three to begin their momentous task.

But if part of that time was taken up in arguing such an obviously unworkable proposal as that attributed to Russia, and then winding up in disagreement, it may mean the steps toward world peace are going to be slow and faltering.

GROWERS' SUGAR "DIVIDEND"

We do not begrudge the grower of sugar beets or sugar cane the special privilege of receiving extra ration-free sugar to the extent of 25 pounds for each member of his family unit, but do contend that this latest announcement is a most unwise move.

The average civilian has never been able to figure out the score on the sugar supply in the United States. At one time the farmers are told to concentrate their production on other crops because of an growing abundance of sugar. Before the same growing season is over, and too late for them to change their minds, there is a sudden demand to raise sugar beets for all they are worth.

Now, apparently, it's a toss up. Some reports would indicate there is a shortage of sugar and others would lead us to believe there is sugar enough for everyone.

But when the OPA starts making comparisons to sugar beet growers by allowing them extra rations of ration-free sugar, that's another angle injected into an already complicated picture.

Why not give the cattle growers the special privilege of having more ration-free T-bones?

Why not go all up and down the line with such special privileges and defeat the purpose of rationing completely?

TAMMANY—But the inside reason for this Republican opposition to the Roosevelt administration is that President Roosevelt cannot command a greater majority in the Democratic caucus than the private estimate of such an admirer of the White House, Senator James A. Farley, to place La Guardia in the city hall, means that the office would be too busy to handle the duties of a mayor.

Mort Cooper Whiffs 12 and Galehouse 10 as Homers by Sanders, Litwhiler Beat Browns

Heroes in Cardinals' Third Victory

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5 (UP)—Big Mort Cooper finally got his blazing fast zip zipping over the corners yesterday as the Cards won, 2 to 0, to take the lead in the World series for the first time and cut down 12 Brown batters on strikes.

His opponent, Denny Galehouse who had beaten Cooper in the first game, 2 to 1, was almost as good, fanning 10, but he threw better curve balls to Ray Sanders in the sixth inning and Danny Litwhiler in the eighth and that was the difference.

His strike-out total of 22 set a new world series record. The former mark for a single game being 21, made in the 1904 series between the Cleveland Colts and the New York Yankees.

Cooper, whose home run ball has raised him to 100 in the series, struck out Sanders and Litwhiler in the sixth and eighth innings respectively.

Emil Bordewick Breaks Tradition; Wins Buhl Golf Title Second Time

BUHL, Oct. 5.—Tradition has gone into golfing oblivion at the Clear Lakes golf club. A golfer has won his second championship.

He is Emil Bordewick, who defeated Everett Husted, 2 and 1, to win the annual tournament of the club yesterday.

But it took him 10 years to repeat. No champion of this club had ever before repeated.

The newspaperman-golfer jumped into the lead on the first hole and thereafter never relinquished it.

In taking the lead, Bordewick birdied the No. 1 hole. The match was close at times.

At one time Bordewick was in a variety of weather-high winds at times and an electrical storm.

Husted, ordinarily an excellent putter, had much difficulty on the greens and in several instances put one more stroke to get down than he should have.
